NATION TO HEAR ROOSEVELT TELL PLANS TONIGHT

Expect Response to Spur Congress.

Firm on Anti-Lynch Bill

Leaders in senate, failing for second time to sidetrack anti-lynching bill, become increasingly worried over threats of an indefinite filibuster, which might play havoc with measures on Roosevelt's "must" program; southerners determined bill never shall pass. Page 4.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 27.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt's fireside radio address to the nation tomorrow night will outline highlights of the administration's legislative program, with particular emphasis on the 4 billion 880 million works relief program. This was revealed by the White House this morning. The President will speak at 10 p. m. [Chicago daylight saving time].

Mr. Roosevelt also will present his views on extension of the National Recovery administration, social security, banking legislation, and control of holding companies.

The President remained in the White House today, canceling all appointments, to work on his radio address. In the afternoon he took a brief ride and then plunged into the final draft of his speech.

Names Uncle to Post.

The only business of the day was the naming of his uncle, Frederic Delano, member of the national resources board, as that body's representative on the works allotment division, which is headed by Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes.

The President's address has a dual purpose, according to observers. He not only will explain the administration program, but also will attempt to enlist public support to drive his measures through the lethargic congress.

The administration hopes to have congress adjourn in June, after passing the New Deal program for 1935. To date only one measure—the works relief program—has been put through both houses.

The White House expects reaction to the radio address, in the form of mail to congressmen, may drive the program through. In whisperings White House aids confess the address is the last hope of the administration for New Deal legislation.

Relief Leaders Organize.

As the President drafted his message to the people the triumvirate he named to direct the works relief drive, which the administration hopes will put 3,500,000 employables on the dole to work by Nov. 15, began organizing. The big three are Ickes, Frank C. Walker, former treasurer of the Democratic party, and Harry L. Hopkins, federal emergency relief director.

The trio was speeded to its task at the White House last night in a conference which ran the gamut of the program. The conference lasted from early evening until after midnight.

This morning Walker pressed preparation of application forms and met hundreds of preliminary inquiries. He is head of the division of applications and information.

Hopkins prepared to set up a works progress division exercising wide supervision over the projects to be carried on by the various New Deal alphabetical departments. He will direct removing employables from the dole, fix wages, supervise projects, and have charge of contract making.

Hopkins in Vital Post.

This latter function makes Hopkins' post a vital one to Democratic politicians. New Deal contractors who want to make money out of their loyalty to the administration will have to deal with Hopkins.

Ickes began moving in his new post by announcing that the Public Works administration is ready to receive applications for federal projects under the 4 billion 880 million dollar fund. The PWA will clear through Walker's division of applications and information and thence through Ickes' allotment division, which will dole out the taxpayers' cash.

New Array of Letters.

Already the New Dealers have alphabetized the works relief program. In the brain truster passion for initials seven new alphabetical jumbles have been created. These are:

WRP—Works Relief Program.

WAD—Works Allotment Division.

DAI—Division of Applications and Information.

WPD—Works Progress Division.

DRR—Division of Rural Resettlement.

DGCE—Division of Grade Crossing Elimination.

DRE—Division of Rural Electrification.

MEXICO CLOSES BANKS; TRADING WILD IN EUROPE

Morgenthau Wavers at New Juggling.

BY HOWARD WOOD.

With the markets of the world in turmoil over the uncertainties of the New Dealers' silver program, Mexico decreeing a bank holiday, depression deepening in China, and wild speculation in silver in London and elsewhere, Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau Jr. at noon yesterday announced that there would be "no change" in the silver price fixing scheme over the week-end.

Meantime, silver senators in Washington, jubilant over the big boom in silver prices, continued to predict a boost in domestic silver prices to the $1.29 per ounce goal for which they have been clamoring.

Morgenthau Wavering.

Senator Pat McCarran [Dem., Nev.] emerged from a conference with Secretary Morgenthau to say that the treasury head was still wavering between alternate schemes of bringing about the $1.29 level. The secretary, he said, "did not evince any determined attitude as to what he intends to do" in the present situation.

Although the New Dealers decided to sit tight and see what happens over the week-end, they were considering three possible alternatives, according to McCarran, who said that his conference with Morgenthau was attended also by Herman Oliphant, general counsel of the treasury. The three courses are:

1. To do nothing.

2. To move up the domestic price of silver by steady changes, as at first.

3. To finish the job in a hurry by jumping the domestic price immediately to $1.29 an ounce, rather than try to carry foreign silver prices along by buying in foreign markets.

Midwest Believed Safe.

Chicago bankers said yesterday that the Mexican bank holiday would not seriously affect midwest trade with that nation, provided the banks reopen as promised tomorrow. Trouble might develop for American banks along the border, they said, if the holiday were continued next week. New York banks with branches in Mexican cities have been taking in their business lines for some time, preliminary to withdrawal. Chicago banks have no branches.

The whole question of silver inflation, however, has been causing much concern here during the last week. The silver program, together with the reduction of the gold content of the dollar and the threat of paper money inflation contained in the administration's banking bill is viewed by the financial community here as laying the ground for drastic inflation. The silver program is believed to have had at least a temporary influence on commodity transactions on the Chicago Board of Trade. Grains have roughly paralleled the rise in silver prices during the last week, except for the brief interruption caused by the failure of the Rosenbaum Grain corporation.

Silver Rigging Upsets Mexico.

Mexico's bank holiday was ordered yesterday by President Lazaro Cardenas in a desperate effort to get that nation's currency back in balance, after its sudden upset through the United States treasury's rigging of silver prices.

So rapidly has silver risen that two days ago the value of the silver peso as metal began to exceed its value as money. Immediately Mexicans and foreigners in Mexico began to seize the opportunity to profit by melting down silver coins and selling the metal.

Because much of Mexico's domestic trade is conducted on the basis of exchange of silver coins rather than paper, the meteoric rise of the silver peso threatened not only bank runs but paralysis of all trade.

All Silver Called In.

To stem this threatened disaster the Mexican government ordered the nation to go on a paper money basis. All silver coins were ordered surrendered to the Bank of Mexico in exchange for paper certificates to be issued against the silver reserve thus accumulated. All export of silver coin was prohibited.

In order to facilitate this switch, the banks were ordered to close. The government promised that they would reopen for business on Monday.

Secretary Morgenthau's failure yesterday to do the expected and raise the price paid for domestically mined silver, above the current quotation of 77.57 cents an ounce, caused a slump in silver prices in Montreal and London. On Friday, prices in those markets had soared above the 77.47 cent

RUSSIA 'DOLLS UP' IN PREPARATION FOR MAY DAY CELEBRATION

[Copyright: 1935: By the New York Times.]

MOSCOW, April 27. — The soviet union has begun to blaze with red in preparation for the May day celebration Wednesday. In Moscow, where the greatest demonstration of all will take place in Red square in the presence of Dictator Stalin and other leaders, acres of red bunting are being fixed to building fronts.

By May 1 there will not be a single house without a revolutionary banner. These banners repeat endlessly the slogans adopted by the central committee of the communist party. This year's slogans are the least truculent ever adopted, although some blazon appeals for world revolution, which is still a fundamental tenet of the communist faith. One calls on workers of other lands to follow the soviet union's example, concluding:

"Down with Fascism! Down with capitalism! Hail the soviet union throughout the world!"

Austria to Serve Goulash to Poor Constitution Day

VIENNA, April 27.—(AP)—The Austrian government will celebrate the first anniversary of its "Christian authority" constitution May 1 with many barrels of goulash. Federal authorities ordered today the distribution of about 100,000 portions of goulash to the poor in observance of the anniversary. Soldiers will serve as waiters.

Capone 'Hero' of Painting by British Peer

LONDON, April 27.—(AP)—Al Capone, safely tucked away in an American prison, is the central figure in a mural painting entitled "The History of Bootlegging," by Viscount Hastings.

VISCOUNT HASTINGS.

The painter, son and heir of the earl of Huntington, depicted the scar faced one, plump jowled and wearing spats, in his palmy days.

Pictures Bootleg Industry.

Starting at the left, the mural shows a murky waterfront scene wth a ghost ship riding in the background and five husky roustabouts unloading sacks of contraband whisky from a speed launch. Others, clutching revolvers and a submachine gun, are apparently beating off an attacking hijack party.

The police are coming, however—two of them, in a rowboat with the Stars and Stripes waving in the breeze.

Panels show three speakeasy scenes, and then the panorama turns rural, with huge trucks lumbering along the moonlit countryside and grim jawed men blazing away at each other with tommyguns. Three airplanes swoop low overhead. Everything appears to be in the district except the cavalry.

Sprayed with a Gun.

The whole work of the artist, appropriately enough, was sprayed with a gun. That is the way the viscount works. He uses a paint gun.

"It is faster and really very effective," said Hastings.

A graduate of Eton and Oxford, his full name is Francis John Clarence Westenra Plantagenet Hastings. He is a lineal descendant of Richard the Lion Hearted and of the royal house of Plantagenet, which ruled England for more than 300 years.

Open Buckingham Fountain Late; to Have More Light

Due to revamping of the flood light system, the Buckingham Fountain will not be placed in operation until the middle of June, it was announced yesterday by William I. Bell, chief electrical engineer for the Chicago Park district. Mr. Bell said the lights were being rearranged and supplemented for greater efficiency and power. He estimates that the 30,000,000 candle power will be increased at least 25 per cent.

DAYLIGHT SAVING HERE TODAY; SET CLOCKS FORWARD ONE HOUR

Daylight saving time became effective in Chicago at 2 o'clock this morning and today the city receives the first of 154 extra hours of summer sunshine made possible each year by merely pushing the clock hand one hour ahead.

The official time for setting the clock ahead one hour was 2 a. m., but most householders, as a matter of convenience, moved the hands up last night when they retired. Persons who neglected to do so are likely to arrive at church today during the benediction—or will miss the golf special.

All official business in the city is to be conducted on the daylight basis until the last Sunday in September, according to section 711, chapter 12, of the city code, but railroads and airports will continue to operate on standard time.

Coincidentally with the arrival of daylight saving today, the New York Central and Pennsylvania railroads will initiate 17 hour service to New York, cutting 45 minutes from the previous time. The North Western railroad has announced that suburban train service will operate on daylight saving time.

TORTURE WOMAN INTO GIVING UP CONCEALED $154

Two robbers entered the offices of the Randolph W. Matteson Realty company at 3300 Schubert avenue late yesterday afternoon and tortured Mrs. Beulah Goff, 35 years old, until she disclosed where the firm's money was hidden. Mrs. Goff is manager of the building in which the office is located and the men pretended to be prospective tenants. Suddenly they drew pistols and, having forced her into a chair, beat her on the head with pistol butts until she told them that $154 was concealed in a bathroom. The pair fled with the money.

Bandits Hold Up Couple; Get $9,000 Cash, Gems

Two armed men held up Mr. and Mrs. William Wolf, 5000 East End avenue, and Mr. and Mrs. Sol London, 5138 University avenue, in front of the Londons' home early today and robbed them of property which they valued at more than $9,000. Mrs. Wolf surrendered a $5,000 ring, a $2,000 bracelet, a $2,000 wrist watch, and $30. London was robbed of $30, and his wife of jewelry valued at $125. The robbers escaped in an automobile.

Sees Meteor Flash in Sky; Farmer Finds It in Field

Elmer Dunker, a farmer residing a mile west of Marengo, in McHenry county, saw a meteor flash near his home Friday night. Yesterday he searched the field in which he believed it had fallen and discovered it. The meteorite is of a grayish white color and about four inches in diameter.

J. Roosevelt Will Become Father's Aid

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 27.—[Special.]—James Roosevelt, eldest son of the President, will assume the post of secretary to his father and become his chief White House aid, it is understood here tonight.

JAMES ROOSEVELT.

Although President Roosevelt repeatedly has authorized denials of this development, well informed circles close to the first family today said positively James would succeed Col. Louis McHenry Howe.

Col. Howe, who nominally has been secretary to the President, is recuperating from a serious illness, but is not expected to be able to resume his duties.

Others Carry On Work.

His work has been carried on by Stephen Early and Marvin McIntyre, the President's assistant secretaries. Pressure of White House work, however, is understood to have forced the President to draft his son. The President's son came to Washington tonight and is expected to take over his new office soon.

Whether James' tour of duty under his father will be temporary until another successor is chosen or will be permanent, is not definitly known. Some reports indicate that James will serve only three weeks or thereabouts.

Work Largely Political.

The work which the President's son will take over from Col. Howe has to do largely with the political aspects of the White House routine. The reports are that this will not be novel work for James, since he has run political errands for his father before.

James has been active in New England politics since the coming of the New Deal. He has been engaged in the insurance business, but his duties as salesman are not so binding that he could not help out his father at least temporarily.

YI YI RUSTLERS! LAKE COUNTY'S POSSE HITS TRAIL

It looked as though the old west had come back early yesterday when Sherif Lawrence Doolittle and a posse of armed deputies rode horseless carriages through the quiet countryside of Lake county seeking a gang of cattle rustlers.

Benjamin F. Stein, a Chicago broker and owner of Duffield Farms on Telegraph road, southwest of Waukegan, telephoned the sherif at 2 a. m. that some one had broken into his barn and stolen eleven head of pedigreed cattle.

Sherif Doolittle and his posse took up the trail of the herd, which led to the Knollwood Country club. There they found the cows grazing on the golf course. Investigation disclosed cogent evidence that the rustling was an inside job—engineered, in fact, by the cattle themselves when some mooning cowhand forgot to lock the barn door.

Children Are Given Rule Over Turkey for a Week

ISTANBUL, April 27.—(AP)—Turkey's child "rulers for a week" launched a series of innovations today, including the establishment of a free kitchen for poor children. The 13 year old director of prisons instructed that prisoners be given sweets free except those who had committed crimes against children. Cheers went up when curly haired Miss Zerrin, 13 year old "governor," decreed free movies today for children.

Million Face Want, He Will Tell U. S.

Gov. Henry Horner left Chicago yesterday afternoon for Washington, where he will explain to Harry Hopkins, Federal Emergency Relief administrator, and other FERA officials the plight of 1,000,000 Illinoisans in the families of the unemployed who face the complete cessation of government aid by May 1. The governor, before setting out, termed the situation the gravest in the history of the state, and asked local relief agencies and the jobless to work in harmony for the immediate solution of the problem.

As Mr. Horner departed on his emergency mission to Washington, Mr. Hopkins, according to Washington dispatches, announced that the FERA would give Illinois no aid until the general assembly complied with the government's demand for a state contribution of $3,000,000 a month toward relief.

Chief Events of the Day.

1. Thirty-seven relief stations in Cook county were closed by Leo M. Lyons, county emergency relief director, who ordered dismissal of all except a skeleton force of the 5,500 relief employes in the county.

2. The Cook county commissioners approved the sale of $1,200,000 in poor relief bonds and the distribution of this money for the next ten days to the 104,942 families receiving direct relief. Pay checks for 50,622 families on work relief will take care of their needs for a like period.

3. Robert J. Dunham, chairman of the Illinois Emergency Relief commission, notified county committees in 101 counties outside of Cook that relief activities, except those financed by local revenues, must cease when existing funds are exhausted. It was estimated that six or more counties would be able to continue relief activities after April 30.

Gov. Horner's Suggestions.

In urging local governments to shoulder the emergency, Gov. Horner advised them to mobilize private funds to replace government grants until the situation is eased.

"To you who are being cared for by our relief agencies," the governor said, "I urge in this trying hour that you coöperate with the men and women who have been administering relief. I urge you to use whatever private resources you may possess, and to bear in mind that your fellow citizens are working with you and for you in an effort to see you through these trying times."

In Washington relief officials held little hope for the success of Gov. Horner's journey. Administrator Hopkins said that Illinois had been given ample opportunity to provide the $3,000,000 a month revenue that he considered a "just share" of the relief burden in the state.

Status of Revenue Bill.

The state senate has passed a bill to increase the retailers' occupational [sales] tax from 2 to 3 per cent to provide the added revenue. The measure probably will come before the house on May 1, the day after the majority of downstate counties will have closed relief stations.

"The Illinois legislature has our final word on the matter," one Washington official said. "Now it is up to the state to act. The FERA intends to take no further action at this time."

The brief extension of Cook county and Chicago relief activities was formally approved by the county commissioner who, at a special session yesterday, accepted the bid of Stifel, Nicolaus & Co. for $1,200,000 of 1932 poor relief bonds with a premium of $1,800.

Arrange for Emergency Period.

The commissioner likewise approved the action of the committee of the whole in appointing a committee of three citizens to work with the county board committee in overseeing distribution of the $1,200,000 emergency fund. The present machinery of the IERC will handle the work, with the local committees serving as advisers.

With the approval of the county commissioners, Director Lyons ordered the closing of relief stations "until further notice" at noon yesterday and established regulations for the distribution of relief during the ten day emergency period.

The present organization of the IERC remained on the job yesterday. It will continue today until the last of 104,942 direct relief orders, each representing one fourth of the usual monthly allotment, are prepared.

Upon completion of this work, all but a skeleton force, estimated at 500, will be dismissed. It was indicated, however, that many of the salaried employés will continue their duties voluntarily although pay will cease on April 30.

Mail Orders Out Directly.

Food orders will be mailed directly to the relief families, the stations remaining closed. The orders for April 29 and 30 will be mailed not later than Sunday and those for May 1, 2, 3, and 4 one day in advance. Unless funds are made available there will be no further distribution of relief orders after May 5. Only emergency medical care and fuel will be allowed.

The remainder of the 150,564 Cook county families, embracing an estimated 600,000 persons, were provided for by the issuance of work relief checks Friday which assured them adequate means of support for a week or ten days. When these checks are exhausted no further relief is seen for these 50,622 families unles funds are raised.

For 20,000 single men and women cared for now in 21 shelters in Chicago, advance committments and government surpluses guarantee food through Wednesday. After that date the shelters will be able to provide this group of unemployed with beds only. The transient shelters are maintained directly by the government and will not be affected by the shutting off of relief.

Puts Task Up to Local Units.

In letters to committee chairmen in counties outside of Cook, Dr. Dunham supplemented an earlier communication of April 17 and again warned against commitments in excess of funds now held by relief agencies. Mr. Dunham warned that the salaries of 4,300 downstate relief workers will terminate on May 1 and said that "procedure to be followed in the county after relief has been discontinued is a question for determination by the county relief committees."

State expenditures for relief for April were estimated at $12,026,768 at the first of the month, but these have actually been reduced by the drastic curtailment ordered April 17. During the month the government has provided $8,003,845 from the FERA, the state has contributed $1,500,000, representing the unused balance of $9,000,000 appropriated Jan. 1, and local governments, exclusive of Cook county, have furnished $163,000.

CRAMPS CITY PROJECTS

The city's street repair and general rehabilitation program has been hard hit by the curtailment of work relief activities in Illinois, according to Oscar Hewitt, commissioner of public works. Approximately 5,500 relief workers dropped city projects on Friday after Harry L. Hopkins, federal relief administrator, halted the flow of federal aid funds.

"The task of grading 56 miles of unimproved streets in the city must stop," Commissioner Hewitt said yesterday, "and it will be necessary for us to erect barricades shutting off the streets until such a time as the work can be resumed.

The Effect in Detail.

"In other divisions work must either shut down completely or proceed on a greatly limited basis. We're attempting now to reorganize our activities so that the most necessary projects can continue."

The curtailment of relief funds took [illegible]036 men from street cleaning projects in the city and 1,170 from the grading program, Mr. Hewitt disclosed. It discontinued park maintenance, repair crews at the Municipal airport and at Navy pier, and groups rehabilitating city buildings.

"In some cases the curtailment of relief work has presented problems that right now seem impossible of solution," Commissioner Hewitt said. "For example, in addition to removing a gang of 53 doing work at the pier, we are not now provided with 20 men necessary to keep the pier clean and ready for crowds during the summer months. This year the city council made no appropriation for such work, and right now we don't know how we are even to begin this work, which must be undertaken."

Extra Work for Regulars.

Numerous city engineers and workers labored all Friday night to collect and safeguard tools used by the relief workers after they had been abandoned when the work was stopped.

Orders to stop work were sent to relief superintendents by Leo M. Lyons, Cook county administrator for the Illinois Emergency Relief commission late Friday afternoon, but the city did not know of the action until the workers had left their jobs.

Since it was impossible to gather up the tools and equipment at that hour, ward watchmen and city police were ordered to guard the tools on eighteen projects through the night. M. W. Oettershagen, assistant engineer of the bureau of harbors, could find no watchmen, so he procured a shotgun and watched a project in his charge himself. The abandoned tools were then collected and stored by city workers yesterday morning.

ILLINOIS' RELIEF CRISIS FOLLOWS SIX MONTHS' ROW

The history of the Illinois relief crisis began almost six months ago when the Illinois Emergency Relief commission, the general assembly and Gov. Henry Horner were warned that the failure of the state to raise $3,000,000 a month for unemployment relief would result in the withdrawal of federal aid. An increase of the retailers' occupation [sales] tax from 2 to 3 per cent which would provide the needed revenue, has passed the state senate and is pending in the house at Springfield.

The first intimation that the government would curb relief grants came from Howard O. Hunter, regional representative of the Federal Emergency Relief administration on Nov. 1, when he appeared before the IERC. Two weeks later Harry L. Hopkins, Federal Emergency Relief administrator, delivered the government's ultimatum to Gov. Horner in Washington and the long legislative and political squabble over the question began in earnest.

Expenditures of IERC.

Since the IERC was organized on Feb. 6, 1932, its expenditures, including distribution for the current month, have totaled $273,983,641. Of this sum the federal government contributed $199,303,707 and the state $74,679,934. Of the total state monies $53,609,127 was expended before July 1, 1934. Since that time the state's contribution has been small.

From its organization to June 30, 1932, the IERC disbursed $18,750,000, the proceeds of a $20,000,000 state poor relief bond issue. In those five months the federal government contributed nothing. In the year ending June 30, 1933, however, the state's share dropped to $428,420, realized on the sale of the remainder of the 1932 bonds, while the federal aid soared to $62,878,384.

In the year ending last June 30, in which unemployment relief reached its high mark of $81,359,671, the state contributed $37,430,707 and the government $43,928,964. The proceeds of the 2 per cent retailers' occupational tax, which for the first six months were devoted solely to poor relief, amounted to $17,111,[illegible]62. This sum was augmented by $20,231,063 from tax anticipation warrants, which were retired by proceeds of a $30,000,000 bond issue, approved in a referendum last fall.

The Recent Developments.

During the final six months of 1934, however, the government was compelled to increase its contribution to $53,707,916, a figure nearly $10,000,000 in excess of that for the previous twelve months. This increase was the result of the diversion of the sales tax to the general revenue fund of the state and the abatement of the state property tax levy. The state's contribution to relief dropped to $8,648,207, derived from additional bond sales and belated sales tax returns.

Although the legislature was aware last December of the $3,000,000 demand of the federal government, the situation was met only temporarily by the diversion of $9,000,000 from surplus funds to relief during the last four months. The government in that time has given the state $38,788,443.

The arbitrary figure of $3,000,000 a month for the state's share in relief was determined by FERA officials through the application of three formulae. Under one scheme a $5 per capita figure is used, giving Illinois a $35,000,000 annual levy.

PAINTS FAILURE FOR NEW DEAL TVA PROJECTS

Tennessee Educator Is Chicago Speaker.

Prof. A. E. Parkins of the George Peabody college, Nashville, Tenn., speaking on "The Tennessee Valley Region and the TVA" before the Geographic Society of Chicago at a luncheon in the Hamilton club yesterday, concluded his remarks by saying:

"You may draw your own conclusions whether the money put in navigation and water power projects will ever bring returns. I doubt it very much."

Prof. Parkins said the primary purposes of the Tennessee Valley authority concern water planning, land planning, including reclamation, and as its main expected benefit the social development of the people of the valley.

Cash Incomes Small.

He quoted an authority as saying that a large percentage of the residents of the Tennessee valley have cash incomes of no more than $50 a year. The government, he said, may spend $350,000,000 to $500,000,000 on its TVA projects, and if there is no social betterment, he said, the whole thing will be a failure.

Back of the whole scheme, the professor said, is the idea that man has made a mess of things in the valley. The government intends to correct man's mistakes but the professor warned the government to be careful not to make alms takers of the people.

He said he was informed that the government expects to get back all the money invested in the valley. In a comparison of costs, he said the Wilson dam, which cost $56,400,000, develops electricity at a cost of $550 per horse power while the cost of making electricity by steam is $100 per horse power.

When he requested data concerning the cost of electricity generated in competition with private interests, he said he couldn't get it because there had been no separation to show how much should be charged to navigation and how much to power development.

"The Wilson dam has a 264,000 horse power capacity," Prof. Parkins said, "but only water to generate 80,000 horse power. Some one made a terrible mistake. There are eight turbines installed now and space left for ten others, making a total generating capacity of 600,000 horse power and such a plant could be run only at flood stages.

"The Norris dam has a scheduled cost of $34,000,000 but probably will cost more and will be only a storage plant, as all the electricity that could be generated could not be used. And there are no storage batteries big enough."

Roosevelt's Spending Organization

STATE EXPECTS $38,000,000 U. S. HIGHWAY FUNDS

Ernst Lieberman, state highway engineer, estimated yesterday that Illinois would get $38,000,000 of the $800,000,000 allotted in President Roosevelt's work relief program for highway improvements. Of this, $15,000,000 will be expended in grade crossing elimination and $23,000,000 for highway building, according to expectations.

The Chicago Motor club pointed out that if the federal funds were returned to the states in the same proportion as their total contributions to the federal treasury, a sum much larger would be available in Illinois. The club statisticians said that while the $38,000,000 return would be 4.75 per cent of the national fund, Illinois pays in 8.08 per cent of the country's internal revenue collections. If Illinois got 8 per cent of the total fund, it would amount to $64,000,000.

The formula for the allotment of the grade crossing elimination funds, used by Washington, is: Population to count 50 per cent, federal aid mileage of highways, 25 per cent; railway mileage, 25 per cent. In figuring the division of the new highway building fund, the formula grants population a 12½ per cent importance and mileage of federal aid highways 87½ per cent.

ILLINOIS' QUOTA FOR CCC JUMPS TO 38,300 MEN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 27.—[Special]—Robert Fechner, director of emergency conservation work, today announced the new basic state quotas establishing the number of men each state is to enroll in the Civilian Conservation corps camps under the work relief program to expand the CCC to 600,000 men.

The new quotas, carrying increases for virtually all states, were computed by brain trusters by weighing the population 50 per cent and the relief needs 50 per cent in each state. The men will be enrolled by the war department after selection by the department of labor through state directors of selection.

The veterans' administration will select the veterans. Of the total number of 600,000 to be enrolled in the camps, 545,000 will be juniors and 55,000 will be veterans.

The quotas for Chicagoland are:

	Present Quotas	Expansion Quotas
Illinois	24,673	38,300
Indiana	8,457	15,100
Michigan	11,725	24,500
Iowa	8,902	9,500
Wisconsin	11,349	14,000

ELECTORS SEEK TO REJUVENATE G. O. P. FOR 1936

Midwest Parley Scorns Old Leaders.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Excelsior Springs, Mo., April 27.—[Special.]—Plans for rejuvenation of the Republican party through a conference representing the "grass roots" of the midwest electorate rather than the politicians were taken up at a meeting here today of fifteen to twenty organizers from nine midwest states.

It was decided to hold the conference the first or second week in June. The place still is to be settled upon, and six or seven cities are bidding for the meeting. The avowed purpose of the conference is to crystalize views of Republican voters in the central states on party reorganization and on the line to be pursued by the party in opposition to the Roosevelt New Deal policies.

Scorn Hand Picked Delegates.

A process is to be discussed tomorrow for picking delegates to the June conference which will insure that it will be a "popular gathering" representing the rank and file, not hand picked by the old G. O. P. organizations, and not tied up with any presidential lightning rods.

What the organizers propose is to get the G. O. P. back to the people. Harrison E. Spangler, Republican national committeeman for Iowa, who served as chairman today, said: "It is to be a popular conference, and a method will be devised of selecting delegates who will form a cross-section of midwest Republicanism. There will be no hand picking."

Five Principles Laid Down.

Out of the discussions today emerged five principles which some of the organizers lay down as essential. In substance they are:

1. The June conference must be free of anything which might lead detractors to charge it was Hooverized.

2. Members of congress, both house and senate, are not wanted to participate—the aim is to keep it clear of the Washington slant.

3. Possible candidates for presidential nomination are not wanted to attend, even if they check their lightning rods at the door.

4. The conference is to be free of the Republican national committee.

5. The conference should be kept as clear as possible of members of the old Hoover cabinet, and of such Rapidan fishing camp week-enders during the Hoover régime, as might perhaps give somewhat of a Hoover atmosphere to the meet.

Ideas Declared Vital.

Most of these ideas have been set down by the organizers as vital if the conference is to get anywhere. Some of the leading spirits say they have had to combat an impression gathered from some of the Washington dispatches that the midwest movement is being propelled in some degree by various "favorite son" candidates and their backers and by some Hoover admirers.

Justus L. Johnson, Republican state chairman of Illinois, who originated the idea of a midwest popular convocation during the Kansas Founders celebration early in the year, says:

"The G. O. P. has to build up from the grass roots in the midwest, which was the birthplace of the Republican party and is the home of real progressivism. The idea is to bring together a real cross section of Republicans, not self seeking politicians, to take counsel on what shall be done for the restoration of the party."

Delegates at Meeting.

Among those present at today's meeting were: Arthur B. Fontaine, Wisconsin national committeeman; Edward A. Hayes of Decatur, Ill.; former national commander of the American Legion; Senator C. H. McKenzie, Martin A. Nelson, and Ward F. Senn, all from Minnesota; Lee Nixon and George Ball of Indiana; John Hamilton, Kansas national committeeman; G. W. Dalton, Missouri state chairman; W. J. Skelly, Oklahoma national committeeman; Richard Lloyd Jones, Tulsa, Okla., publisher, formerly of Madison, Wis.; Robert Simmons of Nebraska, candidate for senator last time, and Arthur M. Hyde, former governor of Missouri and secretary of agriculture in the Hoover cabinet.

Exception was made in Mr. Hyde's case, in view of his natural gifts in phraseology and argument, but he is to be in the background.

SEVEN BUILDINGS BURN WHEN FOREST BLAZE CUTS THROUGH TOWN

New York, April 27.—[Special.]—Seven buildings were burned tonight as flames, fought for more than six hours by 1,000 volunteers, swept the parched timberland north of Toms River, N. J., and cut a path through the town of Silvertown.

Fire departments of fifteen towns responded to fight the fire which, eventually covered a five mile area, had begun at Indian Hill and was swept northward to Silvertown by a brisk wind. It was finally brought under control early this evening.

In the southern part of New Jersey fires smoldered at McKee City, Mays Landing, Millville and Belmar. There was a forest fire in the vicinity of Pomona near the White Horse pike and another at Blackwood, where two summer bungalows were destroyed.

In Suffolk county, L. I., where fires have swept 1,200 acres in the past few days, several hundred men, including civilian conservation corps members from Camp Upton fought a fire that was consuming a woodland area estimated to be 2,000 acres south of Calverton. Two small buildings were burned at Calverton as the fire swept toward Riverhead village. The fires were reported under control late in the afternoon.

Daughter of John McNab to Wed Father's Assistant

Palo Alto, Cal., April 27.—(AP)—Eleanor McNab, daughter of John L. McNab, prominent San Francisco attorney and friend of former President Herbert Hoover, will marry Robert Weller Scott, who is associated with her father in practice. The engagement was announced today. The wedding will not take place until after Miss McNab's graduation in June from Mills college, Oakland.

BOYS SET FOUR BLAZES TO SEE ENGINES ON RUN

Four small fires, believed to have been started by boys who wanted to see the engines run through the streets, were extinguished by firemen in the Burnside district early today. Damage in each case was small.

The places fired were a residence at 9336 Evans avenue; the basement of a rooming house at 9338 Cottage Grove avenue; the basement of store at 8948 Cottage Grove avenue, and a shed in the rear of 9311 Cottage Grove avenue. A witness told the police three boys about 12 to 14 years old had been seen running from the burning shed.

A fire which the Rogers Park police believed might have been incendiary was discovered late last night on the rear porch of a flat at 7356 North Damen avenue, occupied by the family of A. Douglas Moore. The flames were put out by guests attending a party at the Moore home. Papers had been placed in a basket on the porch and then ignited.

Edward Malloy, 18 years old, who was seized Thursday for questioning in regard to 25 incendiary fires on the north side in recent weeks was turned over to the juvenile authorities yesterday. Most of the investigators were convinced he was not an arsonist.

Abolish Relief Commission, Ask Illinois Publishers

Belleville, Ill., April 27.—[U. P.]—The Illinois Press association, at its concluding meeting here, today adopted a resolution asking the state legislature to return relief to the local communities, and to abolish the Illinois relief commission.

FARLEY'S ORDER TO EDITOR PERILS PRESS FREEDOM

Warns Indiana Paper to Raise Subscription.

Shelbyville, Ind., April 27.—[Special.]—Another attack on the freedom of the press was seen here today by Carl F. Ogle, publisher of the Shelbyville Republican, in a notice from Postmaster General Farley's office virtually instructing him to double the newspaper's subscription rates.

Compliance with the order, according to the publisher, would be beneficial to the Shelbyville Democrat, the only other local paper in the Shelby county field. Noncompliance would, through enforcement of the postal laws, have a disastrous effect on the Republican's advertising revenues and mailing privileges, virtually tossing the newspaper out of business.

Assails New Deal Policies.

The Republican has dealt sharply in its editorial columns with the New Deal, the national recovery act, and others of the alphabetical agencies created by the Democratic national administration. In the newspaper's critical treatment of the Democrats, Publisher Ogle says, may rest the basis for the postoffice department's order.

"This is a blow at the freedom of the press," declared Mr. Ogle, as he announced his intention of resisting the order. "Under such conditions as these any Republican newspaper that is ardently opposed to the nation administration can be ordered to charge a higher rate. If a paper is not friendly it virtually could be put out of business.

"It seems strange that the Republican was the only newspaper in this community where there are only two papers—the other being the Democrat—to be told to raise its subscription prices. It appears to be nothing else but an effort to chase us out of business.

Advised to Ignore Order.

"My attorneys have told me that the postoffice department has exceeded its authority, and advised me to pay no attention to the order pending the drafting of our reply. If an attempt is made to revoke our privileges under the postal laws we will go immediately into the federal court."

The advertised subscription rates of the two Shelbyville newspapers is the same, $2 a year, The Republican, however, has been offering subscriptions since 1932 at $1 a year, or 50 per cent of the advertised rate, and in the last five months, according to Mr. Ogle, has gained 400 rural and 200 city subscriptions.

Farley's office in a communication to the Shelbyville postmaster signed by C. B. Eilenberger, third assistant postmaster general, which was relayed to Mr. Ogle, suggested that the Republican raise its advertised rates to $4 a year for Shelby county. This rate, on the 50 per cent basis now used by the Republican, would make the newspaper's cost to subscribers $2 a year, the same as the Democrat.

Must Not Be Nominal Rate.

"It is contemplated by the law," read the Eilenberger letter, "that not only will publishers of second class publications not make a reduction to subscribers in the subscription price of such publication of more than 50 per cent of the regular advertised subscription price, but that the subscription price in itself must not be a nominal one.

"In any event, subscriptions obtained for this publication at a rate of less than $2 a year would be regarded as at a nominal rate. Persons whose subscriptions to a second class publication are obtained at a nominal rate are not includable in the 'legitimate list of subscribers' required by the law."

"The postoffice arbitrarily has termed the Republican rate a nominal one," declared Mr. Ogle. "All the Republican subscriptions are at that rate, and if I cannot take credit for them in my sworn circulation statement to the postoffice my rural circulation is wiped out for advertising purposes.

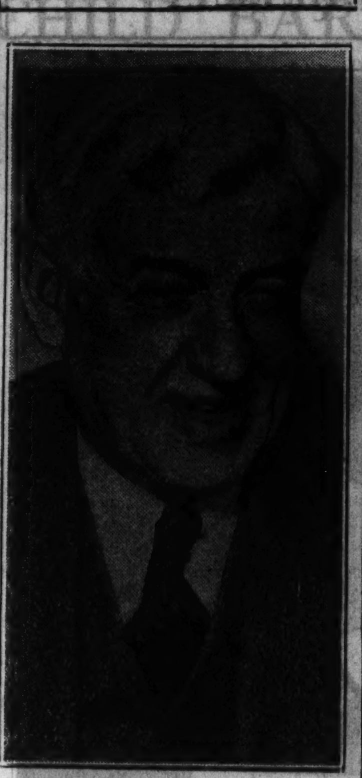
Sworn Circulation Statement.

"National advertising contracts are awarded largely upon the sworn circulation statement. The Republican's rural circulation is approximately two-thirds of the total. The result would be to steer advertising away from my newspaper.

"Subscriptions are hard to get at $1 in the depression and under the New Deal in Indiana. If the government arbitrarily can tell me what to charge then heaven alone knows where this will stop. If I raise the advertised rate to $4, while the Democrat's remains at $2, a comparison of the mastheads of the two papers would be unfavorable to the Republican."

Ogle, who is 38 years old, has been in the newspaper business in Indiana since 1920. He worked for the Indianapolis Star for nine years, and was editor of a Huntington newspaper for five years. Prior to that he was with the Milwaukee Journal. He bought the Republican last November.

Sees Repudiation



SENATOR L. J. DICKINSON.

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Senator Lester J. Dickinson [Ia., Rep.], speaking before the Illinois Women's Bar association in the Union League club last night, said that repudiation of government obligations looms as one of the perils of the New Deal over spending.

A demand for government repudiation and the seating in congress of members committed to such a program is an entirely possible eventuality, the senator said.

"The administration program is breeding a philosophy of 'Do less but demand a better standard of living'," he said. "A three billion or four billion dollar program cannot solve the unemployment problem. If you have a 10 per cent decrease in the value of government bonds, you will close every bank in the federal reserve system."

FARLEY PREDICTS 4 BILLIONS WILL END DEPRESSION

Denies the Popularity of Roosevelt Wanes.

New York, April 27.—[Special.]—Asserting that the United States since Franklin D. Roosevelt became President had traveled far on the road to recovery, Postmaster General James A. Farley declared tonight that appropriation by congress of 4 billion 800 million for a public works relief program to be administered by the President was the "knockout blow" to the depression.

Mr. Farley spoke at the annual dinner of the National Democratic club to commemorate the 192d anniversary of the birth of Thomas Jefferson, founder of the Democratic party. He denied the truth of talk by Republicans that the popularity of the President was waning, and declared that such statements represented the hope of the same group that ran the country into the depression and hoped to regain power.

Insists People Back President.

"They talked the same way before the congressional election of 1934," he said, "and the people's answer was the highest tribute they have paid an administration in our country's history. If there were an election tomorrow, you would see no change in the expression of sentiment from that of last November."

Other speakers at the dinner were Senator Allen W. Barkley of Kentucky, and Miss Josephine Roche of Colorado, assistant secretary of the treasury. George C. Norton, the toastmaster, was introduced by Thomas J. McMahon, president of the club.

More than 1,500 persons, including leading Democrats of New York City and nearby states, were present.

"To listen to critics of the administration, one might suppose that the President of the United States wanted the 4 billion 800 million relief fund to gratify some whim or hobby of his own," Mr. Farley said. "He would be a queer sort of individual if he set about incurring all the grief, worry, and work of administering the fund unless he felt—in fact, unless he knew—that all the anxiety and labor coincident with it was necessary and a great step toward the job he undertook to get this country out of the depression."

Will Reach Every Town.

Mr. Farley said that to have asked for the money by instalments or to have left its distribution in the hands of congress would have delayed the whole public works program.

"In the administration of the work relief program, reaching as it will to every city, town, and hamlet in the broad expanse of our entire country, the American people, I know, will place their trust in the wisdom of President Roosevelt," he continued.

"The work relief legislation is the knockout blow to the depression. Administered properly, it will give the impetus to business and industry that will help economic recovery onward on the upward road that it has been following since President Roosevelt undertook to bring a sane program of recovery into the industrial and financial chaos of 1932 and early 1933."

Miss Roche, like Mr. Farley, declared that conditions had improved,

KINGFISH BOOSTS 'SHARE WEALTH' PLAN TO IOWANS

Rakes New Deal Before Farm Gathering.

Des Moines, Ia., April 27.—[Special.]—Senator Huey P. Long came to Iowa today to plug for his "share the wealth" program and to denounce the New Deal, the New Dealers, and the programs of the last four presidents.

The occasion was the national convention of the Farmers' Holiday association. The Louisiana Kingfish shared the state fair grounds platform with Milo Reno, president of the association, and other of the group's leaders, who likewise used the occasion to lambast the Democratic administration.

Officers of the association, however, denied that today's convention manifested any thought of establishing a third party, as the gathering had been looked upon by many observers.

The Kingfish contented himself with saying there will be a third party "only if it's necessary."

Police Escort Long.

Long's address was the feature of the day's program, which was attended by approximately 10,000 persons. Twelve Des Moines policemen whisked the senator up to the speakers' platform. As he reached the entrance to the grand stand Long paused to buy a bag of peanuts. His police convoy kept on going and had to return for him.

Swinging into an attack on the New Deal, Long declared that one-half of one per cent of the people of the nation have 60 per cent of the wealth while 4 per cent control 85 per cent of it.

"The net result of the whole program of Harding, Coolidge, Hoover, and Roosevelt is that the debts are owed by 75 per cent of the people who don't own a thing on God's earth," he said.

Cites Nation's Debt.

"In the United States today," he continued, "we owe between 262 billion and 272 billion dollars in public and private debts. The government alone has got a 40 billion dollar mortgage on your place.

"We've stopped giving presents to babies now. Instead, we give them a debt of $2,100—their share of the public debt.

"How are you going to pay these debts? You can't. They'll never be paid."

Long said he "flew to Roosevelt like a martin does to its nest" when it appeared that Roosevelt and he "thought alike."

"And what happened?" asked the senator. "Well, I don't know what platforms are supposed to mean, but they apparently don't mean anything, for the Democratic leadership threw its platform away.

Hits Crop Program.

"With people crying for food, production of food was curtailed; with people crying for clothing, every fourth row of cotton was plowed under.

"You were told you had too many hogs, and so 'they' went on a rampage and slaughtered every hog they could find. Why, the very day you were pouring milk in the river the United States didn't have enough milk to feed its people.

"At the same time America is represented as having an abundance of everything and your fellow citizen [a reference to Secretary of Agriculture Wallace, whose home is in Des Moines] has sent out contracts to have farmers do more destroying."

Striking at the Public Works administration spending program as "a few dollars for good purpose and many for political good will," Long declared "We had to pass a law down in Louisiana to keep them from pouring out their money on things we didnt need."

Turning to his "share the wealth" program, Long explained he proposed that every family in the United States should be guaranteed a homestead with a valuation of $5,000 and an annual income from $2,000 to $2,500.

"Don't Need to Understand."

To those who object that they don't understand the mechanism of his scheme, he declared an understanding of it is unnecessary.

"Just shut your damned eyes and believe it," he advised.

"No country," he asserted, "can survive without redistributing its wealth and compromising its debts once every 50 years."

Long said the average family wealth in this country was $16,666, and the average family income "is not less than $5,000 and possibly $10,000 if all in the family are allowed to work."

To bring about his wealth distribution, Long said, he proposed to limit the wealth and income of any one person to 300 times the average.

Would Guarantee Income.

By guaranteeing one-third of the average homestead wealth and one-third of the income to each family, he said, "that leaves two-thirds of the wealth to go to the big financiers who don't have to work for it."

"It simply means that none is to have less than one-third of the average family income and none is to have more than 300 times that average income.

Long was introduced to the assemblage by Reno, who castigated the Roosevelt administration for breaking its promises. He attacked the AAA and the NRA, dubbed Secretary Wallace "Lord Cornwallace," and lauded Long for "having the nerve to tell them to go straight to hell."

Two associates of Father Charles E. Coughlin, Detroit priest who had been mentioned in connection with the gathering, declined places on the convention program. They were H. Ralph Bruten, attorney, and B. F. Stephenson, one of the priest's advisers. They said their attendance was as individuals and not as representatives of Father Coughlin.

Priest Tells Stand.

In Detroit, the priest said his National Union for Social Justice supports the National Farmers' union rather than the Farmers' Holiday association.

While Senator Long's remarks were received with applause at the convention, he got a chilly reception when he visited the Drake relays here after his address.

As the senator entered the stadium a slight cheer arose, but soon was overshadowed by a chorus of boos from a majority of the 18,000 persons present.

Finds Huey Friendly

Nona Kenneaster of Fresno, Cal., Fresno State college co-ed presiding as queen of the Drake relays, had breakfast with Senator Huey Long today.

"He was," she said, "sociable and friendly. But I would have known he was a politician even if I hadn't known who he is.

"He talked about politics mostly—and himself."

Z-Z-Z! YES, IT'S FIRST SKEETERS OF SPRING CROP

The first mosquitoes of the season are here. Their arrival has been officially noted in a few complaints to the board of health.

Some of the reports mentioned that the early ones were "no babies." Such complaints are correct, according to Maj. Joel I. Connolly, chief of the bureau of public health engineering of the board of health. The advance guard comprises full grown adults of species which hibernate in adult form.

Mosquitoes have an increasingly hard struggle for existence in the Chicago area because of the accumulative work of the mosquito abatement districts, according to Maj. Connolly, who said the current school cleanup campaign should further reduce the mosquito hazard because of the removal of tin cans and water-storing rubbish.

KILLS WOMAN OUT FOR WALK WITH ESTRANGED MATE

Baltimore, Md., April 27.—(AP)—While scores of shoppers ran for cover, Mrs. Cecelia Bressler, 36, mother of two children, tonight shot and killed a woman walking with her husband. The shooting occurred in a crowded shopping district here.

Police said Mrs. Bressler confessed she shot Mrs. Rosa Schwartz, 32, mother of three children. After the shooting Mrs. Bressler tossed the pistol to her husband and fled to a nearby store. She was hysterical when police arrived. She said the other woman "threatened her life."

Fires at Woman in Theater.

Shreveport, La., April 27.—(AP)—The audience in a downtown theater was plunged into a panic tonight when Mrs. R. T. Johnson, 35, fired a pistol at Lois Thompson, 22, who was seated beside R. T. Johnson, 37.

An unidentified man seized the pistol as she fired and the bullet missed its target, but pierced the shoulder of 10 year old Billy Singlust. His father, P. A. Singlust, is vice president of the First National bank.

DECLARES TVA EXCEEDS POWER; DEMANDS QUIZ

Washington, D. C., April 27.—[Special.]—Charges that officials of the Tennessee Valley authority have exceeded their powers and ignored acts of congress were made today by Representative Donald H. McLean [Rep., N. J.]. McLean has introduced a resolution in the house for a congressional investigation of the agency.

"The TVA authorities have spent or obligated the United States to pay upward of 125 million dollars and have only just started on their program," declared McLean. "They now come to congress asking additional powers and for the increase of their bonding power from 50 to 100 million dollars.

"Inasmuch as they have not seen fit properly to inform congress of their objects and purposes and have disregarded the limitations of law governing their activities, it is my purpose that congress take it own means of finding out what it is entitled to know; mainly, exactly what this experiment has cost thus far and how much it is going to cost annually to complete and carry on the program."

ROOSEVELT JOINS CORRESPONDENTS AT PRESS DINNER

Washington, D. C., April 27.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt tonight joined more than 300 newspaper men in celebrating the fourteenth year of the White House Correspondents' association in a dinner at the Willard hotel. Mr. Roosevelt is honorary president of the organization.

Attending the dinner with the President were members of his cabinet, Vice President John Garner, Speaker Joseph W. Byrns, and virtually every important figure in the New Deal, as well as many of its outstanding foes.

There were no set speeches. The President responded to a rising toast to the President of the United States.

SENATE CHIEFS FAIL TO DERAIL ANTI-LYNCH BILL

Filibuster Threat Grows; Leaders Worried.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 27.—[Special.]—Senate administration leaders became gravely concerned today when they failed, for the second time, to shunt aside the Costigan-Wagner anti-lynching bill and the southern filibuster which for four days has blocked legislative progress.

Threat of an indefinite filibuster, which might play havoc with President Roosevelt's "must" program, became far more serious when supporters of the anti-lynching bill defeated a motion to adjourn by a vote of 37 to 28. Had such a motion carried it automatically would have killed Senator Costigan's motion to call up his bill, whereas a motion to recess, which did carry, 49 to 10, leaves the motion before the senate and the filibuster in status quo.

Vote Held Test of Sentiment.

Majority Leader Joseph T. Robinson of Arkansas, who put the unsuccessful motion to adjourn, said the vote was a clear test of sentiment on the Costigan bill and that the senate would pass it were it ever permitted to come to a vote. Therein lay the seriousness of the situation, for the southerners have vowed never to permit such a vote.

Senator Josiah W. Bailey [Dem., N. C.], brought his Bible to the senate today and had it opened at the book of Deuteronomy. He said he would start there but would not feel constrained to stop upon concluding the book.

"Furthermore," said Senator Bailey, "I have been making a study of the various share the wealth movements and I feel that this would be a good time to discuss the subject. I have studied it for 90 days and I believe I could talk 90 days."

All of this was regarded with amusement by certain anti-New Deal senators, who are not in the least concerned about Mr. Roosevelt's "must" legislation, but Senator Robinson was visibly distressed as he sat gazing at his feet when the results of the roll call were announced.

Earlier in the day Senator Robinson unsuccessfully had proposed another way out, which was to adopt the Costigan motion by unanimous consent and then lay it aside immediately for consideration of the Harrison soldiers' bonus bill. Senator Costigan had given his assurance not to delay consideration of the bonus measure if the senate would adopt his motion.

Senator Smith Objects.

But there was an immediate objection from Senator Ellison D. Smith [Dem., S. C.], who regards the Costigan-Wagner bill as a deliberate affront to the southern states and thinks any senator who would introduce such a measure ought to be disciplined if not expelled.

The unanimous consent proposal was designed to slip out of the perplexing situation, with its sectional prejudices and emotions rooted as far back as the civil war, without the necessity of a roll call vote to embarrass the southerners. The difficulty lay in the fact that once the bonus matter were disposed of any senator could "move the regular order of business" and the anti-lynching bill would be before the senate. Such a motion could be made repeatedly, stalling the New Deal measures in the order as they were brought up.

This was illustrated by the position taken by Senator William E. Borah [Rep., Idaho], who declared:

"I won't agree to postpone this bill and take up the bonus matter unless it also is agreed that the Costigan bill will be disposed of before taking up the amendments to the Agricultural Adjustment Act."

One indication of feeling stirred up by the bill was the explanation of Senator Carter Glass [Dem., Va.], of how he would have voted had he been present yesterday.

"Had I been here," said Senator Glass, puckering his lips, "I would have voted 'aye' on the motion to adjourn and thereby dispose of this wretched bill."

Fight for "States' Rights."

To date the opposition to the Costigan bill has been based on constitutional grounds, save for occasional outbursts on "the sanctity of womanhood" from Senator Smith. Senator Bailey and his southern colleagues contend that it would infringe upon the rights of the states and reduce them to mere provinces, with all state and county officers at the mercy of a possible hostile federal district attorney.

Any state or county peace officer who "fails, neglects, or refuses" to protect an intended victim of a mob from injury or death or to apprehend and punish the members of the mob would be subject to a $5,000 fine and five years' imprisonment.

Any officer who conspired with the mob to hand over a prisoner, as well as members of the mob, would be liable to 25 years' imprisonment. Any county in which a lynching occurred or an intended victim was injured would be liable to civil damages of from $2,000 to $10,000, the action to be enforceable in the federal courts.

It is the contention of Senator Hugo L. Black [Dem., Ala.], as well as Senator Bailey, that Cook county, under such a law, would have been liable for damages to the relatives of the St. Valentine day massacre victims.

SENSATION NEAR IN HOLLYWOOD'S CRIME MYSTERY

Hint "Big Name" Linked in Slaying.

Los Angeles, Cal., April 27.—(AP)—Shreds of mystery still hanging about the bizarre slaying of Paul Ivar Wharton, eccentric Hollywood dress designer, were partly cleared away today when a sailor, only survivor of the dinner party preceding the tragedy, was questioned aboard a battleship here.

The sailor, N. C. McDermitt, told sherif's officers William Howard, former naval reserve officer, shot Wharton and went to a nearby house where he wounded Henry Bolte, sociology professor, then committed suicide.

Promise of a sensational development in the case was made, meanwhile, by Capt. Norris Stensland, in charge of the sherif's bureau of investigation.

Hints at Sensation.

"Something sensational will break in this case Monday or at the inquest," he said. "And don't be surprised if somebody of real importance is found right in the middle of it."

He declined to explain or enlarge upon the statement. The date for the inquest has not been set.

McDermitt said he was outside the apartment when Wharton was shot. Returning, he said he fled when he saw him dying in the arms of his invalid foster mother.

Sailor Is Exonerated.

The sailor was exonerated of any participation in the crime, but he was held in the ship's brig for having been absent without leave from Tuesday to Friday.

McDermitt's story indicated money might have been the immediate motive, although officers previously had uncovered a fantastic array of circumstances which they said indicated Wharton and Howard were "strange men who led strange lives."

McDermitt's story showed Howard and the sailor had gone to Ivar's apartment for dinner. "We had just finished dinner," McDermitt said, "when Howard said to me: 'Go downstairs and wait in the car for me; I want to talk to Paul.'"

Sees Howard Fleeing.

"So I went to the garage and walked around for a while," McDermitt continued. "Suddenly I realized Howard was in the car, driving off.

"I went back upstairs. As I stepped through the doorway I saw Paul on the floor, all bloody. Mrs. Wharton was beside him. She looked at me and asked: 'Who are you?'

"I told her I was a friend of Paul's. I saw there had been a shooting, although I hadn't heard any shots. So I thought I'd better get out of there. I went into the kitchen and jumped out a window. Then I bummed my way back to San Pedro and stayed with friends."

Met Pair Last Sunday.

The sailor said he did not know Wharton or Howard until last Sunday, when they "picked me up when I was on my way from San Pedro to Los Angeles."

McDermitt said he then stayed at Howard's house. On one occasion the sailor said Howard told him "that if Paul thought he could beat him out of the $75 he owed him for salary, he'd find he was the wrong guy to beat."

"I think he must have talked to Paul about money matters," the sailor added, "because Paul told me, 'I have a check coming to me for $1,800, and I'll straighten everything up with Bill.'"

BOY HURT BY ROBBERS' CAR

ROBBERS' AUTO INJURES CHILD IN A $1,700 HOLDUP

Boy Hit as Car Speeds with Theft Victim.

Speeding down Estes avenue with their kidnaped victim, from whom they later took $1,700, two robbers yesterday noon injured a 4 year old boy who was struck by their automobile as he was playing in front of his home. The boy, Arthur Schiller, 1358 Estes avenue, was taken to the Rogers Park hospital where it was said he had incurred a broken nose, broken right leg, and cuts and bruises about his head and body.

Irving Holland, 1434 Jarvis avenue, a clerk in Lee's drug store, 6359 Broadway, was entering a branch store at 7079 Glenwood avenue to leave some of the money he had withdrawn to care for week-end needs when the robbers pulled their car to the curb. One leaped out and, threatening him with a revolver, ordered him into their car. Holland complied and crouched on the floor at the robbers' command.

Motorists in Pursuit.

As the car was driven away other motorists who had seen the kidnaping started in pursuit. The bandits' car swerved around the corner into Estes avenue. Older children playing there scampered to safety, but the Schiller boy was struck and knocked to the pavement.

While the motorists who had started in pursuit stopped to care for the injured boy the robbery car sped on to Sheridan road, then south to Albion avenue and west to Lakewood avenue where Holland was forced to give up the money. He then was thrown to the street.

Dr. Clarence Krakow was just leaving his home at 1365 Estes avenue when the boy was struck down and he took him to the hospital. The witnesses of the kidnaping took up the pursuit of the cream colored sedan again, but were thrown off the track.

Uses Handkerchief Mask.

Holland said the robber who kept him covered with a revolver during the chase attempted to keep his face covered with a handkerchief, but that he would be able to recognize him. He was described as about 25 years old, of swarthy complexion, and wore a dark suit and overcoat and a tan hat.

The injured boy is the son of Louis Schiller, former owner of a confectionery.

German Red Takes Appeal from Deportation Order

Frederick Wilhelm Werrmann, who was recently ordered deported to Germany as an undesirable alien because of his communist activities, yesterday scheduled with Federal Judge Charles E. Woodard a $2,500 appeal bond. At his trial Werrmann maintained that he would be killed or imprisoned because of his anti-Nazi work if he returned to Germany.

SEEK TO INFORM PUBLIC ON NEEDS OF POOR BABIES

Infant Welfare Society Announces 21st 'Week.'

Chicago's 21st annual Baby week will be launched today by the organization with which it originated in 1914—the Infant Welfare society of Chicago.

This year the week has one primary objective. That, as stated by Philip D. Armour, president of the society, is "to advance the education of the public in regard to the necessity of infant welfare work in congested districts of Chicago."

In 1914, however, Baby week had a goal which since has come to be merely secondary—the procurement of funds. The Welfare society, organized in 1911 to educate mothers and to reduce the infant mortality rate in the tenement districts, was sorely in need of money. To meet this need the Advertising club of Chicago volunteered its aid, and proclaimed a Baby week for the compaign in April, 1914.

First Week a Major Success.

The week was a great success. There were parades, speeches, and dinners. Lorado Taft sculptured his famous "Mother and Child," which now has become the emblem of the welfare group. The seven day campaign raised $53,000.

In June, just two months later, New York instituted Baby week. Indianapolis, Toledo, and Grand Rapids joined the cause. The following year Baby week was endorsed by the children's bureau of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, and it now is set aside as a national occasion for public education in regard to infant welfare.

Four benefits will be held in various parts of Chicago this week to start the budget ball rolling toward the society's 1935 goal of $162,000. Out of this fund the society expects to care for some 16,000 babies and children at an approximate cost of $10 a baby a year.

The Services of the Society.

During 1934 it cared for 15,184 children at a total cost of $153,197. This care included 121,037 home visits [as compared to 117,556 in 1933] by the group's 93 nurses and doctors, and clinical treatment at the eighteen district welfare stations.

The most serious problem this year, according to Miss Jeanette Townsend, executive secretary of the organization, is the increase in malnutrition among the babies brought to the welfare station. She attributed this condition to the depression, and declared it called for more intensive treatment. The trend may be seen, she pointed out, in the increase in the amount of cod liver oil given to the babies. In 1933 the society distributed 13,124 pints, but in 1934 the total was 19,191 pints.

VETERANS LIVE AGAIN WAR DAYS OF 37 YEARS AGO

One hundred veterans, members of a "Last Man" club, gathered around a dinner table at the Morrison hotel last night to commemorate the day, thirty-seven years ago, when 1,400 members of the Seventh Illionis volunters, under command of Col. Marcus Kavanagh, entrained at Chicago for duty in the Spanish-American war.

When the "Last Man" club was formed two years ago, a bottle of champagne was placed in a vault and those present pledged themselves that the last four members to survive would drink from it a toast to their departed comrades.

The toastmaster last night was the president of the group, Maj. C. S. Kelly. Judge Kavanagh made a brief address, recalling humorous experiences during the war. Also at the speakers table were: Col. E. H. White, Col. Eben Swift, Capt. Timothy Kennedy, Maj. Joseph Moore and Capt. R. J. Ratigan. The secretary of the club is David Ransford.

KING OF BELGIANS ASKS WORLD CUT IN TARIF WALLS

BRUSSELS, April 27.—(AP)—King Leopold of the Belgians pleaded today for free international exchange of goods through lowered tarif walls in a speech opening the World's Fair here.

With Queen Astrid, the king drove in a horse drawn coach to the exhibition grounds, situated on a 250 acre plot within a mile of the royal palace at Laeken. A detachment of calvary escorted them.

Leopold, alluding to the Belgian economic crisis and measures taken to meet it, including currency devaluation, said:

"It is unhealthy for nations, like individuals, to live behind closed doors and windows. Tarif walls conflict ironically with the nation's desire for an interchange of goods. Belgium has set an example of economic renovation which it desires to be followed."

Report Lerroux Cabinet to Resign Soon in Spain

MADRID, April 27.—(AP)—Reliable reports said tonight Premier Alejandro Lerroux planned to present the resignation of his recently reorganized cabinet next week to enable the formation of a majority government prior to parliament's reopening, May 7.

POLICE SURPRISE 12 CONGRESSMEN WITH RIOT CALL

New York, April 27.—[UP]—A dozen innocent congressmen lolling on the steps of the Sub-Treasury building were startled today to find themselves the targets of 340 burly policemen armed with night sticks, blackjacks, machine guns, rifles and revolvers.

While the members of the house military affairs committee looked on in astonishment, patrolmen tumbled out of patrol wagons and emergency trucks, leaped from radio cars and motorcycles or pounded toward Broad and Wall streets on foot, grimly concentrating on the visitors from Washington.

Mayor Fiorello LaGuardia, reassured his legislative guests. He explained that he had ordered a riot call turned in to prove that New York is capable of protecting itself and does not need a military establishment on Governor's Island.

The mayor wants the island converted from a military base to a public airport.

The congressmen were visibly impressed by the demonstration—if veteran newspaper men were not. Reporters wondered how six radio cars from Brooklyn happened to be en route to Manhattan at the precise moment of the riot call, and how full crews of patrolmen happened to be present at precinct stations to man patrol wagons—a situation unprecedented in police history.

U. S. SETS JUNE 15 FOR NEW TRIAL OF INSULL CASE

District Attorney Dwight H. Green was notified yesterday by Attorney General Homer S. Cummings that the government will not be prepared to go ahead with the trial of Samuel Insull and his eight co-defendants before June 15. The Insull group is under indictment for violation of the bankruptcy law in connection with the Corporation Securities company.

Mr. Green explained that by June proceedings to extradite Martin Insull from Canada are expected to be under way. Martin also is a defendant in the bankruptcy case. Mr. Green conferred with defense attorneys, Floyd E. Thompson and Charles E. Lounsberry, informing them of Mr. Cummings' decision. It is expected that the Insulls will be tried by Mr. Green's Democratic successor and a corps of special assistants from Washington.

KIDNAPED AND ROBBED OF $15.

John Sielski, 37 years old, 1829 North Keeler avenue, was kidnaped and robbed of $15 yesterday by two armed men who stepped into his car when he stopped for a trafic signal at North avenue and Humboldt boulevard.

LONDON'S EAST SIDE MOBS BELLE BAKER, U. S. TORCH SINGER

LONDON, April 27.—(AP)—Buxom Belle Baker, American torch singer, emerged from a milling mass of London east side humanity tonight with her plump arms bruised, her ermine coat ripped in several places and her eyes wet with tears.

They were tears of joy, however, for it was Belle's "farewell appearance" in the heart of London's Jewish colony and she never received a more vociferous tribute in her own New York east side. She gave the packed theater first "Yiddisher Momma," then "Mammy of Mine" and, to top things off, the Jewish classic "Eili Eili."

The veteran trouper spent most of the day in her dressing room autographing photographs of herself, only to see many of them torn into bits in the mad scramble of the mob that blocked trafic along Mile End road, the equivalent of New York's Delancey street. Admirers almost swept the singer off her feet when she left the theater.

Although tonight's performance was billed as Miss Baker's "farewell appearance," she has already canceled four sailings for America in the past seven months.

SON OF GOVERNOR OF SOUTH AFRICA SLAIN IN ACCIDENT

[Copyright: 1935: By the New York Times.]

KIMBERLEY, South Africa, April 27.—A shooting accident today cost the life of Lord Hyde, 29 year old son and heir of the earl of Clarendon, governor-general of South Africa.

Lord Hyde was with a shooting party about 30 miles from Kimberley. For some cause, as yet unexplained, the rifle of one of the party was discharged and the charge struck Hyde.

Born in 1906, Lord Hyde was educated at Eton and Oxford. In 1932 he married Marion Glyn, daughter of Lord Wolverton, at a brilliant ceremony in Westminster Abbey, at which the king and queen were present.

CHURCH OPPOSES BILLS TO BENEFIT RUM INTERESTS

The bill now pending in the general assembly which would permit persons engaged in the liquor business to hold public office was condemned yesterday by the Illinois conference of the Augustana Lutheran synod, meeting in Messiah church, Waller avenue and Iowa street.

The churchmen declared that the bill would "make it possible for the liquor business to control itself." The meeting condemned also another pending bill which would free the owner of property on which liquor is sold from the responsibility for injury or damage caused by the use of such liquor.

In the election of officers, Rev. J. A. S. Landin of Ludington, Mich., was named secretary, and Rev. A. N. Olson of Berwyn, vice president of the synod. Dr. Peter Peterson, president, will remain in office for another year.

HELD IN WOMAN'S DEATH.

Salvatore Marfisa, 52 years old, 439 West 17th street, was held to the grand jury on a murder charge yesterday by a coroner's jury that investigated the death of Katie McCann, 50 years old, whose battered body was found in the basement at 1705 South Canal street Friday.

745 FOOD POISONING CASES REPORTED TO OFFICIALS; NAME GERM

New York, April 27.—[Special.]—As the total number of cases of food poisoning reported to the Westchester county health department mounted to 745 when its offices closed for the week-end today, the germ which caused the epidemic was identified as staphylococcus pyogenes aureaus.

Dr. Clarence Buckmaster, Yonkers' health commissioner, said that the germ had been isolated and identified from examination of a specimen of the cream filled pastry seized in a bakeshop in that city soon after the epidemic began late Tuesday. He described it as a pus forming germ.

The report said that the infection might have been transmitted to the cream filling from an open wound on a human hand, from a boil, or that it might have been communicated through a cracked egg en route from the west. Dr. Weedon has not yet made any analysis of the separate ingredients of the filling.

The state department of health laboratory has not yet completed its analysis of the specimens sent to it.

[Copyright: 1935: By the New York Times.]

HAVANA, April, 27.—The death penalty on each of nineteen counts was asked by the prosecuting attorney in the National Sanctions court today at the trial of nineteen former officials of the Machado regime on charges of the massacre of Aug. 7, 1933.

In this massacre, during which police and secret operatives sped through the streets in automobiles raking the sidewalks with machine guns, 19 persons were killed. The prosecuting attorney contends each of the acused is responsible for all the deaths.

Among the group on trial is Dr. Octavio Zubizarreta, former secretary of the interior under Machado, who is already under eleven death sentences handed down by the court under other charges. Several others of the accused are also under death sentence, but their executions have been delayed until after the general elections provides Cuba with a constitutional regime.

WHITE IS TONE AS PATSY KEITH BECOMES BRIDE

Robert S. Macdonald Is the Bridegroom.

BY JUDITH CASS.

In one of the few all white weddings of the season Miss Patsy Keith, daughter of the Stanley Keiths, yesterday afternoon became the bride of Robert Stuart Macdonald, son of Mr. and Mrs. George A. Macdonald of Winnetka. The service was read in the Church of the Holy Spirit in Lake Forest.

Miss Keith wore a filmy, billowing, old fashioned gown of tulle with a long flowing train and veil. Promptly at 4:30 o'clock she came down the aile on the arm of her father and then she and the bridegroom repeated their wedding vows after the Rev. Herbert E. Prince. The altar was massed with Easter lilies and flanked with candles.

Attendants in Contrast.

In contrast to the beautiful flowing gown of the bride made so exquisitely with layer on layer of tulle over white taffeta and a pinched in waist and tight fitting bodice, her attendants, all in white, wore rustling taffeta. A ruffle of matching material trimmed the hemline of their gowns, and the bodices were finished with a tiny bow in front and tiny puffed sleeves.

They all wore large natural straw hats. The bridesmaids' hats were banded in green ribbon, and green streamers fell down the back, but the maid of honor's hat was trimmed in white ribbon. The attendants carried white lilacs, and the bride carried a dainty bouquet of filies of the valley.

Lilies Only Decoration.

Easter lilies again were the only decoration at the Keith home in Lake Forest where a reception followed. Receiving in the spacious living room were Mr. and Mrs. Keith, Mr. and Mrs. Macdonald and the bride and bridegroom. The maid of honor was Miss Betty Keith, the bride's younger sister. The bridesmaids included Miss Peggy Hixon, Miss Barbara Poole, Miss Mary Macdonald, the bridegroom's sister; Miss Frances Smith of New York, Miss Nina Phillips of Boston and Miss Eileen Kelley of Richmond, Mass.

Angus Macdonald served his brother as best man, and ushering were two of the bridegroom's cousins, John Stuart Jr. and R. Douglas Stuart Jr., John P. Bent, Edward B. Smith, Frederick H. Scott Jr., Cyrus H. Adams, III., and James N. Sherwin of Cleveland. Mr. Macdonald and his bride will go to Bermuda on their honeymoon and will be at home after June 1 at 486 Oakwood avenue, Lake Forest.

Miss Fentress Is Bride.

A half hour later yesterday afternoon there was a wedding in Hubbard Woods, the importance of which was not lessened by the fact that the guests were limited to members of the immediate families. The bride was Miss Harriet Fentress, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Fentress. She was married to Bruce Benson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter L. Benson of Winnetka in the drawing room of her parents' home. The Rev. Ashley Gerhard of Christ church, Winnetka, officiated.

The pretty, dark haired bride wore her aunt's, Mrs. John W. Gary's, wedding veil, which formed into a tiny cap and a graceful gown of white satin made with a low neckline, fitted bodice, and full skirt. She carried lilies of the valley. Although Miss Fentress had no attendants, Mr. Benson had Ben Mann of Lancaster, Pa., to serve as his best man.

After the bride and bridegroom had been toasted, the new Mr. and Mrs. Benson left for a wedding trip. On their return June 1 they will be at home in the Marshall Field Garden apartments.

A third bride yesterday was Miss Alice Helen Diver, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Diver, who was married to Earl Goodwine Jr. at 4:30 o'clock in the home of her parents in Evanston. The Rev. Father Duffin of St. Mary's church, Evanston, read the ceremony in the presence of the immediate families and intimate friends.

TWO MORE NEAR DEATH IN FATAL CROSSING CRASH

Young Gary Residents Drive Into Engine.

No hope was held last night for the recovery of Miss Doris Cannon, 16 years old, 8th street and Delaware avenue, Gary, who was injured early yesterday morning when the automobile in which she was riding crashed into an engine of a Pennsylvania railroad train at the Indianapolis avenue crossing near 104th street, killing another youth and a girl and seriously injuring Miss Cannon's companion, who was driving the car.

The dead are: Richard Fickes, 18 years old, 850 Vermont street, and Miss Lucille Gunter, 17 years old, 561 Vermont street, Gary. Charles Biggs, 20 years old, 815 East 8th Street, also of Gary, driver of the car, incurred a fracture of the skull and also may not recover. Both the injured are at the South Chicago hospital. All but Biggs were students of the Emerson High school.

Gates Out of Order.

Thomas Hiller, 6345 Ingleside avenue, the crossing watchman, told the Eastside police another car had struck the crossing gates the evening before and put them out of order. He said the car in which the four young persons were riding was going at a moderate speed, but that the driver apparently did not see his swinging red lantern or hear his warning whistle.

These deaths and two others increased the Cook county motor death toll for 1935 to 297. Until 2 p. m. yesterday 241 had been killed in trafic accidents within the Chicago city limits and 4,637 injured.

The other deaths:

Peter Tonelli, $2\frac{1}{2}$ years old, fatally injured yesterday when he toddled into the path of an automobile in front of his home at 1726 Leland avenue. William F. Horn, 38 years old, 1725 Wilson avenue, driver of the car, was not held.

Unidentified man, about 40 years old. Fatally injured when he was struck by an automobile at Marquette road and Halsted street. He died as he was being taken to the Englewood hospital. The driver fled after the accident and the police had no clews to his identity.

Chicago Woman Dies.

Mrs. Augusta Hoerdt, of Chicago, died early yesterday morning in a hospital at Chattanooga, Tenn., of injuries incurred a week ago in an automobile accident near Manchester, Tenn. She was en route to visit relatives in Atlanta.

CUTS THROUGH 68 MILES OF ICE; FREES FREIGHTER

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., April 27.—(AP)—After smashing her way through 68 miles of ice, the sealer Imogene reached the SS. Titanian today and began opening a lane for the imprisoned English freighter to follow toward St. John's.

The Titanian, carrying a crew of about 30 and bound in ballast from Newcastle, England, for Port Alfred, Que., damaged both stem and stern when caught in the ice 150 miles east of Cape Race Thursday night.

Setting out yesterday morning the Imogene struck ice 82 miles from the Cape and had to break through the barrier for the remaining 68 miles. The sealer and crippled freighter were not expected to reach St. John's before Tuesday or Wednesday.

5 IN ONE FAMILY DIE; 3 HURT AS TRAIN HITS AUTO

Beaver Falls, Pa., April 28 [Sunday.]—(AP)—Ploughing into the middle of a crowded automobile at an unguarded grade crossing, the crack Pennsylvania flyer Clevelander caused the deaths of five persons shortly before midnight and injuries to three others, two of whom may die.

The dead are George Dunn, 42; his wife, Ida, 38; their daughters, Loretta Dunn, 3, and Mrs. Edna Caplinger, 19; and grandson, Theodore Caplinger, aged 1.

Ruth Dunn, 18, and Louise Dunn, 4, are in critical condition. Seven year old Harry Dunn was unhurt.

The accident occurred at a grade crossing which does not have a watchman or gates.

WON'T NEGOTIATE UNLESS STRIKE IS CALLED OFF

Toledo, O., April 27.—(AP)—William S. Knudsen, executive vice president of General Motors, told a federal conciliator today "the company cannot resume any negotiations" with strikers at the Toledo Chevrolet plant "while the strike is on."

After conferences with officials of the United Automotive Workers' Federal union Thomas J. Williams, federal conciliator, telephoned Knudsen and received this reply, he said.

Ellsworth S. Kramer, president of the union local, said the men will not return to work until there is a satisfactory settlement.

Knudsen sent a statement here today in which he termed the strike "an arbitrary and lawless act." The strike began Monday night and the company shut down the plant Tuesday, putting 2,340 men out of work indefinitly.

Company and union officials disagree on whether the union is demanding a closed shop. Union leaders say no such demand has been made, but Knudsen said the demands are such that a closed shop would be in effect if they were accepted.

JEWS FORBIDDEN TO HOIST NAZI FLAG ON MAY DAY

Germany Issues Order to "Prevent Violence."

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, April 27.—Wilhelm Frick, minister of the interior, today decreed that Jewish business houses and Jewish individuals will not be allowed to hoist a German flag on May day as all other Germans have been ordered to do. As a result, thousands of Jews who are unable to leave the reich complained that they were being treated as outcasts.

The ostracizing order explained that "on previous occasions when Jews obeyed the command to decorate the windows of their homes and shops with German flags public disturbances ensued."

It was to prevent recurrence of such incidents that prompted Frick to issue his order, according to the official explanation. Doubtful cases are to be submitted to the local police.

Jewish Children Barred.

The population of the reich has been called upon to thank Reichsfuehrer Hitler for restoring military conscription at giant manifestations on May day. Jewish children are forbidden to participate in the celebrations, while authorities are debating a demand made by Dr. Walter Gross, Nazi racial expert, to segregate children of Jewish parentage.

Julius Streicher, chief of the Nazi anti-Semitic movement, is understood to be preparing to publish a new and particularly active anti-Jewish paper in Berlin.

The city of Euskirchen has ruled that no Jews will be allowed to move into the city from now on.

"Due to the German campaign against the Jews, they become unemployed sooner or later," the city officials explained. "By keeping the Jews out, the city will not have to take care of them when they become jobless."

New Rules for Citizenship.

BERLIN, April 27.—(AP)—Just being born in Germany will not be enough for "full fledged" citizenship in the third reich, it appeared tonight, even though both parties are German.

Informed quarters said new citizenship legislation announced today by Wilhelm Frick, minister of the interior, would require every German woman to bear the fatherland at least one child and every German man to serve his army term before full citizenship is conferred.

Service to the people and the state, Frick said, opens the road to citizenship only to "German blooded" people, and Adolf Hitler himself will decide who may not become burghers in good standing.

Hitler to Award "Letters."

"German citizenship in the future cannot be obtained by birth alone," the interior minister elucidated, adding that regulations for citizenship would be developed along national socialist lines.

"Racial kinship to the German people is one of the main prerequisites for becoming a citizen," Frick said, and acknowledgement of citizenship will be by "a letter of citizenship" which der fuehrer alone can award.

"Award of the letter," he explained, "will take place ceremoniously in a solemn act at which a solemn oath of fidelity to the German community, the reich and its fuehrer will be administered. Enemies of the state and unworthy elements will be deprived of this right."

This was taken as an obvious indication that Jews would be denied citizenship in the forthcoming regulation.

Czech Mob Attacks Nazi Sympathizers; 20 Injured

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia, April 27.—(AP)—Twenty Nazi sympathizers were hurt tonight when a crowd attacked automobiles carrying them to a rally near Znaim. The first car, containing an orchestra, overturned, and then a crowd, allegedly composed of Czechs and German socialists, stoned the remaining cars.

BLIND 25 YEARS, KILLS SELF.

Effingham, Ill., April 27.—[Special.]—Louis Foster, 76, was found dead from a self-inflicted bullet wound at his home near Winterrowd late yesterday. He had been blind for 25 years.

NAZIS 'PURGE' 54 CATHOLIC ORDERS AND JAIL NUNS

Accused of Exporting German Currency.

BERLIN, April 27.—(AP)—Wholesale arrests of Catholics allegedly violating Nazi foreign exchange regulations were disclosed today even as opposition churchmen asserted Nazi repression ultimately might force the worship of God underground.

Protestant sources declared Germans might be compelled to emulate Roman Christians and take refue in modernday catacombs—air protection cellars and other subterranean vaults—for their services.

Looking forward to the time when they said they feared the Nazis would forbid religious exercises altogether, men high in the Protestant confessional synod, which heads the opposition to Reichsbishop Ludwig Mueller, said the synod under no circumstances would give up its belief and become subservient to government orders. Rather, they said, ordained ministers would function in secret.

35 Pastors Prisoners.

While the confessional synod declared it had definitly established that 35 ministers were held in concentration camps and prisons, authoritative sources said Nazis had "purged" 54 different Catholic orders of nuns and monks accused of violating exchange regulations.

Many of the nuns arrested, Catholic sources said, had been in solitary retreat for more than five years, scarcely knew who Hitler was, and "most certainly never heard of the Devisen [foreign exchange] law."

Some of those arrested, it was stated, were old and ill. Elderly mothers superior were jailed.

Two Church Leaders Freed.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, April 27.—Two of the three Protestant church leaders arrested here yesterday because they were suspected of giving information about the conflict within the Protestant church to foreign correspondents were released today. The Rev. Gotthold Bronisch, superintendent and office manager of the Berlin organization of the opposition confessional synod, and the Rev. Mr. Prastorious were given their liberty. The Rev. Wilhelm Harnisch was kept in prison.

Japs Confiscate Dutch Ship Accused of Spying

TAKAO, Formosa, April 27.—(AP)—A court today ordered the confiscation of the Dutch tanker, Juno, and fined its skipper 2,000 yen [about $750] following the tanker's detention earlier this month by Japanese authorities on suspicion of espionage on the island of Formosa. Another foreign vessel, a small yacht manned by Frenchmen and Germans, was detained today on similar charges.

ROME 2,688 YRS. OLD TODAY; VIEWS EMPIRE GLORIES

Mussolini to Inaugurate Restored Relics of Past.

ROME, April 27.—(AP)—Rome, the "eternal city," celebrates its 2,688th birthday tomorrow.

Actually the city's birthday, according to Italian historians, fell on April 21, but for reasons of convenience the government postponed observance of the anniversary.

Inauguration of restored relics of bygone empire days will feature the celebration.

The beautiful temple of Venus, part of the restoration work going on between the Coliseum and the war memorial, was shorn of its scaffolding tonight. Tomorrow twenty-five superb old Roman columns, which have been painstakingly pieced together and which once formed the colonnade of the temple, will be unveiled.

Workers Get Pension Certificates.

Throughout the kingdom workingmen will gather in their various "after work" clubs tomorrow for the presentation of some 50,000 pension certificates and for the decoration of Fascism's "knights of labor," honored for merit in industrial and agricultural labor.

In Rome Benito Mussolini will distribute 1,000 old age and injury pension certificates and as many merit medals.

The rest of the day Il Duce will spend hastening from one public works inauguration to the other, busily restoring to Rome the glorious architecture of its past and starting numerous projects for an even greater city.

Band concerts in all parks, athletic demonstrations by the workmen's organizations, and military parades will make the day festive throughout Italy.

Duce Starts New Air Center.

[Copyright: 1935: By the New York Times.]

ROME, April 27.—With a brilliant military ceremony witnessed by the whole diplomatic corps and many thousands of citizens who took the fifteen mile trip from Rome, Premier Mussolini today inaugurated the new experimental center for the Royal Italian Air force. The technical and scientific installations are, as he himself said in his inaugural speech, the most perfect and modern in the world.

At the same time he inaugurated the work of constructing the city of Guidonia, which is to rise next to the experimental center to provide all the amenities of city life for the many hundreds who will find employment there. The center was designed to unite all the institutions for aviation research at present scattered throughout Italy.

The aviation center and the city that will rise by its side are named after Gen. Alessandro Guidoni who was killed in 1929 when he jumped from a height of 3,000 feet to test a new parachute.

GERMANY ORDERS FEWER PHOTOS OF "SWANKY" NAZIS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, April 27.—The propaganda ministry, which holds daily press conferences and tells German editors what they are allowed to publish, issued a new set of instructions today, according to well informed quarters.

The ministry ruled that the number of photographs showing Nazi leaders at banquets and similar festivities must be reduced. Magazines which have been publishing photographs of the swanky homes the Nazi leaders have furnished for themselves were also called to task. They were requested to publish fewer pictures of this type.

Newspapers and magazines were requested to "devote themselves to a study of simplicity for which the German people will have a greater understanding in their hard struggle for their daily bread."

$25,000 in Paintings Stolen from Elissa Landi Estate

Hollywood, Cal., April 27.—[Special.]—Countess Carolina Zenardi-Landi, mother of Elissa Landi, motion picture actress, today gave police a detailed report of the burglary of five paintings worth $25,000. They were taken from a storeroom in her house on her daughter's estate.

MUSSOLINI VIEWS TANK DERBY RUN OVER ROCKS, MUD

ROME, April 27.—(AP)—A steeplechase of tanks was run for the first time in the history of Italy today under the interested eyes of Premier Mussolini.

The lumbering machines raced over, up and down a three-quarters of a mile course near Mussolini Forum, starting on a 70 per cent slope. With brakes set, the tanks slid down the hill, bumped over rocky ground, then ascended a 60 per cent incline, fell into a pit, climbed out, pushed over a tree trunk, jumped a wall, and finished the course in a muddy field.

Thousands watched—at a safe distance.

In One of the Most Gruelling Tests Ever Given an Automobile Stock Model Sedan Makes Clean Sweep Up To and Beyond 1000 Miles

NEW RECORD OF 1000 MILES AT MORE THAN 85 MILES AN HOUR BEATS BEST MARK OF ANY CLOSED CAR REGARDLESS OF SIZE OR PRICE

NEWS FLASH—Muroc Lake, Cal., April 13—36 official A. A. A. records broken by a stock Hudson Eight. Top speed—over 93 miles an hour for five miles. Average speed—over 85 miles an hour for 1000 miles and beyond. A clean sweep of every record in its class, up to and including 1000 miles and 3000 kilometers, and four unlimited class records for closed cars. Electrical timing correct to a millionth part of a second and every record certified by Contest Board of American Automobile Association.

HERE'S WHAT IT MEANS TO YOU

Why, you may ask, should Hudson—with so many records already to its credit—go out after more?

Not simply to prove that these are the fastest stock closed cars in America! That was already known. But to give you proof of something that is vastly more important to you—that these cars can "take it" and keep on taking it.

Think of the tremendous strains on motor, axles, gears—on every running part—when a car travels over a thousand miles without a single stop, except for gasoline and oil! At speeds greater than any other closed car has ever attained, regardless of size or price!

It isn't likely you'll want to drive a thousand-mile stretch at 85 miles an hour. But you do want a car with the fine engineering, the power and ruggedness it takes to do it. Ordinary driving is no work at all for a car with this kind of performance built into it.

Probably you'll never care to drive five miles at 93 miles an hour—actual electrically-measured miles, not "speedometer miles." Yet it means a lot to you to have a car that can go that fast—to shoot out of traffic tangles or flash ahead on the highway.

That's what it means to own a Hudson—smoother miles, more enjoyable miles, plus ruggedness and gasoline economy that make those miles cost less.

Remember, this record-breaking car was a stock Hudson Sedan. You can see its duplicate at any Hudson showroom. You can also see the complete list of these 36 new records, and scores of others held by Hudson-built cars.

Take the wheel of a Hudson today and discover the thrilling difference this record-breaking performance makes in everyday driving.

BRITAIN TO FIGHT GERMAN BUILDING OF SUBMARINES

Cabinet Will Debate New Crisis Tomorrow.

BY JOHN STEELE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, April 27.—Strong disapproval of Germany's construction of submarines, which constitutes a new breach of the treaty of Versailles, was expressed today in London.

The first consequence of Reichsfuehrer Hitler's action, which took the British completely by surprise, is that it alters the character of the Anglo-German naval talks planned to be held in London the second week in May. The cabinet now is obliged to consider—probably Monday—whether it is worth while to hold the naval talks with the Germans at all.

Britain May Build Submarines.

Postponement or abandonment of the talks both were mentioned today, but no decision can be reached until the new situation comes under the cabinet's scrutiny.

A second and more far reaching consequence may be the decision by Great Britain to increase its own fleet of submarines and destroyers. It was admitted today that the admiralty now is forced to give this matter its serious consideration.

So long as Germany's rearmament concerned only land forces Great Britain could take an indulgent view. But Germany's possession of submarines, recalling the enormous losses suffered by British shipping and the loss of British lives in the world war, is a distinct shock and is certain to bring a wholly different reaction, especially since British opinion is greatly disturbed because Germany's military airplanes outnumber Britain's airplanes.

Endangers British Security.

Germany's superiority in the air and Germany's possession of submarines—twelve small ones are said to be under construction and bigger ones have been reported planned—is considered to endanger British security and will make it more than ever difficult for Great Britain to hold aloof from direct participation in continental Europe's affairs.

Instead of accepting concessions from the other European powers, Germany is snatching what it wants, it is pointed out here, and the British do not like such tactics because their effects on the world's opinion make an agreement with Germany more difficult to reach by causing general alarm about Germany's true intentions.

Since the league of nations council appointed a committee ten days ago to study what action to take if Germany violated a treaty again, it will be interesting to see whether the powers will take up the matter at the league council meeting on May 20. That, again, is a matter for cabinet study.

Nazis Admit U-Boat Plans.

BERLIN, April 27.—(AP)—Germany today officially admitted submarines were being "considered" in connection with plans to rebuild the navy.

At the same time, spokesmen either denied or sidestepped questions concerning reports that U boats—the reich's dread world war weapon, which the Versailles peace treaty denied her—were actually under construction. An official spokesman at the defense ministry said:

"The whole matter of rearmament at sea is in a state of flux and nothing definite has been done. Naturally, the question of submarines plays a rôle in our considerations for the future."

A recent official visit by representatives of the British armaments firm of Vickers, Ltd., was believed in foreign military circles to furnish clues to the rumors that orders already had been placed for submarines.

These military experts recalled that several weeks ago they were invited by officials of the reichswehr ministry to meet the Vickers representatives socially. When they evinced interest in the purpose of the visit, both the Germans and Englishmen shut up like clams.

The experts now believe the Vickers men may have been here to sell submarine patents. Gen. Hermann Wilhelm Goering's air ministry is building airplane motors on plans obtained from American and British interests.

French See Showdown Chance.

PARIS, April 27.—(AP)—Reports that Germany is building submarines were seen in French naval circles tonight as offering an opportunity to force "a showdown" on the whole status of the German navy, including its demands for 35 per cent of the British tonnage.

Naval experts said the disclosure might "well prove of inestimable benefit for military France in awakening naval Britain to the dangers of Hitler's armaments policy."

France's system of mobilization would be seriously menaced, it was said, if the reich is granted its demands, which amount to approximate parity with the French fleet.

Naval circles said if Germany were as strong as France on the sea the movement of munitions and foodstuffs from neutral countries into France would be practically paralyzed in case of war.

Italy to Consult Powers.

ROME, April 27.—(AP)—A government spokesman tonight said Italy probably would consult the other great powers of Europe concerned with Germany's reported intention to rebuild its U boat fleet.

This was taken to indicate that Premier Mussolini would continue to insist upon the maintenance of a united front by England, France and Itlay on the German situation.

Unofficially a certain amount of satisfaction was expressed here in Germany's act because it was considered likely to stir up England and keep it in line with the Latin bloc.

YOUNG MISSIONARY BUILDS OWN PLANE TO SERVE ABORIGINES

[Copyright: 1935: By the New York Times.]

MELBOURNE, Australia, April 27.—Airplanes are used widely by missionaries in Australia. The "Flying-Doctor" service organization of medical missionaries, each with an airplane, who may be called by wireless, is famous.

M. U. Sheperdson, a young missionary to the aborigines on Millingimbi Island, 350 miles northeast of Darwin, is determined not to be behind the times. Having some knowledge of engineering he wrote to the United States for parts to construct a plane at home.

He completed the machine unaided, and now he is in Adelaide, training for a pilot's license.

5 NATIONS RACE TO REACH CHINA WITH AIR LINES

Seek Routes to Cut Time and Get Profits.

Intensity of the international rivalry between five of the world's great powers for rights to establish airline passenger and freight service to China is vividly depicted in a series of dispatches from several European capitals, from Manila, Hongkong, and Tokio.

French, English, Japanese, and Dutch as well as American business and governmental interests are vieing for concessions to routes which will cut travel time from their centers of industry to China, three weeks to two months distant from all the occidental countries by steamer or train, but only three days to two weeks by airplane or flying boat.

Race For Trade Profits.

Survey flights, construction of land and marine air bases, and feverish diplomatic consultation are being employed to advance the causes of the various nations involved in this race to seize trade profits assured by operation of the airline to the world's last frontier, Asia.

The whole scramble is still further complicated by the intense national feeling which has developed among the Chinese of diplomatic circles, and by the experience of Chinese bankers with foreign powers which already control the railroads and the river and coastal shipping of their country.

"China for the Chinese" is the policy adopted. This serves a twofold purpose. The Chinese do not want foreigners to get any larger share in the transportation of their country, and they are trying to keep the Japanese out.

May Delay "Grabbing."

Although negotiations still are under way the result probably will be that the Chinese, for the next two or three years at least, will be able to prevent "grabbing" of airways by the outside powers.

For the American representative in the international struggle, Pan-American Airways system, this will mean that Manila will be the western terminus of the proposed trans-Pacific airway. In original plans for this airline the western end was to be Canton.

A recent cable message from Manila, however, states that the Chinese are insisting the 700 mile stage over the ocean between the Philippines and Canton be flown by the Chinese National corporation. Thus, say the Chinese diplomats, the government policy would be upheld and the ocean airline would still follow the planned route.

The Present Hook-up.

Observers here point out that this is a solution which may find favor with Pan-American backers. It is recalled that the Chinese National corporation was formed in 1929 by funds subscribed jointly by the Chinese and by the Curtiss-Wright corporation of the United States.

Three years later Curtiss-Wright interests in the Chinese lines were sold to Pan-American airways. Today, although control nominally is in Chinese hands, operations on the 2,000 miles of the airway are entirely conducted by American pilots, mechanics, etc., all trained by Pan-American airways.

Dutch Also Seek Gateway.

The Dutch also have an eye upon Manila as the gateway to China, it became known recently, when three Dornier Wahl flying boats under command of Lieut. Commander W. H. Tetenburg of the Royal Netherlands navy arrived there on March 20 from Sourabaya, Java.

The planes were naval ships and Commander Tetenburg said the flight was not made at the behest of KLM. However, he said he would make his findings as to weather and route available to KLM pilots upon his return. He added that KLM officials had "plans for the opening of a line from Sourabaya to Manila within the next eight months."

English interest in an airline into China is evinced by the presence of the joint air ministry and postoffice mission in Siam. The commissioners are investigating the possibility of extending Imperial airways' dominion route from Singapore to Hongkong, the British city at the mouth of the Canton river, a 14 day flight all told.

According to dispatches from London the Chinese government has given Imperial airways permission to fly over Chinese territory, but terms of the agreement are not known.

France Enters Air Field.

Air France, rejuvenated during the last year by the consolidation under one organization of all the French civil aviation companies, also is sending representatives to Dr. Chu, according to Hongkong reports. The company already flies virtually the same route as Imperial airways and KLM to Saigon in French Indo-China.

The French vision calls for an extension of the line from Saigon to Canton. In recent months, dispatches stated, relations between the line and the Chinese government have improved so much that the British are worried. The Paris-Saigon route takes nine days and Canton would be three days longer.

Last of all to enter the race were the Japanese. Not until four months ago, when the American navy department gave Pan-American airways permission to build bases at Honolulu, Wake Island, Midway Island, Guam, and Manila, did Japanese officials take seriously the American plans for the trans-Pacific airline.

Then the Japanese press became alarmed. Scare headlines were printed in the vernacular newspapers of Tokio over articles which launched a vitriolic attack upon the project.

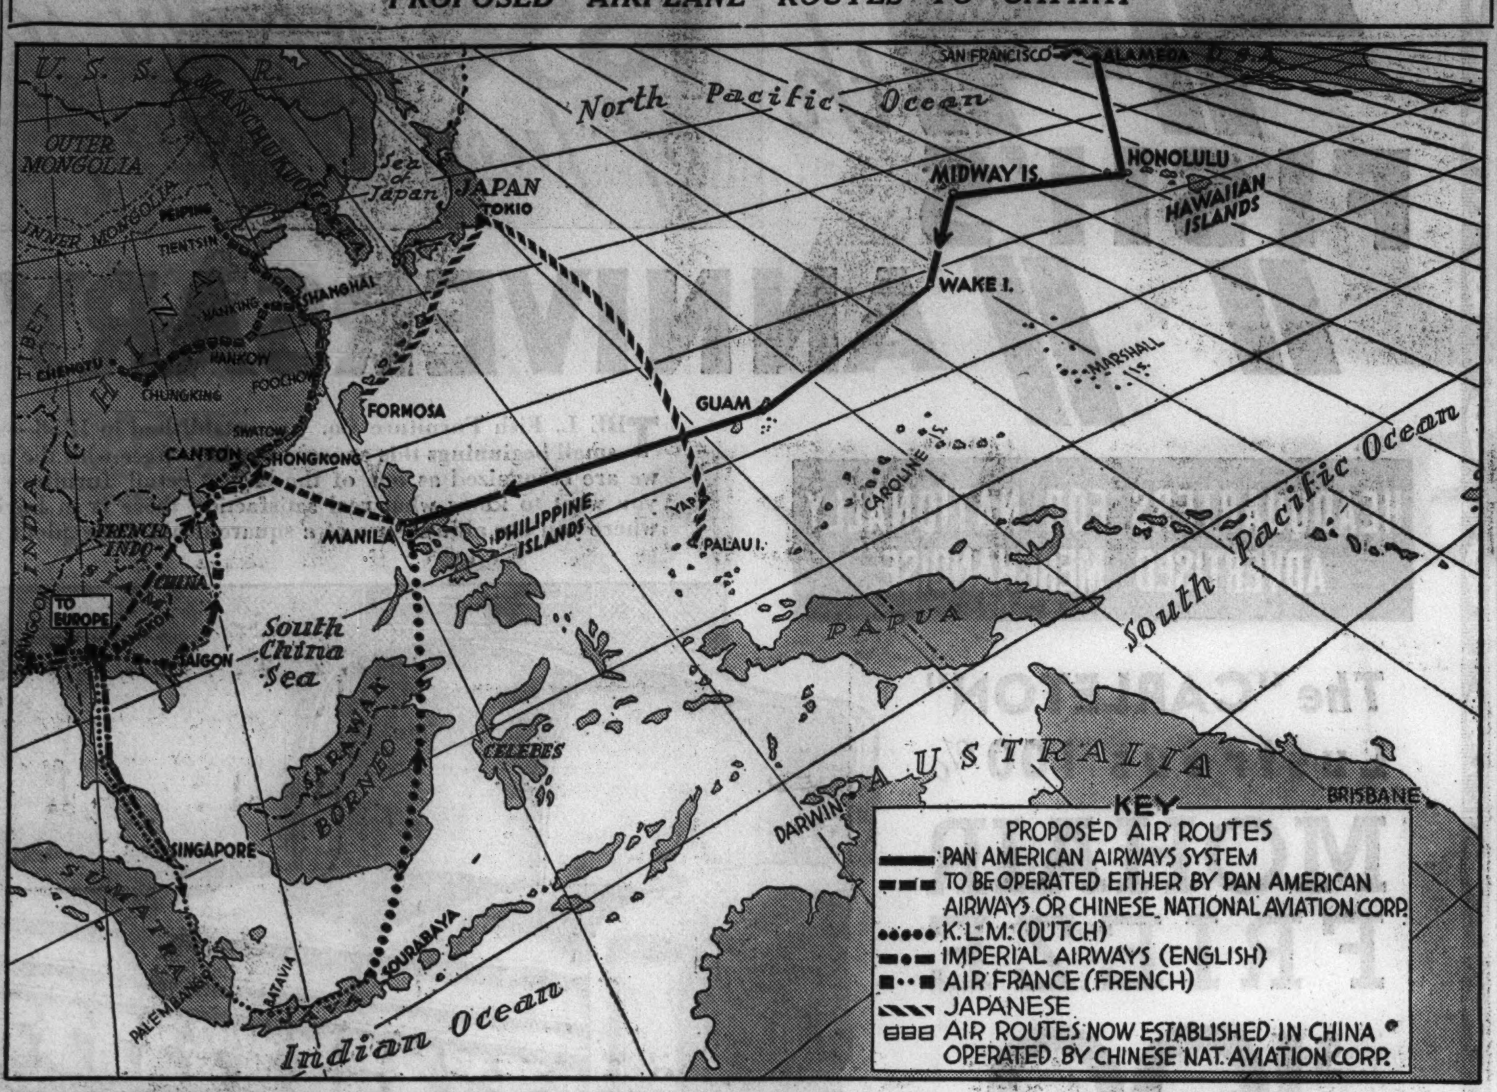
Some of those headlines taken by THE TRIBUNE's correspondents from Tokio newspapers printed March 13 and 14 were:

"American Under Guise of Commercial Enterprise Establishes Military Airports in Pacific Extending to Gates of Japan."

"American Air Force Shakes Finger Under Japan's Nose."

According to Tokio newspapers Pan-American airways' ocean airway "will pierce the Japanese lifeline of islands, considered as Japan's first line marine defense."

PROPOSED AIRPLANE ROUTES TO CATHAY



DECLARES U. S. MUST BE PREPARED TO SEIZE BRITISH, FRENCH ISLES

[Copyright: 1935: By the Associated Press.]

Washington, D. C., April 27.—(AP)—Gen. F. M. Andrews, chief of the powerful new general headquarters air force, was revealed tonight to have told a house committee that in an "emergency" the United States "must be prepared to seize" British and French islands near American shores.

Appearing at a secret session of the house military committee, the printed transcript of which was made available, Andrews made his statement in supporting the Wilcox air base bill. The measure would authorize a half dozen strategic army aviation centers.

The G. H. Q. air chief declared that "even with Canada neutral, the enemy has the following bases available": Newfoundland, Bermuda, the Bahamas, Jamaica, Trinidad, British Honduras, and the Lesser Antilles.

"To insure against air attacks being launched from any of these bases in time of emergency," he said, "they must be kept under surveillance to discover any evidence of preparation of such bases; and we must be ready to bomb such installations as soon as they are discovered.

"If the situation is sufficiently vital to require it, we must be prepared to seize these outlying bases."

CONGRESS GROUP INSPECTS LAKES NAVAL STATION

Eight congressmen flew in by plane from Washington yesterday and inspected the Great Lakes Naval Training station near Waukegan, the reopening of which the house has voted to appropriate $250,000. The group will return to the capital today.

Congressman Ralph E. Church of Evanston, who led the fight in the house for reopening of the station, said he was "most hopeful" that the senate would pass the entire naval appropriation bill, and in particular the section referring to Great Lakes. It is even possible that a larger appropriation might be obtained, Mr. Church said.

Twenty-seven Million Invested.

"The Great Lakes station," said Church, "is the model institution of the United States navy for the training of recruits, representing a capital investment of about 27 million dollars. It is the only naval establishment in the interior of the United States. It never should have been closed."

The other congressmen in the party are Glover H. Carey [Ky.], chairman of the naval subcommittee of the house appropriations committee; Patrick J. Boland [Pa.], John J. McGrath [Cal.], John M. O'Connell [R. I.], Byron M. Scott [Cal.], Joseph E. Casey [Mass.], and Melvin J. Moss [Minn.].

They were met by Capt. E. A. Walleson, acting commandant of the Ninth Naval district, and J. L. Hunter, president of the Waukegan Chamber of Commerce. Luncheon was served them in the marine barracks.

In the afternoon they were guests at an air show, the aviation concentration of the Ninth Naval district marine reserves, in which 16 planes from Great Lakes, Detroit, and Minneapolis took part. Congressman Moss, who is a captain in the naval reserve, was in charge of the planes and led them in their maneuvers. In the evening the group was entertained at the Glen Flora Country club in Waukegan.

De Paul Law Students Beat N. U. in Moot Court Case

De Paul university junior law students won over their Northwestern rivals last night in the moot court contest sponsored by the Illinois State Bar association. The arguments on an agreed state of facts were made by Ed Corcoran and Phil Gordon for De Paul and by T. Reynolds and S. Kaplan for Northwestern before Judges Rush and Prystalski of the Circuit court and Judge Kelly of the Superior court and De Paul won the decision. De Paul defeated Illinois' team three weeks ago and will meet Loyola in May to decide the state championship.

FRANCO-RUSSIAN WAR ALLIANCE HITS NEW SNAG

Text Modified by Paris; Signing Again Delayed.

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, April 27.—Negotiations for a Franco-Russian mutual assistance pact, broken off here last week and resumed in Moscow Wednesday, were still hanging fire tonight, following two days of diplomatic sparring between Foreign Minister Pierre Laval of France and V. P. Potemkin, Russian ambassador here.

Last night the soviet ambassador communicated to Laval the revised draft of the pact approved by the council of commissars in Moscow, and it was reported that the two men once more were in complete agreement in principle.

French Propose Amendments.

This morning a detailed study of the text was begun by the Quai d'Orsay, and at the end of the afternoon, following a three hour conference between Potemkin on the one side and Laval, assisted by juridical and political experts of the Quai d'Orsay, on the other, it was learned that once more the French had proposed amendments to the soviet draft.

These amendments or modifications were telegraphed to Moscow tonight, and it is not expected that a definite answer can be had before next Tuesday. If the soviets finally accept them, the accord will be given final approval by the French council of ministers and initiated Tuesday or Wednesday.

All this diplomatic hair splitting is still over the question of just how automatically the pact will function in case of war. Laval is still trying to work into the text an escape clause which will at least enable France to subordinate its actions to a decision of the league of nations' council if it desires.

Radicals Press Laval.

Back of it, however, is a fundamental question of principle which still appears unsolved. Laval is perfectly willing to sign a pact with the soviets, but he wants it worded in such a way that it does not commit France irrevocably to play the soviet game in Europe hereafter—in other words, to leave a loophole which would enable France to change its political orientation at some future date without repudiating the instrument.

Meantime, all the left forces of the country are hammering away at Laval. He has been made to understand clearly that if the negotiations for the pact break down completely, through his intransigeance, his political goose is cooked.

Curiously the bulk of the right and semi-official press is bearing down on Laval in the same way. One audacious journalist, George Suarez, explained the phenomenon. According to him, the greater part of the French press simply has been bought by Moscow in the same way it was bought by czarist Russia before the war. This, Suarez alleges, explains why the tension with Germany, admittedly dangerous, has been played up by the French press to a point where a large part of the population believes war is likely to break out any minute and that a Russian alliance is the only thing France can count on to prevent it.

Report Litvinov May Lose Job.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WARSAW, Poland, April 27.—Diplomats in Moscow report that Foreign Commissar Maxim Litvinov's position has been shaken by his failure to sign up France in a military alliance. It is reported that A. A. Troyanovsky, Russian ambassador to Washington, has been mentioned as Litvinov's possible successor.

Jury Disagrees

Dutch Schultz congratulates his chief attorney, James M. Noonan, after jury is discharged in income tax evasion case.
[Associated Press Wirephoto.]

Syracuse, N. Y., April 27.—[Special.]—Hopelessly deadlocked after more than twenty-four hours deliberation, the jury considering the case of Dutch Schultz, so-called Public Enemy No. 1 of the East, charged with $92,000 income tax evasion, was discharged this afternoon.

At noon the jury reported it was unable to reach an agreement, but was sent back by Federal Judge Frederick H. Bryant for further consideration of the case. The foreman said it might be possible to find a verdict. Reports indicated the jurors stood 8 to 4 for conviction.

Testimony at the trial disclosed that Schultz had offered to $100,000 to the government in settlement of his civil and criminal liabilities. The offer was rejected. The prosecution was able to show tremendous profits made by the defendant from illicit beer operations.

MAIL SUSPECTS PARTLY LINKED TO MORE THEFTS

Youngstown, O., April 27.—(AP)—Two suspects in the Warren, O., mail truck robbery were partially linked today with two other large robberies.

As Tony Campolo, 32, allias Laprizetta, of Akron, and George Sargent, 37, of Canton, pleaded not guilty to charges of robbing a United States mail truck of $72,000 in currency last Wednesday, Campolo was tentatively indentified as a participant in a $22,000 holdup here last March of a department store employé.

Louis Chabut, store messenger who was robbed on his way to a bank, established the tentative indentification. He also said Sargent "resembled" the other gunman involved in the holdup.

Campolo also was linked with the $50,000 mail truck robbery at Butler, Pa., Aug. 24, 1934. Sherif Ralph Elser said that when a false mustache was placed on his face, two witnesses from Butler indentified him.

MRS. JOHN KARPINSKI DEAD.

11 NATIONS PLAN PACT TO OUTLAW POLITICAL TERROR

Will Draft Scheme at Geneva Tomorrow.

GENEVA, April 27.—[U.P.]—Eleven nations meet here Monday to draft an international convention outlawing political terrorism as a crime against international peace.

The meeting is the result of a memorandum submitted to the league of nations by Foreign Minister Pierre Laval of France following the assassination of King Alexander of Jugo-Slavia and Foreign Minister Louis Barthou of France at Marseilles on Oct. 9.

Since the December council meeting interest in an anti-terrorist convention has been increased by new acts of political terrorism such as the alleged kidnaping of the German journalist, Berthold Jacob, by German Nazis in Swiss territory.

Switzerland Studies Note.

In this connection Switzerland has been studying the French memorandum against political terrorism and may refer to the Jacob case when the committee meets.

[Associated Press dispatches from Berlin last night said Switzerland proposed arbitration of her quarrel with Germany over the Jacob kidnaping. The Swiss government in a note declared the only solution was presentation of the case to neutral judges.]

The main purpose of the committee will be to make attempts on the life or liberty of political persons a criminal offense and to establish an international criminal court to try individuals accused of political terrorism.

All the available information here shows that an international convention against political terrorism will be open for signature here at the September session of the league assembly at the latest.

Support Is Assured.

Nations invited to attend are Great Britain, France, Italy, Hungary, Belgium, Chile, Poland, Rumania, Soviet Russia, Spain, and Switzerland.

General support of the French memorandum is assured according to a canvass of the interested parties.

One of the essential features of the memorandum is that it specifically denounces as criminal a number of terrorist activities. Not only do kings and ministers come within its orbit but also private individuals.

It denounces attempts on public buildings, railways, ships, aircraft, associations with a view to political terrorism, possession of arms, ammunition, explosives or incendiary appliances with a view to committing terrorist acts besides incitement to commit terrorist acts or defense of terrorist acts.

Equally if not more important is the French proposal to establish an international criminal court to try individuals accused of political terrorism.

2,000 FINGERS TO THUMP PIANOS AT TULSA ON MAY 3

Tulsa, Okla., April 27.—(AP)—Two thousand fingers will thump 100 grand pianos in concert here May 3.

Each of the 100 pianos, arranged in rows in a Tulsa auditorium, will have two players, who have been practicing seven months for the one performance.

The various orchestra parts of the specially written concertos were assigned to the pianists at their homes scattered over Oklahoma. The 200 will meet here several days before the concert to practice together 54 hours before their public appearance.

Boyd Ringo and his wife, Mrs. Helen Ringo, piano professors at the University of Tulsa, which is sponsoring the event, are the directors. They began the concert several years ago with ten pianos. Last year there were fifty.

Thirty-five piano tuners have been employed to tune the instruments.

More than $2,000 has been paid out in transportation charges in bringing pianos to the city.

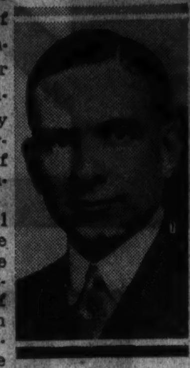
One piano manufacturer made 40 pianos, all alike, to be used in the concert.

FARM OWNER ENDS LIFE.

Roy Ruskell, 35 years old, owner, with his brother, Harold, of an 80 acre farm west of Waukegan, yesterday was found shot to death in the basement of his home. A coroner's jury returned a verdict of suicide.

RANDALL KEPT AS EXECUTIVE OF COMMUNITY FUND

The reappointment of Clarence B. Randall, vice president of the Inland Steel company, as vice chairman of the 1935 Community Fund drive for Chicago was announced yesterday by Philip D. Armour, chairman of the 1935 campaign.



C. B. RANDALL.

Mr. Randall again will have charge of the trades and industries division of the drive, which extends its solicitation among the 350,000 employés of 3,000 corporations. Under his leadership in 1934 some 1,000 volunteer workers in this division obtained approximately 40 per cent of the $3,062,844 contributed.

In addition to his work with the Community Fund, which supports 138 private charities in Chicago, Mr. Randall directed the Community Chest drive in Winnetka for two years and is a director of the United Charities of Chicago. His appointment is being made at this time, Chairman Armour said, in order that all organization work may be out of the way by the time the drive starts this fall.

Modern Language Study Held to Broaden Culture

The study of modern languages proves advantageous to students in the broadening of experience and cultural background, it was pointed out yesterday by Henry Lester Smith, president of the National Education association, talking at the eighteenth annual meeting of the Association of Modern Language Teachers of the Central West and South at the Drake hotel. Dr. Smith told the association that the cultural benefits of modern language study were more important than commercial benefits.

FATHER STABBED IN QUARREL.

Frank Springer, 35 years old, 2219 Clybourn avenue, was stabbed critically in the chest yesterday in a quarrel with his stepson, Ralph Bliss, 20 years old, who told police he was defending his mother.

U. S. TO REQUEST BRAZIL'S AID TO STOP CHACO WAR

Joins Argentina, Chile and Peru in Action.

BUENOS AIRES, April 27.—[U.P.]—Ambassadors of the United States, Argentina, Chile, and Peru will deliver a collective note to the Brazilian government on Monday requesting that nation to participate in mediatory efforts to end the Chaco war, it was announced here officially today.

Peace efforts of Argentina and Chile received a setback early this month when Brazil refused an invitation to join a mediatory group. The United States and Peru accepted a similar invitation. The Brazilian rejection reportedly was based on its exclusion from a projected Chaco economic conference.

The new move by all four nations follows the sending of a second Argentine-Chilean invitation to Brazil a week ago, explaining that her exclusion from the economic conference was an involuntary error.

12 Day Battle Undecided.

BUENOS AIRES, April 27.—(AP)—A fierce battle raging for twelve days all along the 120 mile Chaco battle front was still undecided tonight, though both Paraguay and Bolivia claimed advantages.

The press office of the defense ministry at Asuncion announced Gen. José Estigarribia, Paraguayan commander in chief, had thwarted efforts of the Bolivians to break through the Paraguayan line at Boyuibe and said Bolivians "are yielding under pressure from our troops."

Contradicts Bolivian Report.

Asuncion's announcement contradicted Bolivian assertions made yesterday that the Seventh Paraguayan regiment had been beaten and scattered in the Villa Montes sector. Instead, Asuncion claimed, the Villa Montes action resulted in "bloody failure" for Bolivia.

To the claim advanced yesterday that Bolivia had lost 4,000 men in the present battle, the Asuncion war ministry today added assertions that the Bolivian Araboa, Perez Loa, and Ballivian regiments had been wiped out, the first two at Villa Montes and the third in the Ingavi sector.

"SEND A DIME" ANTE RAISED TO $10 IN DENVER

Denver, Colo., April 27.—(AP)—The "send a dime" chain letter fad rocketed to a "send $10" level today as the postoffice department at Washington branded the entire scheme illegal.

Nevertheless, 100,000 letters flooded the mails here today. Reports came that the letters also were appearing at Sioux Falls, S. D., and Omaha, Neb.

A postal inspector mobilized evidence to "make an example" of the first arrest in the $10 enterprise. But when the intended prisoner was revealed as the head of a family, on relief, with a crippled daughter, authorities accepted his pledge to quit the game and released him.

Roy E. Nelson, the inspector, disclosed that the man questioned was the originator of a "send $10" letter which contained the names of members of his family scattered over the country. He acknowledged a plan, authorities said, under which he and his relatives would have collected $10 bills without sending any.

Another new chain called "send a pint" also was reported circulating in Denver. It was similar to the dime and $10 letters, except that the receiver was asked to send a pint of liquor.

ROBS MERCHANT OF $35.

Edwin Wilcox, 2330 North Ridgeway avenue, owner of a men's clothing store at 3501 Fullerton avenue, was robbed of $35 last night by gunmen.

Arabian Horse in Fair Pageant

Wednesday Night Deadline for Realty Tax Instalment

Midnight Wednesday is the penalty deadline for paying the second instalment of the 1933 real estate taxes, County Treasurer Sweitzer warned yesterday. He advised taxpayers to settle bills immediately to avoid a last minute rush. He pointed out that current real estate taxes totaling $61,252,294 remain to be collected. Only $54,151,125 thus far has been paid into his office. The treasurer distributed $1,799,500 in tax collections yesterday to Cook county tax spending bodies. The city received the largest share, $1,000,000.

LITTLE ENTENTE, HUNGARY CLASH ON REARMAMENT

Draft Plans for Parley on Austrian Freedom.

ROME, April 27.—(AP)—Diplomats today were busy preparing the ground for the Danubian conference to be held here in June, to which nine powers have been invited.

Premier Mussolini was described as hopeful that an imposing array of premiers and foreign ministers would gather around his council table to settle these main points:

1. Austrian independence.
2. A series of nonaggression and mutual assistance pacts among the Balkan states.
3. A decision concerning requests by Austria, Hungary, and Bulgaria for revision of treaties restricting their armed preparedness.

Hungary, Little Entente Clash.

Hungary has interposed unofficial objections to taking up any general noninterference pact, such as that likely to be proposed to safeguard Austria's independence, unless the question of its rearmament be on the agenda.

The little entente is described as desirous of working out the noninterference and subsidiary pacts first, thereafter considering Hungary's, Austria's, and Bulgaria's rearmament.

Mussolini himself will preside at the conference, which France and Italy will jointly sponsor and to which Germany, Austria, Hungary, Bulgaria, Czechoslovakia, Jugo-Slavia, and Rumania have been invited.

In regard to Austrian independence the forthcoming conference already has the impulse of reiterated agreements among the three great western European powers. This was reaffirmed in the third point of agreement reached at the Stresa conference. The gathering in Rome is expected to last at least 10 days.

Germany Asks Information.

BERLIN, April 27.—(AP)—Germany was understood in diplomatic circles today to have put out a feeler in Italy to find out about the proposed conference to guarantee the independence of Austria.

It was understood that through its ambassador to Rome, Herr von Hassell, Germany has put certain questions to Premier Mussolini about the conference and particularly as to what Mussolini means by nonintervention in Austrian affairs.

Mussolini was reported to have replied that noninterference is the same as nonintervention and means refraining from all propaganda, active or passive, directed at territorial changes or alteration of the political or social system of the government.

The German ambassador was reported to have replied that this definition was not acceptable, since Germany declined to be a partner to preserving the political status quo in Austria.

3 REDS GET TEN YEARS IN PRISON FOR TRYING TO BURN JEW ALIVE

MOSCOW, April 27.—(AP)—An attempt to burn a Jewish factory worker alive brought three of his fellow workers ten year prison sentences in the Moscow Criminal court today.

The three, named Chesalin, Pianoff, and Nikhitin, were convicted of pouring alcohol on the clothing of the victim, named Beckerman, and touching a match to him.

Beckerman dashed through the factory a living torch until other workers caught him and extinguished the flames, although not before he had been seriously burned. Racial antagonism was ascribed as the reason for the crime.

15,000 CHILDREN GUESTS OF TWO CIRCUSES HERE

Yesterday was circus day—and free circus day—for some 15,000 children of Chicago, when the two large circuses now showing in the city held special morning performances.

At the Coliseum about 10,000 children gathered to see the Cole Brothers-Clyde Beatty circus in its special performance sponsored by the Noble Mystic Shrine of Medinah temple. Many of the children were from Shrine families, but the bulk of them were from the Shrine hospital.

In the Chicago Stadium approximately 5,000 orphan children, the guests of Hagenbeck-Wallace and Forepaugh-Sells circus, cheered the antics of Clowns George White and George Harmon. Before the circus proper opened the long lines of children went on a tour of the menagerie. Managements of both circuses pronounced the children "perfect audiences."

WANTS FREEDOM OF SPEECH EVEN WHEN SLEEPING

Pittsburgh, Pa., April 27.—[Special.]—The constitution grants free speech and it doesn't say anything about being awake to make a free speech if you'd rather make it when asleep, so Harvey Katz is going to find out in court whether he has constitutional rights or whether he hasn't.

For having a chat with himself in his sleep, Katz charges he was rushed off to jail by his rooming house keepers.

Imagine his chagrin. As sometimes vulgarly said, he was sore. Now he has sued for $25,000, naming Charles Davis and Sarah Davis, owners of the home where he roomed—he felt that humiliated.

"It is not his fault that my client talks in his sleep," said Attorney James P. McArdle. "He informs me his father and his grandfather also talked in their sleep. It is heredity."

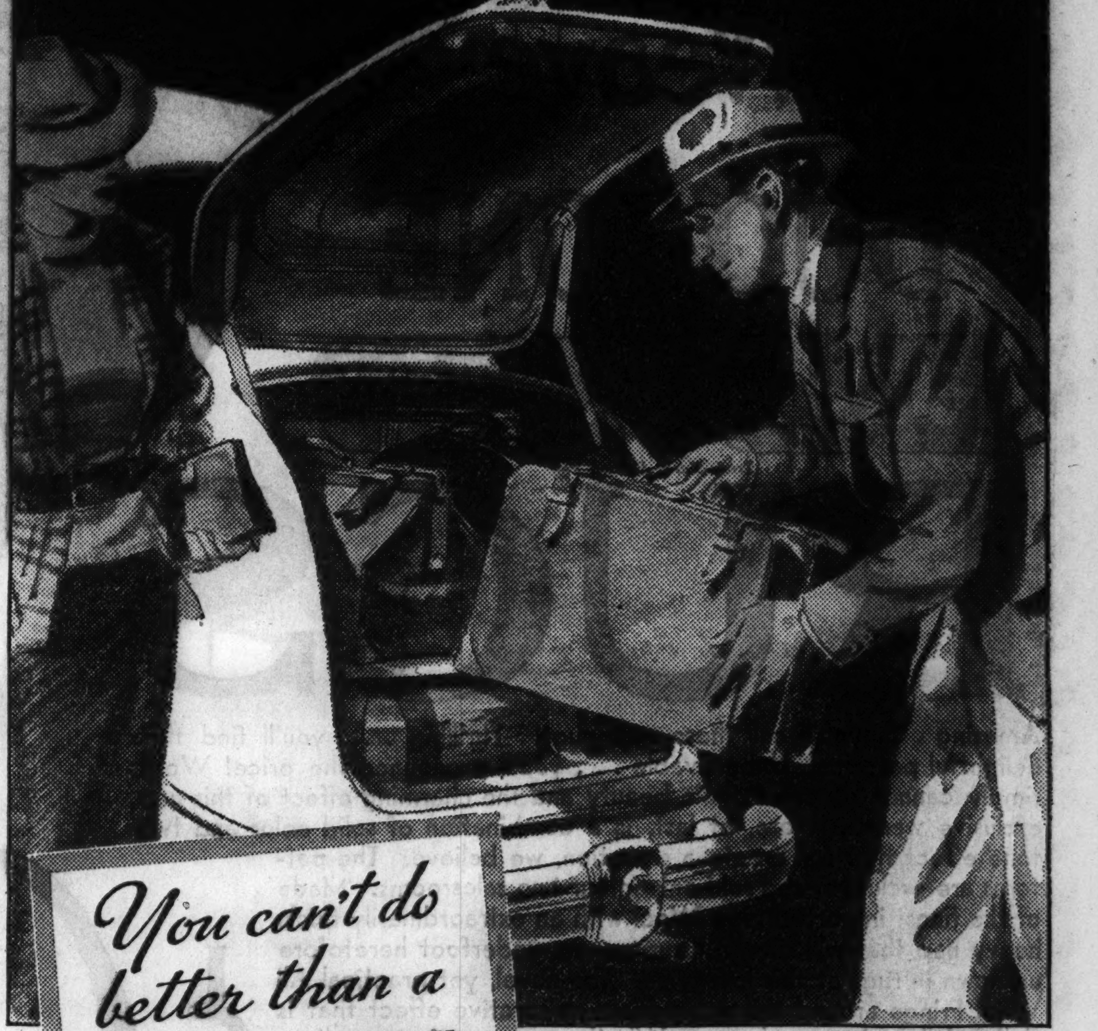
If you are looking ahead to Vacation Days



A General Motors Value

You can't do better than a PONTIAC TOURING SEDAN

Here's a solution to the old vacation problem of what baggage to take along and what to leave behind. Because the Pontiac Touring Sedan lets you take everything that everybody needs.

Besides accommodating a spare tire, the big built-in trunk contains 11½ cubic feet of luggage space. And until you have actually seen how many big bags and parcels can be stowed away, you have no idea what 11½ cubic feet means. Furthermore, the trunk is dust-proof and waterproof. It is easy to load and unload, and it locks securely.

In addition to providing ample room for passengers, the Touring Sedan has many other advantages: Pontiac's triple-sealed hydraulic brakes for super-safety on any highway. Solid steel "Turret-Top" Fisher Body for added security, freedom from noise and coolness under the blazing sun. Big, quiet economical engines (either eight or six cylinders) for thrilling performance wherever you go. And ample weight properly distributed, plus scientific springing for comfort on the roughest roads at top speed.

See the Touring Sedan (either two-door or four-door) and you will agree that here is the perfect vacation companion—a big car that actually costs only a few dollars more than the lowest-priced cars!

List prices at Pontiac, Michigan, begin at $615 for the Six and $730 for the Eight (subject to change without notice). Standard group of accessories extra. Available on easy G. M. A. C. Time Payments.

"The Newspaper is an institution developed by modern civilization to present the news of the day, to foster commerce and industry, to inform and lead public opinion, and to furnish that check upon government which no constitution has ever been able to provide."—Chicago Tribune.

TIME TO UNITE.

Since the coming of the New Deal the American people have been subjected to an unprecedented propaganda from the leaders and political beneficiaries of the new régime and its volunteer allies of the press, pulpit, and platform. The purpose of this activity, at least in its official form, has been obvious. It is to exploit the misfortunes which in greater or less degree the whole American people have suffered morally and materially since 1929 and to turn them to political account. In this procedure the people were told that American institutions, political and economic, have failed and must be replaced. By persistent and sometimes sensational appeals to discontent a barrage was laid behind which the subversion of the American system could take place and reckless experiments tried. A myth which represented the nation as in the hands of an unscrupulous minority, money changers, cheats, oppressors of the worker and the poor, has been sedulously built up. Class hostilities have been fomented and the rights of the individual impaired and manhandled. Under pretense of defense of the weak against the strong, of the poor against the rich, of the man against the dollar, a general disparagement has been disseminated of private enterprise, of the profit motive, of investment and the rights of the lender in any form, of the interests of the taxpayer.

Inevitably this propaganda has opened wide the sluice gates of public spending, an enormous process by which billions are being and to be transferred from the pockets of the people to the uses of a hugely expanded government, or, in more realistic terms, to politicians and burocrats. If our readers will turn to the Graphic Section of this issue they will find a summary of the proposed spending and they will realize that it far exceeds the resources of a few very rich men and must reach the whole people, directly or indirectly. Its victims, for example, include the home owners, who, though a minority in difficulties have received aid, must carry through years a heavy burden of taxation to pay for the enormously swollen expenditures of the federal government. In 1930 there were 14,002,074 homes owned by 29,904,663 families that lived in them. It includes also stockholders, individual investors in the shares of the corporations. According to the estimate of the authors of "Stock Market Control" there are between nine and eleven million men and women who individually own shares. The federal trade commission, in a study for 1922, reported that there were 13,564,000 holders of stock on the books, and for 1928 Mr. Berle, a braintruster, in his book, "The Modern Corporation and Private Property," places book stockholders as of that year at eighteen million. Perhaps nine to eleven million would be a conservative estimate. This does not include the indirect interest of millions of life insurance investors, to say nothing of the interest of many millions of employés in the survival of the enterprises from which they gain their livelihood. Then there are six to ten million bondholders.

Another classification of victims states there were in 1930 6,666,661 farm homes, of which 3,498,668 were owned by their occupants.

In 1933 there were 115,763,000 life insurance policies. They are worth what the investments and earnings of insurance companies are worth.

There is no information available as far as our inquiry goes on the number of owners of farm mortgages, but the federal bureau of agricultural economics estimates that as of Jan. 1, 1928, farm mortgages amounted to $9,468,000,000, of which life insurance companies had $2,164,000,000, retired farmers $1,006,000,000, active farmers $339,000,000, and other individuals $1,453,000,000.

If the urban citizen is worthy of any consideration we may cite the figures of Clark and Galloway in their book, "Internal Debts of the United States," published by the Twentieth Century fund. The authors were not able to estimate the holdings of individual investors, educational and religious institutions, foundations or trust estates, but building and loan associations own $7,210,000,000; life insurance companies $5,730,000,000, mutual savings banks $5,446,000,000, and other banks, real estate bondholders, and title and mortgage guarantee companies bring the total up to $27,554,000,000.

These vast sums do not represent the greedy accumulations of a few bloated plutocrats. They are the invested savings of millions of hard working Americans, whose security against old age and destitution has been provided by no government dole, but by their own industry and self-sacrifice. All are guilty of the profit motive. All are capitalists. The propaganda and experiments of the New Deal have disparaged their rights and impaired their defenses. It is time for them to unite for self-preservation.

DESTRUCTIVE ADMIRATION.

The season of the year approaches when the annual effort must be made to persuade people not to kill the things they like. The instinct to do so sometimes seems unconquerable and it arises out of some natural and really amiable qualities. To see a wild flower is to want to pick it. The spirit is not one of vandalism. The distinction is not found in the consequences.

Considerable public enterprise and money have gone into the preserves which keep the woods and countryside for the people. The city parks are protected not only by policing but by the general understanding that the planting is not to be disturbed. The forest preserves and roadsides and private woods are supposed to have been decorated by a lavish and limitless nature.

There is a common feeling that complete enjoyment of a flowering field or woods cannot be had except by personal possession of some of the flowers. It is an enjoyment which defeats itself. Few wild flowers can be used as cut flowers even with the best of care and none will last many minutes in the clutch of the admirer who has picked them. The wilted discards along the way prove that. Moreover, few of the wild plants survive when they have been robbed of their flowers. They are here one year and gone the next. The way to preserve them is to look, admire and pass on. Then the next fellow may do likewise.

VERMONT SAP.

Mr. Harold J. Sanders, aged 23, a drug store clerk in Rutland, has organized the Vermont Share-the-Wealth club.

"I hope to do for Vermont what Huey Long has done for Louisiana," he told a reporter for the Rutland Herald.

It would be interesting to know just how Mr. Sanders means to go about it. Superficial observation of Vermont suggests that there isn't much wealth lying about to share, and some acquaintance with Vermonters suggests that what is available will not peel readily.

Even if Mr. Sanders solves these two preliminary problems he will still have to find some one who will accept the wealth when it is passed around. Uncle Sam tried it a few years ago without much success. It happened that there were destructive floods that year in the Mississippi delta and the White river valley. There was a great beating of breasts in Washington, and Mr. Hoover, then secretary of commerce, made a bleeding Belgium out of Louisiana. Congress appropriated a lot of money for flood sufferers; so much, indeed, that after everybody living below Cairo had been taken care of there was still some money left over. Rather than save it, the government offered the money for relief in Vermont. It was indignantly declined. Santa Claus is not the patron saint of Vermont. At any rate, not yet. After two years of seeing other states get all they could grab, Vermont's senators recently joined the gold rush, but their constituents have not applauded. They are at present engaged in trying to keep the government from buying up the Green mountains.

The typical product of Vermont is not maple sirup, but the stone fence post. The Vermont hills are heavily timbered and there is therefore no lack of the raw material from which wooden posts are made, but the Vermonters have preferred to quarry theirs. A wooden post might rot out in twenty-five or thirty years, but a stone one will last quite a while longer. Of course, more time and sweat must be spent in quarrying posts than in sawing them, but that is the Vermont type of extravagance. The fact that a stone post will outlive the grandson of the man who installs it is held to be a consideration in its favor.

In relation to its population Vermont has contributed more names to Who's Who in America than any other state. This is a truly remarkable record in view of the outmoded political and social outlook of the people. Young Mr. Sanders has the right idea. The success of his campaign will put Vermont on the map.

Editorial of the Day

THE "HALITOSIS" EPIDEMIC.

[Peoria Transcript.]

Administration of federal relief funds in Georgia was taken over yesterday by the federal government, following a statement by Secretary Ickes that he did not "know how to do business" with Gov. Talmadge. The Georgia governor has been a frank critic of the Roosevelt administration, and recently declared that the President is an "ultra-radical" and that a third party would take the field against him next year. A year ago Federal Relief Administrator Hopkins assumed a large share of the control over Georgia relief by forcing dissolution of the state relief board appointed by Talmadge, who is now stripped of all control.

Gov. Talmadge insists that "the real fight in this country is Americanism versus communism mixed up with some crazy kind of 'gimme,'" and that "the next President of the United States will be a man who knows what it is to work in the sun fourteen hours a day." That for Georgia.

Because of administration opposition to Senator Huey Long, who, Ickes says, "is suffering from halitosis of the intellect," Louisiana is also "in bad" with Washington pie-men. The Pelican state will get no federal funds as long as the Kingfish is at its controls. That for Louisiana.

The government has also taken over relief in Ohio on charges that its governor sought to "shake down" contractors for FERA supplies, and friction is developing between the administration and state authorities in Pennsylvania and Illinois.

Evidences are accumulating that the hand that feeds is going to demand adherence to the New Deal, and that states will be held responsible for relations of their governors with the Roosevelt administration. This was forecast by Republican leaders long ago. State executives who agree are loyalists; those who dissent are afflicted with halitosis.

The diagnosis is clear.

NO BUSINESS SENSE.

A tramp was sleeping on one of the greens of a golf course, and the secretary, prowling around the course, prodded him none too gently and told him to clear out.

"Who are you?" demanded the tramp.

"I'm the secretary of the club."

"Well, that's no way to get new members," said the tramp.—Christian Science Monitor.

THE REAL TEST.

The candidate for a chauffeur's job was being examined by the car owner.

He got along all right until the questioner asked whether he had traveled much in other states.

The applicant had.

LIBERTY

[From "Farewell to Revolution," by Everett Dean Martin, professor in social philosophy, Cooper Union, N. Y. Published by W. W. Norton & Co., Inc., New York.]

What we mean by liberty is, first, mankind's achievement, so far as it is an achievement, in limiting tyranny. Free men are not subjects but citizens. There are some things which it is unlawful for rulers to do to citizens. The sovereign like every one else must obey the law. Government is in some way accountable to the public. It may exercise only such powers as are granted to it by the citizens. It is their agent, it is not their lord. Obedience to it is not submission to the will of a master, it is a rational obedience, a recognition of the necessity of law and the rule of reason. This is not to say that laws are always reasonable or just, or ever can be; but where liberty exists men may protest against laws of which they disapprove and may openly try to have them changed. There can be no liberty where government is not responsible, and responsibility requires not only that government give an account of itself to the public but also that it operate as a check upon itself, so that those in authority may not exceed their power, so that it may not become the tool of a dominant faction and be used to destroy unpopular individuals or dissenting minorities. So it has been found that it is the advantage of freedom that the same person shall not be able to make laws, then execute them, then pass on the legality of his acts. In a free government therefore the executive, legislative, and judicial functions of government are delegated to different persons. In dictatorial and notably in revolutionary governments all powers of government tend to be exercised by the same central committee. Revolutionary government is not responsible government. It exists by force, not by reason and assent. Nothing could be further from the truth than its profession that it represents the people. So communists and Nazis alike denounce liberal democracy.

In order to see realistically what liberty means let us try to imagine living in a state which did not recognize that individual freedom guaranteed to us in our constitutional bill of rights. Our ancestors were very sensitive about these rights; they knew what they meant and what they had cost. They also had had some experience with governments which did not respect them. We often take these rights for granted. Certain people speak lightly of liberty because they have forgotten what liberty meant to the generations that had to struggle to achieve it. There are, for example, in our constitution two restrictions upon officialdom which many radicals seem to think are there only to protect the interests of the property owning classes. They are the clause which forbids unwarranted search and seizure, and that which says property may not be taken without due process of law. I hold no apology for the interpretation which the courts have sometimes given the latter. But we know historically what has happened when the agents of government have not been so restrained. The homes of rich and poor have been entered by day or night on any pretext whatever. Politicians and their favorites have practiced all sorts of outrages, robbing people of whatever they desired, often driving their victims to pauperism and death, and there has been no redress. This evil is as old as recorded history. The Old Testament tells the story of King Ahab's seizure of Naboth's vineyard. The ancient prophets bitterly denounced this as a common practice of the rich and powerful who had friends at court in dealing with poorer neighbors. Tacitus relates how under the early dictatorship of the Cæsars no man's life or household was safe from sycophants and the envious who, if they wanted anything, turned informer against its possessor, had his home secretly raided, and shared the loot with the raiding officers. Cicero gained his fame as a Roman orator protesting against this practice by the agents of the dictator, Sulla. It was this evil, as much as any other, which made wretched the life of the Jews in the middle ages. It is always practiced by the henchmen of dictators. We have credible rumors of its practice in both Germany and Russia since the revolutions in those countries.

There is also in the constitution a group of restrictions against dictatorial government which have to do with securing justice for those whom the government may accuse or try to persecute. We are likely to think that these rights are made use of chiefly by criminal lawyers in protecting offenders. They were intended to protect innocent men against despotism. And when there are no such laws it has often been the innocent rather than the guilty who have suffered most. There is the right of habeas corpus, to which the English speaking peoples have clung since the thirteenth century. This prohibits putting people in prison and keeping them there indefinitly without trial. Every tyrant in history has resorted to this practice, and it was a rule among tyrants of the ancient world to make use of it to destroy the best men in the state, the men they most feared. Medieval tyrants imprisoned and executed at will any one who aroused their displeasure. Any government is likely to do the same if it is not prohibited. Revolutionary governments are notorious in this respect. Every reign of terror is an example of it. People are imprisoned on suspicion, often not because of any offense but because of the class or party to which they belong or because some relative or friend has aroused the suspicion of the dictator or of his agents or of nameless informers. Thousands have been massacred by despots, conquerors, and revolutionary governments in violation of this very principle of liberty.

I would ask those who say that liberalism is dead just what in it is dead? Do these people really mean that responsible government and a bill of rights are out of date? Is Aristotle's "Magnanimous Man" out of date? But this idea of the man with broad sympathies, far vision, and largemindedness is a requirement of civilized living in any time. Are teachableness, self-criticism, humor, and the ability to think before one acts now to become out of date? Is it out of date for men and women to try and put themselves in other people's places and to regard those who do not agree with them as human beings? Does any one imagine that people lacking these virtues are capable of solving any social problem? Is it out of date to insist that human beings may not attain their full development unless they are guaranteed certain personal liberties? If so, I would suspect that civilization itself is becoming out of date.

TAX COLLECTOR NEEDED.

A little city boy was visiting his country cousin.

"What do you know about cows?" quizzed the country lad. "You don't even know if that's a Jersey cow."

BACTERIA EATERS.

BACTERIA grow readily in meat broth. This broth may be heated until all living bacteria that it contains are killed, but if again exposed to the open air so that new organisms are planted it will soon become cloudy and be filled with millions of growing forms.

Now comes a curious phenomenon, discovered in 1915 by Twort and in 1917 by d'Herelle. Each independently recognized the existence of tiny bodies which were capable of destroying bacteria. These substances were termed bacteriophage, or bacteria eaters. If a few drops of bacteriophage of the proper type are added to the cloudy growth of bacteria, and if the tube containing the broth is kept at body temperature for eighteen to twenty hours, the bouillon will begin to clear and in many cases will return to its transparent stage. No bacteria will be found in this fluid, although twenty-four hours earlier it was swarming with countless millions of them. What has happened? Some powerful agent has not only stopped the growth of the bacteria, but has utterly destroyed them.

Bacteriophage cannot be seen under the microscope, and if beef broth in which bacteria are growing is filtered through an unglazed layer of porcelain no bacteria will pass through. On the other hand, bacteriophage will pass through the porcelain filter, showing that the particles are smaller and finer than the bacteria themselves.

D'Herelle and other workers believe that bacteriophage is a living substance of some sort, but some bacteriologists believe that it is merely another form of bacteria—a transition form comparable to that assumed in the life cycle of certain insects.

It is interesting to note that the bacteriophage will not develop except when it can feed upon bacteria, and the phage is not content with old, stale bacteria; it must have fresh, growing organisms.

The process of bacteria destruction by bacteriophage may be seen under the microscope. The bacteria themselves can be observed to swell and within a few minutes they will burst and disintegrate. In other words, they have been killed by a force more powerful than themselves.

Apparently there is a special phage for each variety of bacteria. For example, the type that attacks the typhoid bacillus may destroy the paratyphoid or dysentery bacillus, but will have no effect upon the cocci or other unrelated species.

In the treatment of boils and abscesses encouraging results have followed the direct application of solutions containing bacteriophage to the open wound. It is understood that we must have the particular phage that will destroy the organism that is present.

A recent report indicates that of 63 cases of boils 44 were materially helped by this treatment. Of 16 cases of carbuncles all but two healed rapidly. Of 29 cases of acne [puslike pimples on the face and other parts of the body] 15 were cured. Another report states that 85 per cent of all cases of boils yielded to phage treatment, and that impetigo, an especially stubborn skin infection, showed marked and rapid improvement in a high percentage of cases.

There are reports of the use of the phage method in the treatment of intestinal infection, including typhoid fever, bacillary dysentery, and infections within the kidney and the bladder.

Although hundreds of workers have studied these striking effects and have applied the treatment to various disease conditions, much remains to be learned. While some of the reports are contradictory it must be conceded that remarkable results have been obtained in bacterial infections of the bladder and in infections of the skin. We have in bacteriophage a mysterious agent that is reluctantly yielding its secrets. Further developments will be watched with the greatest interest.

WIND INSTRUMENTS.

F. F. T. writes: I have heard many comments pro and con in reference to playing a bugle. One friend says constant blowing will overtax the lungs and another says this will develop the lungs. S. I. J. writes: Would playing a trumpet aggravate a heart murmur if played for several hours nightly?

REPLY.

There are numerous cases in which excessive use of wind instruments has caused dilatation of the air sacs (emphysema). If the player has a heart murmur the amount of damage would depend on the character and location of the murmur. The danger might be very small. The neighbors may advise you of dire consequences.

NOT IN ALL CASES.

E. C. H. writes: You recently gave a method for disinfecting shoes after an attack of athlete's foot. I would like to suggest a simpler method: Cut an ordinary ink blotter lengthwise, pour on each half about one-half ounce of 40 per cent solution of formaldehyde. Put one piece of blotter in each shoe, wrap tightly in newspaper, and leave over night or longer if possible.

REPLY.

This may be successful in some cases, but not in all, as the formaldehyde vapor may not be of sufficient concentration to kill the parasite.

CHANGE IN DIET.

F. G. E. writes: A middle aged man, health apparently good, errors of refraction corrected, has intermittent muscæ persisting over a period of years and now noticeably worse. What can be done?

REPLY.

Muscæ volitantes is a condition caused by tiny bits of cholesterol floating in the anterior chamber of the eye. When you look at a clear sky they appear as bright dots that are constantly moving. Omitting fats, egg yolk, etc., from the diet may reduce the amount of cholesterol in the body and thus improve the situation.

FROM ACROSS THE SEA

BY DONALD DAY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

RIGA, Latvia.—American diplomats rank high as salesmen for American automobiles in the countries of northeastern Europe, according to local automobile dealers. They report that the diplomats by displaying the latest American models have helped to make hundreds of sales which otherwise would have been impossible. The diplomats by exercising their prerogative of importing cars without paying duty were the first to display the new models to the admiring gaze of the Baltic public.

The family of J. V. A. MacMurray, American minister to the Baltic states, has introduced three new American cars to Riga. Other members of the legation and consular staf are displaying three other makes of cars. In Warsaw Ambassador John Cudahy has introduced an automobile which has been purchased in large numbers by both the Polish government and resident diplomats.

In Poland the importation of American cars is practically limited to meet the needs of the government and diplomats because the duty on a light, popularly priced American auto is about $1,600. A seven passenger limousine carries a duty of $4,000 or $5,000. Poland has not yet restricted the remittance of currency abroad to pay for imports. Nevertheless, she has raised the duty on many products so high as to make them prohibitive while she controls imports of other goods through rigid restrictions.

Latvia and Estonia have not restricted imports to such a great extent as they have controled the remittance of money abroad. Buyers of automobiles and dealers have found means to evade government control. During the past year several hundred new American cars appeared in Latvia. The majority were purchased by persons having bank accounts abroad or with their aid. The devaluation of the dollar has brought automobiles within reach of many persons who two years ago would never have dreamed of buying a car, and the potential market for cars has been greatly enlarged, according to dealers. They hope the American government soon will formulate a trade policy which will prevent further discrimination against imports of all varieties of products from the United States.

Until recently automobiles were placed in the same category of luxuries as French perfumes and taxed accordingly by the Baltic states. Authorities now recognize that car owners help to keep money in circulation and the attitude towards automobiles is changing. Latvia, Lithuania, and Estonia have expended large sums in improving their roads. Consequently they now want more automobiles to use them.

Before 1934 persons possessing cars in northeastern Europe could be placed in three groups: Government officials, foreign diplomats, and individuals whom the income tax collector classified as having more money than good sense and who were treated with the same lack of consideration that the bolsheviks have for the bourgoisie.

Germany's policy of exempting auto owners from certain taxes and granting them special privileges has been followed closely by the Baltic countries. There are many signs indicating that car owners will be treated with consideration instead of being persecuted with higher taxes as in the past. Auto dealers are optimistic. They predict much larger sales of American cars.

MERCHANTABLE TITLE.

Maywood, Ill., April 19.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—A year or so before the Chicago fire of 1871 my mother bought a block of land in the limits of Chicago. In 1890 it was subdivided into lots and a division made of the lots among the heirs. Two heirs could not be found. I bought one heir's interest and hold sherif's deed for same. The original papers were lost in the 1871 fire. The sherif's deed for six lots is all the papers I hold. I have been paying taxes on them since 1890. Am I entitled to a deed from Cook county? J. F.

A Torrens registration would probably be the simplest way to put your title in merchantable shape. We suggest that you report your facts to one of the attorneys in the Torrens office in the county building.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

"LOST" WILL.

Joliet, Ill., April 19.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Three years ago my sister died in Omaha, Neb. My nephews and nieces and myself, her only living relatives outside of her husband, are heirs. Her husband sent letters and papers to the nephews and nieces to sign, saying I had signed them, but I knew nothing about it. I wrote to the Probate court in Nebraska, but they replied they had no record of the estate. I found out where he has filed the estate, but he says there was a will but he lost it. He will not tell us its contents. What should be done? L. A. B.

From the fact that he has "lost" the will we would infer that probably the estate is not being probated. The circumstances seem suspicious enough to warrant your putting an attorney on the case to investigate.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

ALIMONY AND FAMILY EXPENSES.

Chicago, April 20.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—A lady received a divorce with alimony. 1. If the lady marries again would the alimony be automatically canceled? A man and wife occupy an apartment. Both have independent incomes. The man signed the lease on the apartment. 2. Can the wife be held responsible? M. J. H.

1. Section 626 of the article on divorce in corpus juris is in part as follows: "A divorced wife's remarriage to another does not necessarily of itself operate as a release of the former husband's obligation to pay alimony, but simply affords a cogent reason for the court to modify or vacate the order."

2. Under Illinois statute either spouse can be held liable for rent accruing while they occupy the premises as a family.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

MARRIAGE AND CITIZENSHIP.

Chicago, April 20.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. About twelve years ago I married an Englishman who is not a citizen of the United States. His first wife, an English woman also, divorced him in this country and then went back to England. 2. If I should go to England with my husband, would I be recognized as his wife over there, or [3] would his first wife still be his real wife? 4. Does this make me a British subject and have I lost my right to vote? I. M. S.

1. If the marriage was celebrated after 1922 it would not affect your citizenship.

2. Yes, if the facts were such that the divorce court had jurisdiction to enter the decree.

THE D. A. R.

Fairfield, Ia., April 22.—The time of the national convention of the D. A. R. seems to be the signal for the scurrilous attacks of certain people who know nothing of the organization. Just why an organization composed of the descendants of the men who made our nation possible should be singled out for such attacks is hard to understand.

I have attended both the state and national conventions of the D. A. R. and have never seen any of the "bitter fights" ascribed to the organization. The motto of the D. A. R. is "For God, Home, and Country," and they will continue to work for these long after their critics are forgotten. L. Y. H.

NORTHERLY ISLAND.

Chicago, April 23.—I have lived in Chicago 35 years. I am proud of our city, our parks, beaches, and playgrounds, but I am also interested in seeing Chicago get along financially.

In spite of all the criticism, 90 per cent of Chicagoans want a permanent fair and amusement center on Northerly Island. Grant park and the strip of parkway along the mainland south is all the park area needed in this district of business houses, railroad tracks, warehouses, and factories.

Grant park today is just a speedway for automobiles and a sleeping place for vagrants. People working downtown live elsewhere, and very few can enjoy this wonderful park. Northerly Island was just a sleeping place for transients before the Fair and will be again if not put to some use that will benefit everybody.

Chicago people will miss the Fair this summer and will insist that this project be carried out. FAIRFAN.

DOGS.

Chicago, April 20.—By what special right are the 5 or 10 per cent of our people owning a dog allowed to mutilate our lawns, kill our shrubbery, and spread filth all over some one else's premises? It is plenty bad enough now, but if this dog craze is further encouraged and we reach the point of about 50 per cent possessing a dog, well, we might as well forget all about keeping up any landscaping around our homes.

To recommend a gradual diminution in their number for sanitary reasons does not necessarily indicate that one is prejudiced against dogs. I do, however, take this opportunity to charge that while there are many commendable things in favor of dogs they are also the filthiest and most immoral of all domestic animals, almost completely devoid of any sense of shame. R. C. C.

NOW IS THE TIME.

Chicago, April 21.—The Democratic majority in the legislature of this state now has the greatest opportunity in the last twenty years to show whether or not the party is really for sound and representative government or whether it is on the side of the ballot box stuffing underworld. By seeing that the permanent registration bill is passed we shall assume the former. If they permit its defeat we shall believe, and with good reason, the latter. Now, if ever, is the time for all good men to come to the aid of the party. ROBERT HILLARD.

THE PERSONAL PROPERTY TAX.

Oak Park, Ill., April 22.—The Illinois personal property tax is about as stupid and ineffectual as Tugwell's theory of "the more abundant life."

Let me give another reason to abolish it, one that even our tax experts have probably given little thought to.

The writer has heard during the last few years quite a number of men scheming to beat the inheritance and estate taxes, not for the saving that it would afford them but because when an estate is listed for probate the personal property leeches pry into the records and thus in those cases they have their victims. These men I allude to do not fear the inheritance tax, which is reasonable and comes only once, but they will not make public, even for probate if they can help it, a list of their holdings for the personal property vultures to assess against year after year.

The writer has paid his personal property tax year after year, but 90 per cent of his friends and acquaintances with whom he has discussed the subject pay no attention to it nor the notices of impending suit. Few of them are ever sued and those who are invariably get out upon the payment of a very few dollars.

The writer is also a real estate property owner and the local and state politicians are not kidding him with their smoke screen of personal property taxation to relieve real estate. Personal property cannot be taxed and should not. Real estate taxes and either a state sales or income tax is the only way to provide revenue in a fair and workable manner.

Why doesn't some influential group start proceedings to kill the personal property tax and kill it forever? I believe that even John S. Clark would be a bit relieved if this were done. COMMON SENSE.

INTERESTING IF TRUE DEPARTMENT.

Chicago, April 22.—I have a daughter of 6 in the first grade in an Edison Park school and they are teaching her reading by having her make replicas of stores out of paper bags and by playing circus. I know through experience with three other children that reading is not taught as it was in my time, by first learning the alphabet, but by sound syllables, and its results were marvelous. Through these other children I have a very good idea of the progress that should be made in a school year. My little one started in September, and now with the school year approaching its close she knows nothing, and she is a healthy, normal child.

I imagine she would have been better off if I had let her make mud pies in our back yard in sunshine and fresh air and called it mathematics.

I thought all these fads and experiments in which the children suffer were eliminated when the present school board took office. A. K.

PICTURES IN COLOR.

Chicago, April 21.—I wish to thank you for the wonderful color print of the Resurrection. I think that is your masterpiece and another addition to my collection. I value all the pictures you bring of Washington and Lincoln, but would like to have a collection of all the Presidents. OTTO JENSEN.

SCIENTISTS HERE FIND MUCH DUST 4,000 FEET IN AIR

Go Up in Planes to Gather Data and Specimens.

Meteorologists from the University of Chicago, Northwestern university, and the United States weather bureau ascended by plane from Chicago airport yesterday into the upper air strata to study the fine dust which blew in from the southwest storm area.

This investigation was the first of a series to be conducted by airplane to study the movement of dust storms. The scientists will collect specimens and compare them with samples from Kansas and other "dust bowl" regions.

Clear 15,000 Feet Up.

Yesterday's trip revealed a concentration of fine silt at 4,000 feet, just below the cloud banks. Some dust appeared at 8,000 feet, but when the tri-motored Ford monoplane of the American Airlines rose to 15,000 feet, the air was clear.

The meteorologists making the experiment are: Vernon Schaad, observer for Forecaster C. A. Donnel of the weather bureau; F. H. Weck, associate metorologist at the Chicago airport station of the weather bureau; Dr. H. Wadell of the University of Chicago's department of geology and geography, and his assistants, J. E. Appel and Christopher Van Heston, and Arthur Howland of Northwestern university.

Dust specimens were collected in three ways. Vaseline covered slides were extended from the windows of the cabin. Vacuum tubes were quickly broken and sealed, one end of a hose was extended from the plane. This end bore a funnel through which air was forced into a contained of distilled water. The water will be evaporated, and the residue examined.

Plan Microscopic Examination.

Several of the specimens were examined under microscope by Dr. Wadell. Most of them will be scrutinized and compared during the next few days.

The dust yesterday had been sifted during its long travel, and only the fine particles reached the city. Morning showers cleansed the air for a while, and precipitated a minature "mud storm."

Winds shifting from the southwest to the west and northwest today are expected to keep the dust from penetrating this far. Somewhat cooler weather is in prospect, with the possibility that if lake winds develop, the mercury will remain in the 50s. For the next several days, the forecast is for cooler weather.

PLANE ARMADA TO CLOSE LEGION MEMBER DRIVE

Bloomington, Ill., April 27.—[Special.]—A fleet of thirty airplanes from throughout Illinois, including four from Cook county, will converge on Bloomington tomorrow in the seventh annual airplane membership roundup of the state department of the American Legion. Paul G. Armstrong, state commander, and Mathew Murphy, Cook county commander, will be in the planes flying from Chicago.

With the present membership slightly more than 62,000, a goal of 65,000 has been set by the state department. Achievement of the goal would mean 4,000 more members than in 1934. In the airplane roundup last year 6,627 new cards were turned in. The roundup tomorrow will mark the close of a membership drive which began at the end of the first annual "boxcar roundup" campaign April 9.

Planes are scheduled to come from Carbondale, Harrisburg, Effingham, Scott field, Springfield, Champaign, Decatur, Chanute field, Paris, Danville, Kankakee, Peoria, Quincy, Kewanee, Galesburg, Monmouth, Moline, Freeport, Dixon, Rockford Aviation post, No. 771, and Elmhurst.

HOUSE DEMANDS TWO COOPER AIDS RESIGN IN IOWA

Abolition of Liquor Board Threatened.

Des Moines, Ia., April 27.—[Special.]—The Iowa house of representatives today voted, 97 to 1, to demand the resignation of Bernard Manley of Mason City and Dick R. Lane of Davenport, remaining members of the Iowa liquor commission.

Chairman Harold Cooper of Marshalltown resigned yesterday.

The house resolution passed today also calls for the immediate resignation of Leslie E. Francis, legal adviser to the committee. It was presented to the house by a committee of five Democrats who had been named to draft it after a Democratic caucus yesterday.

With passage of the resolution came also a threat that if the men do not resign almost immediately the house would pass the Alesch bill designed to wipe out the commission entirely and to substitute administration of the liquor control act by a board of five appointed by the state executive council.

Lamar P. Foster [Dem., Cedar county], one of the committee members, said:

"The legislature still has time to enact the Alesch bill and change the whole plan of administration of the liquor act. What's more, I want to say that this bill will be brought up and I believe passed if the men whose resignations are demanded do not comply with the request very shortly."

DEATHS OF SIX ATTRIBUTED TO SWIRLING DUST

Liberal, Kas., April 27.—(AP)—Deaths of six persons this week were attributed to dust storms by Red Cross officials tonight as headquarters here pushed relief work in the nation's 18 million acre "dust bowl."

Three deaths today at Beaver, Okla., were added to one earlier this week at Walsh, Cola., and two in Seward county, Kansas.

All were victims of pneumonia which Red Cross nurses said was aggravated by the dust.

As dust continued to blow in the affected Colorado and New Mexico sectors today, emergency relief activities were in full swing.

At Topeka and Wichita, Kas., women volunteers were turning out 10,000 cloth masks asked by Red Cross headquarters here. Topeka shipped 500 of the masks last night and 1,000 tonight. Officials here said at least 100,000 masks are needed.

Dust clouds in the vicinity of Grant, N. M., were blamed for a motor car accident today in which Mrs. Wilson King of Wichita, Kas., suffered head and face lacerations.

Outside the dust belt, St. Louis and Fayetteville, Ark., reported blowing silt today.

An Open Letter from A TYPICAL AMERICAN MOTHER . . .

"I'm sorry too, Helen, that I won't see you 'till the summer. What do I want for Mother's Day? Well, since I can't see you, how about sending me a new photograph of yourself? The one I have is four years old. And this time, Helen, don't get just any photograph. Try this PhotoReflex way I hear so much about. I understand you can choose the pose and expression you want, and see what your picture looks like before it's taken. It sounds marvelous to me. And I do so want a fine picture of you, Helen dear."

BOYS AND GIRLS PARTICIPATING IN YOUTH WEEK

Sunday Evening Club Arranges Program.

Girl Reserves and Boy Scouts throughout the city will participate today in the observance of "Youth's Day in Church," as part of the Youth week program. This evening Henry P. Chandler, president of the Chicago Youth Week federation, will talk on "Helping Youth to Build a Better Future" at the Sunday Evening club, Orchestra hall.

Miss Eleanor Congdon, 8201 South Marshfield avenue, president of the city-wide council of Girl Reserves, will direct 75 Girl Reserves in a vesper service at 4 o'clock this afternoon at the University of Chicago chapel. The Schurz High school glee club, under the direction of Leroy Wetzel, will provide music for the program. Dr. Harold L. Bowman of the First Presbyterian church will talk on "Preparing for the Future."

Special Meeting Planned.

A special Youth week Epworth league meeting has been scheduled at the First Methodist temple at 7 o'clock this evening. The Drexel Park Presbyterian church has planned a Youth week program for the American Order of Sons and Daughters of St. George, Grand Lodge of Illinois.

Also at the Sunday Evening club Dr. McIlyar H. Lichliter, of the First Congregational church of Columbus, O., will discuss "The Dormant Hours."

Tomorrow and Tuesday have been dedicated to "Youth's Leisure Time and Club day," and "Youth's Leisure Time and Demonstration day" respectively. Programs dealing with youth and leisure time occupations will be given both days in park recreational centers, playground, and settlement houses.

Kite Flying Preliminaries.

Yesterday, as a Youth week feature, preliminaries for the Chicago park district kite tournament were held in the city's parks and playgrounds. Finals for the contest will be held Saturday, May 4, in Grant park. B. C. Friedman, director of crafts for the Chicago park district, said that approximately 10,000 boys and girls took part in the preliminaries.

Kites in the contest are judged on novelty and artistic construction. The flying tournament includes four events: 100 yard dash, hand winding; 100 yard dash, mechanical winding; messenger event and solo box kite flying.

BAILIF BEARING 2 WRITS FINDS MRS. FORGAN JR.

Deputy Bailif Lucius Barnett of the Municipal court found Mrs. David R. Forgan Jr. yesterday in her home at 209 Lake Shore drive. He had been seeking Mrs. Forgan since March 8 on two legal matters.

He served her first with a summons to appear on May 1 in the small claims court of Judge Edward B. Casey where attorneys for B. Altman & Co., of New York, want her declaration of assets in their efforts to collect a judgment of $191.50 for an unpaid bill.

Barnett then served Mrs. Forgan with a writ of execution for a $178.12 judgment obtained against her on March 13 by Max Klausch, a Lake Forest upholsterer.

JOSEPH B. RYAN WEDS DAUGHTER OF N. Y. OFFICIAL

Albany, N. Y., April 27.—(AP)—Joseph Benedict Ryan of New York and Suffern, and Miss Mildred Graves, daughter of State Tax Commissioner Mark Graves, were married at noon today in the Cathedral of the Immaculate Conception.

The bridegroom is a vice president of the Chase National bank of New York City, and a member of several clubs. He is the son of James J. Ryan of Chicago. The bride is the co-author of a home economics textbook, "Your Home and Family," and has been teaching at Philip Livingston High school in Albany. She is a graduate of New York State College for Teachers and the Merrill-Palmer school in Detroit.

State Tax Commissioner Graves gave his daughter in marriage. The couple were attended by Miss Eleanore Graves, a sister of the bride, and William Baker of New York.

MEMORIAL PLANNED FOR ELIZA CHURCH, EARLY POSTMISTRESS

Belvidere, Ill., April 27.—[Special.]—A movement has been started here to have a memorial erected in memory of Mrs. Eliza Church, of Belvidere, said to be the first woman to hold a federal office in the United States.

Mrs. Church, who died in 1914, was postmistress at Bonus, a small community near here, from 1871 to 1875. She was appointed upon the death of her husband, Dr. Richard Church. The Bonus postoffice was discontinued in 1900 when rural free delivery service was established.

Efforts to establish positively that Mrs. Church was the first woman federal office holder in the country were undertaken by the committee in charge of the Belvidere centennial celebration to be held here the first week in July. Congressman John T. Buckbee aided the committee.

Women's clubs throughout the country will be asked to assist in financing and deciding upon a suitable memorial, it was said. The proposal will be taken up at the next meeting of the Woman's Club of Illinois.

Million Dollars in Bonds in Capitol Vault Escape Fire

Town Older than U. S. to Mark Its 200th Birthday

St. Genevieve, Mo., April 27.—[Special.]—The 200th anniversary of St. Genevieve's establishment as a trading post on the Mississippi river will be officially observed from Aug. 19 to 22. The town is 40 years older than the United States. A Spanish statistical report shows that St. Genevieve led St. Louis in population in 1772. This town then had 404 whites and 287 slaves while St. Louis had 399 whites and 198 slaves.

Bomb Explosion Tears Out Wall of Beverage Plant

Damage estimated at several hundred dollars was caused early today by a bomb explosion that tore out a rear wall of the plant of the Chicago Distilled Water and Beverage company, 1339 North Leavitt street. Lieut. James Treacy of the bomb squad questioned Samuel Folloda, treasurer of the concern, but he could give no motive for the bombing.

EXPECTS MENTAL CASE INCREASES AMONG CHILDREN

The mentally retarded children will be educators' greatest problem within the next five years, according to predictions made yesterday at the 59th annual session of the American Association on Mental Deficiency by Dr. D. P. MacMillen, director of the bureau of child study and guidance of the Chicago board of education.

Dr. MacMillen said that modern dominant trends, such as mass mechanization and speed are causing an increasing prevalence of mental maladjustment among individuals and among social groups.

"Modern mechanization is such that even normal individuals have trouble in making their way," Dr. MacMillen declared. "While for these with mental defects, the situation rapidly is becoming impossible. In former years employment of some sorts was open to the mentally retarded, but now even the bright intellects have trouble finding positions."

Education given for the mentally defective is inadequate, he said.

VANDERBILT SUIT SECRET EVIDENCE IS MADE PUBLIC

Mother, Prince Accused of Plot on Heiress.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
[Copyright: 1935: By News Syndicate Company, Inc.]

New York, April 27.—[Special.]—The bizarre backdrop—of intrigue and artificial gayety of titles, millions, and religion—against which Mrs. Gloria Morgan Vanderbilt's fight for her child was staged, came into view today when the hitherto secret testimony of witnesses in the court trial over the little heiress to 4 million dollars, now 11 years old, was revealed.

The evidence, taken in hearings from which press and public were excluded, and previously unpublished, disclosed that Justice John F. Carew, who awarded major custody of the child to her paternal aunt, Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney, heard:

1. That Mrs. Vanderbilt and her onetime fiancé, Prince Gottfried Zu Hohenlohe of Germany, were accused of plotting against little Gloria, after they had married, presumably to come into the child's huge estate. Prince Hohenlohe testified that Mrs. Vanderbilt's mother, Mrs. Laura K. Morgan, told him she believed he and Gloria had such a secret purpose.

Bridle Curb Should be Strong.

2. That Hohenlohe, according to Mrs. Morgan, wanted to whip little Gloria, arguing that "the curb of the bridle should be strong," and that he would not permit the child even to pick a flower on his estate. That he is a gentleman when in a group but "a very drastic man to be alone with." That he wanted to change the child's name to his when he married her mother, bring up the little heiress as a German, and thoroughly "discipline" her, and that the Vanderbilts rate as plebians in his section of Europe.

3. That the prince's elderly mother got down on her knees begging Mrs. Gloria Vanderbilt to marry Gottfried.

4. That Mrs. Morgan went to Gloria's guardians, George W. Wickersham and Thomas B. Gilchrist, urging them to cut down Mrs. Vanderbilt's allowance in order to discourage the proposed marriage with the Nazi princeling.

Shown as "Devoted Daughter."

5. That Mrs. Gloria Vanderbilt, though she was bitterly denounced during the hearing by the testimony of both her parents — the vitriolic words of her living mother and the depositions left behind by her dead father, the late Harry Hays Morgan, actually had been a devoted, patient daughter, making sacrifices to pay the debts her father feared would disgrace him in the Argentine.

6. That shortly after Gloria Morgan's marriage to Reginald Vanderbilt her mother, Mrs. Morgan, suggested to her a plan to sell Mrs. Morgan's pearl necklace for $12,000 to Reggie in order to raise money for Morgan. He had written from South America that unless they could help him he "would have to act against the other members of the family."

7. That Gloria Vanderbilt, deeply resenting the proposed imposition upon her husband, was yet so devoted to her father that after Vanderbilt's death—when she was for a time almost penniless—she pawned her jewels to raise the $12,000 still needed.

Testifies as to Divorce.

8. That Mrs. Morgan testified she divorced her husband a few years ago when he was over 70 so that he would not be living "in sin." He was, so she claimed, intimate with three women in London.

9. That it was socially prominent Miss Beth Leary of New York, who introduced A. C. [Blumey] Blumenthal to Mrs. Vanderbilt.

10. That Maria Caillot, French maid, who accused Mrs. Vanderbilt of undue intimacy with Lady Milford-Haven, was unable to substantiate the charge and had to attempt to defend herself against a counter charge of having been stricken by a sudden and violent illness—the upshot of her own indiscretion—in the presence of the child, Gloria, and her nurse, Emma Keislich.

Grandmother's Suspicion.

Mrs. Morgan's extraordinary suspicion that the prince and her daughter were plotting against the little Vanderbilt heiress so that they could make free with her fortune was revealed by the prince on both direct and cross examination by Mrs. Whitney's counsel, Harry C. Smyth.

Mrs. Morgan's testimony reveals the singular parental environment which surrounded the elder Gloria. Her mother testified that she would "defend her daughter on a murder charge." Yet Mrs. Morgan was willing to describe to the court a reputed love scene between Gloria and the prince to the ultimate intimate detail.

Later, when Mrs. Gloria Vanderbilt, her daughter, had to submit to a cæsarean operation to give birth to the child whose custody is being disputed, Mrs. Morgan watched the drastic surgery.

Gloria "Liked Someone Else."

Mrs. Gloria Vanderbilt, according to her mother, "liked somebody else before she married Reggie" and still "saw a great deal of him" while she was married and before she was widowed.

Mrs. Vanderbilt, said to have been indifferent to little Gloria during Reggie' lifetime, changed into a devoted mother during her early widowhood, yet when she became infatuated with Prince Hohenlohe the older Gloria again became indifferent to her offspring, her mother said.

The verbatim testimony became available to the press following its filing in connection with Mrs. Vanderbilt's appeal to the Supreme court's appellate division, due for hearing within the next few weeks.

Guard Forest Preserve Flowers

Arrests Ordered

Clayton F. Smith, president of the county board and of the forest preserve, yesterday warned visitors to those county tracts not to pick the wild flowers. If the blooms are picked there will be no seeds for new plants, he asserted. A volunteer police force will augment the regular forest police to arrest violators.

Father Sent to Prison for Beating Infant Son

Evansville, Ind., April 27.—[Special.]—Joseph Moreland, 25, judged sane by three alienists, was given a sixty day sentence today by City Judge Marcon J. Rice for beating his seven months old son "black and blue." The judge had ordered a sanity test when the father was found guilty April 17 of assault and battery upon his baby.

CATHOLICS PICK CHICAGOAN AS ALUMNI LEADER

E. J. Mehren Is Honored by Association.

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

Edward J. Mehren of Chicago, head of the Portland Cement association, was elected president of the National Catholic Alumni federation just before the close of the three day decennial meeting of the federation yesterday at the Palmer house. Other Chicago officers chosen include Anthony J. Sweitzer, vice president, and Edward W. Gould, secretary. Mr. Mehren will succeed Edmond B. Butler of New York.

Before adjourning the federation adopted a resolution condemning the present Mexican government's "violation of human rights by attempting to root out from the hearts of people the knowledge and love of God and to deprive the young of the inestimable benfits of religious education."

Calls on Members to Act.

The resolution called upon members of the federation to oppose the anti-religious elements in the Mexican government and not to rest until "the stigma of responsibility has been removed from the United States in this matter." It also approved of the resolution offered by Senator William E. Borah before congress "to inquire into this Mexican situation as one gravely compromising the foreign policy of our country and the honor of our government in its international relations, especially with the Catholic peoples of all Latin America."

The federation's resolution pointed to recent papal encyclicals as indicating the speediest method of recovery from the business depression and as the sure basis of economic and social stability.

Adequate Wage Needed.

"Particularly," said the resolution, "is the payment of an adequate family wage a pressing need. Industry cannot function normally, its output cannot be absorbed, until the purchasing power of the worker . . . is increased. The ends of social justice and of healthy industry will both be served by restoration of an adequate family wage as speedily as possible."

The Rev. Martin C. D'Arcy, S. J., master of Campion hall, Oxford university, was a closing speaker. His subject was "Culture and Catholic Education."

3 DAUGHTERS GREET CHICAGOAN DECLARED TO BE 'LEGALLY DEAD'

Memphis, Tenn., April 27.—(AP)—Fred Sauter of Chicago, three times declared legally dead by juries here, walked into Chancery courtroom today to embrace three daughters he had not seen since 1923.

Throwing her arms around the 69 year old man's neck, Mrs. Frieda Reiff sobbed a happy "papa," and his other daughters, Mrs. Loretta McClure and Mrs. Norma Scheele, followed in turn. Sauter's brother, Reinhold Sauter, grinned in recognition.

Sauter's appearance in court today brought the dismissal of suits brought by the family to collect insurance policies on his life.

Sauter was an interior decorator in Memphis until about 1912, moving to Birmingham. When his wife refused to follow him there, he obtained a divorce. Nine years ago he moved to Chicago, and members of his family lost track of him, with the result that he was declared legally dead.

TEXANS RECALL 99 YEARS OF LONE STAR FREEDOM

Memories of the Alamo, Davey Crockett, Col. Bowie, and the rest of the names of Texas history were recalled last night in the Hotel Sherman when 1,000 members of the Texas society of Chicago gathered to celebrate San Jacinto Day, the anniversary of the day in 1836 when Texas won her independence from Mexico.

A shipment of Texas bluebonnets, the flower of the lone star state, were received yesterday by airplane, and they banked the tables where the banquet was served.

The guest speaker of the evening was Walter C. Cline, managing director of the coming Texas Centennial exposition of 1936. Presiding at the banquet was August de Zavala, president of the society, and grandson of the Lorenza de Zavala, first vice president of the Texas republic.

SYPHILIS IN U. S. ON THE INCREASE, DOCTORS ASSERT

Report Half Million New Cases Each Year.

BY GUY MURCHIE JR.

Most of the serious diseases from typhoid fever to tuberculosis rapidly are being brought under control. But there is a notable exception to this trend of progress. It is the spread of the formidable venereal disease: Syphilis.

According to Dr. Irving S. Cutter, dean of Northwestern university's medical school, half a million new cases of syphilis are reported in this country every year. Between the years 1921 and 1929 in the United States there were 1,226,643 more cases of syphilis reported than of typhoid fever, and nearly 1,000,000 more cases of syphilis than of tuberculosis. Dr. Cutter points out that the much misunderstood syphilis is actually "much more incapacitating" than typhoid fever, and that it becomes "chronic unless vigorous treatment is instituted at once." Not only is it the cause of over one-fourth of all cases of insanity in this country, but it causes 15 per cent of all blindness and 10 per cent of all stillbirths, or cases of babies being born dead. It is one of the principal causes of adult deaths.

Eastern Authority's Statement.

Dr. Cutter's statement is supported by Dr. Joseph Earle Moore of Baltimore, Md., an authority on this subject.

Dr. Moore's work in social hygiene clinics has given him four firm beliefs: "(1) Syphilis is easily the most prevalent of the major communicable diseases. (2) Directly and indirectly it costs the taxpayer more than any other infectious disease. (3) There are already available the weapons with which it might be, if not entirely wiped out, at least reduced from a major to a minor problem within a generation. (4) Although these weapons have been available for a decade or more, we are progressing not forward but backward. Syphilis in this country is actually increasing, not decreasing."

In 1933, out of the 7,903 cases of syphilis reported in the city of Chicago, 876 were newly contracted cases. In 1934, out of the 10,305 cases reported 1,491 were new cases.

The clinic treating the largest number of these cases was the Municipal Social Hygiene clinic operated by the Chicago Board of Health on the 13th floor of the police building at 1121 South State street. At this clinic last year 2,723 cases of syphilis, men and women, were treated free. The number of cases seems to be increasing from year to year.

Costs to Community.

As to the cost of all this, here is a sample report from another city: "The actual cost of venereal disease—largely syphilis—to the taxpayers of St. Louis is estimated at from $600,000 to $1,000,000 [yearly]; and in addition another million and a half is spent by patients for physicians' fees and for private hospital care, or for patients by such welfare and charitable agencies as the private hospitals themselves, the Community fund, etc." Only about one tenth of this money is spent where it would do the most good, that is in the early curable stages of the disease. The late stages are much the more costly because they so often involve chronic ailments, blindness, or insanity.

As to the causes of the unchecked spread of syphilis there is much speculation. But all authorities agree that high among the causes is the deplorable lack of factual knowledge on the subject, with the result that comparatively little money is appropriated or donated and comparatively little work is done to prevent the disease.

Dr. Yarros Comments.

Further light on the reasons for the prevalence of this scourge comes from Dr. Rachelle S. Yarros, secretary of the Illinois Social Hygiene league and director of its clinic. Dr. Yarros says:

"We have given sex education talks in some of our high schools—unofficially—but sex education should be given officially in all schools. Progress in sex education is very slow. Schools are afraid of it, and take the attitude that only a few exceptional persons, if any, are qualified to instruct minors in sex facts and principles. They wince at the very idea of giving courses in sex, and yet they do not seem to be upset by the crude and morbid sex teachings given in private to every pupil by his fellows.

"It isn't that the children get no knowledge of sex; it is that they fail to learn the true scientific facts."

Doctor Offers Suggestions.

Asked for her suggestions as to the best way to combat syphilis and the deplorable state of affairs that fosters the disease, Dr. Yarros said, "There are two great needs: [1] to have enough clinics for all patients to go and to continue their treatment until cured; [2] to educate all groups of the people as to the dangers of exposure to venereal diseases. Besides this, there is great need for some sort of scientific sex education in all schools. Even lectures to adults on the subject are deplorably rare. The Illinois Social Hygiene league is the only organization in Chicago which maintains a speaker's bureau exclusively in the interests of sex education. We gave 216 lectures last year, mostly to social agencies, clubs, and groups of patients. The total audience was about 25,000 people. It ought to have been at least 250,000. Sex education in the comprehensive sense of the phrase, includes biology, physiology, psychology, economics, sociology, and the ethics and aesthetics of sex. The principal relevant facts in each of these aspects of sex education could be imparted even to children in a simple direct way as the child grows and develops."

GALENA MARKS 113TH BIRTHDAY OF GRANT; VISITORS PAY TRIBUTE

Galena, Ill., April 27.—(AP)—Ulysses Simpson Grant's home town today observed the 113th anniversary of his birth quietly and without official ostentation.

There was a time when each anniversary of Grant's birthday was marked by an official observance—the presence of such men as Theodore Roosevelt, William McKinley, and other illustrious personages in American history—but those days passed when the last of the veterans of Galena who served in the Union army went to their reward.

The Galena Commercial club is planning to revive the custom of official observances in memory of the man who led the Union forces in the civil war.

Meanwhile the Ladies' circle of the G. A. R. observed the day without fanfare and the Grant Memorial home, a state owned historical site, held open house to hundreds of visitors.

MEDICAL CENTER DIRECTORS WIN ROUND IN COURT

Block Berkowitz's Plan to Pick Successors.

The group of directors of the United Medical service, 23 East Jackson boulevard, who are opposing the rule of Dr. Joseph G. Berkowitz over that organization, won a temporary victory yesterday when Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson directed that a stockholders' meeting called for yesterday morning be postponed until after a hearing in his court tomorrow.

The stockholders' meeting had been called by Dr. Berkowitz to elect a new board of directors for the medical corporation. The present board of directors on April 13 ousted Dr. Berkowitz as president of the medical service, which carried a salary of $1,000 a month.

Owns Controling Stock.

Dr. Berkowitz, who owns 52 per cent of the stock of a holding company which controls the medical clinic, went before Judge Wilkerson last Friday and obtained a temporary order restraining the directors who opposed Berkowitz from further management of the service. He then called the meeting of stockholders.

Attorney Sidney L. Robin, representing the insurgent directors, appeared before Judge Wilkerson yesterday morning and asked that his order of Friday be modified to forbid the holding of a meeting yesterday.

Attorney Robin contended that election of a new board of directors for the medical corporation cannot be had until the regular stockholders' meeting in June of the National Medicine, Inc., formed to hold the stock of the medical service.

Orders Plans Halted.

Judge Wilkerson acceded to Robin's plea, ordering that the affairs of the medical service be held in status quo until after a full hearing tomorrow.

The group opposing the former president are Dr. Charles R. Wiley, Dr. Ernest B. Zeisler, Clifford M. Templeton, and Hamilton M. Loeb. Following the ousting of Dr. Berkowitz by the insurgent directors Dr. Wiley was elected president and Dr. Zeisler vice president. Dr. Berkowitz is represented by the legal firm of Winston, Strawn & Shaw.

BEG YOUR PARDON

Joseph L. De La Cour, secretary of the Illinois liquor control commission, yesterday explained that brewers and distributors are not permitted by state law to spend up to $100 in outfitting retailers as was stated in the April 27 issue of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE. That amount can be spent by them, he said, only for window displays and signs advertising their product.

DIES IN SHOP FIRE.

Monroe Williams, 38 years old, colored, was suffocated yesterday morning when fire broke out in the rear of his automobile repair shop at 5 East 42d street.

NEW DEVICE LETS 'DEAF MUTE' HEAR HER OWN WORDS

A girl of 19 who had never said anything except "ow" until six weeks ago, pronounced a variety of words yesterday and responded to simple questions in a demonstration of a new hearing instrument at the Dictograph Products company, 180 North Michigan avenue.

The girl, Laura Belle Saunders, 5148 West Huron street, was one of a group of deaf mutes with whom Roy John Heywood, educational supervisor of the company, has been conducting experimental work in efforts to make the so called deaf and dumb not only hear, but also talk.

Covering his lips with a sheet of paper to prevent lip reading by the student, Heywood spoke into a highly amplified transmitter. Through their ear phones the students heard his voice and their own attempts to enunciate the words after him. In most cases the words were almost perfectly repeated.

John V. Schenck, manager of the company's acousticon division, said the instrument was built on the principle of the ordinary hearing amplifier but has been specialized for tal-teaching purposes.

Divorce Granted to Wife of Attorney E. M. Wood

Circuit Judge Philip J. Finnegan yesterday granted a divorce to Mrs. Susan E. Wood, 1836 East 72d street, from Attorney Edwin M. Wood on charges of cruelty. Mrs. Wood, through her attorney, Norman Becker, waived alimony. According to the divorce bill, the couple were married in 1903 and separated July 17, 1930.

"WHY I RECENTLY INVESTED IN REAL ESTATE . . ."

Carl J. Swanson, 721 E. 89th Place, tells how he is cashing in on the demand for homes

"I USED to be a railroad engineer. Later I was a machinist in the railroad shops, repairing locomotives. Sometime ago, my wife and I hit upon the idea of buying houses in run-down condition and fixing them up in our spare time to sell.

"I bought one bungalow for $4,300 cash. I put $300 and my own labor into repairing it. I sold it for $6,750. The buyer wanted possession right away, so we moved into a small apartment until we could find another house to fix up.

"My wife and I always read the real estate ads in the Tribune. Recently I saw a house advertised at 721 E. 89th Place. The price quoted was low. I went around and looked at the property. As soon as I saw it I felt that it was as good as finding $2,000. We went to the office of the Bills Realty Company and arranged to buy it. We moved in here April 3rd. Already we have redecorated the entire inside.

"This house was the only one the agent showed us. We grabbed it. Do I think that now is the right time to buy real estate? I'll tell the cockeyed world it is! I have bought and sold properties before, and I think I know what I am talking about!"

* * *

Have you been thinking of buying a home of your own? Do you realize the attractive opportunities which the present real estate market offers you to acquire a home of your own?

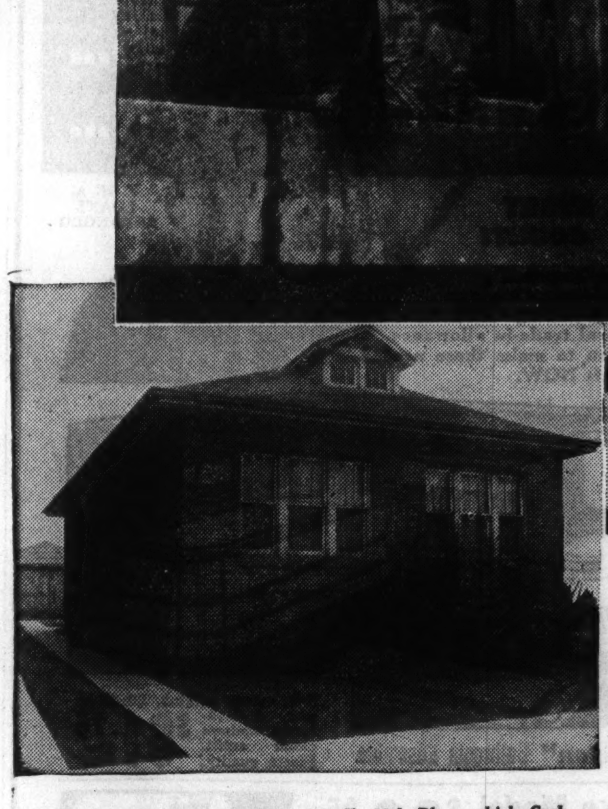
More people today than at any time in years are thinking of buying real estate. Mr. Swanson's experience in selling houses indicates the growing activity in this field.

There are two main reasons for this increasing activity. First, people are turning to real estate as a preferred place to invest their funds. The second reason is to be found in the housing situation in Chicago.

There has been practically no residential building during the past six years. Meanwhile 212,000 couples have been married in Cook county. Chicago's surplus of dwellings has disappeared. With so many more families competing in the market for places to live, the pressure on rentals is increasing.

Only home owners are immune from rising rents. And the only hedge against rising rentals is a home of your own. Start reading the real estate columns of the Chicago Tribune every day. Follow the ads closely.

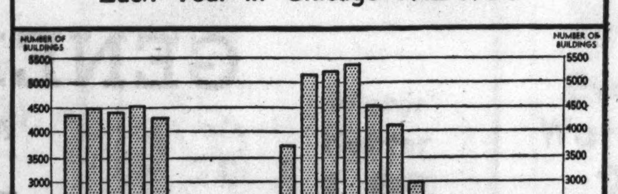
The opportunity you have been looking for will appear. You will find the kind of property you want, in the neighborhood you want—and at the price you want to pay!



THIS IS THE BUNGALOW at 721 E. 89th Place which Carl J. Swanson recently purchased. "When I first saw the place," said Mr. Swanson, "I felt that it was as good as finding $2,000." Mr. Swanson saw the bungalow advertised in the Tribune want ad section.

MRS. SWANSON is just as enthusiastic about fixing up their new home as her husband. In the three weeks since they moved in, the Swansons have entirely redecorated the interior. Mr. Swanson declares that his wife is a more expert decorator than he is.

Number of Apartment Buildings Erected Each Year in Chicago 1912-1934



NOTE THE DECLINE in the building of apartments during the past six years. Meanwhile, in Cook County, 212,000 couples have been married, which means that the number of dwellings in and around Chicago is fast becoming inadequate.

CHICAGO TRIBUNE WANT AD SECTION

"The Results from the Tribune Have Been Gratifying"

"The results which we have obtained from our sales advertising in the Tribune have been gratifying.

"Thus far this year we have been able to trace five sales as being the direct results of advertising in your classified columns.

"We have also been aware of considerable indirect benefit in consummating a number of other sales.

"Naturally, we regard your services as being extremely helpful.

"Your very truly,

CHAPPLE TO RUN FOR GOVERNOR OF WISCONSIN IN '36

Editor Pledges Removal of University Head.

Ashland, Wis., April 27.—(AP)—Old battle lines today were reformed and new life injected into the controversy over the University of Wisconsin, when John B. Chapple announced his candidacy for governor.

JOHN B. CHAPPLE

Chapple, twice Republican nominee for United States senator and vigorous campaigner against what he termed subversive influences at the university, said his first act if elected would be to oust Dr. Glenn Frank as university president.

In a letter disclosing his plans to run for governor, Chapple scathingly denounced Dr. Frank, now in New York, and is expected to be one of the next witnesses called in the current investigation into university affairs.

Called Rainbow Man.

"I'm for letting this rainbow man Frank make all the thunder and dawn speeches he wants to," Chapple wrote, "but not as president of the University of Wisconsin. He makes one of these color changing lizards look like a piker.

"He was red enough to pal with the Reds until it got too hot for him, then he was pink with the pinks, and now he's trying to turn his outside skin Republican color. Say, the Republican party has done some awful fool things in its day, but never anything as foolish as this rainbow man Frank hopes it'll do now."

Dr. Frank has been mentioned as a possible candidate for the G. O. P. presidential nomination.

Chapple said Gov. Philip F. La Follette "has just a year and a half left to go on protecting an atheist as head of our department of philosophy paid by our taxes to repeat over and over again that there is no God."

May Pass Misconduct Charges.

Madison, Wis., April 27.—(AP)—The senate investigating committee today was advised not to go into the truth or falsity of misconduct charges among University of Wisconsin faculty members.

Deputy Attorney General Joseph Hirschberg, who told the committee yesterday that the university regents and Dr. Glenn Frank, president, should be called to testify regarding charges made by Chester D. Snell, ousted university extension division dean, issued the statement.

"The committee indicated that it may follow this advice," said Hirschberg. "All it should find out is whether President Frank and the board of regents acted properly in the dismissal of Snell and whether the decision of the regents was satisfactory to the legislature."

If this policy is followed, the committee may limit itself to ascertaining whether the accusations of improper conduct which Snell made against faculty members of the Milwaukee extension center were the basis for his dismissal, and whether due consideration was given the charges by the president and the regents. Snell testified Thursday night that Dr. Frank ignored his accusations.

Slaps Woman's Face During Argument; Shot to Death

Mobile, Ala., April 27.—[Special.]—Mrs. Orral Jarrett, 49, told Gulfport, Miss., police that she shot Robert A. Krebs, 60, dock official, to death at Gulfport, Miss., today because he slapped her face. She is being held on a murder charge. She said that she and Krebs quarreled over business.

MASEFIELD PENS A SONNET FOR KING'S JUBILEE

LONDON, April 27.—(AP)—John Masefield, former New York saloon porter, and now the poet laureate of England, has penned a sonnet, a song of thanksgiving for the king's silver jubilee. It appeared in print for the first time today. It follows:

Scattered beneath the mansions of the sun
In distant continents, in every sea,
The nations are that make us one
King, law and language, give us unity;
Our many peoples seldom speak together,
And yet, in stormy days we link and stand
In common purpose facing to the weather,
Swayed by one will and striving as one hand;
Being for freedom and for peace, our way
Is worth men's caring, we may still behold
The world's tomorrow spring from our today
With happier morning brighter than the old;
In hope of such a morrow's dawn we sing
God prosper, bless, and save our gracious king.

The 25th anniversary of King George is the greatest occasion that has occurred since the tall, gray haired poet laureate was named five years ago. His verse was put to music by Sir Walford Davies, master of the king's music, whose office is parallel to that of Masefield's in many ways.

UTILITY MEN BARE REASONS FOR WALKOUT

Belleville, Ill., April 27.—[Special.]—Employés of the Illinois Light and Power corporation, whose unexplained strike April 3 inconvenienced a dozen or more towns and cities in the state, disclosed today for the first time their reasons for the walkout.

In a statement signed by 67 strikers workers blamed the labor trouble on grievances with the company that began three years ago. They charged the company with NRA violations, with blocking their attempts at organization, and with "weeding out" International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers.

They said the labor strife began three years ago "when money was tight." They asserted there is nothing the employés can do about ending the strike until the company lifts the injunction it obtained against union officials under which the latter were directed to rescind the strike order.

The corporation today filed notice of an amendment to the injunction, seeking $100,000 damages from international officers of the electrical brotherhood.

LABOR AT RACINE DEFIES BUSINESS MEN OVER STRIKE

Thousands Parade; Back Mayor in His Stand.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Racine, Wis., April 27.—[Special.]—Striking at business and professional men who in a meeting last Monday charged lawlessness in the conduct of the J. I. Case company strike and threatened to take law enforcement into their own hands, Racine labor staged two defiant demonstrations here this afternoon.

Several thousand members of the Wisconsin Industrial union, of which the strikers are a unit, marched through the business districts carrying banners. At a second demonstration the Racine Trades and Labor Council, A. F. L. organization, met in the city council chambers.

Both meetings were addressed by Mayor William Swoboda, who had been accused of shirking his duties by the business men's group. And at both gatherings the mayor was assured that labor backed him solidly in his handling of the situation.

Threats of Boycott.

Although there was no official pronouncement for a boycott of those who took part in last Monday's gathering, more than one speaker made clear that it would be the most effective means of demonstrating the wrath of labor.

Speakers boasted that one business man, an ice manufacturer, was "already on ice" as the result of the boycott.

Not only business men but attorneys were named as organizers of the law enforcement demonstration, and one minister, the Rev. Harding R. Hogan, was denounced as a "meddling preacher."

Boo Names of Business Men.

Both the parade and the city hall demonstrations were orderly, and when at times the crowd in the council chambers became noisy and booed the names of various business leaders, it was cautioned to "show the crowd that was here a week ago what it means to be gentlemen—something they don't understand."

Stephen Fox, chairman of the last week's law and order meeting, was singled out for special attention for his remarks that "I've still got a .38, and know how to use it."

"If he keeps talking about that cap pistol any more somebody will have to take it away from him before he hurts himself," said Steve Thomas, secretary of the Trades and Labor council.

800 Attend Meeting.

Other speakers at the city hall included William H. Sommers, president of the Trades and Labor council; Frank King, chairman of the executive board for the labor organization; George Sonnen, treasurer of the labor council; John Lang of the Bookbinders' union, and Ald. Jack Harvey. About 800 persons squeezed into every inch of space in the chambers—the same chambers in which the business men threatened the removal of the mayor, the chief of police, and the sherif, unless they enforced the law.

The industrial union parade ended on the lake bank at the Elks club in downtown Racine. There an open air meeting was held. John Duller, secretary and general organizer for the industrial union, was the chairman. Among the speakers was Al Benson, former Milwaukee sherif. Here, as at the city hall, Mayor Swoboda received an ovation.

A resolution adopted at the meeting charged that "mob violence" had been advocated at the business men's demonstration, declared that the statements had "brought disgrace upon this city," and asked the mayor, the city council, and the law enforcement agencies to "put an end to this threatened reign of organized lawlessness." The resolution will be brought formally before the board of aldermen.

Former Laundry Manager Ends His Life by Poison

Arthur W. Westergren, 48 years old, 1041 Elm street, Winnetka, died in the Evanston hospital early today of poison he drank at his home. Westergren was formerly manager of a laundry and his wife told the police he has been despondent since he lost the place. Mrs. Westergren said she made an unsuccessful attempt to prevent him taking the poison.

Milwaukee Leaders Study Evanston Car Test Plan

Twenty-five members of the Milwaukee safety commission journeyed to Evanston yesterday to examine the city automobile trafic station. Every Evanston motorist is required by ordinance to have his car tested twice yearly. The Milwaukeeans were guests of Chief of Police William O. Freeman and Lieut. Frank Kreml.

SCIENCE STRIVES FOR UTOPIA WHEN ALL ARE HEALTHY

Infant Hormone Surveys Believed Answer.

New York, April 27.—[U. P.]—The day when the physician will insure each of us a life of health through a "Hormone survey" in infancy is approaching as a result of the new union between chemistry and medicine.

Diseases of the heart and other vital organs, maladies of the nervous system, and derangements of the ductless glands, may be anticipated and prevented in the future just as public health measures now anticipate and prevent the contagious diseases of childhood.

When the day comes, the skill of the surgeon will be required chiefly for the treatment of wounds and broken bones.

List Medicine's Aims.

The general trend of medicinal chemistry and endocrine therapy is pointing the way toward the health utopia. They have these aims:

1. The discovery of all hormones and other complex chemical substances in the blood stream.
2. The determination of the exact chemical composition of each.
3. Demonstration of the exact function of each.
4. Synthetic or artificial manufacture of each in the laboratory so that deficiencies in the individual may be corrected.

How the union of chemistry and medicine is pointing the way to better health and longer life was made increasingly plain at three important scientific conventions during the past three weeks—the Federation of American Societies for Experimental Biology at Detroit, the American Philosophical society at Philadelphia, and the American Chemical society at New York.

Important researches disclosed at these meetings served to emphasize that the hormones, exceedingly complex chemical substances, manufactured by the ductless glands of the body, maintain its physical and mental health and control its susceptibility to disease and functional disorder.

See Complete Surveys Soon.

The time is probably not far distant when the physician will be in a position to make a complete survey of the hormone balance of the infant. He will check the functioning of the ductless glands and tabulate the percentage of each hormone present.

Is there too much of one of the pituitary hormones? Too little of an adrenal hormone? Too much thyxroxin or not enough insulin? The balance will be adjusted in infancy instead of waiting until diabetes or goiter or some other disorder makes its appearance.

As yet the physician does not have such exact knowledge. It is certain that all of the hormones are not even known. But progress is being made.

X-Ray Safety Valve Shown.

Washington, D. C., April 27.—(AP)—A safety valve for X-ray machines to prevent over-dose of the ray when used for treatment was described today to the American Physical society.

The device is a revolving cylinder attached to X-ray and ultraviolet radiation machines acting in such a way that the frequency of its revolutions governs the dose of rays to be given the patient. It has been developed by Dr. G. Failla of memorial hospital, New York.

Dr. Failla described it as working much like a man bailing out a leaking boat to make sure that the water did not rise above a certain level. The device keeps the X-ray dosage at the right level, "bailing out" some if there is too much, and ceasing to "bail" when more is needed.

Device Tabulates Affected Atoms.

Related to the same problem of treatment by radiation was development of a device to show how many atoms in the body would be affected by X-rays. These were described by Lauriston S. Taylor, who coöperated with F. L. Mohler in its development. Both are on the staff of the national bureau of standards.

With this device scientists can measure the effect that X-rays and radium rays would have after penetrating deep into body tissue, as accurately as though the measuring device were put inside the patient's body.

Mrs. Augusta Glendinning Funeral Here Tomorrow

Funeral services for Mrs. Augusta Glendinning, who died Friday at her home in St. Petersburg, Fla., will be held tomorrow afternoon at the chapel at 1820 South Michigan avenue with interment in Rosehill. Mrs. Glendinning was the widow of Robert Glendinning, former president of the Patent Vulcanite Roofing company, who died in 1920 leaving an estate of $2,440,200. Mrs. Glendinning moved to Florida in 1926. She is survived by three sons, Robert W., Sidney R., and Arthur S. Glendinning, and two daughters, Miss Augusta Glendinning and Mrs. Roberta French.

Mrs. Anna Groner Dies; Active in Charity Work

Mrs. Anna Groner, 70 years old, died yesterday at her home, 4935 North Washtenaw avenue, following a stroke. She was the widow of Isaac Groner, a resident of the northwest side for 30 years. Mrs. Groner was active in charity works and was a member of a number of Jewish organizations. She is survived by six sons and two daughters. Funeral services will be held at the chapel at 2235 Division street at 2 p. m. tomorrow.

LOUIS HAMMERLING, WARTIME QUIZ FIGURE, IS KILLED IN PLUNGE

New York, April 27.—[Special.]—Louis N. Hammerling, 55, editor, once a confidant of President Theodore Roosevelt and a former senator and league of nations representative of his native Poland, fell to his death today from a window of his fifteenth-story Manhattan apartment.

Detectives were confident his death was not suicidal, as they learned he had made plans for the week-end and a dental appointment for later today. He had been suffering from heart disease.

He was a retired advertising man, and the organizer of the American Association of Foreign Language Newspapers.

Mr. Hammerling was the object of bitter attacks as a pro-German in the world war. In 1918 he was questioned by a congressional committee concerning charges that he had spent large sums of money for pro-German publicity and to stir up trouble among munitions workers. In 1915 he spent more than $100,000 for an advertisment urging that the United States stop manufacturing munitions during the war.

Several years after the war his American citizenship was canceled. It had been charged that he had sworn in his application for citizenship that he was a native of Hawaii, when in fact he was born in Poland.

In 1929 he returned to this country and took out new citizenship papers.

$600,000 ESTATE TRUSTEE UNDER FIRE OF STATE

Charges that William George, former Aurora banker, "grossly mismanaged" the estate of the late Mrs. Fannie Bishop Henderson and illegally paid himself some $16,574 in fees, were made in a bill filed yesterday in Kane county Probate court.

The bill was filed by Assistant Attorneys General Clarence Ruddy and William Clausen as a preliminary step, they said, toward demanding the removal of George as trustee and executor of the estate.

Mrs. Henderson died in 1931 leaving the bulk of her $600,000 estate to the founding of an old people's home. Last February the attorneys general demanded an accounting from Mr. George, which was filed on April 10. It showed that real estate assets increased from $308,798 to $369,261, the cash assets had declined from $97,089 to $3,900. The bill, filed yesterday, charged George had made investments totaling $99,000 which "no prudent man would make with his own money."

W. H. Thomas, Ex-Senate Building Custodian, Dies

Springfield, Mass., April 27.—(AP)—William H. Thomas, 82, who retired six years ago after serving for 20 years as custodian of the senate office building at Washington, D. C., died here tonight at the home of his daughter. Mr. Thomas' death came three weeks to the hour after that of his wife, Carrie.

END THREE DAY LOURDES PEACE PRAYERS TODAY

Pope to Close Triduum from Vatican.

LOURDES, France, April 27.—(AP)—A German Benedictine, Dr. Hermann Bouvier, led thousands of pilgrims in prayers for peace today as the Catholic church's great triduum neared its end.

The 72 hours of uninterrupted supplications, marking the conclusion of the church's two year "jubilee of the redemption," will end at 4 p. m. tomorrow.

Cardinal Pacelli, papal secretary of state and legate, will celebrate the final high mass and shortly afterward the pontiff's own voice will be heard as he sends his benediction by radio from the vatican.

200,000 Make Pilgrimage.

Already 200,000 of the faithful have made the pilgrimage to Lourdes for the triduum. Arrivals tomorrow will swell the throng.

More than 100,000 will be accommodated near the grotto shrine, where St. Bernadette reported an apparition of the Virgin in 1858. Many will hear the closing mass from loud speakers in the village streets.

Crowds attending the masses today were made up largely of young women, to whom the day was especially consecrated.

Sunshine bathed the shrine as archbishops, bishops, and priests, assembled from far parts of the earth, succeeded one another in saying mass. In all, 140 masses will have been said when the triduum ends.

Pope Sends Good Wishes.

VATICAN CITY, April 27.—(AP)—Pope Pius reiterated today his devout hope that prayers offered by pilgrims at Lourdes will be "of good service for world peace."

The holy father directed that a telegram be sent to Cardinal Pacelli, secretary of state for the Vatican, expressing his good wishes and his belief that the celebration was being held under happy auspices.

'PADDY' SHORTIS, BANJO PLAYER TO ROYALTY, DIES

HALIFAX, N. S., April 27.—(AP)—P. C. [Paddy] Shortis, native of Halifax who played his banjo for royalty and celebrated personages all over the world, died early today after four years of illness. He was 81 years old. He played the piano, violin, and banjo by "ear."

After an exhibition at the Bryant Minstrel house in Chicago, Shortis joined the famous troupe of Luke Scollgraft and George Coes. In England he performed before the late King Edward VII., then prince of Wales, and was commanded to play for Queen Victoria. From Great Britain he traveled to Germany, Russia, China, Austria and Spain. He played before Czar Nicholas and the czarina.

A performance in New York won him the title of "Father of Ragtime." He was also entitled to use a crest as banjoist to the court of England.

HORACE E. BOUCHER, NOTED DESIGNER OF SHIP MODELS, IS DEAD

New York, April 27.—[Special.]—Horace Edward Boucher, 62, naval architect, and designer of thousands of ship models, died of a heart attack early today at his home here.

Models of racing yachts, including the international cup defenders and challengers, steamships and warships, were constructed by Mr. Boucher.

For many years Mr. Boucher constructed models of ships of the United States navy. He also built models of ocean liners, historical sailing ships, factories, bridges and buildings. Many of them are in private collections and in the model room of the New York Yacht club.

Mr. Boucher was president of the H. E. Boucher Manufacturing company and vice president of Boucher Playthings Manufacturing corporation.

DR. W. H. GILMORE DIES; LEADER IN STATE MEDICINE

Dr. Wilbur H. Gilmore, a member of the state medical examining board for the last 12 years and a specialist in Roentgenology, died of a heart attack yesterday in his home at 5510 Kenmore avenue. He was 55 years old and had been suffering from a heart ailment for the last two years.

Dr. Gilmore was the attending Roentgenologist at the Illinois Masonic hospital and the Illinois Eye and Ear Infirmary. The earlier years of his practice were spent in Mt. Vernon and Benton. He moved to Chicago in 1928. From 1913 until 1922 he was secretary of the Illinois State Medical Society. During the war he served as a captain in the medical corps, spending seven months overseas.

He was a member of the American Medical association, the Illinois State Medical society, Chicago Medical society, and a charter member of the Radiological Society of North America. He also belonged to the Chicago Medical Round Table and was a charter member in the Mt. Vernon chapter of the American Legion.

Surviving are the widow, Mrs. Beatrice H. Gilmore and three children, Dr. John H. William Robert, and Harriet. Funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at the family home.

Sickness and Accident Policy Pays $25 Weekly Benefits

Premium Only $10 a Year, Payable $2.50 Down, Balance on Monthly Payments.

NEWARK, N. J.—The North American Accident Insurance Co. has recently announced that their famous $10 a year Premier Policy can now be secured with a down payment of only $2.50—balance on monthly payments. This unique policy covers both sickness and accidents.

The total cost of the policy is only $10 a year. Men and women between the ages of 16 and 69 are eligible. No medical examination is required. The sum of $10,000.00 is paid for stated accidental death, $10,000.00 for loss of hands, feet or eyesight, and $25.00 Weekly Benefit for stated accidents and sickness. Doctors' bills, hospital benefits, emergency benefit and other liberal features help in time of need. They are all clearly shown in the policy.

This is a simple and understandable policy, without complicated or misleading clauses. You know exactly what every word means—and every word means exactly what it says. Thousands of men and women have already taken advantage of this inexpensive insurance protection—thousands more will now be able to protect themselves with this special part payment plan.

No one should neglect protection for themselves and their families. The newspapers are filled with hundreds of accounts of sudden tragedies and misfortune. Floods, fires, epidemics and violent storms take a startling toll of human life and limb. Trains and automobiles are growing more dangerous every day. Automobile accidents, particularly, are growing more frequent every month. It is unwise to gamble with fate when the next moment may bring disaster.

The protection afforded you by this straightforward policy is backed by the huge resources of the North American Accident Insurance Company, the largest and oldest exclusive Health and Accident Insurance Company in America. The company has paid out over $20,000,000 in claims. It is under the direct supervision of 46 State Insurance Departments.

Men and women who are interested in this form of protection are urged to write a letter or postcard for an unusual illustrated Booklet entitled "Cash or Sympathy" sent absolutely free. Write to North American Accident Insurance Company, 712 Title Building, Newark, N. J.

SHERIF FIRES KIN IN KANE COUNTY EXPOSE OF GRAFT

2 Deputies Accused of Resort Shakedown.

Judge Frank W. Shepherd of the Kane county Circuit court, at the request of State's Attorney George D. Carbary, yesterday ordered the Kane county grand jury to convene in special session next Thursday to investigate reports of graft by deputies on the force of Sherif Albert J. Kampmeyer.

The sherif announced last night that as a result of disclosures made to him by State's Attorney Carbary and Dr. H. H. Pillinger of Elgin, he had dismissed two of his deputies. They are his brother, Irving Kampmeyer, who has been night jailer at the Kane county jail, and Henry Prehn, the sherif's son-in-law.

Wrests Star From Deputy.

How Mr. Carbary, after trapping the sherif's relatives as they were interviewing one of their alleged victims and obtaining a written report of the conversation, personally wrested away Deputy Kampmeyer's pistol and star of office, was related last night by Dr. Pillinger. The physician, interested in Kane county civic affairs, was Sherif Kampmeyer's campaign manager a year ago, when he was elected.

"I first learned from Mr. Carbary that two deputies were suspected of shaking down roadhouse keepers," said Dr. Pillinger, "and agreed to help him investigate, because I was sure there was no truth in the reports. That's what I expected to prove, but didn't."

According to the doctor, the first charge was made by William Olinger, owner of a roadhouse, the Club Royale, near Aurora, who said that Irving Kampmeyer and Prehn had demanded $100 a week for "protecting" him, and insisted that he pay $400 in advance.

Hide in the Home.

Olinger arranged to have the men call at his home last Sunday. Mr. Carbary and Dr. Pillinger, with a court stenographer, secreted themselves in the home and, from behind a screen, listened to the men talk to Olinger. They had previously given Olinger marked bills to hand over to the alleged shakers down.

"As they left the house after making the deal," said Dr. Pillinger, "we ran out after them. I held Prehn. Mr. Carbary, who had his own pistol drawn, disarmed Deputy Kampmeyer after a short struggle, and took his star. He also found the marked bills in his pocket. Deputy Kampmeyer said: 'Let's forget about it,' and drove away in his car after the state's attorney let him have his ignition keys."

The sherif, who had promised reforms in the Kane county administration, said that he was ignorant of any wrongdoing by any of his subordinates. His brother, he added, has gone to Iowa "to take a job."

CRIMINAL COURT GEARED UP FOR FASTER JUSTICE

Old Cases to Be Cleared Off the Dockets.

BY GEORGE WRIGHT.

Speedy trial of all criminal cases will be a certainty by July 1, it was announced yesterday by Chief Justice Denis E. Sullivan of the Criminal court as he reviewed with State's Attorney Courtney the transformation in the court during the last three years. At present the chief justice and the prosecutor have so speeded up the machinery that statistics show that 53 per cent of all cases are being disposed of within 30 days of indictment.

The Criminal court dockets have been thoroughly gone over in the last week and plans have been made for the speedy disposition of all cases which are more than 60 days old. These cases will be split up among the judges with instructions that they be disposed of as soon as possible so that the court can be brought down to current business.

68 Old Cases Come First.

Chief Justice Sullivan will first direct his drive against 68 old cases which originated before Jan. 1. Of this group about 24 cases are considered dead because of reindictments or because of adverse decisions by the Illinois Supreme court.

Also among the 68 are ten arson cases which cannot be tried because Harry Brown, public insurance adjuster, one of the defendants, has so far eluded police search. Several other cases, including the bucket shop case, which has been tried several times with jury disagreements, probably will be stricken from the docket because of the slim chances of conviction.

When this first group of cases is cleared away the judges will start an assault on the 140 cases pending since Jan. 1 and up to April 1. Such cases are now considered in the Criminal court to "have whiskers" and to be subject to quick disposition. Some of these cases have already been tried, but not finally disposed of because of new trial motions or applications for probation.

Chief Justice Tells Hope.

"It is my hope to have the Criminal court dockets in such shape that no case is older than 30 days," said Chief Justice Sullivan.

"We have been making great progress during the last few years, but I am not yet satisfied. The records show that speedy trials make for a better and more certain administration of justice.

"Repeated continuances weary witnesses and make them unwilling to go to court and help the prosecution. Many of them even forget the testimony they are to give when a case is allowed to linger too long. It is my intention, with the coöperation of Prosecutor Courtney, to amputate all the old cases from the docket and start on a current business basis."

Statistics Show Progress.

A statistical table prepared by First Assistant State's Attorney Wilbert F. Crowley shows the steady progress in speedy justice since the war against crime was started three years ago, after the killing of a policeman by a gunman in a Criminal courtroom.

In 1933, the records show, 31 per cent of the cases were tried within 30 days; in 1934 the percentage increased to 45, and during January and February of this year it jumped to 53. No comparable statistics are available for previous years, but a veteran Criminal court attaché pointed out that in those days no cases were tried until they were at least 30 days old.

For the first time in the history of the Criminal court a grand jury was discharged last week for lack of work. This is due to a new system under which the grand jury acts on all new cases as soon as they are disposed of in the Felony court.

A Barometer of Conditions.

A barometer of Crimnal court conditions and the transformation in recent years is shown by the following tabulation of cases that were pending on April 1 of each year since 1930:

Date—	Cases pending.
April 1, 1930	958
April 1, 1931	951
April 1, 1932	901
April 1, 1933	1,034
April 1, 1934	710
April 1, 1935	366

The number of cases pending at the close of court last Friday night was down to 304, and by the start of the next court term on May 6 it is expected to sink well below the 300 mark. The docket in the history of the court has never been in such good condition. It places the judges in a position to administer speedy justice with a minimum of inconvenience to witnesses.

The effect of the quick disposition of cases is shown by another statistical table, prepared by Assistant State's Attorney Charles S. Dougherty.

Mr. Dougherty's table shows the number of defendants sentenced to the penitentiary, the Bridewell, and the county jail, and the percentage of convictions in the Criminal court for the first three months of years from 1924 to 1935. The first three months are used as a basis for comparison, since they are usually the busiest in the court's year. The table:

Year	Penitentiary.	Bridewell.	Jail.	Percentage convictions.
1924	188	140	23	80
1928	186	245	53	76
1930	312	112	59	83
1932	187	201	18	82
1934	583	87	21	76
1935	448	77	14	85

The above table, State's Attorney Courtney said, indicates by the greater number of Bridewell and jail sentences in earlier years that bargaining with criminals was a common practice. Almost every sentence to either institution indicates a waiver of the felony charge in exchange for a guilty plea.

POLICE PURSUE AND CAPTURE GIANT CAR THIEF

AUTOMOBILE THEFTS.
Automobiles stolen, 22; recovered, 23; stripped, 5 [from police records for the 24 hours ending at midnight Friday].

Two young automobile thieves, one of them 6 feet 7 inches tall, were captured by Chicago Lawn police yesterday. The machine in which they were fleeing, despite police fire, crashed into a newsstand. The prisoners are Thomas Oman, 20 years old, the tall robber, 8853 South Wabash avenue, and William Reynolds, 19 years old, who said he came from South Bend.

The youths fled west in the stolen cars when Detectives John Graham and Joseph Grotta tried to question them at 62d street and Kildare avenue. The policemen pursued in their automobile and fired a number of shots in the air.

At 55th street and Crawford avenue the fugitive car tried to turn the corner, careened over the curb, and crashed against a newsstand. The two occupants fled on foot, but were captured. The machine in which they rode was stolen on April 20 from Leroy Crawford, 1809 North Park avenue. Oman served one term in Pontiac reformatory for burglary, and was paroled in March, 1934.

DIES UNDER TRAIN WHEELS.

The body of Charles Balchunas, 47 years old, 5504 West 65th street, Clearing, was found yesterday morning on the tracks of the Alton railroad in Summit. It was believed he fell beneath the wheels while hitching a ride.

KILLING LEADS TO SOLUTION OF $129,000 THEFT

Seventeen Arrested for Mail Robbery.

Providence, R. I., April 27.—(AP)—Postal inspectors announced today the solution of the $129,000 mail truck robbery at Fall River, Mass., last Jan. 23.

They said all the robbers are known to them, that their hideaway has been found, and that about $8,000 of the stolen money has been recovered.

Charges have been made naming four men. Authorities say they know the identity of others, but are withholding their names until arrests are made. Seventeen persons have been arrested.

Solution Follows Slaying.

The solution came less than 36 hours after the slaying of Andrew Merola, "number pool" operator, car thief, and gangster.

The federal men had laid plans for wholesale raids to clean up the Fall River robbery when word reached them of Merola's murder. The killing of one of their chief suspects spurred them into action, and late last night they began a series of forays which included a descent on the Warwick estate, where the arsenal of guns was uncovered and part of the cash recovered.

Declare They Have Proof.

The federal men said they are prepared to prove that the four men named and other persons were in the conspiracy. They are prepared to prove, they said, that Joseph Fisher and Merola actually were in the holdup, and that Carl Rettich cruised about supervising the robbery and aiding in the getaway.

They are confident they will pick up Rettich and several out of state men soon.

ARREST OHIOAN ON STOCK SWAP SWINDLE CHARGE

Lansing, Mich., April 27.—[Special.]—Frank B. Scholl, 50, Cleveland, O., was in the city jail here today pending investigation throughout the state of charges that he has swindled Michigan residents of more than $100,000 through operation of a securities "swapping" confidence game.

Scholl, who is said to have operated under a dozen or more aliases and has been the object of a state police search for four years, was arrested Thursday in Toledo, O., according to Van A. Loomis, deputy chief of the state police detective force.

State police said Scholl made a specialty of trading worthless or nearly worthless stocks and bonds for high grade securities.

Scholl is to be charged specifically with having swindled Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Murphy of Big Rapids, Mich., out of $3,000 stock.

NEW DODGE DOUBLES ITS CHICAGO LEAD
MARCH INCREASE GREATER THAN JANUARY AND FEBRUARY LEAD COMBINED
Outselling All But 3 Lowest Priced Cars in Cook County and America
New, Bigger Dodge Costs Less to Run Than Small Cars, Say Thousands of Enthusiastic Owners.
By a bigger margin than ever Dodge maintains its position of leadership in the automobile industry—outselling all cars but the lowest priced three
The swing to Dodge is more pronounced than ever. Month after month Dodge increases its amazing lead—actually for the single month of March the Dodge lead over its nearest competitor was greater than for the combined months of January and February. This tremendous swing to Dodge is further proof that Dodge offers more dollar-for-dollar value in appearance, in performance, in economy, in safety. During Spring "Open-House" accept your Dodge Dealer's cordial invitation to come in, to see, to ride in, to drive, the New-Value Dodge, Smart as Tomorrow.
A feature of the Spring "Open-House" is an invitation to car drivers to test the amazing mileage performance of the New-Value Dodge. Everywhere owners are reporting 23 miles or more miles on a gallon of gas. Dodge Dealers are now providing a visible gas tank so that owners can see exactly how much mileage they are getting on their speedometers. Every motorist in Chicagoland is invited to make this free test.
DODGE CONTINUES ONWARD MARCH IN COOK COUNTY IN 1935
New Car Sales as Reported by R. L. POLK & CO.
	January and February totals.	March totals.
First, Dodge	1,068	879
Second, Car A	876	679
Third, Car B	685	654
Fourth, Car C	540	279
January and February combined in Cook County gave Dodge a lead of 192 units — Dodge Registrations in March exceeded their nearest competitor by 200 units.

FIREMAN KNOCKS OUT THUG; GETS TRIBUNE AWARD

Fireman Peter W. Sperling of engine company 25 saw three bandits attack and beat a victim across the street from his engine house, 1975 Canalport avenue. He dashed across the street, setting up a clamor to frighten the thugs, knocked out and captured one of them, caused the arrest of the other two, and solved a murder mystery and ended a series of robberies.

For his daring and quick action in an emergency Fireman Sperling has been awarded THE TRIBUNE hero prize of $100 for March.

The attempted robbery took place on the night of March 1. Sperling was attracted by cries across the street as he was standing at the door of the engine house. There was little time to summon aid, and he rushed across the street without giving consideration to the number of the robbers or the fact that they might be armed.

Frightened by Sperling's shouts, the robbers fled, two going east on Canalport, and the third fleeing west. Sperling pursued the first two, saw them gain, and then turned and chased the third.

Knocks Out Robber.

Sperling neared the robber as the fellow was reaching toward a pocket, apparently to draw a gun. The fireman knocked him out, although the fellow later measured well over 6 feet and Sperling is less than 5 feet 10. He dragged the robber across the street and summoned the Maxwell street police.

The robber, Peter Simkus, confessed complicity in the murder of Mrs. Marie Schmidt, 7745 South Halsted street, on the night of Jan. 31 and named as his companions in that crime and in the robbery halted by Sperling, Raymond Halverson, 727 West 21st street, and Joseph Zvervlas, 2018 Canalport avenue.

The two men were arrested, found to have pistols, and they were later convicted of the murder of Mrs. Schmidt and confessed participation in a series of ten robberies.

Zvervlas was given 99 years in the penitentiary, Simkus 80 years, and Halverson 14 years.

Fireman Sperling is 37 years old, lives at 2032 South Union avenue, and is married. He has been in the fire department six years and was previously a steamfitter.

Shows Unusual Nerve.

In recommending Fireman Sperling for THE TRIBUNE award, Thomas Geary, chief of the 8th battalion, said: "It is my firm belief that he displayed unusual nerve, inasmuch as he did not stop to find out whether any or all of the three holdup men were armed, but, wholly disregarding this, he went to the assistance of a victim and captured one of the robbers, who resisted to such an extent he had to be knocked out.

"Fireman Sperling has proved that he is possessed of material that makes the Chicago fire department outstanding in the service it renders to the city of Chicago."

HERO

JURY FREES HEAD OF VETS' RELIEF; FINDS AID GUILTY

William A. Schlupp, county supervisor of war veterans' relief, was found not guilty yesterday of defrauding the relief organization, while his co-defendant and assistant in the relief office, Paul Gutzmer, was found guilty by the same jury. Judge John C. Lewe of the Criminal court set May 10 to hear a motion for a new trial for Gutzmer.

The verdict was reached by the jury after deliberating four hours Friday night, but it was ordered sealed and read in court yesterday. Gutzmer faces a fine of $1,000 and one year in jail.

Schlupp did not deny the state's charge that he had sent groceries and coal to a man in payment for some work done on his home at 615 North Mead avenue, but proved he had purchased the food himself and that the coal had been donated by a friend. Gutzmer, it was shown, had taken an order from a department store on the pretext that the relief beneficiary was ill, but the evidence showed the relief client did not exist.

WOMAN LAWYER BEGS TOMORROW FOR M'GEE'S LIFE

Jefferson City, Mo., April 27.—(AP)—Gov. Guy B. Park was notified today by Miss Lillie Knight, attorney for Walter H. McGee, under sentence to be hanged May 10, that she would be here Monday to plead personally for commutation of his death sentence for the kidnaping of Miss Mary McElroy.

Miss McElroy, 26, daughter of the city manager of Kansas City, made a plea for McGee's life before the governor yesterday.

The governor said he had made no decision in the case of the first man sentenced to death in the United States for kidnaping and would not have an announcement for "some time."

Miss Knight made arrangements for her conference by telephone. Miss McElroy motored to the capital with her father, H. F. McElroy.

Charge Youth with Slaying War Vet with Fist Blow

Lawrenceville, Ill., April 27.—[U. P.]—Raymond O'Brien, 22, was lodged in jail here today charged with slaying John McCoy, 48, world war veteran of Vincennes, Ind., with a blow of his fist at Westport, near Lincoln Memorial bridge, last night. The alleged blow was said to have been dealt McCoy by O'Brien while taking McCoy home.

HOLD UP TWO TEA STORES.

Two robbers obtained $50 from Morton Stiles, manager of a National Tea company store at 3658 North Sacramento avenue yesterday morning, and a short while later forced Carl Wernquist, manager of another of the company's stores at 5828 Irving Park boulevard, to give them $34.

LIQUOR LICENSE DRIVE ENDS FOR LACK OF FUNDS

Fines of $67,000 Paid by the Offenders.

Described as the most thorough inspection ever made here of taverns and other liquor dispensaries, the joint license drive by the federal government and the city has ended for the lack of funds.

Capt. William J. O'Brien, in charge of the general license investigation bureau, said yesterday he had been advised by E. C. Yellowley, head of the federal alcohol tax unit, to withdraw the special detail of fifty policemen who were assigned to accompany Yellowley's corps of fifty special agents, drawn from the relief rolls, in a city wide inspection.

Yellowley informed him, Capt. O'Brien said, that the appropriation for the special agents, who were paid $4 a day, had been exhausted. Capt. O'Brien said he hoped additional funds could be found to carry on the work which is incomplete.

8,795 Inspections Made.

Between Feb. 27, when the drive started, and last Friday, 8,795 inspections were made, Capt. O'Brien said. Of this number 6,691 were found to be operating with all necessary licenses. Approximately 5,550 of the 8,661 taverns in the city were visited. The other inspections included restaurants, drug, grocery, and cigar stores.

The following violations were found, according to the police captain:

No city retail license	270
No state license	725
No stamp on bottles	320
No food dispensary license	841
No amusement license	167
No cigaret or tobacco license	318

Fines totaling more than $60,000 were paid to the government. The state received $1,475, and the city between $6,000 and $7,000. More than 30,000 cases of bootleg liquor sold from bottles bearing no revenue stamps were found and confiscated.

Calls Inspections Rigid.

"Our inspectors really went through the taverns," said Capt. O'Brien. "They looked into everything, and whenever a violation was found they levied fines.

"By having policemen and federal agents making the inspection at the same time there was no chance of laxity. The tavern owners soon realized we meant business. Those who were operating legitimately were glad that the law was being enforced rigidly, and the others soon found they'd better go along."

$14,425 WINS CONCESSIONS IN FOREST TRACT

County commissioners, sitting as the forest preserve board, yesterday awarded the contract for operating during the summer the 53 concession stands in the preserve to Gerald F. Murray, 1623 Belmont avenue, former world's fair concessionaire. Murray submitted the high bid of $14,425 for the privilege of operating the concessions. The only other bid received was that of Silvio Ferretti of Oak Park, who has managed the concessions for the last 11 years. He tendered a bid of $5,000.

Commissioner Elizabeth Conkey, pointing to the fact that Murray's bid was considerably higher than the other, asked Murray whether he intended to instal any gambling devices.

"I have no intention of permitting any gambling or serving any alcoholic beverages," he replied. Sale of liquor is barred in the preserve districts.

Polish Banker-Statesman Arrives for a Week's Visit

Dr. Henryk Gruber, Polish banker and statesman, arrived in Chicago yesterday on the Michigan Central railroad for a week's stay. Dr. Gruber, who is president of the Polish Postoffice Savings bank and former director of the state office for control of social insurance in his country, is making a tour of American cities. He will give several talks while here and will be fêted by local financial leaders and Polish-American organizations.

Team Runs Through Door; Circus Wagon Driver Dies

Rochester, Ind., April 27.—[Special.]—William Sawmiller, 62, wagon driver employed by the Cole Brothers and Clyde Beatty circus, was killed here today when he was crushed beneath a steel door beam. He had started out of the paint shop of the circus with a new wagon when his team lunged, crushing him under the steel beam. The team ran away with Sawmiller's lifeless body still on top of the vehicle and came to a stop when the wagon struck a telephone pole.

Gang Forces 20 Ball Fans to Lie Down; Finds No Loot

Three robbers entered the Kuecks' drug store, 1742 Wilson avenue, yesterday while twenty persons were listening to the broadcast of the White Sox baseball game. They found the owner had just made a bank deposit, and had no money left. After forcing the patrons and clerks to lie on the floor, the robbers fled in a taxicab.

Survey Shows Fifty-Four Bond Issues Reorganized During March

REALTY VALUE RISE AIDS WORK, SAYS ROSSETTER

Securities Refinanced Are Held by 30,654.

BY AL CHASE.
[Real Estate Editor.]

Difficulties were ironed out through the reorganization of forty-seven real estate bond issues in the Chicago area and seven outside the metropolitan district, during March, according to George W. Rossetter of George Rossetter & Co., certified public accountants, who yesterday made public a survey of the work of thirteen bondholders' committees. These bond reorganizations proposed, approved, and in some cases put into effect during the last month, totaled $26,537,000.

This great volume of reorganizations is a result of the steady rise in real estate income and values, which has made refinancing money again plentiful, Rossetter pointed out.

Breaks Monthly Record.

"These securities were held by approximately 30,654 bondholders and secured by fifty-four buildings," said Rossetter. "This is the largest number of properties on which reorganization reports have come to my attention during any single month.

"In addition to the usual run of high grade furnished and unfurnished apartments, hotels, and business blocks, the bondholders found their difficulties worked out on three large office buildings, two well known theaters, a warehouse, ballroom, automobile showroom, and a large downtown club.

"Forty-seven of the properties are in Chicago and suburbs. On seven others, outside the immediate Chicago district, a large percentage of the bonds were held by Chicago investors.

Become Equity Owners.

"On most of the buildings the bondholders are becoming equity owners. Thus they will be in a position to benefit from the rise in real estate values which already has begun.

"While thirty-eight of these buildings were reorganized without recourse to 77B of the revised federal bankruptcy act, sixteen of the largest ones were put through the federal court. The result is that plans involving $15,699,000 of bonds, averaging almost $1,000,000 per issue, were put out under 77B.

"Among the buildings reorganized under 77B are the seventeen story skyscraper at 16-30 West Washington street and the twelve story Adams and Franklin building at 300 West Adams street. A third is the nine story Carlson building at Church and Orrington, Evanston.

Business Blocks Refinanced.

"Two well known business blocks containing stores, offices, and theaters, and in one case a ballroom, are the South Central Commercial building at 47th and South Park way and the Clark and Diversey building at the northwest corner of North Clark street and Diversey parkway.

"The Sheridan-Melrose apartments, 3240 Sheridan road; the 5050 Sheridan Road apartments, and the Waveland apartments, 626 Waveland avenue, are the largest residential buildings reorganized during March.

"The Standard club, in the loop, and the commercial building at 862-72 East 63d street are two other well-known structures reorganized under 77B.

Now Owned by Bondholders.

"In Evanston the Evanbrook Manor, 2535 Prairie, and the Stewart apartments on Chicago avenue near Dempster, are to become the property of the bondholders."

The committees whose reorganizations were included in the Rossetter review are those handling securities underwritten by S. W. Straus & Co., Chicago Trust company, Foreman State, Holzer, Lackner Butz, Greenebaum, Capitol Mortgage, Peoples Securities ,and Lincoln Trust and Savings bank.

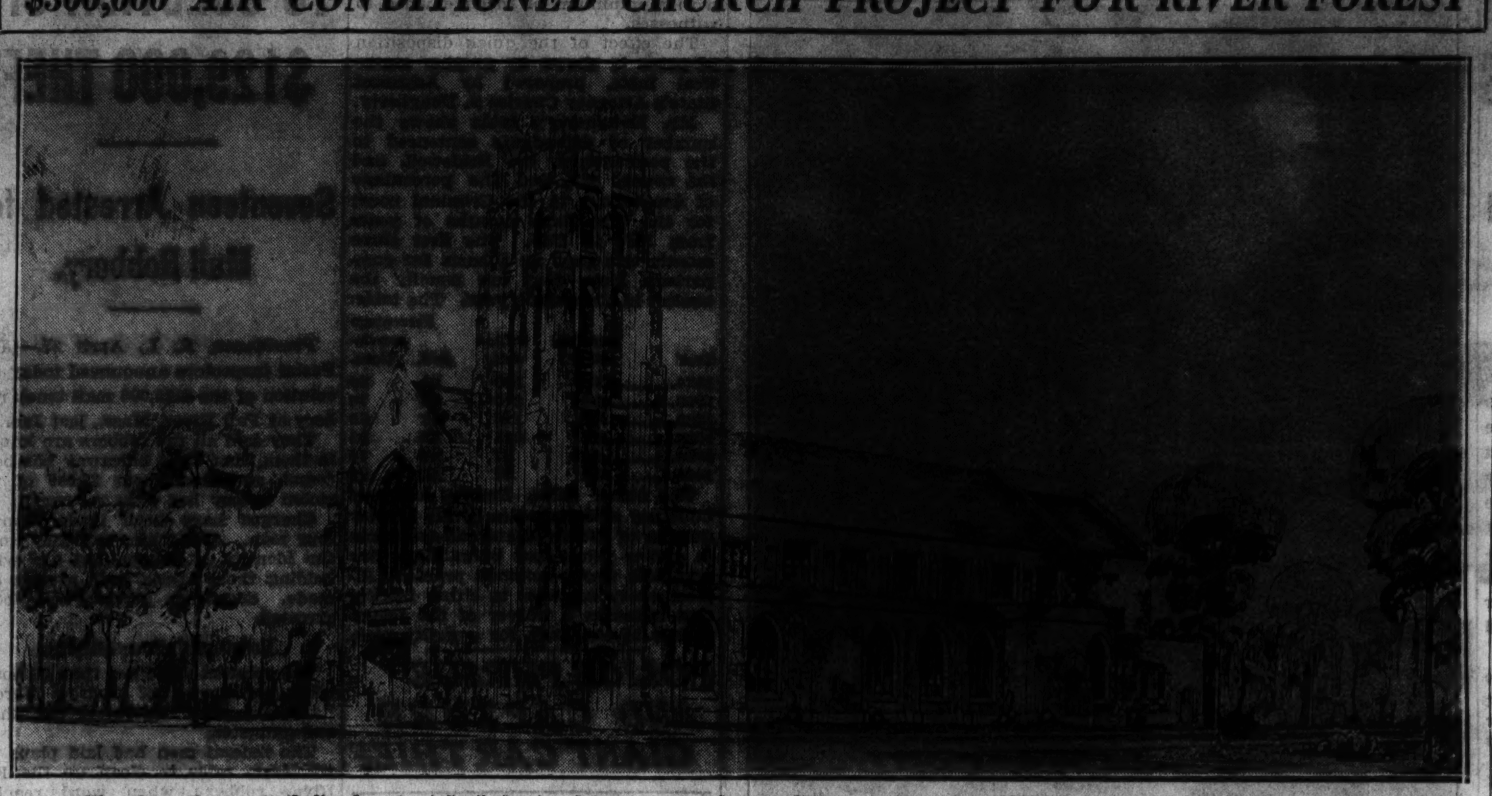
Truck Company Leases One Story Unit for Terminal

The Rowald Motor Transport company, operating between Chicago, Wisconsin and Iowa points, has leased the one story building, containing 10,000 square feet, at 1006 West 21st street, from M. B. Mervis and Norman P. Bremner for a term of years for use as its Chicago offices and terminal.

Wisconsin Lumber Firm Opens Office in Chicago

The John S. Owen Lumber company of Owen, Wis., which owns many thousands of acres of cutover timber lands in the Badger state, has leased an office at 203 South Dearborn and established an agent there for the sale of its Wisconsin properties.

$300,000 AIR CONDITIONED CHURCH PROJECT FOR RIVER FOREST



The above Roman Catholic church of St. Luke, involving a reported expenditure of more than $300,000 in land, building, and furnishings, and designed by McCarthy, Smith & Eppig of Chicago, will be erected at the northwest corner of Lake street and Lathrop avenue in River Forest. According to the Rev. Thomas A. Canty, pastor, it will be completed for Easter, 1936, services. Work will start June 1, he said. The parish is one of the oldest in the Chicago area, having been founded in 1865 by the Rev. Thomas Burke of St. Columbkille's, Chicago. The original mission church was replaced in 1887 by the present edifice, of which Father Canty has been pastor since 1924. The new church, of Tudor Gothic design, will have exterior walls of variegated stone with trim of Bedford stone. It will have a ninety foot tower and will seat 800. Air conditioning and acoustical treatment are contemplated.

Jacques Leases Restaurant Space at 900 N. Michigan

Jacques Fumagali, who has operated "Jacques French restaurant" at 180 East Delaware place for the last seven years, has leased the space in the 900 Michigan Avenue building occupied by the "900 restaurant," as well as an adjoining area. The new lessee will operate his café on a small scale during an elaborate modernization and air conditioning program involving a reported $20,000, from plans by Architect Norman M. Yeretsky. A formal opening is scheduled for the first week in June.

JACQUES FUMAGALI

Jacques, who is a well known figure in Streeterville, is the son of a restaurateur in Monte Carlo. He has been maitre de hotel in famous hostelries in several world metropolitan centers.

At his new location Jacques will have three large dining rooms and a summer terrace in the open court of the building on which food will be served. The inside rooms will be air conditioned. A feature of the cocktail room will be a serpentine bar. Louis Galante will have charge of the decorating. The premises have been leased for five years at a reported guaranteed term rental of $27,300, plus a percentage of gross sales.

Gino Ritenuti, who has restaurants in the Railway Exchange and Morton buildings, and who years ago operated the La Rosita café in the 1300 block on Rush street, has bought the lease and fixtures of Jacques' present Delaware place establishment. He will rename it Gino's Italian restaurant.

Howard L. Storch of Ross & Browne was broker in the 900 Michigan avenue deal and Victor Bredberg of the same firm negotiated the Gino lease.

L. B. Beardslee to Speak Before Realty Fraternity

Ely chapter of Lambda Alpha, real estate and land economics fraternity, will hear Louis B. Beardslee discuss "Industrial Real Estate" at its monthly meeting next Friday, May 3, at 6 p. m., in Hammesfahr's restaurant, 7 South Dearborn. William S. Becker, will talk on "The Political Parties' Taxation Program for 1936."

Curtis Bartel Leases Sheridan-Morse Corner

Curtis T. Bartel has leased for five years the southeast corner of Sheridan road and Morse avenue, comprising 22,000 square feet in a one story building of Spanish mission design. The property is being modernized and will be opened shortly as a restaurant and bar to be known as Bartel's Barbecue. The lease also provides parking space for 200 cars. W. Francis Little of Wirtz, Haynie & Ehrat, Inc., represented all parties.

HOWARD FENTON BUYS LAKE FOREST HOME OF BYRON S. HARVEY

Howard W. Fenton, president of the Harris Trust and Savings bank, yesterday purchased from Byron S. Harvey, head of the Fred Harvey company, his residence at 991 North Elm Tree road, Lake Forest, for an undisclosed cash consideration. Gilbert Rayner of Lake Forest was the only broker. The house, built shortly before the world war by Col. A. A. Sprague from plans by the late Howard Shaw, is a two story brick Georgian structure containing thirteen rooms and five baths. There also is a brick service building containing garage, stables, conservatory, and apartments for gardener and chauffeur. The buildings occupy a five and one-half acre sweep of lawn.

At the Realty Boards

George Ottenhoff, of the real estate firm of Wierenga & Ottenhoff, 1837 West Roosevelt road, has been appointed a director of the Chicago Real Estate board. He succeeds Herman O. Walther, who has resigned. Mr. Ottenhoff also will assume the position of eighth vice president and chairman of the building and loan division of the board, formerly held by Mr. Walther.

State Senator Earl B. Searcy, of Springfield, will discuss pending legislation affecting real estate at the monthly meeting of the realty board on Wednesday evening, May 1.

A controversy over the use of "for sale" signs, which has been simmering in the ranks of the Evanston-North Shore Real Estate board, is to be brought out in the open and discussed at a meeting of the board on Monday evening, May 6. H. L. McDaniel, president, will preside.

U. OF C. PLANS SUMMER COURSE IN APPRAISALS

Real Estate Body Will Co-operate.

Confirmation of the tentative announcement a few weeks ago that courses in real estate appraisal practice were contemplated at the University of Chicago was made yesterday by the American Institute of Real Estate Appraisers of the National Association of Real Estate Boards. The school of business of the U. of C. and the realty appraisal group jointly announced the opening of the courses, with a summer study conference to be held Aug. 5 to 31 on the university campus, for both men and women.

JOSEPH B. HALL.
[Walinger Photo.]

The faculty will be drawn from members of the American institute, of which Joseph B. Hall of Cincinnati, formerly of this city, is president. George L. Schmutz of Los Angeles will be dean of the summer sessions.

Plan Two Terms.

The work will be broken into two terms. There will be a two week term, opening Aug. 5, to cover appraisal of vacant land and single family homes, fundamentals of valuation, basic concepts of real estate value, and land economics.

There also will be a four week term, including the initial two weeks already outlined, and a further, more specialized two week course, opening Aug. 19. The latter will cover appraisal of retail, commercial and apartment properties. It also will include leasehold valuation, condemnation appraising and court testimony, and analysis of field data, including training in computation processes and appraisal reports, their form and purpose.

Dormitories Available.

Students with proper experience and background will be admitted to the last two week course without having taken the preceding two weeks. The courses will be conducted at Judson and Burton courts. The university's modern dormitories of the courts will be available to students registered in the summer conference.

A detailed catalog of the courses in appraisal practice to be offered this summer, giving costs, etc., is now being prepared.

Martin-Martin to Move After 23 Years' Stay

Martin & Martin, one of Chicago's oldest shoe firms, established in 1902, will move on May 1 from 326 South Michigan avenue to 32-34 North Michigan avenue, in the Michigan Boulevard building. Clark & Trainer, agents of the property, report a five year lease on a minimum guarantee and percentage basis.

Martin & Martin started business in the old Stratford hotel building, on the site of the present Straus building, at Michigan and Jackson. Ten years later they moved to the McCormick building, where they have been for the last twenty-three years. The firm has a branch store at 581 Fifth avenue, New York City.

LIQUOR CONCERN RENTS BUILDING ON NORTH SIDE

Philip Blum & Co., Inc., importers and wholesalers of wines and liquors, yesterday leased the entire four story building, containing 50,000 square feet of floor space, at the southwest corner of Chicago avenue and Kingsbury street, for a long term of years at an undisclosed rental, from Selz, Schwab & Co. Arthur Rubloff & Co. were brokers.

The lessees will move their general offices, now in the Pure Oil building, and their bonded warehouse, rectifying plant, and bottling division at 1100 West Washington, to the new Chicago avenue location.

An extensive modernization program for the building will be carried out from plans by Schmidt, Garden & Erikson, it was stated.

American Air Lines Rent Space in Board of Trade

American Air Lines have leased a store in the Board of Trade building to serve the financial district, and will open this second loop ticket office about May 13. Harry C. Straus of Willoughby & Co. represented the lessee and Albert H. Wetten & Co. the lessor. Both the new office and the present quarters in the Straus building will be supervised by Lewis King.

RETEST CATTLE OR LOSE IN T. B. WAR: WARNING

Farmers Told Grave Danger Is Ahead.

BY FRANK RIDGWAY.

Eighteen years of hard work and the expenditure of many millions of dollars may be lost in the fight to keep tuberculosis in live stock under control if farmers fail to retest their herds and to continue their efforts to keep animals from becoming reinfected. Recent experience has prompted microbe hunters and tuberculosis eradication workers to issue anew their warnings against the danger of farmers becoming lax in their war against this dreaded plague among cattle, hogs, and chickens, as well as human beings.

There is grave danger ahead if rigid sanitary measures are not followed, particularly in counties and states where intensive tuberculosis testing work has been carried on and animals infected with the disease have been reduced to a negligible point, says Dr. John J. Lintner, federal veterinarian in charge of the tuberculosis eradication work in Illinois. Testing cattle with the efficient tuberculin test and destroying the diseased animals does not put an end to the work of controling tuberculosis, added this veterinarian, who has been a "soldier" in America's army of scientists from the beginning of the eradication campaign.

Aids in Discovery of Disease.

"The tuberculin test does not immunize cattle to the infection," explained Dr. Lintner. "All the test does is to aid veterinarians in scientifically discovering the diseased animals in a herd; it does not protect the cattle left after the reactors or diseased animals have been destroyed.

"In Illinois, as well as in 18 other modified accredited states, cattle have been tested and the diseased individuals removed, until today comparatively few animals infected with tuberculosis are left. This state is in the center of the extensive modified accredited area under the federal-state coöperative testing plan. Our greatest task in the future is to keep the tested areas as free from tuberculosis as possible. The disease may again become deeply rooted in these modified accredited states if farmers neglect to repeat the test and follow approved sanitary practices."

Cattle are being tested in all states. Two-thirds of all the counties in the United States are now on the federal government's modified accredited list, signifying that when the animals were last tested few were diseased—less than ½ of 1 per cent of all the cattle in the area. Approximately 2,201,315 cattle were tested in February—almost as many as were tested during the first five years of the nation-wide campaign against the disease.

Dr. Lintner says that in all herds of cattle, whether they are of the dairy or beef type, farmers have the problem of keeping tuberculosis germs from getting back into the herd even after the animals have been tested and found to be free from tuberculosis.

Must Prevent Reinfection.

After infected animals have been removed, the next big task is to prevent the remaining cattle from becoming reinfected, says Dr. Lintner. He makes these recommendations for handling a disease free herd:

1. Never add cattle to a disease free herd unless the animals are from herds that have been tested and known to be free from tuberculosis.

2. Premises where cattle are kept should be given a special cleaning and then thoroughly disinfected about twice a year. Disinfection should be practiced immediately following the discovery of a communicable disease, such as tuberculosis, on the premises or in the nearby neighborhood, as a matter of precaution.

3. Manure should be removed from barns regularly, daily if practicable, spread on fields, and plowed under as soon as possible. At least, throw the manure out in the open field where cattle cannot come in contact with it. Removing litter, stalks, straw, and manure around the barn is especially necessary where cattle have been found infected with tuberculosis. If manure cannot be hauled to the field promptly, as is often the case at certain times in the year, it should be kept in pits and fenced, where cattle cannot come in contact with it. For the same reason old straw stacks should be removed or fenced.

4. Pools of water that usually become stagnant should be filled or fenced to keep cattle and hogs out.

5. Water tanks used by live stock should be drained and scrubbed with hot water and strong soap, lye, or washing soda, and disinfected. This should be done at least twice a year and especially after infected animals have been discovered on the farm.

6. Sunlight and fresh air help keep germs under control in the barn. This calls for plenty of doors and windows to admit fresh air and sunlight, which kill germs.

Must Disinfect Barns.

7. Barns should be thoroughly disinfected with a good disinfectant, especially after diseased animals have been removed from the herd. The surface should be scraped and scrubbed before using the disinfectant. In cleaning a barn preliminary to disinfecting it, remove all manure and litter, sweep the floor, walls, and ceiling, and remove rotten wood, especially from floors. Scrape and scrub mangers, feed boxes, and partitions. Use strong soap, lye, or washing soda in scrubbing. A spray pump is recommended for applying disinfectants, but brushes or a sprinkling can may be used satisfactorily. There are many disinfectants that may be used, including cresol, formaldehyde, crude carbolic acid, bichloride of mercury, and chloride of lime. Lime slacked before spreading makes a good disinfectant to use in lots or barnyards where live stock is exercised.

8. Sparrows, pigeons, and other birds should not be allowed in barns or silos.

9. A clean pair of boots or shoes should be kept handy to wear in handling silage inside or outside the silo.

10. Men wearing soiled boots or shoes should never tramp over feedway or floor in front of cows where feed is handled.

11. Blocks of salt licked by infected cows should be destroyed.

12. Get rid of old and worthless cows.

13. Keep cats and dogs out of barn.

OWENS TIES 100 YARD RECORD IN DRAKE RELAYS

RUNS 100 YARDS IN 9.5 SECONDS; HOLT IS SECOND

N. U. Nosed Out in Two Mile Race.

BY WILFRID SMITH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Des Moines, Ia., April. 27.—Jesse Owens, who yesterday established an American broad jump record of 26 feet, 1¾ inches, climaxed the finals of the Drake Relay carnival today by equaling the meet record for the 100 yard dash. Owens 9 and 5-10 seconds sprint over a loose track definitly proved that another great colored athlete has arrived to keep pace with such men as Ralph Metcalfe and Eddie Tolan.

Sam Allen, of Oklahoma Baptist, who raced over the high hurdles in 14 4-10 seconds, equaling the Drake record first made in 1932 by the late George Saling, of Iowa, and tied by Allen a year ago, was the only other athlete to challenge Owens' performance. These two marks were the only dent the army of track and field stars could make on the record book.

Record Crowd Attends.

Despite the scarcity of record performances, the throng of 18,000 banked solidly around Drake's horseshoe amphitheatre, saw the greatest set of games in the history of the carnival. The crowd established an attendance record.

The glittering parade led by the relay queen, Miss Nona Kenneaster, of Fresno [Cal.] State college, and her entourage first brought the throng to its feet. Later it was treated to an unannounced appearance of Senator Huey Long and bodyguards, which brought forth a booming wave of booing in response to which Huey waved his hands and loved it all.

Huey's strut down the west side of the field brought out a crowd of small boys armed with pencil and paper for autographs and the same host poured over the infield at the conclusion of the track events to hamper efforts to conclude the pole vault and high jump.

Philson Misses Record.

Perhaps the most disappointed athlete tonight is Linn Philson, of Drake, who came within one quarter of an inch of equaling Harold Osborn's high jump record of 6 feet, 6 inches. Philson beat out Capt. Vincent Murphy of Notre Dame, at a supposed height of 6 feet, 5 inches. When the steel tape was brought out the height was found to be 6 feet, 5¾ inches. Twice more Philson tried for a new mark, but failed.

Jack Rand of San Diego [Cal.] State college also narrowly failed to smash the pole vault record. More than half of the crowd stayed 45 minutes overtime to see five men fight for the title. Rand won when he pulled his 174 pounds over the bar at 13 feet, 8¾ inches, the others deadlocked at 13 feet, 2½ inches. Those in the tie were Wonsowitz, of Ohio State; Seeley, of Illinois; Sharff, of Wisconsin and Weichert, of Rice institute.

The sandy haired champion of the National Collegiate meet last year, when he leaped 14 feet, ½ inch, tried twice at 14 feet, 1¼ inches, but kicked the bar from the supports each time. Drake's record is 13 feet 11 inches, and belongs to Tom Warne, formerly of Northwestern.

Cunningham Gets Revenge.

Glenn Cunningham, holder of the world one mile record, who lost his first race this year a week ago to Glen Dawson at the Kansas relays, had revenge today in a special three quarter mile match. Cunningham stepped into the lead on the first lap and kept one stride ahead of Dawson until the last 50 yards, when he sprinted to victory by 10 feet. Cunningham's time was 3 minutes, 5 3-10 seconds as compared to the world mark of three minutes, 6-10 seconds made four years ago by Jules Ladomegue of France.

Iowa, Texas and University of California at Los Angeles provided the thrills in the relays with finishes closer than any other carnival has offered. Iowa's quartet of sprinters, Dooley, Briggs, Nelson, and Owens, who set a world record a week ago, won the 440 yard relay from Texas. The time was 41 7-10 seconds, one tenth slower than the meet mark and 1 2-10 seconds off Iowa's world mark.

Texas gained revenge in a blanket finish in the half mile relay when Chink Wallender, Texas anchor runner, barely breasted the string a fraction of an inch ahead of Nelson, of Iowa. Yesterday Iowa established a meet record of 1:26 in the preliminaries, but today Texas won in 1:26.2.

U. C. L. A. Retains Title.

In the final relay of the afternoon Texas bowed to the coast runners in the one mile. Jimmy Luvalle out finished Wallender in a stretch drive which brought California the title in 3:16.6, just seven tenths of a second slower than its own meet record made last year.

Perhaps the two mile performance of Ray Sears, of Butler, who won his third consecutive Drake championship, was as great as that of any other individual barring Owens. Sears ran the eight laps in 9:17.2, which equaled his best personal record and was less than four seconds slower than Henry

Glenn Cunningham avenges a defeat by Glenn Dawson by winning the three-quarter mile run from the athlete who beat him recently at the Kansas relays. Cunningham's time at Drake yesterday was 3:05.6.

MICHIGAN STATE WINS FOUR MILE RELAY AT PENN

Philadelphia, Pa., April 27.—(AP)—Columbia university and Michigan State won double victories while Louisiana State fell short of two triumphs as the 41st Pennsylvania relay carnival ended today before 30,000 at historic Franklin field.

With the benefit of a day's rest between events, Columbia's sprinters added the 880 yard relay championship to the quarter mile crown, dethroning Cornell in each race. The brilliant work of Sam Maniaci and Ben Johnson, colored holder of the national indoor dash title, was responsible. Michigan State's quartet of milers, including Tom Ottey and Wesley Hurd, ran away with the four mile championship in today's final race after capturing the distance medley trophy yesterday.

Manhattan Beats L. S. U.

Facing a stiff task by doubling up in two of today's relays, Louisiana State's runners were stopped by Manhattan college in the one mile race after winning the two mile championship.

The Tigers, with Black, O'Neil, and Slats Hardin carrying the baton in both events, whipped Army and Columbia in the two mile, but Hardin's closing quarter in 47.4 could not catch John Wolff of Manhattan, who broke the tape 12 yards in front of Hardin.

No records were broken in the major relays, but five carnival marks fell among secondary schools and three other meet records knocked off in the individual events.

Eulace Peacock, Temple university's versatile colored athlete, furnished the day's most spectacular double by capturing the broad jump with a leap of 25 feet ¼ inch, and then defeating Herman Neugass, Tulane, in the record breaking final of the 100 meter dash.

Peacock, who had tied the carnival mark of 10.7 seconds in the semi-finals, pulled away from Neugass in the final drive to win by two yards in the new record time of 10.6 seconds.

Brown Fails at Record Vault.

Keith Brown, Yale's pole vaulting ace, broke his own carnival record by an inch and a quarter when he vaulted 14 feet 1½ inches, but failed in three attempts to reach the world record height of 14 feet 5½ inches.

Don Elser, Notre Dame, added 2¾ inches to the carnival shot put record by winning his event with a toss of 50 feet 2¾ inches. Jack Torrance, Louisiana State, no longer eligible for college varsity competition, heaved the 16 pound ball 54 feet 5 inches in an exhibition. Yesterday he set a new mark of 62 feet ¼ inch with the 12 pound shot.

Anton Kishon, sophomore from Bates, broke no records, but proved himself an all around star by winning the hammer throw at 167 feet 2¼ inches after previously winning the discus. Kishon also placed fourth in the shotput.

Ward Pulls Muscle.

Willis Ward, Michigan's colored star who captured the 110 meter high hurdles yesterday in record time, pulled a muscle in the trials of the 100 meter dash. He withdrew from the sprint, but continued in the high jump and tied for third place at 6 feet 2 inches. Charles Scott, Cornell, won the event at 6 feet 4 inches.

Anton Kishon of Bates winds up and tosses the hammer in a special event of the Penn relay carnival. The officials' measurements showed he sent the weight 167 feet 2 1-4 inches.

Glen Hardin carries Louisiana State's colors to victory as he finishes his assignment in the two mile college relay in the Penn relays.

BABE DIDRIKSON WINS IN FINAL OF TEXAS GOLF

Houston, Tex., April 27.—(AP)—Mildred [Babe] Didrikson defeated Mrs. Dan Chandler of Dallas, women's champion of Mexico, today in the final round of the Texas Women's Golf association tournament, 2 up in a 36 hole match.

This was her first victory in a major tournament and in the distance she sees for herself a national championship. In her only other tournament competition she lost in the semi-finals of the Fort Worth Women's invitational several months ago.

GRABER BREAKS WORLD RECORD IN POLE VAULT

Santa Barbara, Cal., April 27.—(AP)—Bill Graber, former university of Southern California pole vaulter, bettered his own world's record here today when he cleared the bar on the first attempt at 14 feet 5⅝ inches. His recognized mark stands at 14 feet 4⅜ inches.

Italian Ring Squad Starts Final Trials

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ROME, April 27.—Officials of the Italian Boxing federation began final tests today to determine the team which will represent this country in the International Golden Gloves matches at Chicago May 22. Although final selections will not be announced until tomorrow evening, it seems likely that the team will consist of the following fighters:

FLYWEIGHT—Gavino Matta, Sassari.

BANTAMWEIGHT—Roderigo Sergo, Fiume.

FEATHERWEIGHT—Giuseppe Farfanelli, Perugia.

LIGHTWEIGHT — Araldo Montanari, Rimini.

WELTERWEIGHT—Othello Binazzi, Rome.

MIDDLEWEIGHT—Augusto Bonadio, Turin.

LIGHT HEAVYWEIGHT — Mario Annibali, Rome.

HEAVYWEIGHT—Angelo Saruggia, Varese.

It is possible that Umberto Pittore of Ancona may earn the welterweight position instead of Binazzi, and that Giuseppe Laria will be the heavyweight choice instead of Saruggia.

Trip Spurs Fighting.

These boys are Italy's greatest amateur boxers, who have won the right to represent their country in international competition after the most rigorous series of eliminations ever conducted by the boxing federation. The entry list was much larger than any which would have been attracted by a national tournament, because the reward—a trip to America—was so much greater. Every fighter of ability the length and breadth of Italy tried his luck and tested his skill in the eliminations and the best of the nation are the boys named above.

All of the candidates selected in the course of the eliminations were put through final tests today under the sharp scrutiny of Rafaelo Riccardi, president of the Italian Boxing federation, and several other officials. The final announcement of the team's personnel was deferred because Bonadio, the middleweight champion, has been unable to get to Rome for training. However, he has been going through intensive workouts at his home in Turin and will arrive in Rome tomorrow.

Saruggia Stays Amateur.

Saruggia, the heavyweight champion, had intended to turn professional but was dissuaded from this step on the advice of the amateur boxing officials. As a matter of fact, the federation, whose word is law in matters of sport in Italy, practically ordered him to make the trip to Chicago if he expects to get anywhere in boxing in this country.

The team will sail from Naples Wednesday with Count Compello in charge. The count said tonight that he was thoroughly confident the Italians would surprise the Chicago team.

"I don't know just how good the Americans are," he remarked, "but our boys have shown up splendidly in the last two weeks of training."

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Cincinnati, O., April 27.—A squeeze play which caught the Cubs back on their heels gave the Reds their second run this afternoon and that was the one which provided the Cincinnati lads with a 2 to 1 decision over the Chicagoans.

The decisive squeeze was engineered by Paul Derringer, who was so suave about it that his bunt, which scored Goodman with the winning run in the fourth, went for a single, one of eight made off Larry French. French, who had to handle Derringer's little surprise, pitched the full game to take his third defeat of the season and his second of the current road trip.

Fans Last 4 Batters.

In the pitching department Derringer was very good, too. Of the seven hits he yielded, two were made by players who weren't even swinging. Paul hit the bats of Galan and Jurges when they were pulling away and another came in the sixth after the side should have been retired.

It was in the sixth that the Cubs escaped a shutout because the Reds' erratic shortstop, Bill Myers, threw away the ball on the tail end of what should have been a leisurely double play. Among Derringer's accomplishments was some bearing down which enabled him to strike out the last four batsmen who faced him.

Derringer's victory was his third of the season. All of French's three defeats have been at the hands of men named Paul. Paul Dean has set him down twice.

Galan Opens with Hit.

A fluke single with which Galan opened the game served only to set the stage for the Reds' seventeenth double play of the season. After Augie had singled while trying to get out of the way of a wide pitch, Herman flied to Goodman and Klein hit into the double play, launched by Derringer. Myers opened the Reds' offensive with a single, but three outs followed in rapid succession.

With one out in the second inning, Cuyler singled off Derringer's glove for his third hit of the season. Ki's

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

The gay White Sox were on the loose again yesterday and the Browns from St. Louis suffered extensively as the result. Although they had an off day so far as homers were concerned, only two being pounded into the seats, the dashing Sox made up for this in other ways. They showered the premises with singles, coaxed the enemy for numerous passes and profited by errors. All these ingredients when put together meant a 16 to 4 triumph for the second place Sox and their fifth in a row.

So as not to keep the 10,000 spectators waiting, the Sox stepped right out in the first inning with three runs off Elton Walkup, who bothered them considerably in a recent relief rôle. Part of this lead vanished shortly afterward so the south siders, still anxious to please the customers, broke out in the fourth with four runs. These were neatly compiled on two passes and homers, which were the productions of Al Simmons and Vernon George Washington. Then just for good measure the Sox tore the Brownies completely apart in a fifth inning that saw eight men parade across the plate.

Earnshaw Starts Game.

George Earnshaw started for the Sox and stayed around long enough to be assured of receiving credit for his first victory of the season. The big ex-Athletic was inclined to be leisurely in his work, but despite this the enemy could pick up only three runs in the first five innings. Then after getting his big lead he went to work in earnest. He fairly blew the Browns off their feet in the sixth and seventh, so was awarded with a leave for the day. Anyway, Manager Jim Dykes wanted to get a look at Ray [Babe] Phelps, who was wobbly in his two inning début.

In case there is any doubt about what fancy hitters the Sox have become, it might be a good idea to review some of their recent achievements. In their five home games they have registered 53 runs while amassing five consecutive victories. Eleven of these runs have been homers. A total of 20 runs has been driven across by the homers. And along with this powerful hitting they have been fielding in a fashion that, in the excitement of the bone crushing attack, probably has been overlooked.

Sox Step Out.

Earnshaw barely squeezed through the first inning without permitting a Brownie to skip over the plate. He walked Burns with one out and the runner pulled up at third on Hemsley's double to right center. Pepper grounded to Hopkins and Burns tried to sneak home, but was nailed somewhere along the base line. Burnett then forced Pepper at second.

The Sox first, which was worth three runs, opened with a pass to Radcliff. Hayes punched a single through short. Simmons walked, filling the bags. Mr. Bonura slapped a fly with such vigor that West had to dash back to the center field wall to make the catch. Radcliff scored, Hayes went to third, and Simmons to second on the play. A high bounder slipped off the tips of Walkup's glove for what should have been a hit but was ruled an error for the pitcher. It scored Hayes and put Simmons on third. The Duke ran home with the third run of the inning while Washington was being forced by Appling.

Double Play Helps Earnshaw.

A fast double play pulled Earnshaw out of a rut in the second. He tumbled into another in the third and wasn't extricated until after one had scored. This flurry started with a pass to West, who was pushed to second on Burns' single to right. Hemsley slipped a single past Hopkins and Appling to score West. Then a double play on Peppers' grounder

INDIANS DEFEAT TIGERS, 9-2, FOR SIXTH STRAIGHT

Hal Trosky Cracks Out Double, Two Homers.

Cleveland, O., April 27.—(AP)—The Cleveland Indians scored their sixth consecutive victory today by routing the Detroit Tigers, 9 to 2. Hal Trosky, Cleveland first baseman, cracked out two homers and a double to drive in five runs.

Hughes and Vosmik were on base when Trosky rifled a drive over the right field wall in the first inning. He connected for a double in the second to score Vosmik. In the seventh Hal again hit over the right field screen.

YANKS, 9; ATHLETICS, 8.

Philadelphia, Pa., April 27.—(AP)—The New York Yankees, led by Ben Chapman, pounded out a 9 to 8 victory over the Athletics today for their third straight triumph. The Yanks had a narrow escape, however, when Russ Van Atta hit a wild streak in the ninth and the A's pushed over three runs.

Chapman, at bat four times, hit a double, homer and two singles and stole a base before he was forced out by a charley horse in the seventh. Jimmy Foxx's fourth home run of the season for the A's and a triple play by the Yanks in the first inning were other high spots.

Boston, Mass., April 27.—(AP)—Washington broke the spell of Pitcher Johnny Welch today and laced out 17 hits to whip the fumbling Red Sox, 8 to 3.

Welch, who had turned back the Senators the last seven times he faced them, couldn't find the right corners today and yielded 13 hits and five runs before heading for the showers after the seventh inning.

Whitehead Picked to Pitch Against St. Louis Today

If John Whitehead, the Sox sensational pitching rookie who twice beat the Tigers, recovers from a cold he will be started against the Browns in the final of the series today at Comiskey park. In the event Whitehead isn't able to shoulder the job it will go to Sam Jones. Dick Coffman probably will work for the Browns, although Manager Hornsby said he might switch to Buck Newsom. Today's game starts at 3 p m.

Manager Jim Dykes' charley horse was so well under control yesterday that he could have played if necessary. He might go back to third this afternoon and then again might loaf so as to make certain that he'll be in physical trim for the series opening at Cleveland tomorrow.

Oscar Melillo, the Browns' second sacker, turned up yesterday with a jammed finger so couldn't perform. Bejma filled in for him at second base.

The crowd numbered about 10,000 and might have been half again as large if rain hadn't descended intermittently for an hour before game time.

Reds Put Over Squeeze Play to Defeat Cubs

stay on base was short, however. He was forced by Cavarretta, and the inning ended with Hartnett's foul to Lombardi. Lombardi singled with two out in the Reds' half of the second, but was forced by Kampouris.

Jurges beat out an infield single to start the third and moved up on French's sacrifice. Galan flied to Byrd and Herman flied to Goodman. In the Reds' half Byrd and Riggs walked after two were out. Bottomley's hot single was knocked down by Cavarretta and Byrd was out, Cavarretta to Hartnett, trying to score from second.

Reds Break Through.

The Reds broke through in their fourth. Hafey opened the proceedings with a single through short and Goodman was hit by a pitched ball. Lombardi hit his second single, scoring Hafey and putting Goodman on third. Kampouris was called out on strikes, but Derringer surprised the Cubs completely with a safe bunt that scored Goodman. Lombardi was caught snoozing off second, Hartnett to Jurges, and Myers fanned.

Hartnett singled with one out in the fifth, Jurges forced Gabby and Kampouris threw out French. Byrd opened the home fifth with a single to left. Riggs and Bottomley fouled out, but Hafey singled, putting Byrd on third. Goodman grounded out to Cavarretta.

Cubs Get Their Run.

The Cubs got a run in the sixth. Galan beat out a single to deep short. Herman grounded to Derringer, who apparently had a cinch double play in prospect. Myers took Derringer's throw to force Galan and then heaved the ball past Bottomley, Herman reaching second. Klein beat out an infield roller, Herman taking third, whence he scored while Lindstrom was forcing Klein. Cuyler fouled to Bottomley. The Reds went out in order in their half.

Jurges singled with two out in the seventh, but French was called out on strikes. Myers, Byrd and Riggs were knocked off in order in the Reds' half.

Galan bunted and was thrown out by Lombardi at the start of the eighth. Herman flied to Goodman and Klein was called out on strikes. In the Reds' phase of the eighth Bottomley fanned, Hafey flied to Klein and Goodman popped to Hartnett.

All three Cub batters fanned in the ninth. They were Lindstrom, Hack, who batted for Cuyler, and Cavarretta.

LEE PITCHES TODAY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Cincinnati, O., April 27.—Bill Lee, who won the final against the Cardinals, relieving Charley Root last Thursday, will pitch for the Cubs in the final here tomorrow. Lon Warneke will go after his fourth victory of the year at Wrigley field against the Pittsburgh Pirates Monday.

Manager Charley Dressen, who was chased out of the opener here yesterday after a physical attack on Tex Carleton, was back on the grounds again this afternoon. It was reported that Umpire-in-Chief Bill Klem had submitted a "boys will be boys" report to President Ford Frick.

The Reds and Cubs really wanted to play a game this afternoon. It rained continuously from 4 o'clock this morning until 2:15. At noon Manager Grimm was advised to take his troupe to the ball park and that the game would be played if there was the slightest cessation of rainfall. At 2:30, the scheduled game time, Cincy officials inspected the field and it then was announced to the hardy customers that there would be a contest, starting at 3 o'clock.

NEW YORK BEATS CHICAGO, 4 TO 3, IN WATER POLO

New York, April 27.—[U. P.]—A goal by Don Ruddy in the last 90 seconds gave the New York A. C. a 4 to 3 victory over the Illinois A. C. of Chicago to regain the National A. A. U. hard ball water polo championship at the New York A. C. pool tonight.

Thrice during the encounter the Chicagoans, defending champions, held the lead, but each time the fine teamwork of the Winged Foot Seven enabled the latter combination to knot the score. Don Ruddy and Adolph Winkler accounted for two goals each for the winners.

Sox Defeat Browns, 16-4; Hit 2 Homers

Earnshaw fanned three in the fourth, but in between the strikeouts were a couple of hits good for a run, making the score 3 to 2. Bell opened with a drive against the wall in left center, but Simmons did such an excellent job of playing it off the wall that it was held to a double. Bejma fanned after a wild pitch had moved Bell to third. Strange hit a tall fly in short right center and it dropped for a single, Bell scoring. The remainder of the inning was made up of three strikes for each of the next two batters.

Sox Hit Two Homers.

The Sox fourth didn't start as if there was going to be anything unusual. The first two fellows were retired. Then Hayes walked and Simmons promptly picked the lower left field deck as a good spot in which to plant his third homer of the year. Next came a pass to Bonura and right after this Washington's homer, which also dropped into the left field seats. After this Appling survived on an error by Burnett and Hopkins singled, but Sewell popped to Bejma to conclude the inning.

The Browns counted their third run in the fifth on a double by Burns and two long flies. The Sox countered with eight in their half. Radcliff tripled to right with one out and scored on a single by Hayes. Simmons doubled, Hayes halting at third. This was where Blaeholder went to Walkup's rescue. Bonura was purposely passed, filling the bases. Washington popped out. All three scored on Appling's single, which Bell fumbled. Appling took second on the error and counted on a single by Hopkins. Sewell singled and so did Earnshaw, Hopkins scoring.

Bases Are Filled Again.

The hilarious inning continued with a pass to Radcliff, reloading the bags. Hayes slammed a single into center, Sewell and Earnshaw scoring. Simmons was kind enough to end it by rolling into a force play at second.

Weiland showed up in the sixth and the Sox immediately gave him a touch of high life. Bonura walked, but Washington rolled into a double play. Then Appling and Hopkins walked. Appling scored on a single by Sewell. Sewell went to second on the throw in, but found Hopkins occupying the bag. In the ensuing excitement Sewell was run down between first and second.

Phelps got by in the eighth despite two hits, but was forced to surrender a run in the ninth. A single and two passes filled the bags with none out. West, who furnished the single, scored on a long fly. Burnett then flied to Washington, and Garms, who had walked for Weiland, was doubled before he could get back to first.

North Central Tennis Team Defeats Wheaton

North Central college's tennis team whipped Wheaton college on the Naperville courts yesterday, winning four matches to two. The Cards won three singles matches and the one doubles match. Cedarholm, number one Wheaton man was forced to three sets to beat Groom of North Central. The scores: 4-6; 10-8; 6-4.

GIANTS WIN FROM PHILLIES, 5 TO 4; TAKE 1ST PLACE

John Moore, Bartell, Ryan Hit Homers.

New York, April 27.—(AP)—The Giants took first place in the National league today by knocking off the Phillies, 5 to 4, while Brooklyn dropped a 4 to 2 decision to Boston. It was the Giants' eighth consecutive game without a loss, although two ties are in the list.

Home runs figured in the scoring. John Moore hit his sixth for the Phils, tying his teammate Dolph Camilli for the major league lead; Dick Bartell drove out his third for the Giants, and Blandy Ryan hit a homer with one on in the eighth.

BRAVES, 4; DODGERS, 2.

Brooklyn, N. Y., April 27.—(AP)—Babe Ruth accomplished nothing of note except that he brought out a crowd of 21,600 paying fans, when he returned to the National league wars today, but the Boston Braves with Dutch Brandt on the mound, ended the Brooklyn Dodgers' five game winning streak and tumbled them out of the National league lead with a 4 to 2 victory.

Ruth, showing no ill effects of the cold that kept him out for a couple of days, grounded out once, fouled out the second time, and finally retired after being called out on strikes in the seventh.

PIRATES, 8; CARDS, 5.

St. Louis, Mo., April 27.—(AP)—Ripper Jim Collins, Cardinal first baseman, clouted his second and third home runs of the season today, but the Pittsburgh Pirates took the second game of their series with the world champions, 8 to 5, before a crowd of 10,000.

A Pirate uprising in the fourth, including a triple by Lavagetto and the first of Herman's three two base hits, sent Hallahan to the showers and netted Pittsburgh five runs.

This sampling offer is made for one reason only .. to get you to try the largest-selling cigar in America .. a cigar that dealers and experienced smokers say is the greatest value ever offered.

Bayuk PHILLIES is not an ordinary 5c cigar. Neither is it a former 10c cigar reduced in quality or size to sell for 5c. It is America's former largest-selling 10c brand now priced at 5c. Bayuk guarantees it.

When you smoke your first PHILLIES—you'll notice this. It is a MILD cigar that has mellow flavor. This comes from blending fine, mild long-filler Havana and Domestic tobaccos. Cigars made of regular 5c tobaccos cannot give you this distinctive and pleasing quality.

No matter what cigar you now smoke—or what price you regularly pay—you owe it to yourself to try PHILLIES—the cigar that is smoked by more men than any other brand in America.

NELLIE FLAG IS EASY WINNER IN DERBY TRYOUT

Chance Sun, Winter Book Choice, Third.

BY FRENCH LANE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Louisville, Ky., April 27.—The wayward lad of this year's Kentucky Derby—Chance Sun, the future book favorite—went from bad to worse as the spring racing season in Kentucky opened here this afternoon.

On a muddy track—the kind of a track an expert tailor would have prepared for him in order to have him look at his best—he was disgracefully beaten and didn't have an excuse to offer.

Plungers all over the country who more than two months ago made so many bets on Chance Sun that the future book odds against him dropped to 4 to 1 are no doubt in deep mourning tonight, and they should be. Last year's 2 year old champion and the Belmont futurity winner, bowed his head in shameful defeat to the fast running filly, Nellie Flag, owned by Warren Wright of Chicago.

Nellie Becomes Derby Choice.

Nellie made a show, not only of Chance Sun, but of the six other Derby candidates which dared to take issue with her. Her name is on every tongue of this Derby week, carnival bent crowd here tonight. And her showing was so impressive that the Derby odds against her went down and down until, despite the fact that the turf philosophers say, "fillies never win the Derby," she tonight has become the Derby favorite at 5 to 1.

As the barrier lifted for this first Derby test of the year in Kentucky, Chance Sun and Hank MacTavish for just an instant flashed out in front of Nellie Flag. Jocky Arcaro immediately applied the whip to Nellie and she shot forward like she had been shot out of a circus cannon. A sixteenth out she was a length in front. As the field reached the lower bend and started to wheel into the stretch she was three lengths in front.

It's an Easy Race.

Straightened out for the run down the stretch she stepped away as if she was afraid of the colts that were chasing her. On she dashed into a lead of four lengths. At the eighth hole she was five lengths on top of them and she sailed by the winning post six lengths to the good.

Chance Sun's backers began to groan when he gave up the struggle and began to falter at the head of the stretch. Jocky Wright applied the whip to him, but he would not respond, so Bluebeard, recently purchased by Mrs. R. B. Fairbanks of Indianapolis, rushed up and conquered Chance Sun.

They finished in that sort of Indian file with Nellie Flag drawing away at each jump. She had run the seven furlongs in 1:25-3-5 and was worked on out the mile in the muddy going in the sensational time of 1:39 and went on a mile and an eighth in 1:52 2-5.

Nellie Flag Pays $5.80.

Chance Sun had been made the even money favorite over her, but Nellie Flag also had many backers and paid off at $5.80 in the mutuels.

The opening of the Kentucky racing season was a gala event and, despite the rainstorm this morning and the threatening weather which prevailed this afternoon, the crowd numbered about 12,000. The program sale totaled 9,200 and the betting through the pari-mutuel machines was 20 per cent higher than it was on opening day last year. Perfect weather had prevailed a year ago.

Downtown streets in Louisville have been dressed up until they somewhat resemble Astor's pet horse. Parades and carnival and pageant will hold sway there every night next week. A Derby week celebration that may eventually outshine the gay Mardi Gras which New Orleans has offered for many years has been arranged.

Beaver Dam Wins Easily.

The historic Clark handicap, another doddering old turf fixture like the Derby, should have been the feature race this afternoon. The Clark was first run in the springtime of 1875 and that was the spring when Aristides won the first Derby. Beaver Dam, a winter track horse, won the Clark today at the right juicy pari-mutuel price of $44.60 for a $2 ticket.

Beaver Dam is a 3 year old, and the easy way in which he galloped over the mile and a sixteenth of the Clark on the muddy track indicated that his owner, T. S. Mulvihill of Cincinnati, "kicked one" when he failed to name the son of Nocturnal-Beguine for the Derby.

At the end of the struggle it was Beaver Dam by six lengths. Blackbirder, a Florida conditioned Derby eligible, floundered home in second place, and Bring Back, a 5 year old mare owned by Mrs. A. B. Gay of Lexington, was third.

Just a Gallop.

Beaver Dam carried but 102 pounds and was in complete command of the situation from the time the field passed the clubhouse turn until he all but ran away to hide from his rivals coming down the homestretch. The Clark handicap carried an added money prize of $2,500. Beaver Dam's time for the mile and a sixteenth was 1:47 2-5. It was slightly more than three seconds off the track record made by Lady Madcap many seasons ago.

Blackbirder and South Gallant were the only two Derby candidates to go into action in the Clark. Blackbirder's showing indicated that he does not care to go much more than six furlongs and a mile at the most. South Gallant, a son of Gallant Fox-Fasnet, never could untrack himself in the muddy going.

Chicagoans at Opening.

Conspicuous in the opening day crowd was State's Attorney Thomas J. Courtney of Chicago, Col. Edward R. Bradley, Mr. and Mrs. Warren Wright of Chicago, and Joseph E. Widener of New York.

Prosecutor Courtney was accompanied by Mrs. Courtney, Police Captain Daniel Gilbert and wife, Dr. Dennis O'Connor, Dr. C. J. McGuire, Attorney Isadore Levine, and Police Sergeants McInerney and Smith. The Courtney party motored over from French Lick Springs and was paced by a motorcycle police guard which Gov. McNutt of Indiana had sent over from Indianapolis.

MACK'S PAL NO PAL OF RIDER—TODAY WINS STAKE

O for the life of an assistant starter or exercise boy at the race track! These photographs, taken at the Fox Valley Jocky club course at Aurora, give you an idea of what these gentlemen are up against. At left, they're backing Mack's Pal into the starting gate; in center, the horse rears, and, at right, she stumbles to the ground in an effort to unseat her rider. Mack's Pal is a 4 year old filly owned by W. C. Weber. The exercise boy is Tommy Carr and the assistant starter is Cal Green. The Aurora meeting starts Wednesday afternoon.

Aurora Track to Hold Open House Today

The horses come back to Chicago Wednesday after an absence of six months to begin at Aurora a long Illinois racing season that gives promise of being the most successful in recent years. At the Fox Valley Jocky club plant, which has been so thoroughly remodeled as to give the appearance of a new race course, the spring meeting will continue for twenty-one racing days, and will culminate in the third running of the $10,000 added Illinois Derby at a mile and a furlong on Friday, May 24.

After Aurora will follow Washington Park, Arlington Park, Lincoln Fields, and Hawthorne in order, with the season winding up next October at Sportsman's Park. The Illinois Derby will be the first of the series of important stakes in the schedule with which the Chicago tracks expect to regain the summer leadership in American racing.

Open House Today.

The rebuilding of the grandstand, the paving of the lawn, and the construction of the new judges' stand at Aurora are far enough along so that president Robert S. Eddy scheduled an "open house" at the track for this afternoon. Hundreds of racegoers eager for a preview of the new season were expected to visit the course.

By tomorrow the officials that will handle the meeting are expected to be on hand. Joseph Cattarinich, mutuel manager, arrived yesterday. All three stewards—Chris FitzGerald of the Illinois Racing commission, John Ireland, and Thomas Bradley, are expected to appear at the track Monday.

Wingfield Holds School.

Racing Secretary Dick Leigh has been on hand for several weeks, superintending the work of obtaining the nominations of top 3 years olds for the Illinois Derby, and getting his condition books ready. Starter George Wingfield arrived last week, and has been busy schooling the 2 year olds and some of the known bad post actors in starting from the Bahr gate which he will use here this season.

The Illinois Derby, from the caliber of the early nominations, seems likely to attract the best field in its history. Col. E. R. Bradley's good filly, Black Helen, ranks as the advance favorite, but such tested performers as Mrs. Walter M. Jeffords' Commonwealth, the Texas Derby winner, Roman Soldier, and the Louisiana Derby winner, McCarthy, will have plenty of backers. So far fifteen thoroughbreds have been named, but the lists do not close until May 16, and with invitations being sent to the owners of one-two-three horses in each of the 3 year old specials, many more contenders for championship honors are expected to be named. Invitations will be sent to each member of the starting fields in the Kentucky Derby and the Preakness.

Plenty of Fast Workouts.

The racing strip is in top condition. That is attested by the good works that some of the hundreds of horses quartered at the track have been turning in. Blameless and Servant Pride turned in five furlong moves in 1:02, handily, yesterday. Erebus and Adelia A. were sent along handily for the same distance in 1:02 4-5. George was tabbed by the railbirds as a fit horse after he breezed three furlongs in :36 4-5.

JAMAICA'S HIGH RAILS BLAMED FOR ACCIDENTS

New York, April 27.—[Special.]—The big question around the Jamaica track at the present moment concerns the height of the rail. After a couple of decades the jockies have come to the conclusion that it is too high. Either that or there is a flagrant epidemic of rough riding.

Since the season opened, four jockies have been injured and Trainer Frank Kearns had to destroy a horse as the result of a collision with the rail. Mike Corona, promising young apprentice, will be unable to ride for about five weeks as a result of injuring his left foot on the rail. Bobby Jones cut his finger and Pony McAtee had to cancel two mounts one day after he had injured his knee.

The jockies blame the rail, which is high and inclines toward the track, but at the same time certain wearers of the silks think that some of the recent mishaps cannot be regarded entirely as accidents and charged to to the construction of the course.

Today, C. V. Whitney's Kentucky Derby candidate, flashes to victory in the Wood Memorial stakes at the Jamaica race track yesterday. Plat Eye is second and Omaha third. Today's performance stamps him as one of the favorites for the Kentucky classic which will be decided next Saturday at Churchill Downs.

Chase Those Cats! Birds Are Coming In

BY BOB BECKER.

Bird fans in the middle west now are hearing the "last call" regarding houses for feathered tenants. This is the time for home owners to arrange for the wren nesting boxes in the yard, a bird bath in the garden to attract a variety of song birds and to establish a plan to keep prowling house cats away from low, bushy shrubs where the cat bird and the brown thrasher, two of our most wonderful singers, are apt to nest.

From this date on through May is by far the most thrilling time of the year for all of us who live in an area where we can observe the spring migration and the arrival of summer bird residents. Nature turns on the migration wave to give us glimpses of hundreds of interesting birds. The whippoorwill ought to check in at this time. And next month that welcome little pepperbox, the house wren, the brilliant Baltimore oriole, the warblers, the catbird and many other species will contribute their spring songs to the countryside and the suburbs around Chicagoland.

The house wren is apt to check in the last few days of April or the first week in May. Therefore, home owners should get busy right away on nesting boxes for these happy go lucky songsters that like to build nests around a home.

Handbook a Real Help.

Complete directions on how to build wren houses, where to place them, the size of an entrance hole into a wren box, the value of a bird bath in the garden to attract song birds of all kinds, and a "who's who" among Chicagoland birds including 28 beautiful illustrations of interesting species are included in THE TRIBUNE's handbook on bird life entitled "Birds and Birdhouses." This profusely illustrated guide is distributed through the public service office of THE TRIBUNE, 1 South Dearborn street, Chicago. It is 32 cents by mail.

This handbook is not only packed full of information about Chicagoland birds that come to us in the spring but it also is a valuable guide for the home owner who wants to know how to attract birds to his yard during the winter.

Watch Your Golf Balls.

One of the novel illustrations in the book is that of a killdeer trying to sit on its nest and incubate a golf ball that has been added to the clutch of eggs. "Birds and Birdhouses" also has a chapter on song bird enemies, including the common crow. Another feature of the book which should interest bird fans at this ti of the year tells about the migrations of North American birds, how they fly over long stretches of ocean, how light houses kill thousands every migration season and where some of our songsters have been during the winter season.

Stand Pat Sets Record to Win Stake at Havre

Havre de Grace, Md., April 27.—(AP)—Stand Pat, Edward F. Seagram's 4 year old chestnut colt, won by almost three lengths today in the $7,500 added Philadelphia handicap and set a new record for the stake.

His time was 1:44 1-5, compared with the 1:44 2-5 set last year by Equipoise. Stand Pat, son of John P. Grier out of Low Degree, paid $22.60 for a $2 ticket.

Only One, Howe stable entry, placed by a head over Roustabout, from the C. V. Whitney stable. Roustabout showed by a length and a half over the Araho stable entry, Howard. Only One, a 14 to 1 shot, paid $13.60 for $2 to place.

Stand Pat, with R. Howard up, stepped into the lead after Identity had led for six furlongs of the mile and one-sixteenth. He showed masterly speed once in command and drew away at will towards the finish.

The Philadelphia handicap was the feature of the closing day of the spring meeting. The victory was worth $6,550 to Seagram.

TODAY'S SPEED IN STRETCH WINS WOOD MEMORIAL

Plat Eye Finishes Second at Jamaica.

New York, April 27.—[Special.]—The strong, sharp, burst of speed which C. V. Whitney's Today turned on at the top of the Jamaica stretch this afternoon won him the $14,850 Wood Memorial stake.

Three lengths back of Today, after a game, hard battle, came Mrs. Payne Whitney's Chesapeake stakes winner, Plat Eye. Plat Eye led William Woodward's Omaha by a nose as that son of Gallant Fox closed with a sensational rush from his usual slow beginning. Then Psychic Bid, early pacemaker, and the others crossed the line.

Coucci Has Three Winners.

Today was ridden by Ray Workman and gave him a double as he previously had ridden Lady Higloss. Silvio Coucci, who gave Plat Eye a fine ride, gained a triple with Count Arthur, Rose Cross and Bird Lore. These riders also will be up at Churchill Downs on Saturday. Today and Plat Eye are to be shipped west promptly. Omaha will go tomorrow, according to Trainer Jim Fitzsimmons, but whether or not Willie Saunders, his rider this afternoon, will be in the saddle remains to be seen.

Over a fast track, Today was clocked in the smart time of 1:42 4-5, a fifth of a second slower than the time made by Gallant Fox in 1930 and Twenty Grand in 1931. Both of these went on to win the Derby. He and Omaha both shouldered 112 pounds, while Psychic Bid was next to the top weight with 120. The winner's share of the purse was $11,350, the richest renewal of this stake in years.

Count Arthur Is Victor.

After the finish of the second race, during which the stewards deliberated and called two of the patrol judges to assist in confirming the order of finish, Mrs. John D. Hertz's Count Arthur, a slight favorite at 2 to 1 over the entry of Sir Beverley and Foreign Legion held at 11 to 5, won by a nose. Sir Beverley was the second horse.

No change was made in the finish after seven minutes of discussion. Five lengths back of the pair which finished so close together, Apprehend crossed the line. Willie Saunders, rider of Sir Beverley, was in the stand and was queried by the stewards.

Rose Cross Ties Time.

Further support was given to the time made by Today when Rose Cross, a 4 year old, was clocked in exactly the same time in the fifth race. Rose Cross carried 116 pounds but is a year older. He is the Dwyer stakes winner of last year and was making his 1935 debut. Coucci had the mount and came well off the pace to win by a half length. Gay Monarch was second and Somebody third. The winner receded to 5 to 2.

HOTSPUR II. WINS MARYLAND HUNT STEEPLECHASE

Baltimore, Md., April 27.—(AP)—Hotspur II., owned by Mrs. W. Austin Wadsworth, Genesee, N. Y., and ridden by Stuart S. Janney Jr., Baltimore, won the historic Maryland hunt cup steeplechase today over the four mile course in Worthington valley.

Capt. Kettle thundered across the finish line in second place. This mount, the victor in 1933 and 1934, had been a pre-race favorite to repeat and give permanent possession of the classic hunt trophy to his owner Charles S. Cheston, Philadelphia. He was ridden by Charles R. White.

Gigolo, owned by Mrs. Vadim Makaroff and ridden by William B. Street, was third, and Outlaw, owned by Benjamin L. Behr, Chicago, Henry Frost Jr. up, finished fourth.

Hotspur II., aged gelded son of Uncle George—Hera, Led most of the way over the 22 jump course. Capt. Kettle, who had closely trailed the victor, managed to grab the lead after the last jump and hold it to within a few yards of the finish.

Only four horses of a field of eight finished the race, rated the most difficult in the United States. Mrs. T. H. Somerville's Troublemaker fell at the 17th jump and broke its neck. Mullah fell at the eighth. Vaudeville refused the 19th fence, and Cockey Captain came a cropper at the 20th.

OWENS CAPTURES DRAKE SPRINT IN 9.5; TIES RECORD

Huey Long Crabs Show at Des Moines.

Elwood Dees, of Kansas, captured the 16 pound shot put title with a toss of 50 feet, 1¾ inches, a slight improvement on his qualifying effort. Mark Panther, the javelin champion, however, could not better his qualifying toss of 210.74 feet, which brought him a new meet record yesterday.

Included in today's records were two by high school relay teams. Greenville, Miss., took the mile race and Davenport's quartet earned an easy victory in the half mile. This brought the two day total to six new records and two ties.

PRINCETON WINS COMPTON RACE; HARVARD SECOND

Cambridge, Mass., April 27.—(AP)—Princeton's revamped varsity eight, stroking smoothly and easily as it led throughout, gained its third consecutive Compton cup regatta victory today by leading Harvard by a length and a quarter and M. I. T. by three lengths over the Charles river's new mile and three-quarters rowing course. Its time was 9:22 3-5.

Princeton, however, lost to the Crimson in the junior-varsity and freshman crew races, both over the mile and three-quarters distances, but it gained a three and a half length victory over the M. I. T. 150 pounders in a Henley distance race.

After the Harvard freshmen defeated Princeton by two and a half lengths in 9:32, and Tech by three and a quarter, the Crimson Jayvees came from behind to beat out Princeton by two lengths and M. I. T. by five and a half.

ARLINGTON HTS. CAPTURES MEET AT PALATINE

Arlington Heights High school, scoring 40 points, won the third annual Palatine invitational track meet yesterday at Palantine as two state records were broken. Eddie Hahnfeldt, Palatine, hurled the discus 145 feet 6 inches, the old state record being 139 feet 10 inches. Hahnfeldt also tossed the javelin 186 feet 10 inches to break the old record of 180 feet 2 inches.

Libertyville finished second with 24½ points, and Palatine was third with 23.

Michigan State and Columbia Win at Penn

a toss of 205 feet 10 inches and finished second to Peacock in the broad jump with a leap of 24 feet 5 inches.

Cornell lost all three major relay titles it won last spring. Outrun by Columbia in both sprint relays, Cornell met with an accident in defense of its 480 yard shuttle hurdles title, finishing fourth and last as Pennsylvania withstood Ohio Wesleyan's closing drive to win by inches. Godley, the third Cornell hurdler, tripped over a hurdle and fell.

Maine Runner Loses Shoe.

An accident to Maine's first runner, W. B. Cole, also proved costly in the two mile relay. Cole, stepped on from behind, lost a shoe and ran nearly the full half mile with one bare foot, losing much ground.

Manhattan, last year's winner, was eighth and last in the four mile relay. Army, finishing second, was 100 yards behind Michigan State.

Chicago Normal Beats Morton College, 12-9

Chicago Normal college defeated Morton Junior college, 12 to 9, in an eleven inning baseball game at Cicero yesterday. Morrie Solomen, pitching for the Normal nine, struck out 19. Normal gathered sixteen hits and committed three errors, while Morton connected for eight safe hits, and was charged with three errors.

Chicago Beats North Central Track Team

A strong University of Chicago track team came from behind, scoring heavily in the last two events to defeat North Central college, 72 2-3 to 58 1-3, yesterday at Naperville. Led by Jay Berwanger, who took firsts in the shot put, javelin, and discus for individual honors, the Maroons were able to pick up enough points in the final events to clinch victory. The relay was forfeited by North Central.

A strong southwest wind and a slow track made records impossible. Chicago took eight first places and a slam in the discus, Berwanger, Scruby, and Smith scoring in that order. North Central won six firsts and turned in a slam in the two mile run, with Haag, Sperry, and Rickel placing.

Block of Chicago made the most impressive showing of the afternoon when he ran the 220 yard dash in :22.2 to beat Johnny Dieber, North Central dash star. Krause, Chicago, took third.

Berwanger put the shot 43 feet 4 inches, tossed the javelin 160 feet 9 inches, and won the discus with a mark of 127 feet 6 inches for three firsts and 15 points. Summaries:

ONE MILE RUN—Culver [N. C.] and Haag [N. C.], tied for first and second; Webster [C.], third. Time, 4:57.6.

440 YARD RUN—Dystrup [C.] and Johnstone [C.], tied for first and second; Bollen [N. C.], third. Time, :53.3.

SHOT PUT—Won by Berwanger [C.]; Scruby [C.], second; Dillion [N. C.], third. Distance, 43 feet 4 inches.

100 YARD DASH—Won by Krause [C.]; Smith [C.], second; Deiber [N. C.], third. Time, :10.2.

HIGH JUMP—Won by Miller [N. C.]; Masterson [C.] and Beal [C.] tied for second and third. Height, 5 feet 10 inches.

120 YARD HIGH HURDLES—Won by Godfrey [N. C.]; Gillette [N. C.], second; Newman [C.], third. Time, :15.8.

880 YARD RUN—Culver [N. C.] and Keyes [N. C.] tied for first and second; Johnstone [S.], third. Time, 2:17.1.

220 YARD LOW HURDLES—Won by Smith [C.]; Siebert [N. C.], second; Gillette [N. C.], third. Time, :24.7.

DISCUS—Won by Berwanger [C.]; Scruby [C.], second; Smith [C.], third. Distance, 127 feet 6 inches.

BROAD JUMP—Won by Beal [C.]; Johnstone [C.], second; Siebert [N. C.], third. Distance, 21 feet 7 inches.

AUG IS LOST TO MICHIGAN SQUAD IN SPRING DRILL

Ann Arbor, Mich., April 27.—[Special.]—Vincent [Whitey] Aug, regular Michigan half back last fall, was lost to the squad for the rest of the spring season when he suffered a fracture of the right elbow this afternoon. Aug was injured when tackled after making a seven yard gain.

Coach Harry Kipke saw some hope for his fortunes after watching Chris Everhardus and Bob Cooper peel off sizeable gains, and Capt. Bill Renner, Cooper, and two or three others toss a number of nice passes. He also was pleased with the work of Earl Luby, Chicago, one of the new tackles; Fred Olds, Lansing, center and guard; George Ghesquier, Grosse Pointe, end, and Stark Ritchie, Battle Creek, the best defensive back on the squad.

NORTHWESTERN TIES ILLINOIS IN TENNIS MATCHES

The Northwestern university tennis team encountered unexpected opposition from Illinois yesterday on the Evanston courts and was held to a 3 to 3 draw in its first start against a Big Ten opponent.

The Wildcats led 3 to 1 at the conclusion of the singles competition but the Illini rallied to capture both of the doubles matches and earn a tie. Results:

Singles—McInninch [I] defeated G. Ball N] 6-3, 6-1; R. Ball [N] defeated Moll [I] 5-7, 6-4, 6-3; Rugg [N] defeated Lewers [I] 6-3, 7-5; Rasmussen [N] defeated Hicks [I] 1-6, 6-1, 6-2.

Doubles—McInninch and Moll I] defeated George and Russell Ball [N] 6-4, 6-2; Hicks and Lewers [I] defeated Rugg and Rasmussen [N] 6-8, 0-7.

Maroons and Purdue Divide Double Header

Lafayette, Ind., April 27.—[Special.]—Purdue and Chicago split a Big Ten double header this afternoon, the Maroons going on a nine run splurge in the last two innings to take the first game, 14 to 5, after which the Boilermakers hit when hits counted to win, 3 to 1. Scores:

Chicago	020	012	063—14	13	1
Purdue	200	010	200— 5	8	5

Batteries—Yedor and Shipway; Ernst, Martin, Shuttleworth and Cherico.

Batteries—Laird and Curtis, Shipway; Elrod and Cherico.

ILLINOIS COLLEGE WINS.

Jacksonville, Ill., April 27.—(AP)—Illinois college defeated Illinois Wesleyan, 12 to 7, in an Illinois collegiate conference baseball game today. Pacotti and Colin hit home runs for Illinois, and Ted Read, Wesleyan's starting pitcher, got a homer and triple before being replaced. Score:

Wesleyan	211	200	001— 7	7	2
Illinois college	412	103	01*—12	14	2

Batteries—Read, Shannon, and Goldsmith; Davis and Clark.

WISCONSIN GAME OFF.

BADGERS SHOW POWER AS SPRING FOOTBALL ENDS

Madison, Wis., April 27.—[U. P.]—The 1935 University of Wisconsin football team will not lose as many games next season as it did last year, critics predicted today after watching an intra-squad game marking the end of spring training.

Eddie Jankowski, varsity full back from Milwaukee, made the only score in the game, plunging two yards through center for a touchdown and kicking the extra point in the first quarter. Officials ruled interference on a long pass by Emmett Mortell, Appleton, which placed the "Reds," captained by Jankowski, in scoring position.

The "Blues" had a slight edge in play despite failure to score. Both line and backfield promise to be tougher than last season, with new material indicating that some of the veterans may have to step to retain their places.

N. U. Backs Show Power in Test Game

Northwestern's football team concluded its spring practice yesterday with an intrasquad game in which the Purple eleven, aided by the running and passing of Ollie Adelman, sophomore quarter back, defeated the Whites, 19 to 0.

Coach Lynn Waldorf, who will leave today for his home in Manhattan, Kas., said that he was highly pleased with the progress made during the six weeks' practice this spring.

Vanzo Makes Touchdown.

"Our principal objective was to become acquainted with the abilities of the individual players and to establish the various formations that we will use next fall," he said.

Fred Vanzo, 220 pound freshman full back, did an impressive job of line plunging. He personally accounted for the Purple's first touchdown, advancing the ball on successive plunges from midfield until he went over from the 5 yard line. On one of these smashes he hit straight over center for 27 yards.

Adelman Intercepts Pass.

Adelman, who shared honors with Vanzo, paved the way for the Purple's second touchdown in the third quarter when he intercepted Cruice's pass and ran it back 30 yards to the 5 yard line. He went through right tackle on the next play for a touchdown. The third score came late in the fourth quarter when Don Mourning, freshman half back from Springfield, O., intercepted a pass and ran 70 yards to the goal.

The White eleven was weakened in the first quarter by injuries to Hugh Duvall, veteran full back, and Don Heap, freshman half back, both of whom were forced to leave the game. Clarence Hinton, freshman colored half back from Peoria, who replaced Heap, put the Whites in a position to score on several occasions with long runs, but each time fumbles halted further advances.

IOWA GOLFERS WIN OPENING MEET, 14½ TO 3½

Iowa City, Ia., April 27.—[Special.]—University of Iowa golfers opened the season today by defeating Kirksville [Mo.] School of Osteopathy, 14½ to 3½. Iowa swept the four singles matches and lost one of the two doubles. Medal score honors went to Gardner and Bock of Iowa with 79 each. Summaries:

SINGLES—Gardner [I.] defeated Lovell [K.], 3 to 0; Stromsten [I.] defeated Bock [K.], 2½ to ½; Lambert [I.] defeated Woodhall [K.], 3 to 0; Shellady [I.] defeated Barnett [K.], 3 to 0.

FOURSOMES—Dunkelberg and Kadgihn [I.] defeated Lovell and Barnett [K.], 3 to 0; Bock and Woodhall [K.] defeated Cook and Rhue [I.], 3 to 0.

IOWA DEFEATS NORTHWESTERN IN 11TH, 4 TO 3

Gets Even for Previous Setback.

Northwestern and Iowa engaged in another extra inning baseball game at Evanston yesterday, the Hawkeyes winning 4 to 3 in the eleventh inning. Northwestern won the first game of the series Friday, 3 to 2, in 12 innings.

Clausen, Iowa first baseman, opened the eleventh with a triple and went home with the winning run on Gosser's fly to center.

Charles Blackman, Iowa left hander, struck out nine men. Tom Woods, Northwestern southpaw granted only seven hits but walked eight. He was relieved in the ninth by Ray Kimbell. Score:

Northwestern	000	001	110	00—3	8	5

Batteries—Blackman and Hoover; Woods, Kimbell and Claborn.

NOTRE DAME, 2; ILLINOIS, 1.

Champaign, Ill., April 27.—[Special.]—Playing errorless ball behind Tuomey's excellent pitching, Notre Dame defeated Illinois, 2 to 1, today.

Aided by sharp fielding on the part of the Irish infield, Tuomey kept the Illini hits scattered except in the first inning. Reinhart beat out a bunt and eventually scored on Duffner's single.

In the seventh Gaul singled to drive in Notre Dame's two runs.

Pershell relieved Cherry for the Illini in the first and Swanson finished out the last two innings.

Notre Dame	000	000	200—2	4	0
Illinois	100	000	000—1	6	1

Batteries—Tuomey and Gaul; Cherry, Pershell and Kowalski.

OHIO STATE, 8; INDIANA, 2.

Bloomington, Ind., April 27.—[Special.]—Limiting Indiana university to four hits while fanning 12 batters, Marvin Ulrich, senior Ohio State pitcher, paced the Buckeyes to an 8 to 2 victory over the Hoosiers here today in a Big Ten game.

Ulrich also connected for two hits.

Ohio State pounded two Indiana pitchers, Roberts and Kehrt, for ten hits, getting four of them and four runs in the ninth.

The game was witnessed by two major league scouts, Clarence Rowland of the Chicago Cubs and Ernie Johnson of the Boston Red Sox, both of whom were here to watch the performances of McAgee, Ohio State first baseman and Clowsen, Buckeye second baseman. Score:

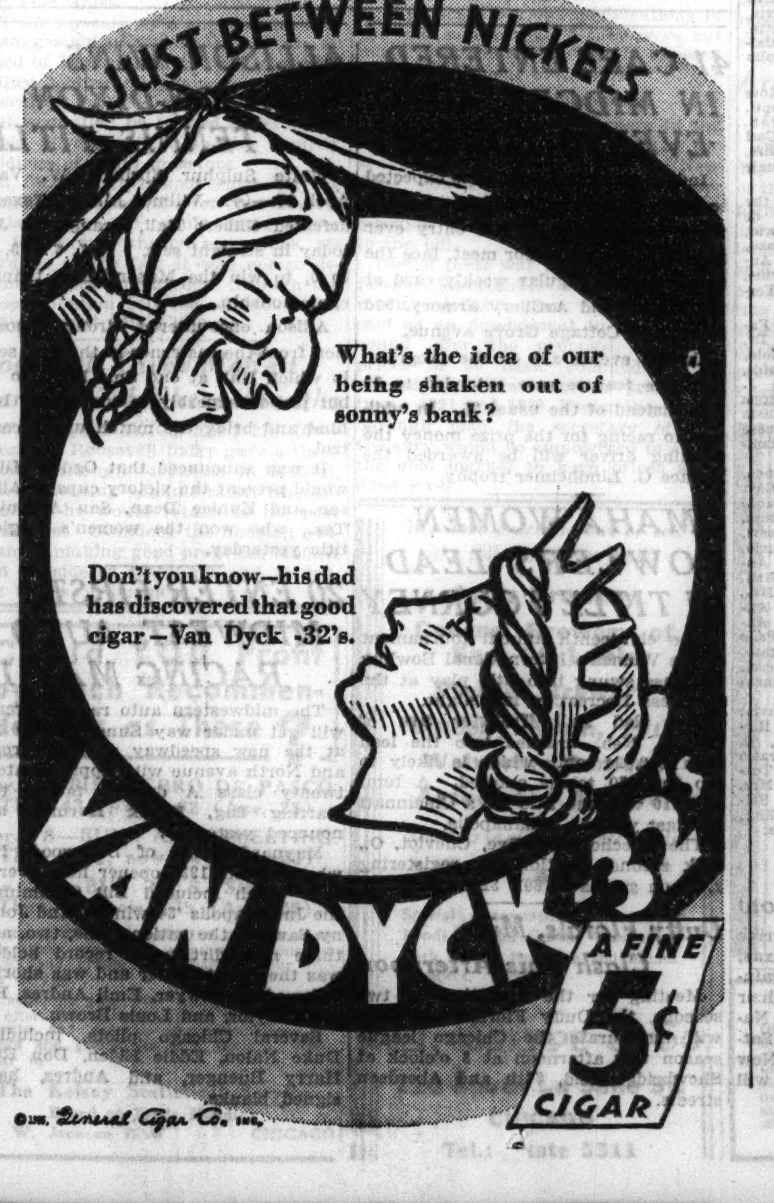
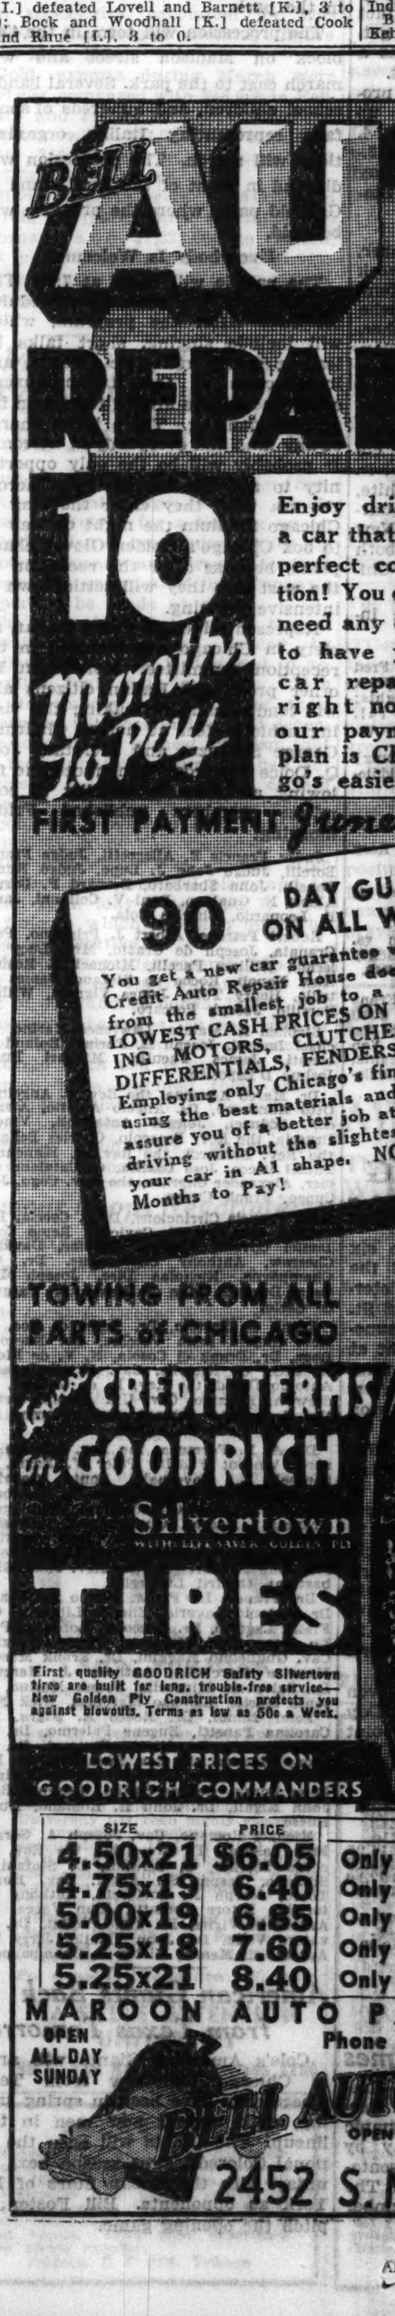
Indiana	000	002	000—2	4	3

Batteries—Ulrich and Moser; Roberts, Kehrt and Kabic.





ZIVIC TO FIGHT CHYNOWETH ON MARIGOLD CARD

Manitowoc Boxer Seeks No. 9 Tomorrow.

Fritz Zivic, Pittsburgh welterweight, and Fred Chynoweth of Manitowoc, Wis., will meet in an eight round bout at Marigold Gardens tomorrow which tops this week's Chicago boxing schedule.

Chynoweth has not boxed since Nov. 26, when he whipped Geno Salvatore in an eight round battle at Marigold. He sustained a nose injury which necessitated the long layoff. The victory was the Wisconsin fighter's eighth straight triumph. Included among his victims prior to the conquest of Salvatore were Joey Kleko, Jackie Lazar, Mickey Joy, and Lou Nasef.

Barney Ross, junior welterweight champion, and his handlers will head for Ferndale, N. Y., Thursday to establish training quarters there for the welterweight championship encounter with Champion Jimmy McLarnin at New York May 28. Ross, who relinquished his lightweight title in order to pave the way for his third fight with McLarnin, will open daily drills at Trafton's loop gymnasium tomorrow.

Max Baer, heavyweight champion, will open a new series of radio broadcasts over a coast to coast network at New York tomorrow preparatory to starting workouts Wednesday at Asbury Park, N. J., for his fifteen round title bout with James J. Braddock June 13 at Madison Square Garden's Long Island bowl.

Joe Louis will engage in his third exhibition bout in preparation for his scrap with Primo Carnera, former titleholder, at New York June 25, at Peoria, Ill., Friday. The 1934 Golden Gloves king then will head east to select a training site. He is tentatively booked to appear in a training skit in a vaudeville house in Harlem, starting May 17.

At the conclusion of his theatrical appearance Louis will begin serious training for the contest with Carnera for which he will be paid approximately 20 per cent of the net gate receipts. Inasmuch as critics predict about 40,000 will pay an estimated $400,000 to see the fight Joe's purse would be in the neighborhood of $80,000. That's a record in itself, but Joe is used to setting records and it is believed all that money will not change him despite the fact that less than a year ago he was getting only $25 per week serving as a mechanic at a Detroit motor plant.

Louis was paid $50 for his first professional bout in a quickly set up arena on Chicago south side July 4. In his latest he was paid close to $12,000 for a three round conquest of Roy Lazer of Paterson, N. J., at the Stadium April 12.

Harry Dublinsky, Chicago boxer, will go to New Orleans, La., this week to battle Eddie [Kid] Wolfe of Memphis, Tenn., May 6. . . . Dublinsky, who recently married Miss Elaine Fischer, daughter of former Representative Arthur E. Fischer of the Sixth district, will be making his first start as a Benedick. . . . Solly Dukelsky, Chicago, and Jack Gibbons, St. Paul, will go through with their postponed engagement at St. Paul Thursday. . . . Among the pupils of Tommy White, featherweight star more than a quarter century back, are Lou Bartel, New York, and Max Elling, Pittsburgh, both middleweights, and Davey White, Chicago lightweight. . . .

Bouts on this week's schedule include:

Monday.

At Marigold Gardens—Fritz Zivic vs. Fred Chynoweth [8], welterweights; Henry Hook vs. Bobby O'Dowd [6], featherweights; Jimmy Richards vs. Walter Matthys [4], junior lightweights; and Dick Porter vs. Carl Scalise [4], junior welterweights.

At New Orleans, La.—Hayden [Young] Stuhley vs. Eddie Flynn [10], middleweights.

Tuesday.

At Los Angeles, Cal.—Speedy Dado vs. Pablo Dano [10], bantamweights.

At Quincy, Ill.—Allen Matthews vs. Rosy [Kid] Baker [10], middleweights.

Wednesday.

At Louisville, Ky.—Young Stuhley vs. Harry Jacobs [8], middleweights.

Thursday.

At Oakland, Cal.—Maxie Rosenbloom vs. Homer Brandis [10], heavyweights; Mickey Genaro vs. Andy Bundy [10], lightweights.

Friday.

At Peoria, Ill.—Joe Louis vs. Jack Kranz [4], heavyweights; Max Elling vs. Fred Tyus [8], middleweights; George Engel vs. Gene Higgins, welterweights; George Van Der Hayden vs. Davey White, lightweights, and Keith Graves vs. Ed Schiller, middleweights, each six rounds.

FREITAG LEADS MATCH BOWLING ELIMINATIONS

Herb Freitag, Chicago, led the six survivors in the grand final of the match bowling eliminations to determine who will meet Otto Stein of St. Louis for the national title at Scheuneman's Lake View alleys last night at the end of 27 games with a point total of 134.01, a pin total of 5,751, an average of 213, and with 19 games won and eight lost.

He lost his match last night, five games to four, to Ora Mayer of San Francisco, who scored a high game of 264 and totaled 1,985 pins, 60 more than Herb. Mayer's point total of 44.35 was the highest made in any one block.

Hank Marino, Milwaukee, bowling against Paul Krumske of Chicago in the final block last night, won five games to four and picked up 43.31 points to boost himself into second place with a total of 133.28.

Despite the fact that he has won only 14 and lost 13 games, Ned Day of Milwaukee has the highest point total of 58.03 and consequently the best average of 214.25, and is in third place with a point total of 131.03.

ITALIANS START FINAL TEST FOR CHICAGO BOUTS

a committee of Italians in arranging a reception for Italy's amateur boxing champions at Garfield park the evening of May 12, yesterday announced plans for a parade to be held in Madison street preceding the celebration in the park.

The procession will form in the 4500 block on Madison street and will march east to the park. Several bands, school children, and hundreds of sport fans representing Italian organizations will march. The procession will disband in front of the band stand in Garfield park, where the program will be held.

Everybody Is Welcome.

The parade will begin at 7:45. The festivities in the park are scheduled for 8:30. After the program, which will include singing, short talks by leading sports and civic officials, and introduction of the Italian boxers, every one will be invited to remain for outdoor dancing. There is no charge of any kind and everybody is welcome. It probably will be the only opportunity to see the fighters from across the sea until they enter the ring at Chicago Stadium the night of May 22 to box Chicago's Golden Gloves champions, because after the reception on the west side they will settle down to intensive training.

Representatives of every Italian society in Chicago are included in the reception committee. More than 100 other prominent Italian citizens also will lend a hand in making the visiting athletes feel at home. Chairman George Spatuzza and Secretary John Q. Dolce yesterday announced the following additions to the list of committee members published Friday morning:

Blue Ribbons Bowl Monarchs for Classic Title This Week

BY HOWARD MARTIN.

Bowling in the Classic league will come to an end this evening with four matches at the Gold Coast Recreation on North Clark street. With the Monarch Beers firmly entrenched in first place with a seven game lead, tonight's session merely will serve as a tuneup for the two teams that will roll off for the championship later in the week.

The Pabst Blue Ribbons romped off with first place in the first half of the split season and the Monarchs are the second half winners. These two teams, both averaging over 1,000, will be brought together Tuesday evening at the Lorraine Arcade, Wednesday at the Idle Hour Recreation, and Thursday, if three series are required, at the Garden Recreation. The series will be decided when one team wins five games.

Tonight's windup schedule will be:

La Salle-Windsor vs. Vrba Motors.
Monarch Beer vs. Budweiser.
Baby Ruth vs. Edelweiss.
Pabst' Blue Ribbons vs. Cardinals.

Standings:

North End League.

The Milfords finally clinched the title in the North End Traveling league with a clean sweep over the Samuelsons, while the Foxes dropped two to the Birk Brothers. The Milfords topped the league again with a 3,167 total, Pete Petersen tightening his hold on the individual lead with a 682 series. Another change took place in the individuals, when Joe Gratz of the Milfords took fourth place from Roy Ackenback of the Michelobs. Tomorrow night's schedule:

Foxes at Idle Hour, 9 p. m.; Butterfingers vs. Michelobs at North Town, 7 p. m.; Westers at Samuelsons, 7 p. m.; Millers vs. Superbs at Willow, 7 p. m.; Milfords vs. Birk Bros. at Lincoln Square, 7 p. m.

Woodlawn League.

The Brucks, leaders of the Woodlawn Major league, won two out of three from the second place Crest Recreation, totaling 3,090 against 3,036. Adam Plunge, by shooting 670, not only led his team, but also assumed the individual leadership. However, high individual series was shot by Armstrong of the Crests with 684. Other high series: Kluge, 643; Garvey, 620; Strand, 606; Flood, 636; Kobza, 643; Skovie, 611; Albrecht, 647; Winsberg, 644; Lassen, 631; Bunn, 636; Kuglin, 604; Dunkel, 628; Cooksey, 623. Christie paid up his dues in the 400 club with 455 as did Darling with 495. Schedule for tomorrow:

Our Club vs. Woodlawn Recreation, Everett Coal company vs. Bloom Florists, Crest Recreation vs. James M. Whalens, Brucks vs. American Brakebloks.

On North Side Alleys.

With Les Fuller's 690 series leading the way, the Hoerber Beers shot the week's high series of 3,117, good for a clean sweep over the Triangle Shirts in the Gold Coast Major league. Although they lost two games to Anheuser-Busch, the Curtiss Butterfingers clinched the championship. The Butterfingers hold a five game lead. . . . Honors in the Northwest Traveling league went to Clark-Lunt with a 3,013 series and to Monte Cristo, which registered a 1,102 game. A 727 series by L. Fratini set a league record. Other high scores: Ritcher, 657; Sampayo, 651; E. Peterson, 629. A. Sallander had high game with 247.

About the Women.

Edith Wohlers collected 581 to lead the Samuelson Major league. Other good series were: Flo Hauslein, 552; Maude Knorst, 548; Marie Ledene, 546; Madelene Machann, 553; Signe Walz, 530; Elizabeth Sullivan, 522; Martha Bendick, 516; Bertha MacEwan, 515; Elsie Carlson, 509; Ida Johnson, 506; Ann Walz, 501. . . . With the aid of a 220 game, Alice Gay topped the Pioneer Arcade Major league. She shot 586. Next were Phoebe Rocklin, 566; Adeline Waddell, 551; Marie Domschke, 539; May Fukal, 536; Mary Fechtmeyer, 530; May Padzimek, 528. . . . Mary Martin toppled the pins for 576 and high series in the Pioneer Senior league. Jo Limbach totaled 569, Viola Gross, 544; Alma Kasper, 547; Louise Goldammer, 529; Kate Campbell, 519; Jeannette Fisher, 518; Lu McGrath, 510.

Here and There.

Pat Piper, who calls out the batteries at the Cubs' games, won the Perseverance lodge No. 973's annual handicap tournament with a total of 616 on the Randolph alleys. . . . Squads are scheduled at 4, 5, 8, and 10 p. m. today in the windup of the Harding Recreation five man sweepstakes. . . . Pete Howley reports a large entry for the individual tournament tonight at the 131 South Wabash alleys. With the new sized molding installed conditions will be the same as at the A. B. C. in Syracuse, where splash strikes were the exception and not the rule. The new moldings, adopted for next season, are ¾ inch wide, tapering from ⅞ inch high to 1½ inches at the 10 pin spot. The old moldings are 1½ inches wide and high.

41 CARS ENTERED IN MIDGET AUTO EVENTS TONIGHT

Indoor automobile racing is expected to reach its climax in Chicago tonight when 41 cars, the largest entry ever registered for an indoor meet, face the starter in the regular weekly card at the 124th Field Artillery armory, 52d street and Cottage Grove avenue.

Twelve events are on the program, with the feature race extended to 30 laps instead of the usual 25. In addition to racing for the prize money the winning driver will be awarded the Horace G. Lindheimer trophy.

OMAHA WOMEN BOWLERS LEAD IN TITLE TOURNEY

The Red Ball Transfer five of Omaha, Neb., crashed into the lead with a 2,624 total, which is likely to top the 470 teams entered. A total of 2,616 won the title for a Cincinnati five last year at Indianapolis.

The Bueche Alley five, Cheviot, O., took second position by registering 2,472 on games of 801, 820, and 851.

Duffy Florals, Mills Clash This Afternoon

Meeting for the first time in two seasons, the Duffy Florals and Mills will inaugurate the Chicago league season this afternoon at 3 o'clock at Shewbridge field, 74th and Aberdeen streets.

ALLISON WINS MASON-DIXON TENNIS TITLE

White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., April 27.—(AP)—Wilmer Allison, Texas, defeated Gilbert Hall, Orange, N. J., today in straight sets, 9 to 7, 6 to 3, 6 to 0, to win the Mason-Dixon tennis championship.

Allison encountered strong opposition from the easterner in the first set, in which Hall at one time led, 5 to 2, but played superbly to come from behind and bring the match under control.

It was announced that Ogden Mills would present the victory cups to Allison and Eunice Dean, San Antonio, Tex., who won the women's singles title yesterday.

20 ENTER FIRST MIDWEST AUTO RACING MAY 12

The midwestern auto racing circuit will get under way Sunday, May 12, at the new speedway at River road and North avenue with approximately twenty class A drivers facing the starting flag, Frank Harmon announced yesterday.

Maynard Clark of Stanwood, Ia., who won the 1934 opener here over a field which included Bill Cummings, the Indianapolis '34 winner, and Johnny Sawyer, the national one, two, and three mile dirt track record holder, was the first to enter and was shortly followed by Sawyer, Emil Andres, Everett Saylor, and Louis Brown.

Several Chicago pilots, including Duke Nalon, Eddie Elden, Don Rue, Harry Buenger, and Andres, have signed blanks.

SCRAM, GRANDPA! YOUNG GOLF PROS ARE MARCHING UP

They're Not Happy Unless They Murder Par.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

Time was, back there in the infant 20's, when the gaffers of golf had little need to fret about the younger sprouts of the game stealing their thunder in the big shows of the day. They were content to go along cuffing the ball about the golf yards in 300 cuffs or thereabouts, and 300 or a mite under was usually enough to win such a tournament as the national open, which was then, as it is now, the biggest of the big shows.

Then the whippersnappers began to win with irritating frequency, and the creaking limbs of the elders developed a new malady, the money shakes, no less. They had survived such attacks as the big scare of 1914 at Midlothian, when a 22 year old kid from Rochester, N. Y., named Walter Hagen, had won the open with a 290, a stroke ahead of a Chicagoan called Chick Evans, who had already attained the ripe old age of 24.

Enter Master Sarazen.

The first serious symptoms of the children's hour as a regular routine in the open occurred at Skokie in 1922, when a cocky little Italian who was to cast his first vote a year later as Eugene Sarazen swaggered around the Glencoe lot in 288 strokes to take his first, but not his last national championship. Sarazen was not the only young cloud on the old boys' horizon. Harry Cooper, a youthful Englishman who had been raised in the game by a dad who was a pro, was committing brutal crimes against the hitherto sacred pars of assorted courses, and then there was a young Scotchman, late of the amateur league, who was to become that sterling wit and iron wielder, Thomas D. Armour. There were a few other young annoyances about, such as Leo Diegel, Johnny Farrell, Joe Turnesa, and Al Watrous, and the most terrible menace of them all, that Jones kid from Atlanta, Ga., was already a definitely established terror.

Armour, Cooper, Sarazen, and the rest are still running about scaring people with all the promise of their youth, but a new and more dangerous lodge has supplanted them, the Young-Guys-Going-Places club. The Y. G. G. P. C. frankly admits that it obtained its charter from the winter tour, a wheel which grows stronger each year, sending fresh juveniles up to the big time every time it turns.

Watch 'em In Open!

The present membership of the Young-Guys-Going Places club boasts so much talent that none of the handicappers for the national open at Pittsburgh in June is overlooking it, for fear that one of the young men will resent it as an unkind cut and prove the once fantastic prediction that a 260 will some day take the open.

Numbered on the club's roster are such names as Horton Smith and Paul Runyan, both of whom are now honorary brothers by reason of already having panicked the boys on the big time; Henry Picard, Johnny Revolta, Ky Laffoon, Victor Ghezzi, Dick Metz, Harold McSpaden, Jimmy Hines, Clarence Clark, Byron Nelson, Orville White, and Willie Goggin.

Smith and Runyan are the proven hopes of this tender flock of parmaimers, but are still very much in good standing. Paul, who won't be 27 until July 12, already is national professional champion, while Smith took the lead at the start of the first Masters tournament, and held it to the finish. In addition, both have been through the Ryder cup battle.

Nice Going, Henry!

Picard, the 27 year old Hershey, Pa. pro who frightened the daylights out of the field in the second Masters' event by shooting a 67 and 68 in the first two rounds, came out of the recently closed winter tour with $5,560 that wasn't in his change purse when it opened. Henry is an otherwise admirable gent, but not to be trusted on a golf course. He is that vicious type who will spill a drive into a patch of spinach on one hole, and then haul off with birdies on the next five.

Revolta, who did a double with Picard throughout the winter circuit, eked out $3,904 on the grapefruit time. John and Henry managed to struggle through with a joint victory in the international four ball matches at Miami, among other items, a victory by the way, which is highly prized among the trade.

Ky's No Pal of Par.

Laffoon joined the Chicago district this year to help make it the most formidable chapter in the league of those who sometimes sink them and sometimes don't. Ky is another one of those unreliable souls who can't be trusted to go along with the par of any course. He must pick it up, shake it, and then boot it all over the lot. Proof of the young man's disrespect was shown last year when he won the Radix trophy for the best average score in regular competition, doing 72 and 20-77 strokes for 77 rounds of labor. During the last two years, Ky has won more than $9,200 in tournament cash, more than any other golfer for that stretch.

Ghezzi, the leaning tower of Deal, N. J., is still another member of the Y. G. G. P. C. who attends all of the big conventions and is doing a right nice business of selling shots. For the trip just closed, he settled for $2,670, including the Los Angeles open, a highly important deal.

These and their brothers, then, are the delegation which will cause a large deal of quaking and head shaking when they tee up in the national at Pittsburgh.

Chicago Plays St. Louis in Rugby Today

The Missouri Rugby club of St. Louis will meet the Chicago Western rugby team this afternoon at Mills stadium, Lake street and Kilpatrick avenue. It will be their first meeting since last spring when the St. Louis team triumphed, 3 to 0. The game will start at 3 o'clock.

The Missouri squad is composed mostly of former college athletes. Among them is Harold Langenberg, who played at Princeton. In addition to playing rugby, Langenberg is captain of the St. Louis amateur hocky team.

The captain of the team is H. Walther, formerly of Yale, who is rated as one of the best forwards in the United States. Others on the squad include T. Curtis and R. F. Schery, formerly of Dartmouth, and G. Flynn and B. Purcell of St. Louis university.

Chicago will rely chiefly on its speedy backs for a victory. Mitchell, veteran half back, is one of the fastest men on the squad.

Elmhurst Defeats Wheaton in Baseball and Track

Elmhurst college defeated Wheaton in track and baseball yesterday. The baseball team won, 4 to 1, and the track team, 74 to 57.

93,000 Watch Sheffield Take Soccer Honors

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, April 27.—Turning the city into a vast playground, 200,000 persons from all parts of Great Britain crowded into London today to celebrate the end of the soccer season.

A total of 93,000 struggled into Wembley stadium and saw the Sheffield Wednesday club win the big cup by beating West Bromwich Albion 4 to 2 in the most exciting match in recent years. The crowd's joy was somewhat dampened by the absence of King George of England, who had decided not to risk catching cold on the bleak gray day which enthusiasts called "splendid football weather."

Keeping snugly warm in Windsor castle, where he is getting ready for his silver jubilee jamboree beginning May 6, the king sent around the prince of Wales as his delegate.

One of the most notable features about the visiting fans was the amount of serious drinking they went in for. Many visitors from the north boycotted the saloons, as they had brought along their own beer in stone demijohns. London beer is too weak for their tastes, so it was no unusual sight to see a gang of young men marching along with a demijohn of beer, occasionally stopping to take a swig.

BASEBALL MEETING.

There will be a meeting of the Chicago Industrial Baseball league at 155 West Madison street tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock.

SOCCER FINAL TODAY: SPARTA VS. MACCABEES

Highland Park to Battle Olympias.

BY OFFSIDE.

The Sparta Leaders and Maccabees will settle their soccer rivalry for the season and also decide the National league championship this afternoon when they meet at Sparta stadium, 21st street and Kostner avenue.

Each team has scored a victory over the other in regular league play. They are tied for first place. The Maccabees have signed up Billy Ogilvie, former Sparta player who just returned from Scotland, and figure this move will give them the title.

Another battle of importance will be waged at Olympia stadium, Kilpatrick avenue and 17th street when the Chicago Olympias play the Chryslers of Highland Park, Mich., in a semi-final game for the national amateur cup. Last Sunday at Detroit the teams fought 3 hours to a tie.

Several good matches are scheduled in the Major and International leagues. Schwaben will play Vienna and Hansa will oppose the Vikings in the International, while in the Major league the Armours face Ravenswood.

Today's standout games:

National Professional league—Sparta Leaders vs. Maccabees, Sparta stadium, 21st street and Kostner avenue, 3 p. m. Lawndale Rangers vs. Hungarian-Americans, 1 p. m.

National amateur cup series—Olympia vs. Chryslers, 17th street and Kilpatrick avenue, 3 p. m.

Major league—Armours vs. Ravenswood, Winnemac park, 3 p. m. Harvey vs. Calumet Park, Harvey, 3 p. m.

International league—Schwaben vs. Viennas, California avenue and Roscoe street, 3 p. m. Hansa vs. Vikings, Addison boulevard and Elston avenue, 3 p. m. Italian A. C. vs. Norwegians, 2600 Grand avenue, 3 p. m. Moravsaka vs. Kickers, 50th street, and California avenue, 3 p. m. Wisla vs. First Germans, 5500 Fullerton avenue, 3 p. m. Wanderers vs. Hakoah, 64th street and Racine avenue, 3 p. m. Italian Sports Seconds vs. Kickers Seconds, 4900 Roosevelt road, 3 p. m. Gary vs. Forest Park Seconds at Gary, 3 p. m.

Chicago soccer officials already are making plans for the visit of the Scottish International stars, who will be here May 26 to meet a team recruited from the best Chicago teams.

DETROIT'S GOLF TEAM IS BEATEN BY NOTRE DAME

Notre Dame, Ind., April 27.—[Special.]—Notre Dame scored its fifth straight golf victory of the season and its 18th straight over a three year period, defeating Detroit university today, 15 to 3. Winfield Day Jr., Chicago, led scoring with a par equalling 37—35—72 in th morning foursomes. Results:

Baldwin, 78, and Day, 72, Notre Dame, defeated Taylor, 78, and Waggoner, 79, Detroit, 3 to 0.

Fehling, 78, Notre Dame, defeated Taylor, 83, Detroit, 3 to 0.

TWO MILLIONTH 1935 AUTO WILL BE BUILT SOON

PlantsSpeedOutput; Highest Since 1929.

Barring unforeseen obstacles the two millionth automobile of 1935 will roll off the nation's assembly lines soon. Leading authorities are now predicting that production for the first five months of the year will exceed any similar period in the history of the industry with the exception of 1929.

Meanwhile further acceleration in new car output was reported for last week. Cram's Reports, Inc., estimated the week's production output of cars and trucks in the United States and Canada at 110,970 units, compared with 110,235 a week earlier and 99,336 in the corresponding 1934 period.

Six Increase Production.

Six plants increased production in the last six days, five reduced output and 16 held steady. Larger assemblies were turned out by Chevrolet, Ford, Oldsmobile, Packard, Plymouth, and Pontiac. Graham-Paige, Pierce-Arrow, Reo, Studebaker, and Hudson-Terraplane reported declines.

Plants which remained at the same levels were Auburn, Buick, Cadillac-La Salle, Chrysler, De Soto, Diamond T, Truck, Federal Truck, General Motors Truck, Hupmobile, International Harvester, Lincoln, Mack Truck, Nash, Pontiac, White-Indiana Truck, and Willys-Overland.

Production for May will show little or no decline from April, Cram's reports. Assemblies in April are expected to approximate the 475,000 mark, which was predicted at the start of the month. The industry has been producing cars and trucks at the rate of 100,000 weekly.

Weak Spot Reported.

One menace to the industry in numerous municipalities is the multiplicity of dealerships for the same make of car, especially in towns where there is only enough business to justify one franchise, it is said.

Although a number of merchandising outlets are short on new cars, production schedules remain closely geared to potential demand, and consumer interest is being watched more carefully than at any time in the past.

Ford, which last year announced it would make a million or more cars in 1935, has passed the half-way mark. Chevrolet's aggregate production also has shown a more substantial volume than was indicated in earlier weeks of the year.

Ford output last week amounted to 40,055 units, against 39,055 a week earlier, and 25,175 in the same 1934 week. Chrysler turned out 19,975, compared with 19,775 and 20,595, and General Motors reported 39,975 against 39,725 and 39,895.

BILLS BOOSTING TAXES FOUGHT BY TRADE GROUP

A plea for the defeat of the vast number of bills before the general assembly in Springfield which would increase taxes and levy new special licenses and fees on business was made yesterday by the Illinois Chamber of Commerce.

In a statement issued by C. G. Ferris, executive vice president, the chamber took a firm stand against the passage of any more tax burdening bills until efforts have been made to economize in the operation of the state government. Business should be allowed to make an unhampered drive for recovery, Ferris said.

"We feel about these money raising bills exactly as we do about the retailers' occupational [sales] tax," said Ferris. "It is our firm belief that funds for relief could have been supplied had economy measures received more support earlier in the session, and that such a method may still be available.

"Bills designed to tax stock transactions, grain futures, luxuries, patent medicines, and bills of a social nature which necessitate additional financing must be rigidly opposed from now on if we are to escape a breakdown in our social system."

5 Billion Fund to BeCodeClub Says Official

None of the 4 billion 800 million work relief will be spent with any business concern not complying with the code of the President's reëmployment agreement, Thomas W. O'Hara, chief counsel for the government contracts division, declared yesterday.

"This is the national recovery board's chief weapon to enforce compliance with various codes," he told members of the National Lumber Manufacturers association meeting with the industry's code officers in the Blackstone hotel.

The staf of the contract division has been increased from a few people to almost a hundred in order that all contracts entered into by the government with private business may be found in accord with the compliance ruling, O'Hara said.

Use Money as Code Club.

He explained the decision to withhold federal easy money contracts from non-complying firms will make possible enforcement of the lumber code as far as federal business was concerned in a code which is not being enforced in any other way.

A considerable portion of yesterday's session was devoted to discussion of the proposed amendment to the lumber code which will make it enforceable under the law.

The Belcher case, considered the first real test of violation and which the government refused to prosecute, led the industry to believe the code as it now stands is not constitutional. The proposed amendent, it is believed, will give it constitutionality.

Code Virtually Suspended.

Since the Belcher case fell through the code has been practically suspended with only wage and hour provisions being enforced.

The new amendment, if approved, will require all actions of the code authority be approved by the national recovery administration before becoming effective.

Leaders of the industry said yesterday there would be no formal attempt to adopt the amendment at this time by the national code authority. Approval would first be delegated to branch code groups because of its importance to the industry.

The meeting here may extend through today while discussions will be held throughout the country before final action is taken, it was said.

SILVER AND GOLD MONEYS LOWER; STERLING RISES

New York, April 27.—In response to the drop in world silver prices today the silver and gold bloc currencies receded, while the pound sterling gained against the dollar, thus reversing the trend of the last several days while silver was moving upward.

Hongkong dollars dropped 1.4 cents to 60½ cents and Shanghai dollars were off ½ cent at 41¼ cents. Only local quotations in Mexican pesos were available due to government decrees closing all banks and placing an embargo on export of silver coins. Pesos showed a moderate decline, conforming with the drop in silver from 81 to 76¾ cents an ounce.

In the gold bloc group, part of yesterday's sharp gains were lost today as French francs eased ¾ point to 6.61¼ cents, Dutch guilders 8 points to 67.72 cents, and Swiss francs 5 points to 32.46 cents. All, however, are still above the gold import point here.

The pound sterling gained 1½ cents today to close at $4.83 and Scandinavian currencies shared in the improvement, rising 6 to 12 points. Canadian dollars were also moderately higher.

Gold prices in London were 6½ pence higher at 145 shillings 4 pence a fine ounce, equivalent to $34.97. Bar gold valued at $1,838,375 was purchased in the open market.

The federal reserve bank reported no transactions in gold. The week's dealings resulted in a net gain of $25,100,200 of which $24,768,500 was from imports and $331,700 from the release of gold ear marked for foreign account.

APRIL AND MAY EGGS RISE TO FIVE YEAR HIGH

April and May storage packed eggs sold at new high levels since 1930 on the Chicago Mercantile exchange yesterday. The close showed net gains of ⅛ to ½ cent a dozen for the day. Profit taking was in evidence, but a rush of speculative buying offset all opposition.

A drop of 1 to 1½ cents a pound in the local spot butter market and reports that liberal foreign receipts were due at New York this week led to selling of futures, which closed ⅛ to ½ cent lower, with November at 28⅜ cents. Prices follow:

41 Railroads' Earnings in March Below Year Ago

New York, April 27.—(AP)—Railroad statements published thus far for March compare unfavorably with the returns for the same month last year. The first forty-one carriers to report had net operating income totaling about $19,600,000 against $27,855,000 in March, 1934. Gross revenues were approximately $136,405,000 against $141,900,000 last year. In both gross and net the figures showed substantial gains over returns for March, 1933.

Drouth, AAA Force U. S. to Import Meat

Drouth and New Deal planning, which failed to consider nature in its calculations, may soon convert the United States into a world importer of meat, a possibility once considered remote but now a chief concern of agriculture and the packing industry.

While other countries have been building up farm production and finding a profitable outlet for their surpluses in America, farmers and consumers here are being taxed to reduce the output of American farms. Exports of live stock and meat products, in which the United States formerly led, have fallen to the lowest level in 20 years.

Consumers here are now paying 110 to 160 per cent more for beef, 200 to 240 per cent more for pork, and 65 to 120 per cent more for lamb than at the low point of the depression. Much of this is meat of foreign production.

Urge Ending Crop Restriction.

Demands are growing more insistent for an embargo on imports and the ending of all crop restriction schemes, as while production in the United States is being held in check the flood of imported meats and live stock continues to grow at an alarming rate.

Many packing experts predict this country will become a steady buyer from its former customers before the year is out. As the result of drouth and animal slaughter by the Agricultural Adjustment administration meat supplies in storage are now equivalent to only three weeks' normal consumption. Market analysts forecast little possibility of any increase in supplies for eight or ten months, even though crop restrictions are removed entirely.

During February this country imported 1,018,000 pounds of Canadian beef, compared with 61,600 pounds in January and only 14,000 pounds a year ago.

Import More Canadian Cattle.

Imports of cattle from the dominion totaled 7,024 for the month, against 1,271 in January, 1,098 in December, and 179 in February last year. During 1934 this country imported only 379,000 pounds of Canadian beef and 6,058 cattle. To date this year America has received 41,000 Canadian cattle.

Imports of Canadian pork totaled 190,300 pounds in February, 1935, and 5,100 pounds the same month in 1934, while 2,900 pounds of lamb and mutton came over the border during the month, against none a year ago.

Exports of lard through New York for the week of April 13 at about 1,500,000 pounds compared with 9,500,000 pounds the same week last year.

The consequence of the killing of 6,200,000 pigs and sows, 8,300,000 cattle and calves, and 3,600,000 old sheep is now being appreciated by the American consumers in increased meat prices. The farmer is footing his end of the bill through processing taxes levied on his product. From 20 to 40 per cent of the prices packers have paid for hogs in the last few months represented the processing tax.

BUSINESS TREND MIXED, MOODY'S INDEX INDICATES

New York, April 27.—(AP)—Statistics appearing during the last week indicated a mixed business tendency, according to Moody's index figures for freight car loadings, electric power production, and steel ingot output.

These index figures are adjusted for seasonal variation—that is, if the change from the previous week should coincide with the normal seasonal change, the index figure would be unchanged.

INFLATION FORCES MAY DOUBLE COSTS, KEMMERER ASSERTS

Buffalo, N. Y., April 27.—[Special.]—Powerful inflationary forces which will probably result in at least the doubling of the present cost of living have been set in operation in this country Edwin Walter Kemmerer, professor of international finance at Princeton university, today told bankers of group one of the New York State Bankers' association at their annual spring meeting here.

"The inflationary processes are being continued and the end is not yet," Prof. Kemmerer declared, "despite our elaborate efforts to borrow and spend our way into prosperity, we have progressed in our industrial production less than many other advanced countries including Great Britain, Germany, Italy, Japan, Sweden, Denmark, and Norway."

The really dangerous part of the situation Prof. Kemmerer said, is not so much the present size of the public expenditures and the national debt as the rate at which they are growing and the fact that the forces which usually curb excessive government expenditures are at present comparatively ineffective. He referred to the fact that, normally, government expenditures are curbed by the necessity of raising taxes to meet them, whereas now the expenditures are financed chiefly through the sale of government loans to banks.

ROSENBAUM UNIT FILES BILL FOR REORGANIZATION

The Chesapeake Export corporation, wholly owned subsidiary and New York agent of the Rosenbaum Grain corporation, yesterday followed the action of the parent corporation in starting proceedings for reorganization under the amended bankruptcy act.

The petition was filed before Federal District Judge William H. Holly who named Louis T. Sayre temporary trustee. The court also issued a temporary injunction restraining bank creditors from selling collateral or disturbing the efforts to reorganize.

The company listed assets of $1,205,000, including $600,000 in accounts receivable and $600,000 in grain. Only $5,000 of cash was listed. Liabilities were reported at $485,000. The grain listed among the assets is pledged with the bank creditors.

Trade Group Drafts Attack on Utility Bill

Washington, D. C., April 27.—[Special.]—A resolution attacking the administration's holding company bill, and calling on all members to oppose passage of the measure will be among the principal subjects before the annual meeting of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, which will open here next Tuesday.

The resolution has been drafted by a special committee. It points out that the chamber has repeatedly endorsed state regulation of public utilities, but charges that enactment of the proposed legislation would bring about federal regulatory authority overlapping and duplicating state jurisdiction.

Business Is Intrastate.

"The electric light and power business is almost wholly an intrastate business, and regulation should be by the state," the chamber asserted. "Electric power has no interstate implications as does transportation, neither does one state have a vital interest in utility service in another state. The states have, over a period of twenty to thirty years, gradually developed law and administration machinery dealing with power and other operating utilities.

"There has developed of late considerable pressure for federal regulation of a kind and in a manner that would displace much of this state regulation. To yield to this pressure would not only jeopardize local self-government, but would result in duplication of effort, in unnecessary burdensome expense, and in such confusion of authority as inevitably to result in the federal agency gradually taking to the major functions of all regulation.

Duplicates State Rule.

"The public utility bill of 1935, while declaring against interference with state regulation, would invest the federal power commission with such regulatory authority as to overlap and duplicate state jurisdiction."

The report reiterated the chamber's position that "interstate power so far as now incapable of regulation by states, should be regulated through concurrent action of state agencies made effective by the federal power commission, and only in the event of failure of concurrence on the part of the state agencies, should be regulated directly by the federal power commission."

Gas Utilities Protest.

Washington, D. C., April 27.—(AP)—Natural gas utilities appealed today to the senate interstate commerce committee to divert from them the blow assertedly aimed at electric holding companies.

Their appeals were supplemented by a suggestion of former Gov. Clyde M. Reed of Kansas that the bill to abolish utility holding companies and to place operating utilities under drastic federal regulation be revised generally to avoid adverse effect on the security holdings of small investors.

R. W. Galagher, spokesman for the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, declared the bill would bring under its jurisdiction the oil companies, regardless of the fact it was not so designed. This would come through the close affiliation between oil production and gas production, he said.

Roosevelt Gives Moffett Furlough of Three Months

Washington, D. C., April 27.—(AP)—President Roosevelt today gave a three month furlough to James A. Moffett, federal housing administrator, who announced he would return to his post in August. Confident the housing program is making good progress, Moffett had considered resigning and returning to his oil business.

BANKING BILL FAULTS TARGET OF REP. DIRKSEN

Attacks Political Rule of System.

Washington, D. C., April 27.—[Special.]—Creation of a "financial autocracy" and political control over the nation's banking are provided in the New Deal's banking bill, according to charges made today by Rep. Everett M. Dirksen [Rep., Illinois].

Dirksen, who holds the distinction of voting against 14 New Deal measures last session, is a member of the house banking and currency committee, which has held hearings on the proposed banking measure for the last two months.

The measure, putting absolute control of the federal reserve system in the hands of the President, will come before the house Monday under a rule that will permit debate for four days.

Dismissing title I of the bill, which in effect continues the Federal Deposit Insurance corporation, and title III providing minor changes in the federal reserve act, Dirksen attacked title II.

What Title II Means.

"By this title the twelve federal reserve banks will be dominated by the Federal Reserve board, the Federal Reserve board will be avowedly responsible to the administration, the banks must comply whether they are so disposed or not, and in the hands of the Federal Reserve board are placed plenary powers over rediscounts, open market policies, and reserve requirements," asserted Dirksen.

"There will therefore be vested in the board at Washington life and death authority over investment, speculation, business, financing, liquidity of banks, the kind of paper that will be rediscounted, the amount of reserves behind bank deposits, the refinancing of the government debt, and the power to compel banks to take larger holdings of government bonds than they now hold.

"The present law provides that the federal reserve board may establish the rediscount rate, but the banks may serve notice that they will not comply. What may be good for New York might be bad for Chicago and what might be good for Dallas might be bad for St. Louis."

Recalls Chicago Protest.

Dirksen recalled the protest made by the Chicago Federal Reserve bank in 1927 when rediscount rates were lowered to stimulate investment.

"They maintained that the lowering of the rate then would take such funds out of the small communities of the west and pour them into New York for speculative purposes," he said. "That is precisely what happened. But under the proposed legislation the federal reserve board will have complete power over the rates."

Under the new bill, Dirksen explained, the federal reserve board will have absolute control over the open market policy, or the purchase and sale of government securities, leaving no discretion in the hands of the federal reserve banks.

Jobs Would Be Combined.

The real executives of the twelve federal reserve banks are the governors, but under the New Deal legislation, the governor and chairman of each bank are combined into one job with selection to be approved by the Federal Reserve board, Dirksen said. "In selecting members of the Federal Reserve board, the law now provides that they be representatives of the financial, agricultural, industrial, commercial, and geographical interests of the country," he argued. "Under the new law, that requirement is eliminated and they need be only equipped with education and experience. That leaves the President absolutely free to choose whom he pleases without regard to location of the interest of such members."

Several weeks ago a special committee of the American Bankers association proposed various modifications in the bill, saying that if they were not made "we would be strongly opposed to the enactment of title II."

Preparing Amendments.

While administration leaders in the house were laying their strategy for sending the bill through with the New Deal policies intact members who have assorted views on the money question were preparing amendments to the bill.

One of these was Rep. Goldsborough [Dem., Maryland], with his "commodity dollar" plan. Goldsborough said as an amendment to the bill he would offer the proposal that the prices of 30 basic commodities be pegged at the average of prices between 1921 and 1929. Under the Goldsborough plan the secretary of the treasury would be empowered to enter the gold market to keep prices at a fixed level.

U. S. Imports Mount Faster Than Exports

Washington, D. C., April 27.—[Special.]—Imports into the United States in March were the largest for any month since 1931, according to the monthly summary issued by the department of commerce today. Imports increased 16 per cent over February, while exports showed only a 13 per cent increase.

Exports of $185,001,000 last month compared with imports of $177,279,000. In February exports were $162,990,000 and imports were $152,478,000, while in March, 1934, exports totaled $190,890,000 and imports were $158,005,000. The excess of exports over imports in March was $7,722,000, against $10,512,000 in February and $32,785,000 in March, 1934.

The shrinkage of cotton exports was especially pronounced in the report, and depressed the figure for the entire agricultural list.

Less Cotton Is Exported.

Unmanufactured cotton exports were smaller in quantity last month than in any month since 1924, but in value they were larger than in the same month of 1933. They fell off from $27,074,000 in February to $21,817,000 in March, and from $113,801,000 in the first quarter of 1934 to $81,049,000 for the first three months of 1935.

Semi-manufactured cotton exports increased from $736,000 in February to $874,000 in March, but the figure of $2,288,000 for the full quarter was somewhat under the $2,601,000 for the first quarter of the previous year. Manufactured cotton exports increased from $2,520,000 in February to $3,061,000 in March.

Japanese cotton cloth entering consumption channels during March totaled 4,575,000 square yards, a decrease of approximately 280,000 square yards from February.

Manufactures Lead Exports.

Manufactured articles again constituted the principal products exported in larger quantities in March. Machinery and vehicles totaled $51,775,000, an increase of 26 per cent over February. This was the highest figure for any month since February, 1931. Automobile exports, including parts and accessories, accounted for $25,018,000, the largest monthly figure since May, 1930.

Gold exports during March were $540,000, compared with $46,000 in February and $44,000 in March, last year. Imports were $13,543,000, compared with $122,817,000 in February and $237,380,000 in March, 1934.

Silver imports were $20,842,000 in March, compared with $16,351,000 in February and $1,823,000 in March, last year. Exports rose from $1,661,000 in February to $3,128,000 in March, compared with $665,000 in March, last year.

AMENDED PLAN FOR CELOTEX TO BE HEARD JULY 1

Wilmington, Del., April 27.—[Special.]—Federal Judge John P. Nields today set July 1 for a hearing on an amended plan of reorganization for the Celotex company and directed trustees to cause an appraisal of the company's properties be made at once.

The new plan, according to the reorganization committee headed by William B. Nichols, is designed to accomplish four main purposes which are: to embody the terms of their agreement with bondholder and debenture committees; to meet criticism that the reorganization committee had not disclosed in sufficient detail certain facts of interest to the various parties; to conform provisions of the plan to section 77 B of the amended bankruptcy law which was enacted after adoption of the original plan; and to extend from May 1 to Sept. 1, 1935, the time in which the plan might be declared operative.

Nichols' committee recently reported that holders of approximately 76 per cent of outstanding bonds, 72 per cent of issued debentures, 90 per cent of other unsecured claims, 55 per cent of preferred stock and 34 per cent of the common have signified their assent to the plan. Joined with the reorganization committee are three groups representing bondholders, stockholders, and debenture holders.

Armour Drops Negotiations to Purchase Decker Plant

Officials of Armour & Co. said yesterday that negotiations for the purchase of the Jacob E. Decker & Sons packing plant in Mason City, Ia., have been definitly broken off. Armour is no longer "interested" in the deal, it was said. The Decker property is controled by Adolf Gobel, Inc., which filed a petition for reorganization under the amended bankruptcy act in New York on Friday. The action had been interpreted as an indication the Armour-Decker deal might be completed.

CLOSED STATE BANKS SLOWER IN COLLECTING

Receipts $4,511,021 in First Quarter.

Receipts of $4,511,021 were reported yesterday by State Auditor Edward J. Barrett in the receiverships of Cook county's 142 closed state banks during the three months ended March 31. This is the smallest total since the second quarter of 1934, and compares with $5,732,950 for the three months ended last Dec. 31, and the record $7,709,300 in the preëlection third quarter.

Depositors obtained only 30 cents out of each dollar taken in during the first three months of this year, but this is slightly above the average for the entire receivership periods.

A point of diminishing returns was indicated in the record of transactions with the Reconstruction Finance corporation, a new trend. While loans were reduced $700,000 from the previous quarter to a net of $1,119,451, repayments of old loans took $850,631 out of receipts. Another $176,950 was consumed by interest.

How Receipts Are Distributed.

In addition to proceeds of RFC loans, receipts last quarter include $2,868,099, or 63.58 per cent, from liquidation of assets, and $523,471, or 11.6 per cent, in refunds to apply on previous advances to protect assets.

The following table shows the distribution of receipts:

	Amount.	Per cent.
Paid to depositors.......	$1,364,893	30.26
To pfd. and secured creditors	1,428,066	31.66
[Including RFC repayments of	850,631	18.85]
To receivers	19,137	0.42
To attorneys	251,270	5.57
Clerical, miscellaneous ...	416,214	9.23
[Including interest of..	176,950	3.92]
Advanced to protect assets	826,830	18.33
Cash [including reserves]	204,611	4.53
Totals	$4,511,021	100.00

Below is the record of receiverships for their entire period. Also is included the percentage distribution on Dec. 31, 1934, to show the trend of expenditures:

	As of March 31. Amount.	Per cent.	Per cent on Dec.31, 1934.
To depositors....	$29,467,416	29.03	29.0
Pfd. and secured creditors	40,062,143	39.46	39.8
Receivers	1,183,834	1.17	1.2
Attorneys	3,948,959	3.89	3.8
Clerical, interest, etc.	7,047,896	6.95	6.83
Advanced to protect assets	14,007,892	13.8	13.6
Cash [including reserves]	5,789,983	5.7	5.77
Totals	$101,508,123	100.00	100.00

Prior Claims on Decline.

Payments to prior creditors are on the decline because most of the old bills have been wiped out, RFC repayments now being the principal charge. The consolidation of receiverships—all but five banks—under William L. O'Connell is credited with the lessening cost of this item. The temporary rise in the portion taken by legal fees is a result of paying most of the old claims. The rise in the clerical item grows out of greater interest charges.

Depositors in 36 of the 142 banks still have been repaid nothing, although liquidation has been in progress for an average of three years. Only 16 banks yielded returns to depositors last quarter, three making repayments for the first time. This compares with 21 payments in the previous quarter, four to depositors

STOCKS RECEDE ON ALARM OVER SILVER PROGRAM

Metal Issues Lead Decline as Trading Shrinks.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, April 27.—Uneasiness over the administration's next move in silver brought considerable selling into the stock market during the short week-end session today. Trading volume was considerably smaller than that of last Saturday, declining to a round 585,000 shares.

Losses in the metals ran to more than three points with United States Smelting as the chief target of bear sharpshooters.

Utility shares were disturbed by a report from Washington that the President will touch on the pending utility legislation in his radio "fireside" talk tomorrow night. Weakness in grains and cottons had a dampening effect on sentiment and occasional flurries of profit taking bore down prices in different sections of the list.

Silver Issues Fall Sharply.

The silver issues were sharply lower from the outset. Traders had been forewarned of a drop in the metal prices abroad and the opening gong brought a general rush to dump holdings of shares of this group. U. S. Smelting opened about four points lower, Howe Sound was off 1⅝ and American Smelting a full point.

Before the close of the first hour, however, enough support had appeared to wipe out fractions of these losses and final prices in the group generally showed some improvement over the opening. Issues down fractionally to 2 or more points included Cerro de Pasco, Howe Sound, Silver King, Anaconda and Park Utah.

Gold mining issues sold off with the white metal stocks, Alaska Juneau, Dome and McIntyre all dropping major fractions and the coppers also receded.

Rails Weaken Near Close.

Railroad shares held firm most of the session in anticipation of a favorable Supreme court decision on the pension act next Monday. The close, however, found New York Central, Atchison and other favorites of the division fractionally lower. Union Pacific dropped 2 points on a few sales.

The industrials were sluggish but emerged in no worse plight than the market generally. American Can gave up about 2 points of its recent impressive gains but U. S. Steel managed to cling within a minor fraction of its Friday close. Westinghouse Electric finished off a point.

The automobile division was quiet. General Motors closed unchanged and Chrysler gave up only a half point. National Distillers continued weak in the liquors, selling to a new low on the current move. Farm implements encountered some selling on the weakness of the grains.

SUGAR

NEW YORK, April 27.—(AP)—SUGAR—Raw was quiet today. It was disclosed that late yesterday prices declined 2 points for spots to the basis of 3.33c per lb. At this level 20,000 bags of Cubas for May shipment were sold to a local refiner, and it was believed that more was obtainable at the same price but refiners showed no further interest. Futures after advancing a point on the call reacted under liquidation, closing 1 to 2 points net lower in both contracts. Sales were 12,250 tons in the No. 3 and 950 tons in the No. 1.

Raw sugar prices in cents per pound:

	Open.	High.	Low.	Close.	Prev. close.
July	2.39	2.39	2.39	2.39	2.40
September	2.46	2.46	2.45	2.45	2.46
December	2.55	2.55	2.53	2.53	2.55

Refined was unchanged at 5.10c per lb for fine granulated with only a moderate withdrawal demand reported.

COTTON STEADY TO LOWER AS COMMISSION MEN SELL

Nervousness over the silver situation and the probable loan basis for the 1935 cotton crop resulted in scattered commission house selling of the distant deliveries yesterday. Lower cables from Liverpool and week-end liquidation gave the market an easy start. While the loss on the nearby futures was largely recovered, the distant futures remained under pressure until the last with the close at net losses of 2 to 14 points in Chicago, unchanged to 10 points lower in other markets. The far east was credited with buying old crop cotton. Spots closed unchanged with New Orleans and Houston 12.30 cents and New York and Galveston, 12.25 cents per pound. Prices in cents per pound follow:

COTTONSEED OIL.

NEW YORK, April 27.—(AP)—Bleachable cottonseed oil was steady today, closing unchanged to 2 points net lower. Sales, 54 contracts, including 28 switches from May for July and September at 40 and 35 points, respectively. Tenders on May were 30 contracts, a little larger than expected, but they were well taken. Bleachable spot nominal: May closed 10.35c per lb; July, 10.69c; September, 10.71c; October, 10.58c.

COTTON MILLS ASK EXTENSION OF PROCESS TAX

Also Request Retention of 12 Cent Loan.

Augusta, Ga., April 27.—(AP)—The federal government was asked today by the convention of the American Cotton Manufacturers' association to study the whole structure of the processing tax with a view to broadening its base to make it a general tax. At present the tax is placed entirely on cotton and the proceeds used in benefit payments to farmers.

The association asked continuance of the benefit payments and the farm relief program in general and requested Secretary Wallace to announce immediately retention of the 12 cent loan on cotton.

The convention also requested the agricultural secretary to begin an immediate study of the wisdom "of future cotton crops being divided into two lots, one for home consumption with a guaranteed price, and another for export under other plans."

This was suggested with a view toward working out a permanent policy for the American cotton crop.

Wants Loan Policy Cleared.

The association, in asking an immediate announcement of the future plans of the AAA, said:

"There can be no revival of the cotton textile trade until the loan policy of the government is announced, for the reason that no merchant will buy cotton goods made from 12 cent cotton and above when his competitors may be able to buy the identical goods four months later from cotton of less value."

Citing an increase in Japanese imports of cotton goods, which was placed at "30,000 per cent" in January of this year over January, 1934, the resolution expressed to President Roosevelt "tremendous concern" over the situation and offered every facility at the command of the operators in order that the "full facts be made known and corrective measures be taken with the least possible delay."

World Congress Meets.

MILAN, Italy, April 27.—(AP)—Cotton was king in this Italian textile center tonight as delegates from most of the large countries of the world gathered here for preliminary sessions of the seventeenth international cotton congress tomorrow.

American and other delegates declared the congress the most important cotton meeting since the war, asserting its outcome might seriously affect United States leadership in the world's cotton and textile markets.

Representing the United States Department of Agriculture was Dr. Henry Charles Taylor of Des Moines, Ia., delegate to the international institute of agriculture at Rome. First meetings of the great congress are to be held tomorrow and Monday.

WARM WEATHER, LARGER SUPPLY WEAKEN MEATS

Exceptionally warm weather and larger domestic and foreign supplies caused a sharp slump in wholesale meat prices in the last week. The break was reflected in restricted buying of live stock at a generally lower price level, in contrast to the usual seasonal post-Easter expansion of demand for meat animals.

Best steers featured the trade the first half of the week by rising to $15.85, a 15 year high for April, but this was offset later by a sharp setback in all but best steers and some butcher stock of desired quality.

The spread in steer prices at the close was widest in many weeks. Better grades of steers selling above $14 came through almost unscathed because of the acute shortage of such kinds. These retained most of the earlier 25 to 50 cent advance, but the bulk showed reductions of 25 to 50 cents.

Lamb prices closed steady to 25 cents lower than a week ago. The average at $8 was within 10 cents of the lowest of the year. Wooled lambs sold up to $8.60 and shorn reached $7.60, commercial channels.

An uneven break in hog prices after midweek did not offset the earlier gains. The six day average at $11.25, processing tax included, showed 10 cents rise. It compared with $6.05 a year ago and $3.90 two years ago.

Steadily increasing imports of foreign pork are causing some concern in the trade at several distributing points, but to date the volume has not been large enough to actually influence prices as it has in beef. Beef imports at New York alone now exceed 1,000,000 pounds weekly against a third of a million pounds weekly ten weeks ago.

SCATTERED SELLING CAUSES DECLINE IN LARD FUTURES

Scattered liquidation developed in lard futures yesterday, especially in the May delivery. While the trade is inclined to look for rather small deliveries, scattered holders of the nearby month were disposed yesterday to get out of their lines and, with the weakness in grains, prices eased, closing at net losses of 7½ to 12½ cents. Trade in the aggregate was light. Bellies were nominally unchanged. Cash and loose lard closed at $12.70, leaf at $12.75, and bellies at $16.75 per 100 pounds. Prices in dollars per 100 pounds follow:

MEXICO CLOSES BANKS IN WORLD SILVER TURMOIL

level and the speculators had figured that the treasury would boost the ante again to keep the domestic rigged price above quotations in the competitive world markets.

Market Follows Silver.

Foreign bar silver for commercial use yesterday dropped 4¼ cents to close at 76¾ cents per ounce. This more than canceled Friday's 4 cent rise. It was the first decline in ten days. In London, bar silver slid 1¼ pence to close at 35⅛ pence, equal to 76.12 cents. Silver in Montreal closed at 77 cents, with the December future selling at 80 cents.

Stock and commodity markets in the United States, taking their cue from the sharp drop in silver prices yesterday showed losses in most speculative lines.

Mining stock dropped from a few cents to more than $3 a share. Other stocks were generally weak. Grains were down fractions of a cent per bushel and cotton was slightly lower.

Wild Speculation Abroad.

Wild speculation continued abroad. American banks were reported to have been heavy buyers of silver in London. British financial experts foresaw no immediate prospects of a halt in the sensational rise.

The London Financial Times commented that those who look for a reaction, "little realize the strength of the silverites in the United States or the obstinacy of Roosevelt when he has lashed his helm on a set course." Commented the London Daily Mail's financial editor:

"The wild speculation in silver, with its accompanying dangers, is a direct reflection of the latest United States financial experiments with which they hope to regain prosperity.

"Menace to World Recovery."

"Roosevelt, when he took office, stated that he would do all that lay in his power to curb the speculation in stocks, commodities, metals, and currencies. Yet the policy he has pursued has led to a burst of the wildest speculation on several occasions. In certain London financial circles, the view is expressed that this silver program is acting as a menace to world economic recovery."

American financial experts yesterday shared the British opinion that the New Dealers' silver program was heading toward disaster, but they suspected that the treasury might take a new tack which, while jacking up the price domestically, might leave the foreign speculators out on a limb.

If the treasury should decide to lift the pegged price for newly mined domestic silver to $1.29 immediately and cease buying in foreign markets a price spread might develop quickly which could permit the price of silver abroad to sag while American producers were getting their handouts from Washington.

Paper and Copper in Mexico.

Mexico's revised currency system will consist of paper certificates in denominations as low as one peso and copper coins. The paper money will be secured by 50 per cent of its value in silver held in the treasury. Circulation of silver is prohibited and a rigid embargo is placed on exportation of the metal. Finance Minister Narciso Bassols announced that the silver reserve would be used as an equalization fund to support Mexican currency in foreign exchange.

Roberto Lopez, Mexican treasury official, accompanied by the commercial attaché of the American embassy in Mexico City, is on his way to Washington to lodge with Secretary Morgenthau a vigorous protest against the New Deal silver price rigging scheme. Chinese authorities already have lodged a series of strenuous protests.

Rigging Scuttles China Trade.

While Mexican officials were speeding to Washington to tell the New Dealers how their silver scheme was wrecking Mexican trade and finance, attention was also focused on China where the steep ascent of silver, as a result of the treasury's manipulations, has precipitated a deepening of the depression.

Because China's money is on a silver basis each rise in the world price of silver increases the value of her money in terms of goods—meaning that the prices of commodities are forced down. These dropping commodity prices, far from enabling China to fulfill Senator Key Pittman's prediction of Chinese prosperity to come from higher silver prices, have caused a falling off in that nation's foreign trade and the closing of important banks.

Customs figures for the first quarter of 1935, announced by Chinese officials yesterday, showed a total import trade worth only 254 million silver dollars, compared with 287 millions in the corresponding period of 1934.

Speculators Grab Pesos.

In Mexico demand for silver pesos by speculators for melting purposes sent the value of the peso soaring in terms of dollars. In addition to the threat of heavy exports of silver currency Mexico was, therefore, confronted with the troubles that accompany the rise of its currency in foreign exchange transactions. A high peso would make it increasingly difficult for foreigners to buy Mexican goods and increasingly easy for them to sell foreign goods there in competition with the products of Mexican industries. Similarly, a high peso would discourage tourist trade.

Pesos soared to a point where they were worth 30.30 cents in American money. A rate as high as 33 1-3 cents had been expected, but failed to materialize because of Secretary Morgenthau's failure to make the anticipated further boost in silver prices. Mexican officials yesterday were advocating a rate of 27.78 cents to the peso in order to preserve trade equilibrium.

History of Silver Dollar Is Story of Political Juggling

BY HOWARD WOOD.

The $1.29 an ounce price which the silver senators are demanding for their producers dates back to the first coinage act of the United States, prepared by Alexander Hamilton in 1792. This act set up a bimetallic standard of gold and silver at a ratio of 15 to 1. The silver dollar, it was decreed, should contain 371.25 grains of pure silver. At existing market prices for silver this meant that an ounce of pure silver was worth $1.29.

In 1834 the ratio was changed to 16 to 1, but the theoretical content of the silver dollar, then no longer in circulation, was left at 371.25 grains of pure silver. Three years later the alloy for silver was made one-tenth, but the pure silver content remained at 371.25 grains.

* *

In 1853 the double standard was abandoned because of the demonstrated impossibility of maintaining gold and silver at a fixed ratio. Then, due to an increase in silver prices, the silver in a dollar rose to a value of 103 cents. A silver dollar was worth more as metal than as money and silver dollars disappeared from circulation. After the civil war, however, silver prices declined.

During the post-civil war depression the inflationists, aided by silver producers, began to demand inclusion of silver in the monetary base. This pressure led to the passage of the Bland-Allison act over the veto of President Hayes. The act provided for mandatory purchase by the government and coinage into silver dollars of a minimum of $2,000,000 and a maximum of $4,000,000 monthly of silver bullion.

From 1878 to 1891 the treasury spent 308 million dollars buying a total of 291 million ounces of silver at an average price of $1.06 an ounce, coined 378 million dollars ou of this metal and allocated to itself the "profit" of 70 millions as seigniorage.

This inflation of the currency, out of all proportion to the demands of trade, led to the depression of 1884. The price of silver declined, despite the efforts of its political friends. Desperate, the silver politicians in 1890 forced the enactment of the Sherman act, which ordered the treasury to boost its purchases to 4,500,000 ounces monthly and to issue treasury notes against them. From 1891 to 1894 the treasury bought 169 million ounces at a cost of 156 million dollars.

The treasury's operations led to much speculation here and abroad. Foreigners dumped silver here and took gold. The nation's gold reserves fell 100 million dollars, according to an official statement of the treasury on April 15, 1893.

* *

There arose a great public clamor for the abandonment of this systematic looting of the treasury by the silver interests. Led by President Cleveland congress in November, 1893, repealed the Sherman act.

McKinley and prosperity came and the silver clamor died down to the low murmur of covetous mining interests. Then, three decades later, came another depression and again the silver mine owners and their political henchmen raised their voices.

Under the Thomas inflation amendment to the farm relief bill the President was given the power to fix the weight of the silver dollar at a fixed ratio to gold and to authorize the unlimited coinage of both metals at such ratio. A few months later Senator Key Pittman, at the London economic conference, succeeded in getting the various nations to agree on a silver program by which none of them would further demonetize silver.

* *

Leading silver nations also agreed not to sell abroad more than certain amounts of silver each year. The United States agreed to buy at least 24,400,000 ounces of its domestically produced silver each year.

President Roosevelt on Dec. 21, 1933, ratified this agreement for the United States. He decreed that the treasury should buy the domestic output each year at 64½ cents per ounce, which was about 50 per cent above the then market price.

Then, on June 11, 1934, congress passed the silver purchase act of 1934, which declared it to be the policy of the United States to increase the treasury's holdings of silver until the amount of silver in the currency reserves should be equal in monetary value to one-fourth the value of the treasury's gold reserves. It also directed the treasury to buy silver in such amounts and at such prices as it should deem advisable, but not to pay more than $1.29 an ounce for it.

On June 28, 1934, the President placed an embargo on the export of silver, and on Aug. 9 he ordered all domestic holdings of silver delivered to the treasury. Holders were to be paid the "monetary value of silver," $1.29 an ounce, less a 61 8-25 per cent charge for seigniorage, meaning that they were to receive 50 cents an ounce.

On April 10 the treasury announced an increase in the price it would pay domestic producers. Henceforth they were to get 71.11 cents per ounce instead of the 64½ cents they had been getting since the presidential decree of Dec. 21, 1933. On April 24 the price was further raised to 77.57 cents.

It has been these two increases, coming so close together, that has stirred up wild speculation abroad and has whetted the appetites of the silver senators and their producing friends. They are now demanding $1.29 an ounce.

* *

Senator Wheeler now has a bill pending which would require the treasury to pay $2.18 on the theory that because the monetary value of gold was raised 40 per cent, from $20.67 to $35 an ounce, the monetary value of silver should be boosted from $1.29 to $2.18, a 40 per cent increase, and the silver producers should get all of the increase, the seigniorage charge being removed.

"Seigniorage" is almost entirely a myth. After buying silver at 77.57 cents an ounce the treasury "writes up" the value to $1.29 an ounce in using the silver as metal backing for silver certificates. The "writeup" is merely inflation. It means that $1.29 worth of paper money has been issued against an ounce of silver worth 77.57 cents—or probably less. But the silver mine owners demand that they, not the treasury, reap this profit.

* *

Inasmuch as the price of silver in the free and open market, before the treasury began its buying abroad and price fixing at home, was only about 24 cents an ounce it is almost a certainty that it is not now worth the 77.57 cents an ounce that the government is paying the producers.

The silver dollar contains only about three-fourths of an ounce of silver. Therefore, its present value as metal, even at the treasury's rigged price of 77.57 cents an ounce, would be only a little more than 58 cents.

MIDWEST CHECK CLEARINGS FOR WEEK DECREASE

Check clearings in the seventh federal reserve district last week decreased 11.3 per cent from the preceding week to a total of $937,201,000. The aggregate for forty cities in the district was $935,761,000 compared with $895,172,000 in the corresponding week of last year, an increase of 4.5 per cent.

Totals of the four largest centers and figures for a year ago were: Chicago, $531,454,000 against $550,053,000; Detroit, $188,162,000 against $160,945,000; Milwaukee, $46,977,000 against $43,739,000, and Indianapolis $31,626,000 against $27,917,000.

HIDE FUTURES.

While the spot hide market continued to be reported as firm yesterday, some uncertainty was noticeable in the hide future market in New York as to the effect of the silver situation. Trading was the smallest in some time with sales of only 12 lots, or 480,000 pounds. The close was 7 to 8 points lower. Closing bids in cents per pound: June, 10.18c; September, 10.50c; December, 10.84c; March, 11.12c.

WHEAT DECLINES CENT IN WAKE OF SILVER TURMOIL

All Futures Fall Below the Dollar Level.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

The ominous shadows cast over the silver remonetization prospects yesterday caused hesitation and uncertainty in the commodity markets and resulted in a moderate deflation in values on the Chicago Board of Trade. Wheat prices broke a cent a bushel to bring all futures below the dollar market.

The obvious confusion in Washington over the future silver policy was foremost among the factors that induced the wave of selling in all grains. For four days all commodity and security markets have been tantalized by the treasury's swift steps toward silver remonetization and the resulting advance in silver prices. When silver broke badly yesterday and news was received of the Mexican financial difficulties the effect in the grain market was immediate.

Rye Breaks Sharply.

A wide open break in rye prices yesterday was traced to other causes than the change in the silver situation. Arrival of the steamer H. L. Findlay with 340,000 bushels of rye from Duluth was a contributor. It was also reported that in the straightening out of the hedge positions of the Rosenbaum Grain corporation sales were put out in rye futures. The concern had followed the practice of hedging their purchases of foreign rye and other grains in corn and wheat rather than in the Chicago rye market.

The market in rye is thin. A moderate volume on either side of the market is likely to cause a violent price reaction. The break yesterday amounted to 2⅛ to 2⅝ cents a bushel which depressed the July future to 58½ cents.

Closing Prices for July.

	Yesterday.	Friday.	Wk. ago.
Wheat	$ .98⅝	$ .99⅝	$1.01
Corn	.83⅛	.84⅛	.85
Oats	.42⅞	.43⅛	.43⅝
Rye	.58½	.58⅛	.62

Rains over the soft winter wheat region provided part of the background for the selling yesterday. In the southwest, however, where moisture is needed most, there was no further precipitation and the weather forecast for the coming week was not promising.

Cash grain prices were sharply lower yesterday. In corn, however, the processing firms were reported to have taken corn from this market indicating they were unable to get their normal requirements from the country.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, April 27.—In the face of a lagging market for domestic corporation bonds, notably public utility and railroad issues, United States government bonds rallied briskly on the stock exchange today. During the brief trading period the government issues, with only one or two exceptions, were bid up 1-32d to 5-32ds point.

For the week, the government's long term issues rose 1-32d to 16-32ds point, many of the issues establishing new record highs since issuance. Today one issue of the group climbed to another new high—the treasury 4¼s, due 1952, at 116 15-32ds, the highest price of the list.

Sentiment Is Changed.

The setbacks in public utility bonds reflected a reversal of sentiment earlier in the week over possible federal legislation for strict regulation of the electric power industry. However, the declines in utility bonds were not limited today to electric company issues.

For example, Postal Telegraph and Cable 5s, due 1953, were heavily sold, losing 4⅛ points on the day, with the establishment of a new low for the year at 35. The close was 35½. Railroad bonds were under moderate pressure. Industrial issues generally pointed higher.

Foreign List Dull.

Foreign bonds were dull. German, Italian, French, and British government loans showed fractional variations. Austrian government 7s, due 1957, mounted 1¼ points. The net changes for the day in the Latin-American list were generally restricted to small fractions.

On the curb exchange domestic utility bonds were easier and industrial issues gained ground, on the average. The recovery of 3¼ points by Adolf Gobel 6½ per cent notes, due May 1, was a feature. The break in this issue the day before had amounted to 9¼ points on the filing of a petition in the federal court for reorganization under the bankruptcy act. Foreign loans on the curb were higher in dull trading.

Cheap Money.

The course of money rates continues downward. The most striking instance of the cheapness of money is the record low interest rate of one-quarter of one per cent established two weeks ago for demand loans against stock exchange collateral.

The United States treasury is borrowing money on short term rates on less than a one-quarter of one per cent annual basis, while corporations are refunding 5 and 6 per cent bonds with bonds having coupon rates in the 3s and 4s.

The investor who confines his investment to high grade bonds will have to tighten his belt. As his high interest coupon bonds mature or are called the funds must be reinvested and the yield on bonds of equal grade is much less.

There has been some "slopping over" of funds into the markets for preferred stock. The investor will find a better yield in the preferred stock market than in the bond market. The price paid for that higher yield, however, is the change in status from a creditor to a part owner.

Simplification of Currency.

There are now nine types of currency outstanding. The Federal Reserve bank of New York predicts the gradual disappearance of five.

National bank notes, federal reserve bank notes, and gold certificates are now in progress of retirement, and retirement of treasury notes of 1890 was virtually completed several years ago. In addition, gold coin has become a matter of history as far as the general public is concerned.

There will, when retirements are completed, be only four types of money [excluding fractional currency] in circulation—silver dollars, federal reserve notes, United States notes [greenbacks] and silver certificates.

Ownership of Wealth.

The circulation of the statement that 2 per cent of the people own 60 per cent of the wealth of the country has been so wide that, if there is anything to "vox populi, vox Dei," it should be true. But it isn't.

The meat of the phrase was taken from a report of Dr. W. K. King, according to the National Industrial Conference Board, Inc. This report was first published in 1915 and was based on conclusions from figures regarding estates probated in Massachusetts during certain years from 1829 to 1891, and in Wisconsin in 1900.

In fact, Dr. King made a further study, as of 1921, which was published in 1927. In this paper he reached the conclusion that, among living gainful workers and recipients of income, 2 per cent of the people owned, not 60 per cent, but 40 per cent of the nation's wealth.

who had been repaid nothing previously. Two of the banks owe nothing to depositors and attempts are in progress to reorganize two others.

Following the practice which it adopted some months ago, THE TRIBUNE again will attempt to give depositors detailed information on the progress of liquidation and prospects for future returns from each of the defunct institutions. This is based on the auditor's reports and knowledge of persons close to the affairs of the various banks.

The first ten, in alphabetical order, follow. Others will be printed from day to day, as reports are made available for publication. Figures cover the entire receivership, unless otherwise stated. Appraisals of remaining assets are not yet ready for publication, the state auditor said, and the book values given are of boom day vintage far in excess of present worth.

Adams State Bank.

ADAMS STATE—Receipts, $385,500 [$25,500 last quarter], of which $200,000 wiped out prior claims and $48,100 paid 12 per cent to depositors [$20,000, or 5 per cent, last quarter]. Also paid $25,000 [$17,000 last quarter] to cut RFC loan to $99,100. After $6,000 more to protect assets, plus small expenses, cash was reduced $18,000 to $22,500 balance, held for RFC. Remaining assets at $506,137 bloated valuation indicate some further payment on $356,000 due depositors after RFC is repaid.

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS STATE—Receipts $195,000—[$10,000 last quarter]. Prior claims of $116,000 paid. First return of $17,100, or 5 per cent, to depositors last quarter. Cash reduced $9,000 to $12,000 balance after expenses and $7,500 further to protect assets, which item now amounts to $13,500. Clerical cost of $18,000 and $8,000 interest are heavy. Losses reasonably low so far, but much of remaining assets on books at $473,300 are slow or of doubtful value. Prospect of only modest future payment on $335,900 due depositors.

ARMITAGE STATE—Receipts $137,000—[$4,500 last quarter]. Marking time now that application is made for RFC loan, may yield 10 or 12 per cent and may be bulk of what depositors of this Bain bank will receive. Losses heavy and remaining assets considered worth only fraction of the $679,800 book valuation. Owes $429,850 to depositors. Has paid $74,200 prior claims, $13,600 to attorneys, $24,500 clerical, and $12,400 to protect assets.

Ashland State.

ASHLAND STATE—Receipts $202,000—[Only $3,000 last quarter]. Paid $111,500 prior claims and $25,700, or 10 per cent, to depositors. Protection of assets cost $26,600 [$2,000 last quarter] and clerical $25,800. Poor outlook, with losses of $166,000 in converting best assets into cash. Book value of remaining assets only $383,600 against $253,800 due depositors.

AUBURN PARK TRUST AND SAVINGS.—Receipts, $398,500 [$27,000 last quarter]. Wiped out $157,000 prior claims, paid $19,700 to attorneys, $32,100 clerical, and $45,250 to protect assets. Returned 17½ per cent, or $91,200, to depositors. Nearly half of $47,000 cash is available for further payment. RFC loan expected to yield 15 to 20 per cent more to depositors. Regarded as best of Bain banks and one of better closed state banks in Cook county. Remaining assets carried at $842,000 against $464,000 balance due to depositors.

BAKER STATE—Receipts, $91,500—half to pay bills, $19,200 to protect assets, and $13,500 clerical. Heavy losses of $30,500. Nothing yet for depositors and future considered dull except for RFC loan application pending. Liquidation stagnant. Assets overvalued at $282,400; $159,000 deposit liability.

BANK OF HARVEY—Receipts, $620,000 [$46,000 last quarter] and losses only $40,000. Paid $250,300, or 40 per cent, to depositors [$63,000, or 10 per cent last quarter, as predicted in THE TRIBUNE]. Still has cash balance of $22,500—over half available for further dividends. Considered one of county's best receiverships, and can pay 70 per cent total if remaining assets net one-third of $710,500 book value. Still $387,600 due depositors. Bills of $243,400 wiped out, $45,000 to protect assets, $29,000 clerical, and $19,000 attorneys.

Belmont-Sheffield Trust.

BELMONT-SHEFFIELD TRUST AND SAVINGS—Receipts, $248,200 [$34,000 last quarter]. Paid depositors $93,450, or 47½ per cent. Wiped out $35,000 bills and repaid $52,500 to RFC [$31,500 last quarter], cutting balance to $31,000. All costs, $28,000, plus $12,500 to protect assets. Cash reserve, $26,650. Losses small and ultimate payout prospects considered excellent. Only $111,300 due depositors, with remaining assets at $377,350 book value.

BERWYN STATE—Receipts, $259,800, of which $144,200 was used to pay bills; $27,800, or 5 per cent, to depositors, $18,000 to attorneys, $20,400 clerical, and $12,500 to protect assets. Cash of $26,000 indicates early further returns to depositors. Final prospects poor, with $66,000 losses to date, and $56,200 book value on slow moving assets of low quality against deposit liability of $524,000. Closed since 1931.

BERWYN TRUST AND SAVINGS—Receipts, $72,200, including $13,500 for last quarter. Paid $24,200 [$7,500 last quarter] on bills, which now are $19,700. No payments to depositors. Heaviest costs, $13,750 clerical and $10,300 to protect assets. Slow or dubious assets of $335,600 eventually should yield something on $167,800 deposit liability.

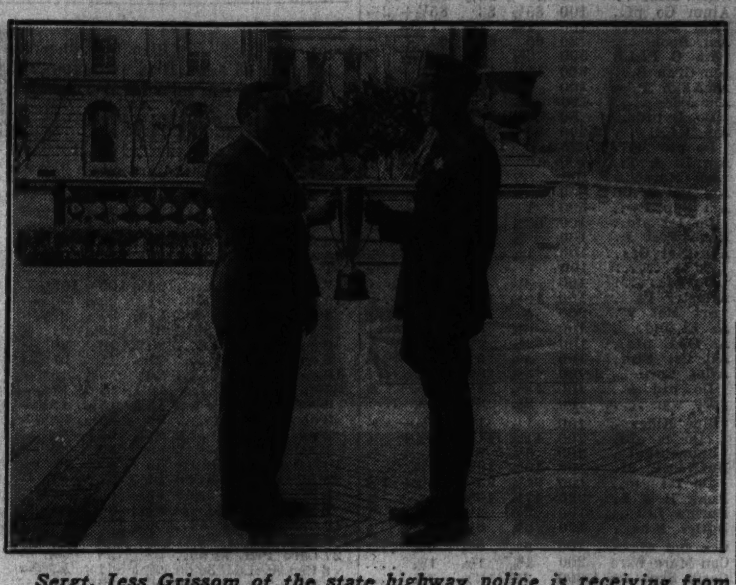
MOTORS—TRAFIC—HIGHWAYS

TROPHY FOR SERGEANT



Sergt. Jess Grissom of the state highway police is receiving from State Highway Engineer Lieberman the Gov. Horner trophy for the best record in the quarterly inspection of the state patrolmen. The sergeant's district headquarters is at Effingham, Ill.

Lack Money for Removal of Subways

Two deadly highway subways under railroads—not railroad grade crossings—have been omitted from programs for "easy money" construction and reconstruction of such trafic facilities. Both are in the village of Westchester, fourteen miles west of the loop, where Roosevelt road passes under the Illinois Central tracks and where Mannheim road passes under the tracks, not far from the intersection of the two pavements.

The Illinois highway department has submitted to the United States bureau of public roads a list of twenty-two railroad grade separations in Cook county that might be built or rebuilt with $5,550,000 of the $4,880,000,000 work relief appropriation. Neither Westchester job is on the list.

Not on County List.

When THE TRIBUNE published this list two weeks ago Clayton F. Smith, president of the Cook county board, promptly hopped into the public prints with a program for the county to seek $8,820,000 of "easy money" for twenty-eight railroad grade separations. It will be noticed that the county's cost estimates are higher per structure than the state's.

Neither of the Westchester jobs is on Mr. Smith's program. An excuse for this omission by the county is that the roads concerned are state highways. However, Mr. Smith's hastily prepared list, seemingly inclusive of all suggestions, did duplicate the state's project on eight proposed structures.

One of these duplications is a request for $1,100,000 to carry North Austin avenue over the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific yards near North avenue. This amount of money could build more than two miles of elevated highway over some route more consistent with the demands of trafic.

Pillars Are Hazards.

The most dangerous feature of the Westchester subways is their central pillars of concrete battered by many automobile crashes. The village police recall two deaths and twelve injuries at the Roosevelt road structure, and two killed and nineteen injured at the Mannheim road structure.

George W. Fleming, general secretary of Mayor Kelly's Keep Chicago Safe committee, last week addressed letters to Robert Kingery, state director of public works, and to other state officials protesting against any further construction of highway subways with central pillars and urging reconstruction on existing structures of this design.

Both the state and the county have adopted definite policies against the design that includes the center piers. Railroads, under the former financial arrangement whereby they shared in the cost of rural grade separations, favored the pillars, which reduced the total cost of construction by shortening the spans.

No Subway Design Policy.

The railroads were able to get approval of central pillar designs by public officials. This is particularly true in Chicago, where the railroads, under the old track elevation ordinance, paid all of the construction costs.

Oscar Hewitt, city commissioner of public works, said that, in so far as he knew, the municipal administration has not adopted any policy regarding subway designs. Mr. Fleming's letter quotes A. M. Smietanka, city attorney, as authority for a statement that one person a month is killed in Chicago by an automobile hitting a column at illy designed railroad grade separations.

However, the city engineers will have nothing to do with the designs of structures proposed by the state and by the county for "easy money" construction. And the railroads, free from any financial interests, with the government paying the total bill, will not try to influence public officials in favor of the slightly cheaper and highly dangerous center pier design for the subways.

VOICE OF TRAFIC

PLAN FOR '36 LICENSES.

Chicago, April 17.—According to Hal Foust's article on the front page of today's TRIBUNE, motorists who are caught driving without proper 1935 licenses and stickers will be given four days to secure the same, and if this is done no charges will be made against them.

What should be done is this: Demand that proper plates and tags be purchased, but at double the annual rate. Most of these people have the money or they would not have anything with which to buy gasoline and oil. They simply get away with it, year after year. If they do not have the money for these state and city requirements, what kind of settlement would they be able to make in case they killed or injured some person, or did damage to property?

Regardless of what the state charges for a license next year—and the cost should be reduced—now is the time to consider plans for making January 1st of each year the deadline date for new licenses. Other states do this, and there is no reason why Illinois should be so lax in its enforcement of these laws.

Lack of money is absolutely no excuse. Take the car out of circulation if you haven't the money to operate it. I have had to do this at times, and if our laws were enforced there would be fewer decrepit junks on the street than there are today, most of which have out-of-date or no licenses. J. C. F.

UNLICENSED AUTOS.

Chicago, April 18.—I wish to commend the police on their drive in having proper state and city license plates on all cars in Chicago in the next two weeks. No one should be allowed to drive now without them.

However, it seems that there are still a lot of cars parked and driving without proper plates—especially on those cars parked outside homes. This morning I counted 24 in one block—on one side of the street, without city tags. Just have a man go down Jeffery avenue from 75th street to 67th, and also along Everett avenue and Hyde Park boulevard from Jackson park north—all along in these districts there are cars too numerous to mention that are without city tags.

Why couldn't the police detail a number of men to go along and record the state plates and have a central detail check the numbers for addresses and names and then segregate them systematically and have several details go out to these home, knock on the door and notify them that their car is without city tags and give them a ticket?

It would keep ten dozen policemen busy all day on this, but, boy—what a collection they'd get! It seems to me this is a better method than waiting on the street for them to drive by.

ERIC BENGSON.

VOICE OF PEOPLE.

Chicago, April 24.—While eating a sandwich at a lunch counter not far from the intersection of Ashland, Lincoln and Belmont avenues, I overheard a dialog between the young man who runs the place and a young lady customer. Starting at a place where it became interesting to a Chicagoan:

SHE: I haven't got my auto license yet.

HE: Neither have I and I don't expect to get one. I drove my car all last year without one and I didn't have a bit of trouble.

SHE: I had a license last year, but I didn't have one the year before.

HE: It's easy to get by in Chicago, but don't every try it in Philadelphia. You won't get two blocks.

SHE: New York is just as hard.

HE: I didn't find it so.

SHE [Starting to go]: Well, luck with you, then good-by.

HE: Good-by. What will you have today, mister? Our special is——

ILLINOIS CITIES URGED TO JOIN IN SAFETY CONTEST

State Asks Co-operation in Halting Accidents.

BY HAL FOUST.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., April 27.—[Special.]—Gov. Henry Horner, through his highway department, is urging the forty-six Illinois cities of more than 10,000 population each to enroll in the fourth trafic safety contest being conducted by the National Safety council. It will be the first time that Illinois has entered this contest.

Highway department employés, at the direction of Chief Engineer Ernst Lieberman, will advise the municipalities on measures that can be taken to reduce the accident rate of the respective communities through improvements in regulations, in physical characteristics of the streets, and through educational efforts.

Ask Diagonal Parking Ban.

H. H. Harrison, state trafic engineer, is giving special attention to parking and to stop and go signals. In many of the cities through travel follows the main business street. To increase the car storage capacity of the curb from 25 to 40 per cent, merchants insist upon diagonal rather than parallel parking.

Cars being backed blindly from the curb into through trafic are a repeated threat. The state highway department urges the cities to prohibit diagonal parking on heavily traveled streets, but there is little statutory authority to enforce such a regulation.

In Chicago, the state highway department has withheld its maintenance allowance for state pavements that are blocked from trafic usage by diagonal parking. This is true in Roosevelt road, where the illegal parking nullifies any benefits to travel from the pavement widening of a year or so ago.

Would Coördinate Lights.

Mr. Harrison is also making studies of stop and go signals on the highways through the cities, recommending a coördination of the red and green lights so that travel at a reasonable pace will be continuous, without arbitrary stops for red lights.

The cities are to be judged with each other, not solely on their relative death rates per population, but mainly on their 1935 records as compared with their 1934 experiences. It's an improvement over last year that is sought.

The cities will be graded on their reduction in deaths and personal injuries from automobiles, on their improvements to facilitate motor car travel, and on their development of physical properties for safety and convenience, such as signs and signals.

NEWS AND VIEWS

An analysis of 3,500 retail sales of 1935 Pontiac cars reveals that car buyers are laying down more actual cash than they have for years, that a large percentage of cars over three years old are being traded in, and that a high percentage of purchasers are stepping down from a higher price class. The figures were given out by A. W. L. Gilpin, vice president and general sales manager of Pontiac.

Chevrolet last week reported that retail sales of trucks this year to April 1, totaling 40,332, have set a record for first quarter sales for the last six years, and have been exceeded only once before in the history of the company, in the first quarter of 1929.

Significance is seen in a marked increase in registrations of half ton trucks, says the Chevrolet announcement issued by W. E. Fish, manager of the truck division, who declared that this gain is a healthy sign in that it is conclusive evidence that small merchants, whose business was the first to suffer in the depression, are now coming back.

An exceptionally rigid airstream convertible coupe model with two frames instead of the usual one is in production at the De Soto factory. The new car will be available for retail delivery soon.

The two frames which combine to give the new model unusual strength are the regular X-type frame and a second frame built into the body. Heavy steel cross members brace and support this additional body frame at the points of greatest stress, and the ribbed steel floor extending the length of the body provides further rigidity.

Advancement of F. R. Valpey to vice president and general sales manager of Graham-Paige Motors corporation was announced by Robert C. Graham, executive vice president. A. I. Philp, who has been serving as vice president in charge of sales, is moved up to the position of assistant to the president, J. B. Graham.

Opening of a new Ford dealership under the name of Chapman-Ratner, Inc., at 3912 Fullerton avenue, was announced last week by W. K. Edmunds, Chicago branch manager of the Ford Motor company. Officers of the new company are Milt Ratner, president, and Sol Chapman, secretary and treasurer.

Ford dealers are selling customers a dual ratio rear axle as special equipment for the 1935 V-8. The low ratio steps up acceleration for heavy trafic or hill driving. The higher ratio, for fast cruising, reduces engine revolutions, a saving in wear and in fuel consumption. The driver selects his gear ratio by means of a lever about three inches long attached to the instrument panel. Operation otherwise is the same as driving a car without this advice.

CHICAGOLAND TO 'SHARE LILACS'

FOX RIVER MILL BECOMES BUSY CITY OF AURORA

Rippling Waters Lead Pioneers.

BY GUY MURCHIE JR.

Three young men are plodding their way along a river bank in the early morning. They are heavily burdened. One carries a tool box, another blankets, another food supplies. The country is wild in every direction. Most of the time the three tramp over the open grassy prairie, but occasionally they have to pass through large groves of oak, black walnut, and hickory trees.

It is April 1, 1834, and the youths are making their way northward up the Fox river, a little known tributary of the Illinois and the Mississippi. They are looking for a place to settle.

The leader of the pioneering band is 25 year old Joe McCarty who hails from Elmira, N. Y. His father, of Scotch-English extraction, had brought him with his mother and brother to Elmira from their old home in Morristown, N. J., in 1812.

Dreams Come True.

There in the Elmira farming country the boy grew up with his brother and they both learned the trade of millwright. As they reached manhood they naturally began to dream of carving out careers for themselves in the new western territory just then being opened for settlement.

After the Black Hawk war in 1832, when Gen. Winfield Scott had concluded his peace treaties with the Sauk, Fox, Winnebago, Sioux, and Menominee tribes of Indians, leaving the Fox river region in the hands of the peaceful Pottawattomie Indians, more glowing accounts than ever went east to entice ambitious and adventuresome young men.

Joe McCarty could stand it no longer and left home on Nov. 25, 1833, in company with a boy apprentice, Jeffry Beardslee. Scanning the rough maps of Illinois, Joe had previously picked out a likely looking spot far up the Illinois river where he had heard there was a good location for a mill. Proceeding across country to the head waters of the Alleghany, he and Jeff built themselves a "dug-out" and started their long drift downstream to the Ohio and the Mississippi.

Earn Board at Odd Jobs.

It snowed several times during their journey and as January approached they decided they would have to stop somewhere for the winter. This they did at Cape Girardeau, Mo., a thriving town on the Mississippi, a short distance north of where the Ohio joins it. Earning their board by doing odd jobs till the ice began to break up, they continued north up the Mississippi on foot.

Passing the young settlement of St. Louis, and the mouth of the Missouri, they trudged on to the Illinois and up it to their chosen spot. But the spot was not so good as their dreams had pictured it, and besides other settlers had claimed it a few weeks earlier.

So they pushed on—to Ottawa, a tiny settlement where the Fox meets the Illinois. There McCarty heard an explorer tell of a beautiful location about fifty miles up the Fox, and so he hired a young guide and assistant named Robert Faracre, and on went the three of them.

Island Draws Them.

Thus it was that a few days later, April, 1834, this trio of adventurers was proceeding northward along the east bank of the Fox toward what is now the city of Aurora.

Presently Joe McCarty sighted a sizeable island in the river, on each side of which the confined stream formed rapids, "the ripples dancing over the limestone bed." "This must be the place they told us about in Ottawa," he said, "and what a place for a mill! It ought to be easy to build a dam at this narrow place."

So here they set down their burdens under the oak trees and staked Joseph McCarty's claim—360 acres on the east bank—the beginning of Aurora. The next morning, while the two boys set about cutting logs for a cabin, McCarty crossed the shallow river to visit the Pottawattomie Indian village located about three-quarters of a mile north of the island on the west bank.

Meet Friendly Chief.

As he approached the tepees grouped about the chief's "long house" he saw more than a hundred horses grazing on the nearby prairie. Indians observed him interestedly and smiled. Then he met Chief Waubansie, the famous leader of the Pottawattomie tribe, in the long house, and received an official welcome and presents of maize and fish to help feed him until he was settled.

Waubansie was well known as the white man's friend and, although he was a friend of Black Hawk, he saw the uselessness of bloodshed between white man and Indian and had more than once saved the earlier settlers from massacre by warning them of Black Hawk's intentions.

In a few weeks a log cabin, sixteen feet by fourteen, had arisen on the east bank near the island, and McCarty's claim was secure. He also wisely staked a 100 acre claim on the west bank and built a cabin there to make his entire mill site safe from encroachment.

Dam River with Brush.

Now he and his two helpers began the construction of a "brush dam" between the island and the east bank, in preparation for their first mill. All this time the three lived in the east bank cabin, occasionally making short expeditions into the oak forest to the north to shoot deer, more often fishing in the river.

They obtained bread by weekly

OUR TOWN

Paragraphs About People You May Know

CELLOPHANE raindrops and umbrella decorations made it an "April shower" in more than one sense the other day over at Mrs. Michael McGrath's home, 725 South East avenue, Oak Park. The shower was for Miss Florence Rietz, 849 North Lawler avenue, who's to be married to Charles Miller this summer.

Bulletins from St. Mary's college at Notre Dame, Indiana, last week carried news items of interest concerning three young west suburban women. Miss Florence Clark, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert A. Clark, 922 Lathrop avenue, River Forest, and Miss Frances Vodicka, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert L. Vodicka, 335 Main street, Glen Ellyn, will return today from an Easter vacation trip, taken in company with 38 of their classmates to Washington, D. C., and New York City.

On the publicity committee for the musical comedy, "Take Your Medicine," to be presented Saturday and next Sunday evenings by the joint glee clubs of St. Mary's college and Notre Dame university, is Miss Pauline Putnam, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George E. Putnam, 641 South Elm street, Hinsdale. Miss Putnam is a freshman at St. Mary's.

FROM twirling drum major to pipe organ soloist is quite a jump, but Herman Wiegman Jr., Austin High school senior, has taken it in his stride. Last Friday night he was pipe organ soloist at a piano and organ concert at Kimball hall. For three years Herman has been national high school champion drum major.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Smolin of 1526 South Albany avenue, announce the engagement of their daughter, Mynne, to Sidney Gonsky of 7442 South Phillips avenue.

PIANO artist, Werner Zepernick, who is a charter member of the Young Artists of the West Suburban McDowell association, was presented in a recital Friday evening in Lyon & Healy's concert hall by the American Admirers of German Art. West side patrons included Mrs. Louis Yager of Oak Park, president of the Federated Music Clubs of Illinois, and Mrs. Amy Heilmann of Austin. Mr. Zepernick is a resident of Forest Park.

Well known west siders among the patrons who sponsored the meeting of the National Catholic Alumni federation Thursday, Friday, and Saturday at the Palmer house are Fred J. Ashley of La Grange, James H. Brennan, Howard A. Brundage, and Charles E. Byrne, all of River Forest; Edward J. Doyle, 1118 North Mayfield avenue; Daniel A. Laughlin, 202 South Hamlin avenue; Judge Justin F. McCarthy, 130 North Long avenue; Bernard McDevitt and his son, Bernard Jr., of 148 North Central avenue; Payton J. Tuohy, 48 North Menard avenue, and Walter A. Wade of River Forest.

THE Antlers of Chicago lodge, No. 4, Order of Elks, will hold a welcome home party and dance tonight for "Daddy" Louis M. Cohn, their counselor, who has just returned from a winter in Honolulu. The dance will be held in the Elks' club house at 174 West Washington boulevard. Stan Kallick is chairman.

775 Pupils to Hold Music Festival in Western Suburb

Two concerts featuring 775 participants will be heard by west suburbanites at the 15th annual May festival of music to be held this week and next in the auditorium of the Oak Park and River Forest Township High school.

During the first evening of music to be held Friday, Harold M. Little will conduct the freshman-sophomore chorus and concert band of the school. There are 75 students in the band and 275 in the chorus.

Clarinet Sextet to Play.

Six members of the clarinet section of the band will play Von Weber's "Clarinet Concertino" Friday evening and in commemoration of the 250th anniversary of Johann Sebastian Bach, the band and chorus will present his "Sleeper's Wake." Two novelty numbers, one arranged by John Hegge, a band member, "Dawn of Maytime" from "Martha," by Von Flotow, two marches, and additional choral numbers will complete the program.

Under the direction of Anton Embs, the junior-senior chorus and symphony orchestra of the school will perform the evening of Friday, May 10. "Overture to Freyschutz" will be played among other selections by the orchestra and the chorus will give several a cappella numbers. Other important numbers on the program will be Rhode's No. 7 violin concerto with the orchestra and Beethoven's No. 3 piano concerto with the orchestra.

Will Give Cantata.

Climaxing the festival will be a presentation of Max Bruch's choral cantata, "Fair Ellen," in which the chorus, orchestra, and soloists, Miss Madge Alice Ward and George H. Seymour of the faculty, will take part. The cantata, which requires 20 minutes, is an old ballad containing the story of a siege in the Scottish highlands.

According to Mr. Embs, the May festival has grown in popularity so much in the past 15 years that there is rarely a seat left in the school auditorium during its presentation. There are 80 students in the symphony orchestra, and 360 in the junior-senior chorus.

CHURCHES HOLD SPECIAL YOUTH SERVICES TODAY

Boys' Commonwealth to Sponsor Fair.

Special church services and leisure time activities will be featured throughout the west side this week in observance of the last three days of Youth week, which began Tuesday and will be concluded Tuesday evening.

Sermons pertaining to youth will be preached in nearly all west side churches this morning and special programs will be held by the young people's groups in the churches this evening. In many churches, young men and women will take over the regular evening service.

Hold Annual Fair.

In addition to other activities, the American Boys' Commonwealth, 3415 West 13th place, will hold its fifth annual Boys' fair today and tomorrow. There will be exhibits of woodwork, camera art, and clay modeling. The glee clubs, dramatic department, and gymnasium groups will present a combined program this evening and tomorrow evening.

In charge of activities at the Commonwealth are the following boys: Sam Capsuto, director; Morton Bernstein, assistant director; Nathan Horwitz, assistant director; Charles Levinsky, athletics; Sid Newman, and Jerome Pressler, assistant athletic directors.

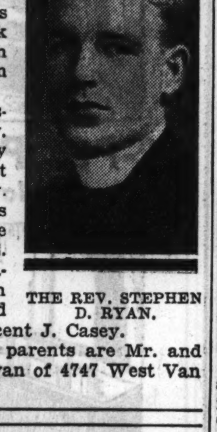
To Present Play.

Others are Sol Roshal, membership; Nate Cherney, dramatics; Sam Sandler and Gilbert Master, glee clubs; Louis Rabinowitz, library; C. C. Karmel, art; Ben Purchick, locker room, and Art Cowan, janitor.

Members of the Deborah Boys' club, 2441 West Division street will present three plays this evening. They are: "Wanted: A Nut," "Esther the Loyal Jewess," and "The Grand Old Man."

PRIEST CELEBRATES FIRST MASS TODAY IN RESURRECTION CHURCH

Ordained yesterday by Cardinal Mundelein in the chapel at St. Mary of the Lake seminary in Mundelein, the Rev. Stephen D. Ryan will celebrate his first solemn mass at 12:15 o'clock this afternoon in the Resurrection church.



THE REV. STEPHEN D. RYAN.

He will be assisted by the Rev. Thomas J. Kelly as assistant priest, the Rev. A. G. Quille as deacon, and the Rev. George E. Shea as subdeacon. The sermon will be preached by the Rev. Vincent J. Casey.

Father Ryan's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Harry I. Ryan of 4747 West Van Buren street.

WOMEN OF WEST AREA BUSINESS CLUB WILL MEET

The West Area Business and Professional Women's club will hold a social gathering and card party at 8 o'clock tomorrow evening in the Washington Pine hotel, 5511 West Washington boulevard. Mrs. Lillian Kafka of Cicero is chairman, and assisting her are Mrs. W. D. Van Briggle of Berwyn, Mrs. Freida Koch of Oak Park, and Mrs. Bertha MacLeod of Austin, president of the club.

A large delegation of West Area members will attend the state convention of the Illinois Federation of Business and Professional Women Thursday, Friday, Saturday, and next Sunday at Bloomington, Ill.

BERWYN GRADE PUPILS BECOME RADIO MINDED

OwnBroadcastingClub Is Organized.

That school children of today are radio minded is evidenced by the recent organization of a broadcasting club among pupils of Lavergne school, Ogden and Ridgeland avenues, Berwyn. R. R. Loudermilk, principal, has encouraged the boys and girls in their undertaking.

The grade pupils began discussing radio programs in their social science classes two years ago. They expressed their likes and dislikes, not only concerning radio entertainment but also radio advertising.

Rig Up Own Studio.

Later they hit upon the idea of rigging up their own broadcasting studio, using equipment installed in the building for office to rooms service.

A recent offering, written by members of the club in collaboration, was called "Shackled Shades," and Principal Loudermilk made a record of the performance.

The boy authors favor such themes as Boy Scout adventures and dramas in which the hero outwits the villain. The girls go in for vacation stories, plots laid in a boarding school, and subjects that have to do with kindness to animals.

Criticisms Constructive.

It is said of the group that, during rehersals, there is a tendency to offer constructive criticism rather than fault finding with each others' efforts.

William Stroemer is president of the club, Harold Skinner, vice president, and Ruth Naw, secretary treasurer.

May Day Dance.

A May day dance will be held by the Presentation Young People's club Wednesday evening in the auditorium of the Presentation parochial school.

LEGION TO SPONSOR MAY MUSIC FESTIVAL IN RIVERSIDE FRIDAY

Frances S. Benson, soprano, and the Polesny string quartet will be presented in the auditorium of Riverside-Brookfield High school Friday night, in the first May festival of music conducted by the American Legion of Riverside. Miss Benson will be heard in a group of modern songs and favorite concert numbers. She will be accompanied by Guy Webster. Frank Polesny, first violinist and director of the quartet, is a member of the Chicago Symphony orchestra. The other members of the group are Carl Racine, second violin; Leonard Sorkin, viola, and Harry Sturm, cello.

MU ALPHA SIGMA SORORITY WILL GIVE TWO PLAYS

Talent from Cicero, Berwyn, Riverside, and the west side of Chicago is included in the casts of two one act plays, to be presented Friday evening by Mu Alpha Sigma sorority in the Shedd park auditorium, 23d street and Lawndale avenue.

"In the Spring a Young Man's Fancy," and "Right About Faces" are the titles of the plays, which are being produced under the direction of Miss Regina Plocinsky.

Major rôles will be played by Miss Mildred Worell of Berwyn, Miss Lucille Kosik of Riverside, Miss Lillian Svoboda of Cicero, and Miss Evangeline Greenan and Miss Blanche Horsky of the west side. The lone male character is to be portrayed by Carl G. Ariart of Berwyn.

Suburban Girl Scout Council Adopts 4 Aims

Four aims for the coming year, designed to benefit Girl Scouts of the west suburbs, were prominent items in a report of the recent annual meeting of the Oak Park Area Council of Girl Scouts, which was made public last week.

MISS MARY HERRON. [Birdsall Photo.]

The council's aims are to safeguard the Scout by good leadership, to have Scouts become still more community minded, to give camping privileges to more Scouts, and to make the Scout program available to every girl who desires it.

"With the slogan, 'The Girl Scout a Girl Citizen,' this forms a skeleton outline of the council's plans for the year," said Miss Mary Herron, who presided as commissioner over the meeting. Miss Herron has resigned her position to organize an Oak Park Scout committee.

Increased to 4,000.

Monthly and annual reports from representatives of the towns and villages in the Oak Park area revealed that more than 18,000 acts of community service were done by Scouts during the last year and that the number of Scouts in the district has increased to 4,000. According to Miss Herron, 25 troops meet in school buildings, 32 in church houses, 4 in private homes, and one each in an orphanage, welfare building, and Scout headquarters.

It was also learned that 832 Scouts in the area went to Camp Lone Tree last summer and of that number 50 girls learned to swim, 70 passed their first class swimming test, and 53 attained a swimmer's badge. There were 234 who already knew how to swim.

Some 166 persons were trained in Scout leadership in the district, and 31 were trained to lead Brownie packs. Representatives who gave reports are Mrs. C. H. Collins, Mrs. F. H. Wright, Mrs. Charles Olson, Mrs. William Scheidemantel, Mrs. Ralph Westcott, Mrs. Leo Mayers, and Mrs. Herbert Bevan.

Slate Is Accepted.

The slate of officers offered by the nominating committee and elected at the meeting is composed of honorary commissioner, Mrs. J. C. Bagby; commissioner, Mrs. J. H. Pratt; deputy commissioner, Mrs. P. W. Stephens; corresponding secretary, Mrs. F. I. Raymond; recording secretary, Mrs. J. A. Perkins, and treasurer, Mrs. M. B. Wilkinson.

Chairmen are Mrs. A. P. Cottle, camp; Mrs. Bagby, finance; Mrs. C. N. Dunbar, badges; Mrs. L. G. Selby, Brownies; Mrs. V. H. Gregg, social; Mrs. H. F. Darrow, nominating; Mrs. Sidney R. Collins, publicity; Mrs. Harry L. Judd, personnel. Miss Herron and Mrs. W. K. Frakes were chosen members at large and the headquarters staf selected is composed of: Local director, Mrs. R. L. Marsh; field captain, Miss Nelle Henne, and secretary, Miss Katherine Miller.

Guests Are Listed.

Council representatives were asked to bring outstanding women in their communities to the meeting. Those who attended were Mrs. Carol Bragg and Mrs. Robert Coombs of Riverside, Mrs. John Haines and Mrs. R. J. McEvoy of Maywood, Mrs. L. D. Wilcox and Mrs. J. G. Skidmore of Bellwood, Mrs. Lee McCullough and Mrs. Paul Schulze Jr. of River Forest, Mrs. A. W. Whitten and Mrs. S. J. De Wilde of Berwyn, Mrs. Ernest Tomlinson, Mrs. Zoe Sutherland, and Mrs. Ellis Kerr of Oak Park, and Mrs. John Swenson of Elmwood Park.

Scouts who presented a style show of uniforms for town and camp were Margaret Logan, Marjorie Cleary, Patricia Marcotte, Loretta O'Mara, Rosemary Strenning, Alice Ryan, and Marilyn Klein.

MORTON SCHOOL GRADUATES WILL HEAR EDUCATOR

Dr. H. Lester Smith, president of the National Education association, will speak on "300 Years of Educational Trends," at the commencement exercises of J. Sterling Morton High school May 16.

Miss Helen Novark, chairman of the board of directors of the Morton student association, will speak on "Looking Backward Forty Years," and Alban Yuscka, editor in chief of the Mortonian annual, will take for his topic, "Morton Forty Years After."

Musical features will include an original viola solo by Edward Langer, a piano solo by Miss Helen Leach, and numbers by the Aeolian choir, directed by C. K. Nicholas. The farewell addres will be given by Robert Drysch, president of the senior class.

Community Nurse Sponsors to Give Tea in La Grange

Mrs. J. Harry Jones, 56 South Spring avenue, La Grange, will open her home at 2:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon for the closing tea of the season of the La Grange Community Nurse and Service association. Officers will be announced and annual reports covering the work of the Community Shop, conducted by the group, will be given. Mrs. J. N. Woodbury will preside.

Visiting Rotarians.

EXPAND DRIVE TO CHEER SICK WITH FLOWERS

Appeal Is Issued to All Growers.

BY FRANK RIDGWAY.

Every lilac grower in the Chicago metropolitan area stretching back into the country for forty miles or more will have an opportunity to share blossoms with the sick and the poor this year.

Through extra organization effort hundreds of persons have pledged their coöperation to gather and to deliver lilacs to hospitals and other institutions throughout the city in the seventh annual "share your lilacs" campaign sponsored by the Chicago Plant, Flower and Fruit Guild and THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.

Hundreds of thousands of lilac blossoms will be delivered when the buds open about the middle of May, unless the flowers are injured by late frosts. Already many thousands have promised to deliver blossoms. These pledges come from individual home and estate owners, members of garden, women's and country clubs, and school superintendents, principals and children.

Expect Abundant Supply.

By extending the plan so that all growers may give blossoms, it is expected that there will be an abundance of lilacs for distribution to the extended list of hospitals. The guild and THE TRIBUNE, working in coöperation with the various suburban garden clubs last year, gathered and delivered lilacs to 27 hospitals, social settlements and other institutions caring for the sick, crippled and infirm. This year the demand has increased and the list of hospitals is being lengthened daily.

In an appeal to lilac growers who will have blossoms to give in this, the seventh annual "share your lilacs" campaign, Theodore V. Purcell, president of the Chicago Plant, Flower and Fruit Guild, said yesterday: "Say it with flowers," is an inspiring slogan and the guild asks all garden owners to use its organization to send a message to those who have no gardens.

Source of Happiness.

"Say to them, 'Please share with me these flowers from my garden, and may they bring to you, my friend, some of the joy I have found in them.' If you do, your garden will take on a greater significance and will be a source of greater happiness to you."

Flower guild committees of garden clubs will receive them at the hour and dates to be announced by THE TRIBUNE later. The dates cannot be definitly announced until gardeners can determine when the greatest number of blossoms will be open in this region.

Mrs. James C. Carney, 83 Root street, Aurora, is general chairman of all suburban divisions in the Plant, Flower and Fruit Guild assembling organization.

Twenty-nine garden clubs in the west division of the city and suburbs will provide lilacs and aid in gathering and distributing the blossoms. They will work under the three division chairmen appointed by the Guild. Below are the names of the divisions, the division chairmen, and the garden clubs with the heads of the flower guild committees of each organization:

Pioneers Led to Site by Rippling Waters.

trips three miles down stream to Elijah Pearce's cabin, where they exchanged fish for his wife's freshly baked loaves. Pearce had settled there at a ford in the river that same spring. His tiny settlement, destined to be the future town of Montgomery, was strategically located on the new stage route which crossed the prairies between Chicago and far away Galena on the Mississippi.

Brother Joins Sam.

As Joe McCarty worked on his dam he sent a letter by the Galena-Chicago stage to his brother, Samuel, still at Elmira, telling him to come. Sam came immemdiately by stage coach. Swaying behind four horses through the swamps and woods of the lower Michigan trail, passing through the boom town of Chicago, he left the stage at Pearce's crossing and walked the three miles up river to his brother's cabin.

By this time a passing prospector had staked a claim to 400 acres just south of Joe's east bank territory, but when Sam arrived Joe bought the claim from the squatter for $60 and presented the land to his younger brother. The east side "brush dam" was just about complete by November when Sam arrived, and the two brothers put on the finishing touches and prepared for the winter. They also took in as boarders one Stephen A. Aldrich and his family, and a Canadian settler named R. C. Horr, bringing their total population to nine.

At the first sign of spring in 1835, Joe went down to Pearce's crossing and took the stage to Chicago to get materials for his mill. The first mill was to be a saw mill, because the means of cutting timbers for new buildings and other mills was the greatest need. When the materials arrived and the timbers were ready, the McCartys sent out a call for help in "raising" the new mill.

Make Party of Work.

It was to be a regular old time frolic and the entire male population of the region was invited to help fasten the heavy timbers in place and to make merry on the McCartys' venison, trout, and corn in the evenings. Boys came from Naperville, Oswego, Plainfield and from isolated farms near by. In three days the mill was up.

After the crowd went home the McCartys and their helpers soon put the mill in working order, and the first sawing was done on June 8 for John Wormley, who had settled the year before at Oswego. By now the Aldrich family had moved on, but Horr stayed and was chosen first justice of the peace of McCarty's Mill.

New immigrants arrived at short intervals: the first doctor, Mr. Eastman and his wife; Joseph Huntoon and his family, and several others, most of them old acquaintances of the McCartys who had heard about the promising new settlement.

Build Second Dam.

As soon as the saw mill was working the McCartys began to build the second "brush dam" across the west branch of the river. And the next year, 1836, they built a bridge across both branches, connecting all parts of the settlement. Two settlers, Zaphna and Theodore Lake, now bought the west bank claim and the west side power rights from the McCartys for $500, and by the end of 1837 they had built two saw mills.

Meanwhile the McCartys had built a grist mill on the east side to grind corn meal for all the people and save the weekly trips to Ottawa, forty-five miles down river. They also had to work at repairing their dams in the spring of 1837, for the April floods had swept the bridge away and with it most of the dams and even parts of the saw mills.

That June a young man named Joseph G. Stolp arrived from Marcellus, N. Y., bringing wool carding and cloth dressing machinery. He laid claim to the island which became Stolp's Island and the center of town. By the fall of 1837 he had built his shop and installed his modern machinery.

Gain Site on Map.

Now the town was well established. Even in 1836 it had two schools, one on each river bank, and a road was built to Naperville. The McCartys realized that if McCarty's Mills was to grow it must get on a main highway, so they entered into a deal with the mail contractor, agreeing to keep his horses and drivers free for a month if he would travel the new Naperville-McCarty's Mills road instead of using the old stage route which crossed the river three miles south. The mail man accepted the proposition—and thus the town became a dot on the map.

With mail coming it was necessary to name the town. The Indian name, Waubansie, was suggested, but abandoned because it was already being used at another location. And then Elias D. Terry suggested naming the town after Aurora, N. Y. The McCartys agreed—and so it was.

That same fall, 1836, Elias D. and Richard Terry built Aurora's first tavern, 16 by 31 feet. It even had plaster walls inside, troweled with a broken saw. A store and a regular post office came at about the same time to provide for Aurora's population of thirty-three families.

Indians Move West.

All this time there had been very little friction with the Indians, in spite of occasional boundary disputes and horse stealing. Sam McCarty, like his brother Joe, became Waubansie's fast friend and described him in his diary as a man "big of physique and mind." But the Indians moved on westward in 1837 to the new government reservation at Council Bluffs, Ia., leaving the white men in sole possession of the land.

The year 1848 was a great year for fourteen year old Aurora. Not only did Joe Stolp begin construction on his new four story mill on Stolp's Island, but the enterprising business men of the town, now nearing a thousand in population, decided to build a railroad which would connect with the new Galena and Chicago road [later the Chicago and Northwestern line]. Finished in 1851, the new railroad was called the "Aurora branch road" and was the beginning of the great Burlington system.

Rivalry Subsides.

In the early days there was considerable rivalry between east and west Aurora. The west side of the town wanted to be independent and take a name other than Aurora, but in 1857 a special new charter passed by the legislature united the two sides into one Aurora, and with the building of new iron bridges in the sixties the local jealousy subsided.

The town grew rapidly. By 1860 it contained more than 6,000 persons; by 1880, more than 13,000. A year or two after the latter date Aurora became the first town in the world to light its streets with electric light.

Today Aurora has grown from a mill town to a center for the manufacture of machinery. Although it still has its mills, it also has its Chicago, Burlington and Quincy shops where railroad cars are repaired and air conditioned, its Western Austin Road Machinery company, its Barber Green company building snow loaders and ditchers, its American Well works making well drilling machinery and pumps, its Stevens and Adamson company making conveying machinery, its Lyon Metallic company, its Independent Pneumatic Tool company, and many others.

ARRANGE JUBILEE PROM

RESIDENT 98 YEARS

BERT WILDER.

Bert Wilder, who has personally witnessed Aurora's entire history since its third year, and who will be 100 years old next July.

In telling of his early years he said: "My father located here in 1837 and came in a covered wagon, drawn by horses, which were quite unusual for immigrants in that oxen age. I was 2 years old. . . . Our first home was in an Indian log shack, to which later we built an addition, and this home we occupied for ten years, until father built the old stone homestead.

"My uncle, Roswell Wilder, opened the first tavern and stage house on the west side . . . 1839, and built the first school on the west side. . . . I was 15 years old when the first railroad—the "Aurora branch"—was built, and I hauled stone from father's quarry for the railroad when the line was extended west."

WHEATON GLEE CLUB WILL SING IN KIMBALL HALL

Culminating a recently closed eastern tour through eleven states, the Wheaton College Men's Glee club will present a sacred concert at Kimball hall Saturday night.

The original of the interpretation of sacred music for which the club is noted is the result of the work of H. William Nordin, director. The king of Sweden made Mr. Nordin a knight of the Order of Vasa in 1922. He is known in Chicago for his work as a teacher at the American Conservatory of Music and as leader of the Swedish choir.

Besides the songs by the entire group, many features will be presented at the concert, and a quartet will have a place on the program.

ELMHURST CLUB TO GIVE ANNUAL CHORAL CONCERT

The fourteenth annual concert of the Elmhurst Woman's Choral club will be given at 8 o'clock Tuesday evening in the Hawthorne school auditorium, Arthur street and Cottage Hill avenue, Elmhurst.

Five guest artists will be featured. They are Estelle Berne, soprano; Kathlyn Olsson, cellist; Margaret Sweeney, harpist; Evald Snellman, flutist, and Mrs. Clarence Le Beau, violinist, who is also a member of the club.

Mrs. G. W. Pfender is president of the organization, and Miss Helen Leefeldt, director. The accompanist is Miss Marian Ranstead.

Pulaski Red Cross Drill Team Will Sponsor Party

The Pulaski Red Cross drill team will hold its fifth annual entertainment Saturday evening in the National auditorium, 2018 Carolina street. A one act play, "Be a Little Cuckoo," community singing, and dancing to two orchestras will be featured.

PROVISO ALUMNI BANDSMEN GIVE CONCERT TODAY

Musical Champions to Appear in Solos.

Outstanding alumni talent will appear as soloists and guest conductors at the annual alumni concert of the Proviso Township High school band, to be given at 3:15 o'clock this afternoon in the high school auditorium.

Carl O. Behnke, director of the Forest School of Music, will be the guest soloist. Other soloists will include Robert Jones, '33, trombonist, twice a national contest winner and now a member of the Chicago Civic symphony.

Wins 13 Gold Medals.

Henry Jackson, '34, winner of thirteen gold medals as soloist and ensemble player, now a freshman and member of the band at Northwestern university, will appear.

Carlton Rieck, '34, national contest winner when he was a junior, also will play. Mrs. Rieck was drum major in 1933 and plays both clarinet and saxophone.

Twice State Winner.

Miss Harriet Shilkaitis, '35, player on the piano, tympani and the bell-lyra, is to be on the program. Miss Shilkaitis has twice won first ratings in the state solo contest for the marimba.

Russell Currie, '35, two years a solo clarinetist with the band, represented Proviso in 1934 with the woodwind quintet at the national ensemble contest, and in the concert demonstration before the National Education association, was chosen to play the clarinet solo parts.

Director Irving Tallmadge has chosen band numbers of wide appeal. No admittance will be charged, but a collection will be taken.

HINSDALE STAGE GROUP WILL PLAY SOVIET SATIRE

The forthcoming and final production of the season by the Hinsdale Little Theater will be "Squaring the Circle' by Valentine Kataev, which is to be presented the first week in June under the direction of Everett Mesenbrink.

This satire on Soviet Russia was first produced by the Moscow Art theater in 1927 and has been in its repertoire ever since. Last year the Mercury theater in London produced the first English version and it was also produced last year in a Connecticut summer theater and this winter by the Chamber theater in New York City.

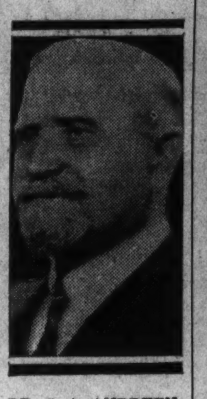
The Hinsdale group will be the first to present it in the middle west. According to Mr. Mesenbrink, it will use the Mercury theater version with revisions by Ashley Dukes.

CELEBRATE 75TH ANNIVERSARY OF LUTHERAN UNION

Rally Here Today Is of National Interest.

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

National attention will be centered this afternoon on the Central Lutheran church at Sedgwick and Hobbie streets when the 75th anniversary of the joint meeting of the Mississippi, Minnesota and Chicago synods of the old northern Illinois synod will be commemorated. A massmeeting at 3 o'clock will be addressed by Dr. Gustav Andreen, president of Augustana college and Theological seminary, Rock Island, Illinois.



DR. G. A. ANDREEN.

Dr. Andreen is the son of one of the clergymen present at that meeting in April, 1860, in the old Immanuel church on Superior street which gave the impetus to the organization of the Augustana synod, free to adhere to its own rigid confessional standards.

Interest in the evening will be shifted to Messiah Lutheran church, Waller avenue and Iowa street, when the pastor, the Rev. T. L. Rydbeck, will conduct a service memorializing the 40th anniversary of the foundation of this congregation. The speakers will be Dr. S. J. Sibelius, a professor at Augustana seminary, and Dr. E. E. Ryden, editor of the Lutheran Companion, which is the official publication of the Augustana synod.

These two anniversary celebrations coincide with the 83d annual convention of the Illinois conference of the Lutheran Augustana synod, comprising 157 congregations totaling 75,000 members represented by 300 delegates, which will conclude its sessions on the last day of April.

* *

The Chicago Congregational association opens its 82d annual meeting on Tuesday morning at La Grange First Congregational church with the reception of ministers and delegates from the one hundred congregations in the metropolitan area.

The general theme of the meeting is "Capacities, Opportunities and Obligations." The morning speaker will be Dr. Wilfred A. Rowell, pastor of Hinsdale Union church. In the afternoon Miss Gertrude Kellogg of China will speak. In the evening there will be a recognition service for the new minister, the Rev. E. Paul Sylvester.

* *

The Chicago Church federation, for the first time since the vacation church school movement began in Chicago 28 years ago, will attempt to reach every church worker in the metropolitan area with its training program.

To this end, Dr. Victor E. Marriott, chairman of the committee, has arranged a series of regional training conferences to deal with the problems of promotion, organization and curriculum building for vacation church schools.

The north side regional school will meet at Buena Memorial Presbyterian church, 4301 Sheridan road; the south side at Englewood Methodist Episcopal church, 6400 Stewart avenue, and the west side at the Second Baptist church, 1857 Jackson boulevard.

Rabbi to Discuss Modern Palestine in Address at 'Y'

"Modern Palestine" is the topic Rabbi Samuel Schwartz has chosen to talk upon at 7:30 o'clock tomorrow evening in the Sears Roebuck Y. M. C. A., 3210 Arthington street. Dr. Schwartz, who is affiliated with the B'nai Abraham Zion congregation of the Washington Boulevard temple, recently visited Palestine. The lecture is free.

HOME FROM HONEYMOON

Mrs. Raymond F. Gannon, who before her marriage last month was Miss Martha Marie Bender of Downers Grove, has returned with her husband from a month's honeymoon tour through the south. The couple are now at home in the Oak Park Arms hotel. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Bender of Downers Grove and was a former student at Rosary college in River Forest. SORORITY ALUMNA

Miss Margaret Moulton of 731 South Wesley street, Oak Park, is president of the Chicago Alumnae chapter of Theta Upsilon and active on the committee for the dance the sorority will give on Saturday evening at the Palmer house. [Daguerre Photo.]

Kings of Lawndale Will Install Leaders at Dinner

Sol Buxbaum of 1104 South Sacramento boulevard is chairman of the committee on arrangements for the fifth annual banquet and installation of officers to be held by the Kings of Lawndale Saturday evening in the Blackhawk café. Assisting him are Victor Friedman, Ted Robbins, and Harry Weiner.

SEVEN CATHOLIC STUDENTS VIE IN SPEECH CONTEST

Seven students of west side Catholic high schools will compete today for the privilege of representing their district in the finals of the second annual Illinois Catholic speaking contest being sponsored by Loyola university. The contest will be held in the Loyola Community theater, 1320 Loyola avenue.

West side contestants are Miss Dorothy Stalzer of Nazareth academy in La Grange, Walter Jennings of Fenwick High school in Oak Park, Miss Eileen O'Neil of Providence High school, Miss Helen Peterson of Siena High school, Miss Mary Garvey of St. Mary's High school, Emmett O'Malley of St. Ignatius High school, and Miss Delphine Kubat of Blessed Agnes High school.

Winners in each of the north, south, and west Chicago districts will appear in the finals on May 12 with five downstate sectional winners. The Peoria, Rockford, and Kankakee sections have already chosen their finalists.

Emanuel-Alvin Aid Will Hold Dinner Dance Tonight

The Emanuel-Alvin Aid society will hold its annual dinner-dance this evening in the Planet Mars café, 1117 Wilson avenue, according to an announcement last week by Mrs. Lillian Cohen, 4116 West 18th street, publicity chairman.

Five hundred friends and members of the Evening auxiliary of the Austin Woman's club are expected to attend the annual card party to be held by that body Monday evening, May 6, in the Nineteenth Century clubhouse, Oak Park. Proceeds will go to charity.

Austin Woman's Club.

The garden circle of the Austin Woman's club will meet at 10:30 o'clock Friday morning in the home of Mrs. T. Sinclair Moore, 1050 North Lorel avenue. Mrs. William R. Charles of Oak Park will speak on "My Experiences in Rose Culture," and a paper on the history and development of nasturtiums will be given by Mrs. Edward L. Beckerleg. Mrs. Everett G. Akridge will speak on the recent flower show at Navy pier.

Century Associates.

Officers elected to serve for a two year term at the recent annual dinner held by the association of the Nineteenth Century Woman's club are: vice president, Miss Rebecca Springstun; treasurer, Miss Margrethe Madsen, and corresponding secretary, Mrs. B. V. Murphy,

Austin North End.

A tour to the figurine exhibit in Mandel Brothers department store will be made by the Austin North End Woman's club at 1 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, following which the group will proceed to the Chicago galleries to view Carolina landscape paintings and portraitures. The tour has been arranged by Mrs. James H. Perkinson, art chairman.

Oak Park Club.

Sons, daughters, and husbands will be afforded an intimate glimpse into mother's club activities tomorrow evening, when a family night party will be held by the Woman's Club of Oak Park in the Grace Episcopal church parish house, 924 Lake street. A three act operetta, "Heartless House" will be presented by the club chorus under the direction of Mrs. Thirza Parmenter.

Twentieth Century Club.

Josephine Turek Baker, editor of the magazine, "Correct English" will speak on "Our Royal Language," review one of her own books, and read her poetry before the Maywood Twentieth Century club Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Nils Thorhaug has arranged the program.

Wheaton Department Club.

"The Challenge of European Nationalism to America" will be the subject Mrs. Raymond Knapp will speak on at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon before the General club of the Woman's Department Club of Wheaton. Mrs. J. Howard Helfrick will preside.

Riverside Woman's Club.

The Riverside Woman's club will meet at 11 o'clock Thursday morning in Riverside Town hall. During the afternoon, the drama department will present two plays, "The Gay Nineties" and "The Eldest." Luncheon will be served at 12:30 o'clock.

Altenheim Juniors.

The Junior auxiliary of the Altenheim will present three one act plays at 8:15 o'clock Friday evening in the Ravenswood Masonic temple for the benefit of the German Old Peoples Home in Forest Park.

DANCERS IN MAYWOOD REVUE

BESSER CHOSEN DU PAGE HEAD OF DRUGGISTS

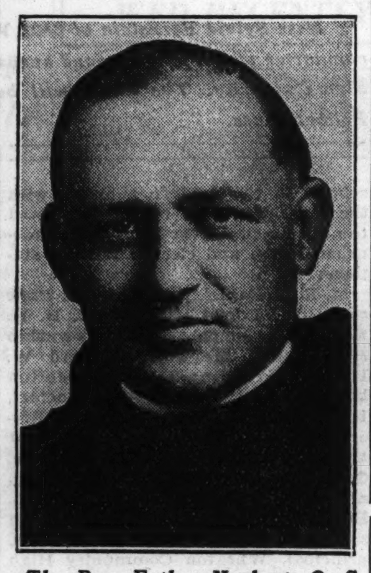
H. A. Besser of Downers Grove recently was elected president of the Du Page County Retail Druggists association. A. C. Kauffman of Wheaton was elected vice president, and L. W. Oswald of Naperville was unanimously reëlected secretary-treasurer.

A vote of thanks was accorded Charles L. Heubner of Elmhurst, retiring president, and Secretary Oswald was similarly honored.

The group indorsed the Wheeler bill, amending and extending the powers of the federal trade commission to include unfair and deceptive acts in or affecting interstate commerce. It condemned the Black thirty hour week work bill, contending that no retail stores could stand the increased operating expense.

The association favored legislation to insure the continuation of the "cost definition" as given under the retail drug code authority of NRA, and indorsed the graduated store tax bill now before the Illinois legislature.

ATHLETIC LEADER



The Rev. Father Norbert, O. S. B., headmaster of Marmion Fox Valley Preparatory school, Aurora, who was recently re-elected president of the National Catholic High School Athletic association. He is a former president of the Indiana Catholic High School Athletic association.

Sigma Sigma Epsilon Will Sponsor Card Party Friday

A benefit card party will be held by the Sigma Sigma Epsilon sorority at 8 o'clock Friday evening in the Bismarck hotel. Active members of the group, which is composed of former students of Harrison High school, are Mrs. Mildred Brans, Mrs. Mary Colombo, Miss Marjorie Held, Miss Isabelle Jacobs, Miss Charlotte Kuchar, Miss Maxine Matthei, Miss Diane Pauls, Miss Victoria Pribyl, Miss Ann Taut, Miss Estelle Whyte, and Miss Bertha Wilt.

EX-ARMY CHEFS TO SERVE PARISH BANQUET MAY 15

Elmhurst Males Give Women's Dinner.

Men of the St. Peter's Evangelical church, Elmhurst, have assumed the responsibility of cooking and serving the food at the Mothers' and Daughters' banquet, to be held at the church parish house, May 15. The men, however, are displaying little concern, for among their number are three ex-cooks who prepared mess during the world war.

The three veteran chefs, accustomed to be in readiness at the call, "Come and get it," are Walter A. Hochmeister, Walter Overkamp and Emil H. Vonderohe.

Saw Service In Camps.

Mr. Hochmeister was instructor in cooking at Camp Grant for one year, and served overseas for another year as cook with the 33d division. Mr. Overkamp saw overseas service as a cook in the navy.

The Ladies Aid of the church, of which Mrs. Peter Gerdes is president, will provide the food, and the menu is being kept a mystery.

Mrs. A. G. Weber, chairman of the service department, for the women's society, will have charge of tickets and of the program following the banquet. Waldemar Hille will direct the group singing and other entertainment.

Waiters are Listed.

Ald. Hugo Brodt, president of the congregation, will be head waiter, and Prof. L. F. Ollman, vice president, will be his assistant. The two will appear in tuxedos.

Wearing white coats as waiters will be Dr. Harvey De Bruine, Tom Clare, Paul Lehmann, Dr. Timothy Lehmann, Prof. Paul Crusius, George Cookson, Homer Helmick, Theophil Mueller, Edward VanKampen, Michael Kross, Edward Beulow, Herbert Hintz, Walter Koenig, Otto Popp, Dr. Rudolph Priepke and Ray Raabe.

WHEATON CIVIC GROUPS OUTLINE PARKS PROGRAM

Study Supervised Play in Summer Months.

A playground program to be put into effect this summer is being planned by the Wheaton park commissioners with the coöperation of various civic organizations.

Wheaton has 60 acres of parks on the north side of the city, Memorial park that covers a block in the central part of town, and ten acres adjacent to the high school campus on the south side. The acreage was acquired years ago. It is the aim of the groups to provide a supervised playground program that may be enjoyed by all the youngsters of the community.

Groups Pledge Support.

A recent meeting of the park board, of which E. L. Gates is president, was held in the Lions club rooms and was attended by representatives of various organizations who expressed a desire to assist in the recreational movement.

J. F. Conley, Du Page county Scout executive and a member of the park board, presided as chairman of the athletic and recreation committee. C. E. Vallette is the other committee member.

Howard Shurtleff represented the American Legion, R. B. Ryall, J. H. Helfrich, and Lyman Anson, the Y. M. C. A.; Mrs. L. V. Morgan, the Girl Scouts; Mr. and Mrs. V. E. McCallum, the East End Improvement association; J. J. Freeman, the Lions club; Mrs. Rose Platt, the Legion auxiliary; W. C. Vining, the Wheaton Daily Journal; P. S. Durant, the Wheaton Illinoian, and Mrs. Mary Macafee, the county probation office.

Have Pool and Cabin.

In the north side park Wheaton has an excellent outdoor swimming pool which has been popular for several summers and which will fit into the program scheme. During the winter a log cabin has been erected with relief labor on the tract, lagoons have been dredged and bridges placed to cross them. A road that circles the park is also under construction.

The cabin, to which Gordon Mackenzie, city engineer and park board member has given his personal attention, will be used by campers who desire a north woods atmosphere close at home. Logs for the cabin, transported from St. Charles, were a gift of the telephone company.

The supervised play program would provide for daily activities in all sorts of athletics and care for special holiday entertainments.

DIRECTS STYLE REVUE

Miss Marguerite Collins, 3521 Lexington street, had charge of the style revue held during the fifth annual card party of the Student Activities council of Mundelein College for Women, which took place Thursday evening in the Palmer house. Proceeds went to the new college library.

CLUBS TO OFFER DEBATE TROPHY TO HIGH SCHOOLS

League Forensic Teams Will Vie for Prize.

So much interest was aroused during the past year in the debates conducted by the league made up of a group of schools in the west suburban conference, that service clubs in the communities have decided to sponsor the project next year by donating a cup to the winning team, and using the debate for one of the club programs.

Supt. M. B. Travis, of the Hinsdale Township High school, is chairman of the debating activity which this last year included teams from Maine, York, La Grange and Hinsdale High schools.

Seek More Entries.

J. D. Shaver is the debating coach at Maine, William Stanley at York, R. A. Deables at La Grange, and Miss Theresa Stevenson at Hinsdale. It is the hope of the groups that Downers Grove, Glenbard, Riverside and West Chicago will enter teams next year.

Appear at College.

But one subject was debated. Each school took the negative as well as the affirmative side. The topic was: "That the federal government should adopt the policy of equalizing educational opportunity throughout the nation by means of annual grants to the several states for public elementary and secondary education."

At the close of the tournament, the teams debated at North Central college, Naperville, where Maine and La Grange tied for first place.

Lutheran A Cappella Choir Will Sing in Forest Park

Under the direction of David Nyvall Jr., the Chicago Lutheran A Capella choir will present a concert of sacred music this evening in St. Paul's Lutheran church in Forest Park.

POLISH RAILWAY TRAVEL FILLED WITH ADVENTURE

Journey to Krzemeniec Is Worth Discomfort.

BY ALEX SMALL.

KRZEMIENIEC, Poland. — [By Mail.]—This town of 20,000 inhabitants that it will be, as they say, "spoiled is famous throughout Poland as a center of science and artistic interest. Nervous esthetes need have little fear by tourists," until that apparently far-distant day when the Poles shall possess more automobiles and roads over which to drive them.

You get here, as you get anywhere in Poland, if you have sense, by train. For some 90 miles from Lwow you are headed almost straight for the Russian border; at the station of Kamienica Wolynska you pile out and wait for a train to take you some 20 miles south to Krzemieniec. You can arrive only at unearthly hours of the night or early morning. No one knows the real delights of European travel till he has stood hopelessly beside his baggage, peering into the impenetrable dark beyond the flickering gleams of the one oil lamp of a small Polish railway station, wondering if a droshky will loom up and if he can make the driver understand anything.

The next morning all is rosy. You find yourself in a beautiful ancient town and a landscape of hills. The distance to the Russian border is not more than 25 miles straight east. It is only at the extremeties, at the corners and on the edges, that Polish scenery varies and you get a change from the interminable plains of the center.

Church Is Monument.

Because it is off beaten paths, or simply because it has had good luck, Krzemieniec, whose history goes back to the 11th century, has escaped damage better than most cities of Poland. To be sure, you can find practically nothing of the old castle of the Polish lords ["Starostas"], which stood on Mount Bona, overhanging the town. The Cossacks came this way in 1648 and ruined it completely.

The substantial monuments which gave this town its grandeur are a huge two towered Jesuit church of the 18th century and the attached convent. On the church the Russians laid their hands in 1832, but this time they were relatively merciful; they contented themselves with changing it from Roman Catholic to Greek Orthodox. In 1919 it was restored to its original cult. The convent has become a sort of national shrine, for here, after it had been turned into a higher school in 1806, was educated Jules Slowacki, born at Krzemieniec in 1809.

Venerated as Poet.

The name of Slowacki may mean nothing to the Anglo-Saxon, or to any occidental. Polish literature, from the difficulties of the language, remains practically a closed book to non-Poles. Slowacki's name is more than respected by his countrymen, as he was more than an inspired poet. He is venerated and cherished with affection, for he was one of the three great poets [Krasinski and Mickiewicz were the two others], of the hopeless century, the 19th.

They kept hope alive when everything seemed lost, especially after the failures of the insurrections of 1831 and 1863. They gave the Polish people a sense of their grandeur amid misery and defeat. Theirs was the idea, a romantic one but inspiring and comforting, that Poland was a Messiah of the nations, doomed and privileged to expiate by its suffering not only its own sins but the sins of all nations.

For its beautiful old houses and for its situation, Krizemieniec is undoubtedly the finest town in the voivodship [county] of Volhynia, which, like the neighboring ones of Lwow, Stanislawow, and Tarnopol, has a heavy Ukrainian [Ruthenian] population—about half of the 2,000,000 inhabitants. It is largely rural, but you will find in it bigger cities than Krzemieniec.

Frontier Bars Passage.

Three of them—Kowel, Luck, and Rowne—are on or near the main northwest-southeast railway from Brzesc [better known outside Poland by its Russian name of Brest-Litovsk], down into Russia. Its going there now is largely academic, for no train can pass the frontier, entirely closed between Poland and Russia, except for one opening far to the north [at Stolpce], through which must pass all land trafic between Russia and the western world.

Over that railway Russians and Poles fought bitterly in the war of 1919-'20, and those three towns were the sites of three battles. It was along this line that Budienny's supposedly irresistible Bolshevik cavalry advanced and announced that it was going to eat up all Poland.

Scene of Battles.

The traveler with plenty of time and an appetite for train changes might take a look at Luck [when Poles pronounce the name, it sounds like "Woosk"], the provincial capital of Volhynia. It is one of the most ancient cities of Poland, but not much remains to remind you of past splendor. Besides the struggle against the Bolsheviks, Luck was, in 1916, the scene of murderous battles between Russians and Germans. Those were but the last of stirring events which were too stirring for the preservation of property.

PROVISO SCHOOL PUPILS TO HEAR VOCATION NEEDS

Conference to Clarify Ten Professions.

For the purpose of furthering the new vocational guidance program at Proviso Township High school, a conference will be held tomorrow evening in the school auditorium under the sponsorship of the commerce department headed by E. F. Cameron, and the Dial club of which C. W. Failor and M. M. Finstad are advisers.

The program will be opened with a general meeting during which B. R. Ryall, secretary of the DuPage county Y. M. C. A., will speak on "What You Should Know About Yourself to Plan Your Vocation."

To Discuss 10 Subjects.

Following the general conclave, those in attendance will divide into ten groups to hear discussions and ask questions about the occupations of nurse, personal shopper, building trades, chemical research, office machine operators, electrical engineering, physical education for boys, interior decoration, teaching of music, and aviation. Students will act as chairmen for these group conferences.

Prominent industrial, business, and professional men and women in the metropolitan area have volunteered their services. Among those definitly scheduled to be present are R. W. Pilcher, DeForrest H. Showley, Dr. Robert L. Reynolds, Miss Gwendolyn Weichman, L. C. Hodsdon, J. E. Campbell, and C. E. Lutton.

"This conference is a direct outgrowth of a recent investigation looking into the occupational plans and desire for vocational guidance among students of this area," said Mr. Failor. "We find that our young people are choosing and preparing for occupational life without regard to the needs of society for workers in the various fields.

Trend Shown by Survey.

"Six times as many of our boys wish to become lawyers as there are lawyers in the adult population," he continued. "The ratios for certain other occupations are: engineer, four; aviator, forty-three; physician, five; artist, three.

"One-half of the boys confine their choices to eleven occupations and three-fourths of our girls confine their choices to only seven occupations. This condition is largely due to their lack of knowledge of other occupations in which there are or will be abundant opportunities for success and happiness."

The investigation also disclosed the fact that more than four-fifths of the student body desire information and help in solving their vocational problems. Almost nine-tenths indicated their desire to hear talks on the opportunities in occupations in which they have an interest.

According to Mr. Failor, the conference is experimental in nature and other occupational opportunities may be presented later. Admittance will be by ticket only, obtainable at the high school office.

GARFIELD PARK BUSINESS MEN WILL HAVE FROLIC

The organization includes scene designers, costumers, electricians, and writers. Plays of contemporary interest, as well as the classics, will be chosen.

ARTHUR DUNHAM LEADER OF GLEE CLUB FOR 20 YEARS

Concert Thursday Will Mark Anniversary.

When Arthur Dunham conducts the annual concert of the Glee Club of the Association of Commerce at Orchestra hall next Thursday evening, it will mark the twentieth anniversary of his directorship of that organization.

ARTHUR DUNHAM.

During this double decade the glee club has developed from an amateur singing society into one of the best known choral organizations in the middle west. Each year the club presents approximately 50 public concerts in Chicago and Chicagoland. One of its proudest achievements came last year when the club was chosen to sing at the first concert in the Swift Bridge shell at A Century of Progress. Mr. Dunham also was organist at the shell.

Composer and Organist.

In addition to his work as a conductor, Mr. Dunham has achieved a national reputation as a composer and organist. Among his longer works are "Marpessa," a tone poem for large orchestra; "Symphonic Fantasy," for organ and orchestra; "Symphony in D Minor," and "Suite Moods."

He also has written numerous shorter pieces, songs and anthems. He has made several appearances as organ soloist with the Chicago Symphony orchestra.

On Thursday evening the glee club will sing the newest work of Mr. Dunham, a tone poem entitled "Silence," inspired by a poem written by Rose Dulsky, well known Chicago poet.

Founder of Orchestra.

Mr. Dunham was the founder and for two years conductor of the Chicago Philharmonic orchestra, was formerly conductor of the Boston Opera company, and for 11 years was conductor of the Lyric Glee club of Milwaukee.

He is now on the teaching staff and a member of the board of examiners of the Chicago Conservatory of Music and organist at the Methodist temple in the loop. On Easter he was at the console when the "world's highest carillon," in the temple spire, rang out for the first time. He lives at 5806 Harper avenue.

23rd Annual Coal Message!
Another coal year has passed, adding several more hundred new accounts to our list of satisfied customers. QUALITY, OF COURSE, WAS THE STRONG APPEAL. People tire of inferior products—but never of quality.
Again we adhere to our 1912 pledge: QUALITY, SERVICE and MODERATE PRICES!
Quality, to establish identity.
Service, to build confidence.
Moderate prices, to win preference.
With the Guffey bill, a new miners wage contract in the offing, and with other indications of much higher prices next Fall, there is no doubt but that the early buyer will again profit in 1935.
To all our customers—sincere thanks and appreciation for the many fine orders last season. We feel especially grateful for the confidence placed in our organization; to those recommending "R" Coal to their friends and neighbors, and who proved themselves careful and satisfied 1934 buyers.
May our business relationship be a long and pleasant one, and remember, I am personally always at your service.
Yours truly,
James J. Deranek

FIFTH DISTRICT LEGION TO HOLD RALLY IN CICERO

Col. R. R. McCormick Will Address Veterans.

Promising to be outstanding in the series of mass meetings on Americanism and national defense conducted by the American Legion throughout the state, a demonstration of patriotism to be held next Sunday afternoon in Cicero will include a parade through the west side community and a program in the auditorium of the J. Sterling Morton High school.

Assembling under the auspices of the fifth district of the American Legion will be members of the 25 posts and 20 auxiliary units, comprising the district, and veteran groups to the north and south of the west area.

Col. McCormick to Speak.

The "Parade of Patriots" will start at 1:30 o'clock from 22d street and Laramie avenue, move west to Austin boulevard, and thence south to the auditorium of the high school, where Col. Robert R. McCormick, publisher of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, will be the principal speaker.

In the line of march will be uniformed members of Legion posts and auxiliary units, 20 uniformed bands and drum and bugle corps, R. O. T. C. units of Austin and Morton High schools, Boy Scouts, Sons of the American Legion, and representatives of other patriotic and civic organizations. Cicero business men will award prizes for the best band and drum corps participating.

The program, to which the public is invited, will start at 3 o'clock. Music will precede the main address. Edward Clamage will be chairman. The invocation will be by the Rev. Harold Holt, district chaplain, and the Rev. Edward Dankowski, past chaplain of the Cook county council, will give the benediction.

Auxiliary Program.

Joseph Kral, past commander of Cicero post, will be heard in the preamble. Presentation of colors in the auxiliary program, presided over by Mrs. Ethelyn Barry, will be by the Maywood drill team. Mrs. Ada Mucklestone will give the address of dedication and presentation, and Mrs. Peggy Juric, district director, will make the response. Mrs. Pauline Rinaker, state president of the auxiliary, will give a brief address.

La Grange and Proviso posts will present the colors for the Legion. James P. Ringley, past state commander, will give the address of presentation and dedication, and Fred J. Ashley, commander of the fifth district, will make the response.

A special feature of the musical program will be the appearance of the famous Commonwealth Edison post drum and bugle corps.

State Senators Richey Graham and Earl B. Searcy, both active in the recent passage of a resolution appointing a committee to investigate subversive influences in Illinois schools and colleges, have accepted invitations to attend the mass meeting.

Burlington Route post, No. 387, announces a May party, with dancing and floor show, for May 11, in the Hotel Sherman. Music will be provided by the Board of Trade post orchestra, conducted by Col. Armin F. Hand.

C. Wayland Brooks will speak at a meeting of the Du Page county auxiliary Thursday at Legion headquarters in Naperville. Mrs. Marion Waterfall of Westmont is president of the auxiliary.

"What would be the first thing you would do if you received the cash for your adjusted service certificates now?" asked Commander Jack Carter at a recent meeting of Constitution post, No. 326.

Answers were as follows: Pay miscellaneous bills, 30 per cent; pay off mortgage, 17½ per cent; pay doctor and dentist bills, 10 per cent; pay taxes, 7½ per cent; repair home, 7½ per cent; pay loans on government insurance policies, 5 per cent; purchase automobile for business and pleasure, 5 per cent; take family on vacation, 5 per cent; purchase clothing and household articles, 2½ per cent; pay loan, 2½ per cent; invest in good securities, 2½ per cent; pay insurance, 2½ per cent, and go fishing, 2½ per cent.

Van Buren post, No. 401, will present a "Night in Deauville" Saturday night at the Ashland Boulevard auditorium, Van Buren street and Ashland boulevard. Funds derived will be used for service work.

CHILDREN PRESENT HANSEL AND GRETEL

Hansel and Gretel," Humperdinck's opera basd on the old fairy tale, will be given at the Robert Louis Stevenson school in Melrose Park next Wednesday afternoon and evening by the children's choir. It will be presented in "tabloid" form, sixty voices singing the score while the scenes are being enacted in pantomime on the stage. In the picture Tom Horgan and Alice Loos are seen as Hansel and Gretel. Philomena Borzillo is the witch. The father and mother are Anthony Ancona and Eleanor Janasky.

PLAN FAREWELL FOR SOLO FLYER TO LITHUANIA

Lieut. Felix Vaitkus to Be Feted at Dinner.

Chicago's Lithuanians will speed Lieut. Felix Vaitkus on his projected solo flight to Lithuania at a farewell banquet at 8 o'clock Friday evening in the Gold room of the Congress hotel.

LIEUT. FELIX VAITKUS.

The following Sunday delegations from Lithuanian organizations of the city will see him off from Ford-Lansing airport as he flies east in the plane Lituanica II. on a tour of eastern cities prior to making his flight from New York to Kaunas, Lithuania, early this summer.

Flyer 27 Years Old.

The flight is undertaken with the backing of Lithuanians all over the country and of the Lithuanian government. Eighteen Lithuanian organizations of Chicago are uniting to sponsor the farewell banquet.

Rapolis Skipitis, here from Lithuania as special representative of his government, and Fortunatus Bagocius of Boston, Mass., president of the Lithuanian National alliance, will be guests at the banquet.

Lieut. Vaitkus, son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Vaitkus, was born and reared in Bridgeport. Only 27 years old, he is a graduate of Parker High school and attended the University of Chicago for three years before taking up aviation. He completed army courses in flying at Kelly and Selfridge fields, and is now a lieutenant in the reserves.

Alliance Has Charge.

Arrangements for the banquet are in the hands of lodge 313 of the Lithuanian alliance. Miss Euphrosine Mikuzis, only woman trustee of the alliance, is general chairman. A musical program is being provided by Miss Valeria Chap, violinist, and Miss Helen Pech, pianist.

Also assisting with arrangements are Mrs. Konstantine August, Mrs. Anthony Zymont, Mrs. Charles Montvid, Miss Anastasia and Miss Aldonna Mikuzis, Miss Emily Jucius, and Arthur Montvid.

Junior Hadassah to Hold Informal Benefit Dance

The Esther Natkin Junior Hadassah will hold an informal dance this evening in the Graemere hotel, Washington boulevard and Homan avenue. Miss Esther Hartzen is president of the group and assisting her with arrangements are Miss Sylvia Miller and Miss Marie Yellan. Proceeds will be donated to the organization's fund for the maintenance of an orphanage and nurses' training school in Palestine.

WED RECENTLY

Mr. and Mrs. Morris Goldstein of 1245 South Sawyer avenue, announce the marriage of their daughter Sydell to Dr. Charles Pava, son of Mrs. Felix Pava, 3225 West Grenshaw street, on March 31 at the Sovereign hotel.

100 OF OAK PARK MERCHANTS TO HOLD MAY SALES

Oak Park's fourth annual May day sale will be held Wednesday under the auspices of the Oak Park Chamber of Commerce.

The sales in the past have drawn shoppers from a wide area, and 100 merchants are coöperating this year to make the event the most successful in the suburb's history. Stores will be kept open in the evening.

Lester Walker and George Bennett are co-chairmen of the chamber's retail committee planning the sale.

PROVISO SCHOOL P.-T. TO SPONSOR ANNUAL BENEFIT

Play Will Be Feature of Maywood Party.

"Counsellor at Law" is the title of the play to be presented by the Maywood Players during the annual variety program to be held by the Parent-Teacher association of Proviso Township High schol Tuesday evening in the school auditiorium, First avenue and Madison street, Maywood.

According to Mrs. Robert Van Pelt, chairman of the ways and means committee, who has arranged the program, each year the association has presented an evening's entertainment for the benefit of the Worthy Student fund of the township. This fund supplies necessities for needy students during the year and especially at graduation time.

Mrs. William Dunn was elected president of the Mothers' club of Siena High school at a recent meeting. Other officers chosen are: vice president, Mrs. Edward Cobey; treasurer, Mrs. James J. Walsh; financial secretary, Mrs. Edward Carraher; recording secretary, Mrs. Bert Gasey; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Alberta Derby, and social chairman, Mrs. Louis Mondi.

The Herzl High school Parent-Teacher association will meet Wednesday afternoon in the school. Mrs. A. G. Hoppe and Mrs. Samuel Metcoff will speak on the "Summer Roundup" and a report of the state convention will be made by Mrs. H. B. Ritman, president.

Mrs. Edward F. Mulhern will act as hostess during the next meeting of the Trinity Mothers' club at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon in the gymnasium of the school in River Forest. A program will be presented by students and cards will be played.

Odd Fellows' Lodge Will Hold 15th Birthday Dance

In celebration of its fifteen anniversary, Truth lodge, No. 1,046, Order of Odd Fellows, will hold a dance Saturday evening in Odd Fellows hall, 2605 South Karlov avenue. Proceeds will go to the widows' fund of the lodge.

OAK PARK C. OF C. CALLS RALLY ON SUPERHIGHWAY

Suburban Leaders Will Meet Tomorrow.

Oak Parks' first meeting for giving consideration to the west side superhighway will be held under the auspices of the Oak Park Chamber of Commerce tomorrow noon at the Oak Park club, Oak Park avenue at Ontario street.

Ald. John A. Massen, chairman of the Chicago city council committee on trafic and public safety, will address the meeting, to which village officials and chamber of commerce executives from neighboring suburban towns have been invited. His topic will be "The Chicago Trafic Problem and How It Affects the West Suburban Communities."

Want United Support.

"The chamber feels," said President Thomas Hungerford, "that every resident in the western suburbs is interested in the construction of a west side elevated super-highway, and in order for them to become familiar with the plans which are now under way for such a highway, we have extended an invitation to their leaders to meet with us and hear Ald. Massen.

"Our transportation committee feels that the west side elevated highway will be advantageous to Oak Park and the other west suburban communities, but it is also interested in knowing where the highway will be constructed and how far west it is to be built, because these facts will have a considerable influence on the future trafic problems of the western communities."

Holland C. Pile, chairman of the transportation committee, has given the super-highway much study. He has compared the Chicago situation with that of New York, and voices the opinion that the growth of the Chicago metropolitan area has created a need for elevated highways similar to that which induced the eastern city to establish them in helping to develop its outlying sections.

Anxious About Location.

"Our committee," said Mr. Pile, "is anxious to see, when this highway is completed, that it will be so located as not to cause congestion at its western terminal. We would like to see it go west at least to the Des Plaines river with terminals at Harlem and Austin avenues in Oak Park."

Members of Mr. Pile's committee are Arthur Jacobs, C. A. Clark, Ben Davis, C. L. Drury and R. C. Dixon.

"Growth of Chicago's west suburban area during the past fifteen years has made necessary a more modern highway system to the loop," said Randall Cooper, secretary of the Oak Park chamber.

"The Oak Park chamber," added Mr. Cooper, "has been definitely active in behalf of the project for the past year, and we look forward to an enthusiastic meeting. Our transportation committee urges that Chicago be given a portion of the 4 billion 880 million dollar public works fund, recently voted, in making the project possible."

Mr. Hungerford will open tomorrow's meeting and turn its activities over to Chairman Pile. New members of the chamber, added during a recent drive, will be introduced.

PIANIST WINNER

Miss Barbara Jean Hull, 1630 Walnut avenue, Western Springs, is the winner of the senior contest for pianists, sponsored by the Society of American Musicians. A junior in the Lyons Township High school, Miss Hull is a 15 year old pupil of Cecile de Horrath of Western Springs.

MORE VARIETY SHOWN ON LATE EVENING HOURS

Sketches, Serials, Organs Improve Fare.

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

Since the suggestion was made here two months ago that broadcasters might well include something on their late night schedules besides dance bands the situation for night owl listeners has materially improved. The fact that the New York musicians' union slapped a tax of $3 per man per broadcast on dance orchestras, thereby forcing most of the Manhattan favorites off the airlanes, seems to have awakened network executives to the possibilities of doing something with their late night hours.

"Lights Out," for example, which was dropped because Author Willis Cooper had too much other work to do, was restored on WENR at the insistence of thousands of followers. Then it was piped to New York for a test. Eastern executives thought it was too tough for Manhattan, but after uniformly favorable criticism by New York critics they had a change of heart and are now trying it out across the nation. But they're starting in easy—using ghost and spook stories. The gory yarns are out for the present. Incidentally, Ted Sherdeman is producing the shows and doing a slick job of it at 11:30 now Wednesday nights.

Hoofinghams on Network.

Columbia is now piping its gay Blue Monday Jamboree, long a favorite on the west coast, across the nation from 11 to 12 Monday nights. And it's as good a show, to our notion, as anything that can be heard in the early evening hours the same night.

The merit of the Hoofinghams has been recognized and they have expanded to chain proportions on NBC. Soon as it went network somebody began tinkering with the show, and Count Drinkalotopop, portrayed by Bill Thompson, vanished from the script. Thompson is a better Greek dialectician than George Givot and one that may make Parkyakakas look to his laurels. May Drinkalotopop be restored!

The Voice of Love, heard after midnight on WBBM, goes in for romantic music but sloppy continuity.

The Midnight Flyers, W-G-N's two hour show on Monday evening, had some lean weeks during Lent. But it showed its oldtime vigor and variety last Monday evening. Hope it may continue.

Praise for Cocktail Hour.

The Cocktail hour, running from 10 to 10:30 Sunday evenings on W-G-N, is one of the most welcome additions to the late evening fare of the season.

Many a listener dials in WIND at 11 o'clock Sunday evenings to participate in the doings of the Pentecostal church, a colored congregation on the south side that boasts of putting "rhythm in religion." Elder Lucy Smith delivers homely preachments in a hoarse voice.

Shandor, a violinist, is heard regularly late in the evening over WCFL.

Several good organists are to be heard around midnight. Porter Heaps performs over WENR-NBC and Preston Sellers is on WCFL.

There also seems to be a tendency to spot good one time programs late at night. For example, Saturday, April 20, a tabloid version of "Life Begins at 8:40" was presented at 11:30 p. m. on WBBM.

Concerning Miss Giuntoli's Views.

Miss Leonore Giuntoli's brief reviews, as presented here last week, have stirred up a number of protests among other fans.

A letter from Benjamin F. Affleck, 209 South La Salle street, follows:

Dear Mr. Wolters: Being a chronic radio fan I read with keen interest the comments which you printed in your column in the world's greatest newspaper April 21. I would let Miss Giuntoli's comments pass but for the fact that she mentions disparagingly two of my particular radio pets, Gladys Swarthout and Jessica Dragonette. We can all agree on Gladys' beauty—it is matchless—but your correspondent is all wrong about Miss Swarthout's singing. She is a musician and her singing is exquisite. As for Jessica Dragonette, she has never sung off pitch when I was listening to her. She has a high voice and she is an artist.

Very truly yours,
BENJ. F. AFFLECK.

IRMA SEELING, 4709 Lawrence avenue, writes: "Miss Giuntoli claims that Jessica Dragonette's voice is too thin. Every one I know doesn't think so. Merely because she has a sweet voice and doesn't scream at the top of her lungs her voice is not to be considered thin."

MRS. E. J. ROGERS, 3100 Sheridan road: "I think any one who kicks about radio is a fussy cat, because there isn't an evening one can't find good programs. People don't have to listen to things that don't interest them."

ROBERT C. CRAIGIE, 1042 Argyle street, submitted an interesting set of reviews which space forbids using and added: "All of the evening programs over W-G-N are splendid."

LEWIS NACHMAN, 2939 West Monroe street, and LOWELL MENTZER, Deerfield, also contributed extensive reviews.

GLENN E. LEARY, 2254 North Keeler avenue: "What really burnt me up was when she said 'Jessica Dragonette flats and Gladys Swarthout cracks.' That's proof enough that she doesn't know what it's all about."

Father Coughlin to Open Paul Revere Hour Tonight

Father Charles E. Coughlin will launch his "Paul Revere" hour over his own network at 12 o'clock, C. D. S. T., tonight. WIND and WJJD will be the local outlets. He concluded his Sunday afternoon series last week.

SOPRANO AND CONTRALTO

Kathryn Witwer (left), popular young soprano, who will be the guest soloist with the Northerners, making their debut on W-G-N at 9:30 o'clock tomorrow evening. Right, Frances Langford, the Florida songstress, who is now making good in California as the feminine headliner of the CBS "Hollywood Hotel" program on Friday evenings.

STOKES TO OPEN NEW PROGRAM: FRIDAY FROLICS

Harold Stokes and the W-G-N dance orchestra will be presented in a special broadcast over W-G-N this week. The augumented dance unit will be heard at 7:35 Friday night in a new variety show known as the "Friday Frolics." The orchestra will also be heard in a fifteen minute program this evening at 7 o'clock.

On the new "Frolics" Lawrence Salerno, baritone will be added to the cast and will sing "Tell Me That You Love Me," and "Nightwind."

The Dorings will sing the novelty tune "Giddy-ap, Little Rockin' Horse" while Maestro Stokes will offer as a solo "Theres a Whistle, in the Thistle."

On W-G-N Tomorrow

When the Northerners make their bow on W-G-N at 9:30 tomorrow evening after more than four years on WMAQ, Kathryn Witwer, young Chicago soprano, will be the guest soloist. Miss Witwer will sing Glazounow's "La Prima Vera d'Or" and will also join the Northerners, male octet, under the direction of Harry Walsh, and Karl Schulte's String ensemble in other numbers. The octet will sing Sousa's "El Capitan," Speaks' "Sylvia," and Whiting's "Hundred Pipers." The ensemble will present selections from Romberg's "New Moon," and Strauss' melodies from "The Great Waltz." The Family Banker will continue his talks.

"ROSES, DRUMS" MARKS ITS THIRD BIRTHDAY TODAY

"Roses and Drums," popular radio dramatic classic of the War Between the States, will celebrate its third anniversary with a special program dedicated to Virginia Military institute during the broadcast over WENR and an NBC-WJZ network at 4 p. m. today. On the air since April 24, 1932, the program was one of the first series to bring Broadway stage players to the microphone, and as a consequence was among the first dramatic broadcasts to use stage lighting effects and costumes for the players. Since the opening broadcast the series has equaled thirty-two full length stage productions or ten average novels.

HENRY HADLEY TAKES BATON AT W-G-N TONIGHT

Composer Will Direct Concert Orchestra.

Henry Hadley, eminent American composer and conductor, will direct the W-G-N Concert orchestra in a special program of his own music from 6 to 6:30 tonight. This will be Mr. Hadley's first appearance as guest conductor of a studio orchestra in Chicago.

Mr. Hadley has been a guest conductor of nearly every major orchestra of America and Europe, and has traveled extensively and conducted orchestras in the orient. Since 1920 he has been associated with the New York Philharmonic orchestra.

Mr. Hadley is well known to Chicagoans. He directed the Chicago Symphony orchestra in several concerts given on the Bridge of Service at A Century of Progress last summer.

The program tonight includes three bits of music written by Mr. Hadley. The principal offering will be his "Streets of Peking," a descriptive suite of seven numbers, each describing a separate street or quarter of the Chinese city. The second offering by the orchestra will be "The Angelus," from Hadley's third symphony, while the final number will be "Indian Dance."

On Tuesday evening the concert orchestra will present a half hour program with Lawrence Salerno as the featured vocal soloist. Attilio Baggiore, operatic tenor, will be the soloist with the orchestra on Wednesday evening, while on Thursday evening "The Symphonette" program will present Miss Lucia Diano, operatic singer of Joliet, soloist, and Edward Vito, harpist, as instrumental soloist.

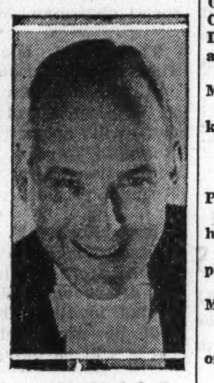
On his concert from 8:15 to 8:45 p. m. Mr. Salerno will offer "Vale" by Russell, "Dearest" by Van Alstyne, "Romance Rides with Me" by Mosely, and "La Espagnole."

Mr. Baggiore's concert at 9:30 Wednesday evening is the first of a new series. He will present a paraphrase on the famous music of "The Desert Song" with the orchestra, including "The Riff Song," "One Alone," and "Desert Song Waltz." He also will offer "Sing Again" by Prothero, "Sogno" by Nicastro, and "Vidalita" by the same master.

On "The Symphonette" program Miss Diano will sing the "Bird Song" from Leoncavallo's great opera, "Pagliacci," and "Spirit Flower" by Tipton. Mr. Vito will play "Playera," a Spanish dance by Granados, as his solo offering.

BLUE STEELE TO OPEN ON W-G-N TUESDAY EVENING

Blue Steele and his orchestra are coming up from the Southland to open an engagement at the Trianon ballroom and over W-G-N beginning Tuesday evening. Although a veteran radio performer Steele has never been heard through a Chicago station. He is said to have a style that is distinctly different.



BLUE STEELE.

Blue Steele is really his name. His career, like his name, has been colorful. He got his start in music under the tutelage of John Phillip Sousa as a child of ten. In the early days of aviation he was a stunt flyer. He plays 21 instruments, speaks nine languages and has played in most European countries. He is well known as an arranger and composer

When Steele leaves Earl Burtnett will follow him into the Trianon.

Countess Albani to Sing 'O Promise Me' Tonight

Countess Olga Albani will sing "O Promise Me" from DeKoven's "Robin Hood" and "El Relicario" by Padilla as her solos during the Silken Strings program over WENR and NBC network at 8:00 p. m. tonight. The orchestra, directed by Charles Previn, will play Tschaikowsky's "Sleeping Beauty Waltz," the overture to Mendelssohn's "Midsummer Night's Dream," and "Soon" from "Mississippi." The theme of the program is music's indebtedness to literature.

MARIO SILVA TO MAKE DEBUT ON W-G-N TONIGHT

Mario Silva, a baritone whose repertoire includes works of famous operas and the most up to date popular songs, will make his debut in Chicago radio circles over W-G-N at 6:45 o'clock this evening. Mr. Silva, who has been heard on the air on both the east and west coasts and in St. Louis, has had a varied career in music and was starred on character and comedy rôles on both the stage and screen, where he was known as Murray Smith.

During his wide stage and screen career he was starred as "Maxie Schwartz" in the hit, "June Moon," by Ring Lardner and George Kaufman.

Mr. Silva will sing "I'll Follow My Secret Heart," "One Alone" from the "Desert Song," and "Di Provenz All Mar" from the opera "La Traviata."

NOTABLES JOIN AIR PAGEANT ON PHONE HISTORY

The pageantry of telephone development will be woven into a dramatic broadcast over WBBM-CBS from 6 to 7 tonight on the 50th anniversary of the American Telephone and Telegraph company. The broadcast will include telephone conversations between:

Grace Moore, famed singer; Jerome "Dizzy" Dean, ace pitcher; Admiral Cary T. Grayson, chairman of the American Red Cross; Rufus Dawes, president of A Century of Progress; Dr. Karl Compton, noted scientist and president of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, and Ted Husing.

Channing Pollock, author and playwright; Edwin C. Hill, radio and newspaper commentator, and Walter S. Gifford, president of the A. T. & T., will participate; also Andre Kostelanetz orchestra and chorus will present "The Telephone March" written in 1877.

Bob Becker's Program.

A. P. Moecher of Aurora, Ill., secretary of the Springer Spaniel club of Illinois, and one of the leading breeders of hunting and field trial springer spaniels in the middle west, will be a guest on Bob Becker's radio program over W-G-N at 6:30 this evening.

Do YOU Know the Answers to These QUESTIONS?
Why is it safer to send curtains to Safety than to do them yourself?
Safety washes curtains in nets, the nets get the wear instead of the curtains. They are washed by a special process. . . . Tests show this process is more gentle to the fabrics than any home method. Colored curtains are washed by Safety's Kolor Safe process, which guarantees them against fading. No pins or hooks are used, and there is no danger of excessive stretching.
Why do curtains last longer when sent frequently to Safety?
Dirt, sunlight and heat are curtains' worst enemies . . . the protective coating which Safety finishing puts on the curtain preserves its life . . . makes it last longer and stay clean longer than home washing methods.
A courteous routeman will gladly answer any other question or explain fully the answers above. Why not have him call?

FIGHT LINES, WRINKLES, BLEMISHES

WHERE THEY BEGIN—

IN YOUR UNDER SKIN!

MRS. CRAWFORD BLAGDEN, JR., of Tuxedo, New York, says: "Pond's Cold Cream cleanses thoroughly."

What happens under your skin

Underneath your outer skin or epidermis is the true skin or corium. Here are myriads of tiny blood vessels, cells, nerves, elastic fibres, fat and muscle tissues, oil and sweat glands, hair follicles! On these depends the beauty of your outer skin. When they grow sluggish, the underskin loses vigor Then look out for blackheads, coarseness, blemishes, lines.

SEE SMOOTH GLOWING CHEEKS RETURN AS DEEP-REACHING CREAM STIRS UNDER SKIN BACK TO VIGOROUS ACTION

You see, the under layers of your skin are just full of little nerves, fibres, cells, oil glands, fat and muscle tissues. Keep them actively at work, and your outer skin just blooms beauty.

But once the teens are past, all these busy goings on in the underskin slow up. Result—blemishes, blackheads, roughness—as you grow older, lines, sallowness, wrinkles, sagging tissues! That is why it is so important to choose a cream that goes deep and keeps your underskin active.

Pond's Cold Cream goes right to the underskin. Its specially processed oils sink deep. As you pat it into your skin, you feel the circulation stimulated. Dirt, make-up are lifted from the pores. Your underskin is free to function actively again.

TAKE A LOOK in your mirror after a thorough, deep-skin cleansing and stimulation with this cream. How much fresher and clearer your skin is! With just one treatment!

Pond's Cold Cream is pure, germ-free. Use it every night to flush impurities away, stimulate the underskin. In the daytime, to freshen your skin and give it the satiny surface that takes your rouge and make-up smoothly.

Mail coupon today for Generous Package—

POND'S, Dept. E-34, Clinton, Conn.

I enclose 10c (to cover postage and packing) for special tube of Pond's Cold Cream, enough for nine treatments, with generous samples of 2 other Pond's Creams and 5 different shades of Pond's Face Powder.

Why children constipate

when you fail to give them

Yeast-Vitamin*

1c WORTH OF QUAKER OATS EQUALS 3 CAKES OF FRESH YEAST

in intestinal-toning Vitamin B!

IF your child has a system that tends to clog-up, become constipated at the slightest thing, then read every word of this amazing discovery about the precious intestinal-toning vitamin stored in oatmeal.

Two American doctors of renown proved the truth of this by experiments on 200 children. Half of them were fed standard diets. The other half got diets to which a definite amount of Vitamin B had been added.

Results were astonishing! Among the Vitamin B children, these scientists report, CONSTIPATION WAS ENTIRELY ABSENT!

Here is the safe, natural way

Hereafter, don't give children cathartics! Start them tomorrow on an oatmeal breakfast. For Quaker Oats is an abundant supply of this precious vitamin that tones the intestinal tract. Keeps it up to the job of natural, rhythmic elimination.

* The term "Yeast-Vitamin" is applied to Vitamin B. Oatmeal is the richest source of this element available in a low-priced, easily obtainable food.

In fact, in 1c worth of Quaker Oats, Nature stores as much of this testinal-toning Vitamin B as you find in three whole cakes of fresh yeast!

But beware of this fact. This vitamin cannot be stored in the body. Children must have a new supply of it every day.

That's why a Quaker Oats breakfast every day is so essential. Therefore,

Make this 2-weeks' test!

Start at once to give your family the amazing benefits of a Quaker Oats breakfast. Quick Quaker cooks done in 2½ minutes. It is amazingly simple to prepare—and wonderfully good to eat. If you buy thin, flavorless oats, your oatmeal may be insipid and flat. Quaker, even in a drought year, selects only the plumpest, meatiest oats; then roasts them, by a special process, through ten different ovens. You tell the difference the minute you taste Quaker! So much more luscious and appetizing! Order it today.

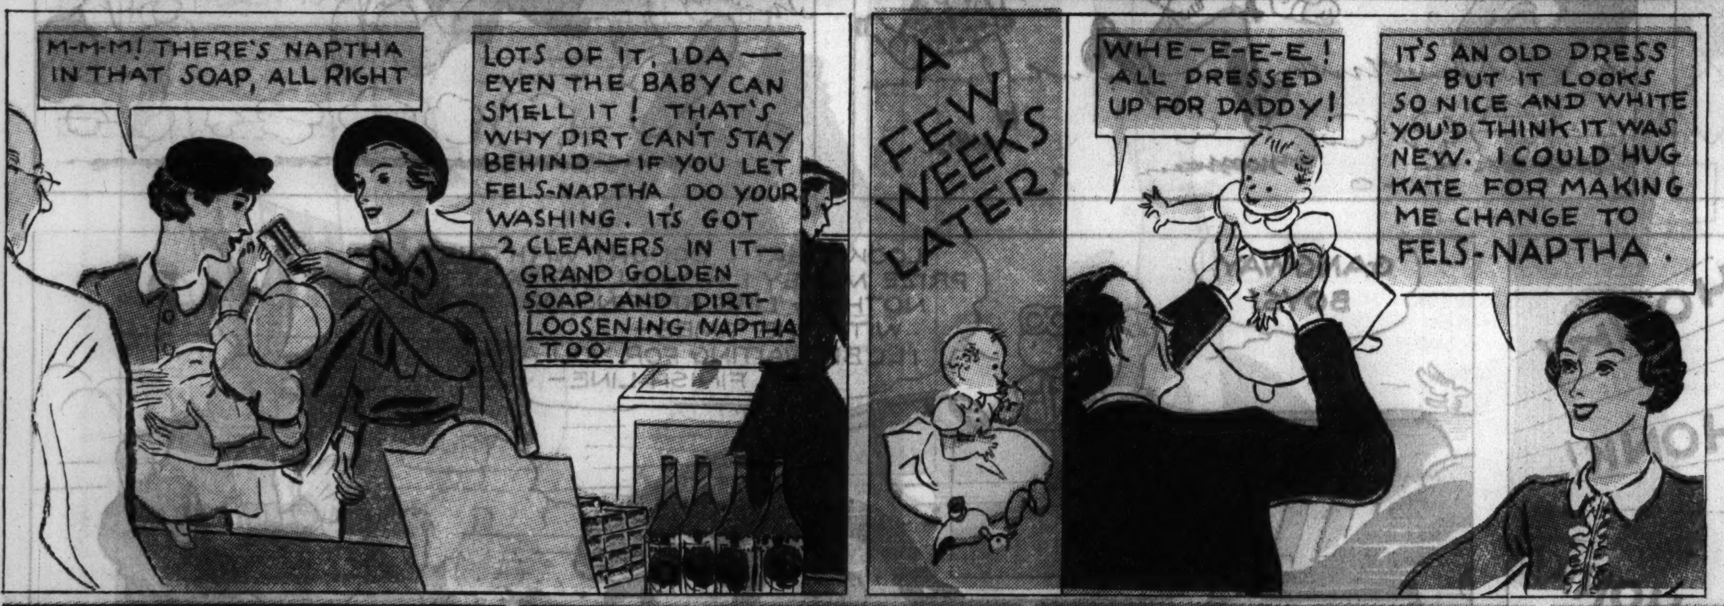
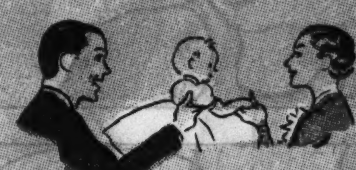
Out of the window went "tattle-tale gray"

AN ADVERTISEMENT OF FELS-NAPTHA SOAP



"Smart baby! She likes your pretty hands, too."

"You'll have to thank Fels-Naptha for keeping them that way."



"WH-E-E-E!"—that's what you'll say yourself—the first time you try Fels-Naptha Soap!

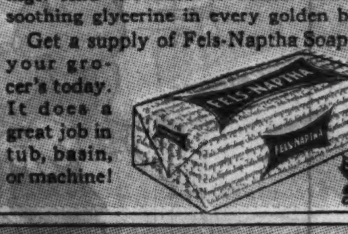
And what a cinch the wash is! For Fels-Naptha is two dirt-looseners instead of one. Richer golden soap and plenty of naptha added!

Thanks to the extra help of these two cleaners working together, Fels-Naptha washes more thoroughly. It doesn't skip over dirt as "trick" soaps do. It gets ALL the dirt—even the deep-down, stuck-fast kind.

Fels-Naptha is safer, too—gentle as can be to daintiest silk undies and stockings. And it's kind to hands—there's soothing glycerine in every golden bar.

Get a supply of Fels-Naptha Soap at your grocer's today. It does a great job in tub, basin, or machine!



FREE!

lovely sport handkerchief if you send in 5 wrappers from bars of Fels-Naptha Soap

Thousands have sent for this gay sport handkerchief—and raved about it. It's made of soft Swiss linen—beautifully printed in bright colors. Get one for mother—she'll love it!

A STRAIN on the FAMILY TIE
BY GAAR WILLIAMS
HAVE YUH SPLIT THAT HORN YUH BOUGHT SOME TIME AGO?
NO, SIR, BUT YUH SEE I GOTTA SWELL CHANCE T' GET INTO TH' SCHOOL ORCHESTRA. IF I CAN GET ANOTHER KIND OF INSTRUMENT.
THERE'S NOTHIN' DOIN'. THESE ARTISTIC IDEAS ARE GETTIN' TOO EXPENSIVE. IF IT AIN'T SOMETHIN' THAT'LL FIT A SCHOOL BAND IT'S DANCIN' LESSONS
BUT LISTEN UNCLE MORT. TH' DANCIN' THING WASN'T MY IDEA. IT WAS AUNT EVVY'S AND BESIDES --
I'VE GOTTA IDEA THAT WON'T COST AS MUCH AS IT SOUNDS LIKE AT FIRST - NOW YOU JUST WAIT -
YEAH, THAT SOUNDS LIKE MOST IDEAS - FIRST IT SEEMS LIKE A LOT - THEN NOT SO MUCH - AND -
ABOUT THE THIRD PAYMENT SHE BEGINS T' LOOK PRETTY STEEP. YOU SALESMEN HAVE ALL GOT TH' SAME LINGO.
WELL IT WON'T HURT T' LOOK AND SEE JUST HOW CHEAP YOU CAN GET SOME OF THESE INSTRUMENTS.
HM-M - NOW WHAT DO YOU KNOW ABOUT THAT THERE'S JUST TH' KIND OF SADDLE I'VE WANTED EVER SINCE I WAS A KID!
HERE WE ARE, UNCLE MORT, HERE'S A PICCOLO FOR FOUR NINETY-EIGHT. GUARANTEE T' PLAY IN TEN LESSONS. NOW THAT'S CHEAP!
ALL RIGHT, HERE'S TH' MONEY AND YOU LEAVE TH' BOOK HERE, I MAY FIND SOMETHING I WANT MYSELF - ALSO YOU'D BETTER SHOP AROUND SOME BEFORE YOU BUY GEE THAT'S KEEN, UNCLE MORT!
A PICCOLO MIGHT NOT MAKE AS MUCH NOISE AS SOME OF TH' OTHER THINGS BUT A FELLOW COULD PLAY SOME NOTES AFTER TH' OTHERS STOP AND THEY'LL KNOW HE'S THERE.
NO! NO. I WASN'T GOIN' T' BUY A THING - BUDDY GOT THAT TO FIND OUT HOW MUCH PICCOLOS WERE QUOTED AT - AND I WAS JUST LOOKIN' AW NONSENSE. I HOPE YOU SAID NO.
BR-R-R
HELLO - HELLO THIS IS MORTIMER GREEN SPEAKING - YEAH - OH - IT'S YOU BUDDY - WELL WHAT'S UP NOW?
LISTEN, UNCLE MORT, I GOTTA SWELL BARGAIN - BUT WE NEED A TRUCK -
I SAID NO! WE DON'T NEED ANY TRUCK - WHAT? - OH, RENT ONE! WELL WHAT IN TH' SAM HILL FOR?
LISTEN, UNCLE MORT, YOU DON'T KNOW HOW BAD I NEED A TRUCK. YOU WAIT AND SEE.

WHACK
TELL HIM WE'RE BUSY! WE'RE IN TROUBLE!
THERE! THIS ONE'S OPEN!
CRACK
HE WANTS TO KNOW IF WE'LL DESCRIBE OUR TROUBLE TO HIS RADIO AUDIENCE?
HE DOES, DOES HE?
HELLO PROFESSOR! HELLO!--OH, I SAY--ARE YOU THERE?
WE'VE HEAVED OVER EVERY DISPOSABLE PIECE. BUT WE'RE STILL GOING TOO FAST--WE'D BETTER BAIL OUT!
NO, WE CAN'T DESERT THE BALLOON! WE MIGHT LOSE OUR VALUABLE DATA INSTRUMENTS! WAIT! I KNOW WHAT--
B-B-BUT PROFESSOR! IS THIS NECESSARY?
CERTAINLY! EVERY POUND LESS HELPS SLOW US DOWN!
BUT JACK, EVEN AT THIS SPEED WE'LL BE SMASHED!
DON'T WORRY, IF IT DOESN'T SLOW UP WE WILL JUMP! OUR PARACHUTES ARE STILL TIED TO THE CABLES OUTSIDE!
I'M GOING "TOPSIDE" TO SEE WHAT OUR CHANCES ARE OF MISSING THOSE MOUNTAIN PEAKS!
HEAVE OUT YOUR PARACHUTE HARNESS, JACK!
WAIT A MINUTE! IF WE HAFTA JUMP, I DON'T LIKE THE IDEA OF TRYING TO HANG ON TO A PARACHUTE WITHOUT A HARNESS!
DON'T WORRY ABOUT THAT! I JUST THREW AWAY THE PARACHUTES!

SIXTEEN MEN AND A GIRL

Fraulein Herma de Hatvany, 20 years old, Austrian beauty, chosen by artists as Europe's prettiest. Sixteen men in the United States have proposed to her by mail, so she's coming over to take a look at them and pick one for a husband. She once got a film offer in Italy, but the firm couldn't pay her salary, so she jumped into a river, only to be rescued. [Acme Photo.]

Consider your Future—SELECT MARINELLO

Only Marinello Can Give You
THE WORLD FAMOUS MARINELLO TRAINING

It is true MARINELLO training costs you a few dollars more. But remember—in Beauty Culture there is no substitute for the complete and thorough training MARINELLO gives its graduates. Don't be handicapped by inferior training throughout your career. Choose MARINELLO—the school that guarantees proficiency to every graduate.

During the past 35 years more than 55,000 ambitious women, seeking successful careers in Beauty Culture, chose the internationally famous Marinello System of training.

There are many schools offering courses in Beauty Culture. All of them cannot be the best. Which one will you select? It is an important decision—as the extent of your earning power depends on the type of training you receive.

Don't buy your training in the art of Beauty Culture on a basis of the cheapness of the course. An apparent savings in tuition now may be a great handicap to you in years to come. Marinello training is built up to a standard, not down to a price.

VISIT OUR SCHOOL.

MARINELLO is the largest and most famous Beauty Culture System in the world. At Marinello there are no "extra charges" for equipment and supplies. Our Tuition Rate Covers Everything!

NOW!—Marinello Offers New Easy Payment Plan

Free employment service—or we will help you establish your own business. Learn How to Manicure Dress Hair Permanent Wave at DeLEE

At DeLEE, under the personal direction of Mme. Louise, internationally famous beauty expert, you learn the true art of beauty culture and hairdressing—thoroughly, quickly, easily. You soon become an expert hairdresser and manicurist. You soon become proficient in the art of permanent waving, finger waving, hair cutting—and in all lines of beauty work.

You learn far more than the bare fundamentals. At DeLEE you actually learn the fine points. You learn methods which will make you stand out—head and shoulders—above "ordinary" operators. DeLEE training prepares you for a good paying position in a high class beauty salon.

Reasonable Tuition

At DeLEE you get your "money's worth." The DeLEE tuition fee is adjusted to the lowest possible figure, commensurate with the complete, expert, high quality of instruction. One reasonable fee covers complete, unlimited instruction.

We guarantee to teach you to become a competent, skilled beauty operator—and to qualify you for a good paying position. Remember—only high quality instruction can prepare you for a good paying position in a quality shop. Cheap, cut-rate instruction will prepare you only for a job in a cheap, cut-rate shop.

Visit All Schools—Then Visit DeLEE

Start out in the morning and visit several schools. Then come to DeLEE and make a fair, unbiased comparison for yourself. You will find that DeLEE has the stability and soundness of maturity but none of the infirmities of old age.

You'll find DeLEE's atmosphere youthful, buoyant, fresh, virile and vigorous. You'll fall in love with the light, colorful classrooms with their up-to-the-minute sparkling, shining equipment. You'll immediately feel the friendly spirit which exists among the hand-picked, high type DeLEE students. Come in tomorrow—we'll be glad to see you, and we know that you'll enjoy your visit to DeLEE. Ask for our Dean—she'll be glad to show you throughout our school.

PERSONALITY

We have an opening for a man who can THINK. We prefer one who has had at least enough experience to outgrow "fear of the buyer," but, in the final analysis—the man's personality will be the determining factor.

We are not so much interested in a salesman as we are in a man who can learn our business and then qualify himself to direct others.

Our product—an automobile service item wanted by every car owner—is sold through retail outlets.

Do not investigate unless you feel confident that your services are worth $3,000 per year, or more. Comm.

We will grant you a personal interview if you are able to interest us over the phone. Call State 9697, Mr. J. W. Davis, for appointment, or, if you prefer, address C C 406, Tribune.

Miscellaneous.

Y-O-U-R O-W-N B-U-S-I-N-E-S-S.

Would you be interested in starting in business for yourself without one cent of investment on your part?

Well, that is exactly what we have done for many men in this territory.

These men were previous storekeepers, doctors, lawyers, shop workers, mechanics, etc., and are now earning and receiving in net profit as much as $50 for a single day.

We are an old line, nationally known manufacturer of electrical units that defy competition and for which there is a constant, increasing demand.

Now, here are our requirements—you must be under 50, preferably married, honest, reliable, present a neat appearance, and possess at least a grammar school education.

At this time we will only interview men living on the South Side of Chicago, northern Indiana, or northeastern Illinois.

Every man answering this advertisement will be given a confidential interview and, if selected, will be trained at our expense in our methods, which are successful.

There are no strings attached to this offer, as we even pay rent, light, heat, telephone, girl hire, consign your merchandise and finance your accounts.

Apply Monday only, between 1 and 3 p. m. Ask for Mr. Lovell—Suite 404 Maryland Bldg., 63d-st. and Maryland-av.

WANTED.

High grade, neat appearing young men, 25 to 35 years of age. Must be sales minded and mechanically inclined. We will train those who qualify to demonstrate and sell electrical goods from our stores. Must be willing to start on moderate income. Bonus and commission paid twice a month. Apply in person only Monday morning, 10 a. m. to 12 noon. See Mr. Parsons.

COMMONWEALTH EDISON COMPANY, 915 W. 63D-ST.

THINKING WOMEN

OF EDUCATION AND CULTURE.

AMBITIOUS TO BETTER THEMSELVES

and secure a share in the finer things in life, and who want to engage in an activity so unusual in nature that it is the only thing of its kind in the United States; so broad in scope that it furnishes a real and vital need for the good of all humanity; so specific in its application to childhood that it can be pursued with genuine pleasure by all who seek to be of service to children, will find in this particular employment every desire fulfilled and a very good income as well.

Qualifications: Age over 25, at least a high school education, sufficient self-confidence and native ability to undertake a new endeavor and make a success of it.

If you meet these requirements and can answer the questions below—then you are probably eligible for a salaried position in the sales department of the most successful organization in the educational field.

1. To what extent do you understand children?
2. What phase of child training do you think is most important?
3. What can parents depend upon most to help them make better men and women of their children?
4. From your reading stories to children what noticeable benefit have they derived?
5. What type of reading appealed to you as an adolescent and what kind of reading do you do now?
6. Do you really like to meet new people, and to what manner of approach do you find most people respond?
7. What personal qualities should one have to deal successfully with many different types of people?
8. What mental quality is essential in helping others visualize a future result?
9. How do you get others to do something which you know is right for them to do?
10. To what extent does your own enthusiasm inspire and enthuse others?

In your reply, which we will acknowledge, tell why you want to engage in child education work. Give full details about yourself, age, education, experience, etc., phone. Address A K 480, Tribune.

ON THE LAKE SHORE
IN EVANSTON.
It's rather nice to live in a house built high on a walled-in terrace sheltered from the noise and the dust of the street, and where the view to the north and the south is into thick woods and over beautiful lawns, and to the east, out over the colorful waters of Lake Michigan. A little secluded spot, yet it's right in the midst of Evanston, within 25 minutes by motor or train from Chicago's Loop. A marvelous retreat for a busy business man who cannot afford to spend much time commuting. We have 2 such houses for rent. Each of 12 rooms; large living rms. and porches; 2 car garages, and everything that one needs in a marvelous home. One furnished, the other unfurnished.

NEAR NORTH SIDE
It's very nice when you close your desk at the end of the day to know that after a short, brisk walk just 5 blocks north of the river, you will come to a studio in a quaint little lamp-lighted court that makes you feel far away from Chicago, or a little top floor flat with a roof garden, and the cutest little one room you ever saw with a tapering chimney breast, and then there are places where a large family can live with huge rooms, flooded with light and an arrangement which gives the feeling of a nice home. Some with lofty ceilings, all with fireplaces, all interesting; a little charm about them that makes you glad you live there. You are home long before most of your friends, with a full evening before you. 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, and 7 rooms. Also shop space.

Just Plain Common Sense!

There is no need for a lot of talk about hotel conveniences, home atmosphere, unusually low cost, etc., etc. Because most of such talk is superlatives. However, here are a few hotels we know will meet your needs, if you plan to live on the North Side. . . And you'd like to pay from $35 to $65 per month.

These three places will give you a real surprise. We're not going to say much about them, but you just call on these hotels, and you'll agree they are outstanding values.

California.

IN CALIFORNIA SMALL FARM HOMES beat the depression. Such homes are the solution for many of our economic and social problems. Less working hours per week make it possible to derive a good part of the living for the average family from a small tract. California offers this opportunity, where many varieties of fruits and vegetables are grown the year round. The small Farm Home is a proven success in many localities in California. The Santa Fe Railway has no land to sell, but offers free information service to help you get right location. Low fares to California. Write for illustrated Southern California folder and our farm paper, "The Earth," free for six months. Agricultural Development Department, Santa Fe Railway, 900A Railway Exch., Chicago.

HOUSE CLEANING!
TODAY IS THE FIRST DAY OF OUR ANNUAL "SPRING HOUSE CLEANING" USED CAR SALE

Prices slashed without regard to cost on over 500 cars. Over 250 in one building. Come, see for yourself, that we are not exaggerating. THIS IS REALLY A HOUSE CLEANING SALE.

Below are listed some of our cars. These are just a few of the many in our stock, all sold with a 5 day driving trial guarantee.

AND REMEMBER—
We do our own financing. You do not get "soaked" on carrying charges. Our bargains remain bargains after you get through paying for them.

SKETCHED IN CHICAGO SHOE SHOPS.

Heel Heights Hotly Debated in Footnotes to Summer Fashions

But Shoemakers Are Unanimous in Vote for Novel Fabrics and Exciting Colors.

By RHEA SEEGER.

SPRING footnotes are assuming headline capitals. The kind of new numbers you slip your sheerest hosiery into, the swanky brogues or sports shoes that you wear with your lisle lace stockings, and the flippant dancing slippers you pick, all mark you as a knowing fashion follower. Color rages in daytime shoes and stages a regular color riot in evening slippers. The brighter the color combinations and contrasts, the smarter the slipper.

Heels are stealing the best showings. That is, all the excitement is caused by the height or lowness of the heel. If you are tall, glide like a panther, and are troubled with short dancing partners the new "flats" are for you. Flats, the greatest boon to tall and willowy dancers, will probably go out in dozens, but the teetery, gay, high heels are still favored by the men and most of the gals that succumbed to the charm of high heels long ago. Whatever you decide about heels can be settled in a jiffy. The colors and styles will take much longer.

Sportswear Boasts Three or Four Colors Per Shoe.

Swanky sports shoes are the gayly colored peasant style brogans. Some of them boast three or four colors to each shoe. Some flap with fringed tongues, some practically stop trafic with scarlet tongues, white lacings, yellow heel patches, and delft blue for the remaining sections of the shoe. These sprightly brogans are even now streaking across the campus, dashing down country lanes, and hiking cross-country these first fine days of sunny spring. Even the most avid collector of strong colored shoes will be satisfied with these eye blinding affairs.

For street, the biggest news is linen . . . linen in white, natural, rust, navy, bright blue, black, and brown . . . embroidered linens, some dotted, and the more practical street linens, combined with toe patches and heels of patent lether or dull kidskin. High spike heels covered in patent or dull lether are used for street and afternoon footwear. They are usually teamed with a dashing hand bag of the same linen and lether contrast. Oxfords, tie pumps, and some new models that completely cover the instep and simulate the lacing of a high, old fashioned oxford are as new as anything you can find in town.

Trimmings Range from Bows to Appliques.

Trimmings, such as bows and toe ruffles, slits, all kinds of perforations, insets of mesh, cutouts edged with white, and appliqued designs of lether on fabric, make 1935 footwear the most decorative that has been worn for seasons. Gleaming patent lether trims the stunning afternoon sandals and pumps of gabardine or sandor cloth, a pebbly surface that is dull and infinitely smart on warm days.

Natural chamois skin is as new as it is cheerful and different. Pumps of chamois, with gloves, belt, and even a hat worn with black or navy blue sheer wool silk or dark cottons are outstanding new costume accents. Don't be afraid of color or contrast in footwear. This is the spring and summer to walk about with all the bright colors imaginable. Nothing is taboo.

Small Talk of New Fashions.

Linen lingerie has returned to charm the shoppers. Soft pastel shades in sheer linen trimmed with satin are the newest things in town. You can find several styles—a square cut top, and one with a heart shaped bodice top with a band of satin as an outline.

Dotted silk taffeta petticoats in navy, brown, black, and red, with knife plaited flounces, are causing a lot of shopping excitement these days. They are cut slim and fitted and are ready to wear under your new tailored spring suits.

Chamois yellow in new hosiery is causing a lot of to-do. It's a warm butter shade, excellent for sports clothes.

Paris Fights Boyish Spirit in Sports Styles

Beach Pajamas Give Way to Skirts, Berets to Bonnets; Even Shorts Full.

By Bettina Bedwell.

PARIS.—[Special.]—In Paris everybody is lining up against the masculine ideal in fashions and coming out in support of feminine curves and frivolities. These forces see the new edict of shorter skirts as a menace, the massing of an offensive for the return to the chemise frock and the garcon mode. They're out to kill it before it gets going.

There is a concentrated offensive against the boyish element in active sports clothes, in which almost all of the dressmakers of Paris are leading and which the Famous Forty are backing up.

The skirt, as a badge of chic on the beaches this summer, is expected to put pajamas into the tag end of the fashion procession. Divided skirts, that are frankly skirts and in no way trousers, are the nearest that the French style creators get to anything masculine. Shorts for tennis and such sports are being girlized. Maggy Rouff makes them knee length and quite full, and when they're short and tailored they are teamed with draped, lady looking blouses. The classic beret, smacked on one side of the head, and beloved of sports women everywhere, is ousted from the chic sports clothes program. Schiaparelli's newspaper clipping printed sunbonnets are in favor with the most famous of the Famous Forty. So are her parasol size floppy hats of straw. Suzy's infantile rolled brim sailors and Chanel's canotiers with loud striped ribbon trimming are also in style.

Sports Blouses Expose Large Areas of Shoulders.

Low heeled oxfords and sandals, as all you window shoppers know, are far, far away from the men's footwear that is in the opposite window.

The way in which sports clothes are frankly air conditioned suggests another way for keeping them feminine. Men's apparel has to keep to the unwritten law of virtually no exposure. But the newest and smartest of women's sports blouses are swathed around the body in a way that leaves large areas of shoulders and adjoining flesh exposed. The Alix sports ensemble shown at the left, foreground and background, will give you the idea in a glance. The blouse is made of fine, dead white, glazed linen, and it is wound closely around in front, the crossed shoulder bands becoming a narrow, plain, buttoned back bodice. The skirt has a Greek draped front panel, which is lifted at the hem in front, and the hem is made decorative by being stitched in white.

Alix's Beach Apron Is Frankly Girlish.

Frankly girlish, and pretty, is the Alix beach apron evening frock shown second from the left, foreground and background. Alix makes this frock of pastel blue silk crêpe, with big white dots. The front bodice is fitted, with short cape sleeves, and modestly draped at the neck. The back is a bertha and a couple of buttoned straps, that's all.

Chanel's ensemble, shown second from the right, illustrates how this designer proposes to dress us for general sports. She makes a tweed suit of the most vivid of red and white tweed, which lifts the stigma of masculinity off without a smudge being left, though the skirt is plain and tailored and the jacket simple. She adds to this her special sports blouse of red and white dotted chantinel silk, with a yoke and a tailored knot of the material sewed down at the V neckline.

Maggy Rouff designed the smart ensemble at the right. It has a swagger coat of beige flax, with a round collar and loose sleeves. This coat fastens down the front on heavy, square, mother-of-pearl buttons sewed on with beige cords. The pale blue silk jersey frock is sleeveless, and the plastron effect on the blouse is made by crossing the bare flesh with narrow blue bands that button on pearl clips.

FEMININE ACCENTS FOR ATHLETIC GIRLS

DEMOCRATIC ROSE.

Patterns in this quilt design are 5 cents, stamps or coin. Address Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune, or call at one of the Tribune Public Service offices, One South Dearborn street and Tribune Tower.

By Nancy Cabot.

"DEMOCRATIC ROSE," first made in 1912, is one of the younger quilts. The pattern for the flower was used as early as 1837, when one of the first appliqué rose designs cut from a circle was elaborated and called "Foundation Rose." From this simple beginning grew almost all of our rose patterns. The old "Democrat Rose," pieced before the revolution, was the center of much controversy as to its real name. Some called it the Whig Rose, others the Harrison Rose; and no one ever could find out which was the first name given to the block. Of the two beautiful designs, "Democratic Rose" and "Democrat Rose," it is difficult for the present day quilt maker to select a favorite.

With her book of quilts, Nancy Cabot now offers 10 patterns of her own choice at a combination price of 10 cents (12 cents by mail). The booklet alone is 5 cents; by mail, 7 cents. Address Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune, or call at one of the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street or Tribune Tower.

Small Talk of New Fashions

● Printed silk accessories to accent all your plain colored dresses are ready. The most effective day time duets are the matching belts and neck scarves. You will find them in all bright colors—orange scarlet, green, all shades of blue and pink. The belts are stiff and some of the neckerchiefs are fringed.

● New street and sports hats come in all the flattering new spring pastels—wood violet, pistachio green, bonbon pink, and watery blue. There are two styles, the brimmed model and the softer bonnet type with a bow in front.

● There's grand new toilet water with a lasting gardenia fragrance. It comes in two sizes and is just about the best find of the season because of the perfume and the moderate price tag.

● Real lace wedding veils should be either unpacked from some ancestral chest or bought this year from the fine assortments of lace in the stores. Lace wedding gowns are the loveliest models of the new collections. Most of them are made so that you can wear them for other festive appearances beside your wedding.

● Red Riding Hood evening capes of transparent tulle or net tied with satin ribbon under the chin are available in black and white. Shorter affairs without the bewitching hood come in pastels and white as well as black.

● Watch stripes in all widths and in all color combines, for they fashion some of the most spectacular dinner and dance dresses this spring. They are as effective as anything unpacked, particularly when the stripes are in diagonal formations and in inch wide stripings against white or contrasting color.

Dashing Sailor Hat May Be Crocheted in Less Than a Day

By Ellen Bruce.

NOW that the Easter bonnet problem has been settled, women may turn their thoughts to everyday clothes matters and accompanying hats. The smart crochet sailor illustrated at the top is a simple model which may be made in less than one day. A jaunty feather in the front of the crown is the only ornament. The feather may be worn straight up, straight out at a dangerous angle, or placed around the crown. The pertly rolling brim is the final touch of style with a capital S. Any material from the heavy crinkly wools to the finest of silky wool mixtures may be used.

The baby's two toned hat of pink and white, one of the cleverest of youthful models, is probably destined, also, to be one of the most popular. The flowers atop the shallow crown afford the only trimming. Double crocheting makes the entire hat. The brim rolls naturally.

Berets we will always have with us, which is one proof of their good style. The only trimming on this one is two fuzzy wool pompons over the left eye. As in the hat above, any material may be used, even this new synthetic straw yarn which is fun to work with and not the least bit stiff or heavy.

If you wish instructions for crocheting the two rolling brimmed hats and beret illustrated today, send 10 cents in stamps or coin to Ellen Bruce, Chicago Tribune; or call one of the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn and Tribune Tower bldg.

THE STAMP COLLECTOR

By Richard McP. Cabeen.

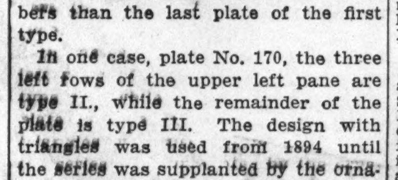
Mr. Cabeen will be glad to answer questions about stamps, except questions concerning value. Do not ask where stamps may be sold as the Stamp Exchange contains offers to buy and sell. Please enclose a self-addressed stamped envelope for reply.

A CONTRACT for printing United States stamps was awarded to the bureau of engraving and printing on Feb. 21, 1894. Prior to this time all postage stamps had been printed by private companies, and although the "bureau" had for a long time printed revenue stamps this was its first bid for the postoffice work.

Some weeks prior to the first of July, when the new contract would become operative, the American Bank Note company transferred all of the dies, transfer rolls, plates, etc., of the current issue and of previous issues which had been printed by that company to the bureau in Washington, and at the same time transferred stamps with a face value of more than $17,000,000, retaining only sufficient to fill orders up to the end of June.

Triangles Added.

In order to save time the new printers used the old designs, but added a triangular panel in each upper corner to mark their work. The values from 1 cent to 15 cents were retained, stamps with 50 cents and $1 values were substituted for the 30 cents and 90 cents values, and two stamps of $2 and $5 face value were added. The substituted values were made through secondary dies, to which the old portraits and frames were transferred, and on which the new values were engraved by hand.



The triangle as added to the designs is somewhat coarse, being engraved directly across the background lines. It is shown in figure I. New secondary dies for the 2 cent value were required during the life of the issue and the triangle was lightened at two times, producing the types shown in figures II. and III.

No other value shows any variation in this detail, although a die was engraved for the 3 cent stamp, using triangle III., as is evidenced by die proofs. The three dies of the 2 cent value were used somewhat concurrently, for the first plates of the second and third types have lower numbers than the last plate of the first type.

In one case, plate No. 170, the three left rows of the upper left pane are type II., while the remainder of the plate is type III. The design with triangles was used from 1894 until the series was supplanted by the ornamental portrait issue of 1901-'02.

California-Pacific Stamp.

Postmaster General Farley announced on March 26 that a design had been prepared for a stamp to be issued in connection with the California-Pacific International exposition, which opens at San Diego on May 29.

Canada Jubilee Stamps.

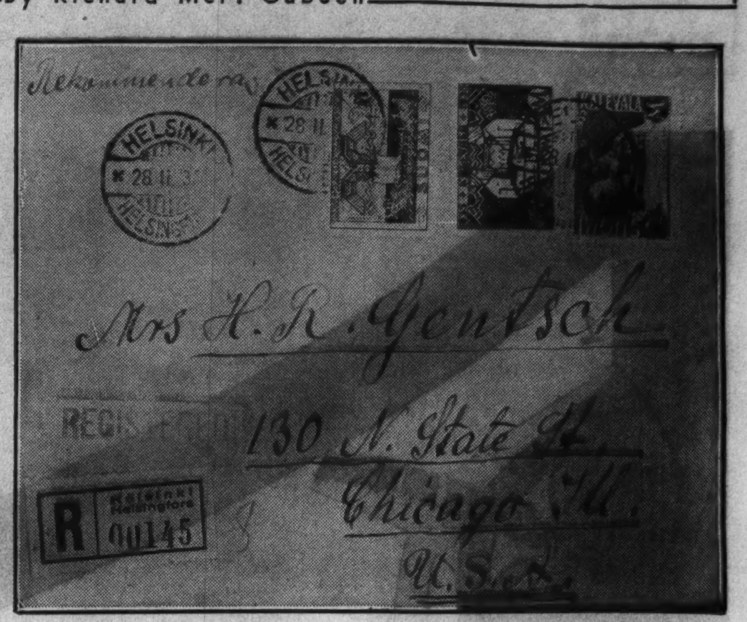
The postoffice department of Canada has announced that a series of six stamps will be issued in connection with the world-wide celebration of the twenty-fifth anniversary of the accession of George V. to the throne. The 1 cent, green, will show a portrait of Princess Elizabeth; 2 cent, brown, the duke of York; 3 cent, red, the king and queen; 5 cent, blue, the prince of Wales; 10 cent, green, a view of Windsor castle, and 13 cent, blue, th royal yacht Britannia. The 1, 2, and 5 cent stamps are of the standard size and the other values are of double size. While no date has been announced, the stamps no doubt will be issued on May 6, the anniversary.

The Kalevala.

This Finnish word means the land of heroes, and is the title of a series of real and legendary poems [runot] which Elias Lönnroth collected and published in 1835.

The 1¼ marks value shows the accepted posture for Finnish bards when engaged in intoning the runot. Each sings alternate lines and accompanies the accented syllables with a swaying body movement. The 2½ marks value pictures Kullervo, hero of a tragic story. The 2 marks stamp illustrates the theft of a magic vessel [the Sampo] from Lapland by Väinämöinen, god of the ancient Finns. Louhi, goddess of Lapland, has transformed herself into a huge bird, and with her soldiers on her wings has pursued the Finns and alighted upon the yardarm of their boat. Louhi seizes the Sampo, but is struck with the tiller oar by Väinämöinen, and the magic vessel is dropped and broken.

The Finns collect the pieces and place them in the ground in Finland, where they bring some prosperity to that country, but Lapland, once powerful and wealthy through the ownership of the Sampo, is now doomed to poverty for all time.



Finland, sole surviving member of the Pazir Quardets confederation (figure that one out!), has issued a set of three stamps for the 100th anniversary of the Kalevala. (See adjoining column.) C. E. Lively kindly loaned the cover.

Bird Stamps of All Countries.

This is the title of a new volume just published by Grosset & Dunlap of New York City. The book contains spaces for all stamps picturing birds. The pages facing those on which the stamps are to be mounted contain descriptions of the various birds. There is also included some philatelic information about each bird stamp issue. This book forms one of a series known as the Stampalog series, the others having to do with ships, animals, etc. The price of the volume is $1.

Club Notes.

The Chain o' Lakes Stamp club has been formed at Fox Lake, Ill., and has an initial membership of 20 collectors. Meetings will be held at 7:45 p. m. on the first and third Mondays of each month at Grant Community High school, Fox Lake. Nearby collectors may obtain information from E. L. Boylin, Fox Lake.

Austin Philatelic club will hold its second annual exhibit on Thursday, Friday, and Saturday, May 2 to 4, at the Austin Town hall, Lake street and Central avenue, Chicago. It is expected that more than 100 frames will be entered for the prizes, which include 36 ribbon awards as well as a grand award and a popular award. The exhibition will be open to visitors on the first two days from 7 until 10:30 p. m., and on Saturday from 2 until 10:30. The annual dinner-dance of the club will take place at the end of the following week.

Cachet Notices.

A cachet showing the official seal of the California-Pacific exposition will be applied to all covers mailed from the exposition grounds on May 29, the opening date. Send all covers "ready to go," that is, stamped, self-addressed, and sealed, to Jack Woolley, 208 Quincy street, Long Beach, Cal.

The Westmont Cover club, Westmont, Ill., will apply a printed cachet to all unstuffed, unsealed, but self-addressed and stamped covers received by May 10. This will commemorate the seventy-fifth anniversary of the nomination of Abraham Lincoln for President. Inclose 1 cent in a loose stamp for forwarding with each cover sent for the cachet. If sufficient requests are received covers will also be mailed from Springfield, Ill. [Lincoln's home], and from Hodgenville, Ky. [his birthplace].

Tricky Recipes Adapt Pancakes to Spring Menus

Traditional Standby of Winter Sprouts Ideas New as the Crocuses.

By Mary Meade.

AT some houses the pancake griddle is packed away at the same time as the winter flannels, come time for spring house cleaning. Which is undoubtedly as it should be, if mamma knows no new flips for the gayer season. We'll admit that just plain pancakes seem a bit stodgy for warm weather breakfasts, and certainly that nobody's going to beg her to make them for supper if she doesn't adapt their mood to the time of year.

Luckily for the old and honorable institution of pancakery, there's a camp on the other side of the fence which refuses to banish the griddle to culinary Siberia for the summer. With a fillip of native imagination, and occasional stimulating jaunts into foreign fields, they toss together new and delightful batters and deal them off the griddle to the satisfaction of all concerned.

Whether they're called griddle cakes, flapjacks, pancakes, or hot cakes, or whether they're welcome aliens named blinis, eierkuchen, or crêpes, these interesting delicacies retain their age old power of bewreathing hungry families with smiles. It probably has been going on just that way ever since some ingenious cavewoman dropped a handful of berries into the flour and water mixture she was browning on a hot rock for her fang-toothed spouse.

Proper Implements Insure Success of Any Pancake.

Now to get down to the real question. When a conservative, winter pancake maker wants to join forces with the gay radicals, how does she go about vaulting the fence? The answer, she learns, lies in calling on that same fertile imagination of hers that makes the rest of her cooking delightful. She clings to her hallowed kitchen weapons, naturally—a good, evenly heating griddle, a flexible broad spatula or pancake turner, a big, slanting-sided bowl for easy mixing, a big spoon with a comfortable handle, and a wide mouthed pitcher with straight sides for even pouring of the batter. If she uses the kind of griddle that requires greasing she probably votes in favor of a small, soft, pastry brush for painting it lightly with fat or oil. Yes, the same traditional implements—but not the same old pancakes!

Well, that advice just to "use your imagination" from then on is fine, as far as it goes. We tried it, with the result of some delightful blueberry pancakes, some little tricksters with sausage sprinkled around inside 'em, and some fine rascals with the tang of cheese, all of them good and simple to make.

But that wasn't enough, so we tried out a couple of really exciting new ones that but recently found their way into our kitchen files, with the result of two delicious luncheon dishes vying for the favor of the household. Maybe you'll like to try them, too, if the dictates of your imagination don't carry you far enough afield.

Mexican Pancakes Something Worth Trying in Kitchen.

MEXICAN PANCAKES.

1 cup cornmeal
1 tablespoon sugar
1 teaspoon salt
2 cups boiling water
5 tablespoons fat
1½ cups milk
2 teaspoons baking powder
2 cups flour
1 egg

Mix the cornmeal, sugar, and salt in a big mixing bowl, and over them pour the boiling water. When the meal has swollen add the milk and melted shortening, a sifted mixture of the flour and baking powder, and, finally, the well beaten egg. Bake the batter in small thin cakes on a hot griddle (they'll take a little longer than wheat cakes) and serve them in stacks of four. In between layers strew chopped parsley and paper-thin slices of mild white onion, and cover the whole stack with a cheese sauce which has been seasoned with a dash of Worcestershire sauce and cayenne.

MENU PANCAKES.

½ cup canned salmon, flaked
¼ cup cooked peas
½ cup finely diced celery
1 tablespoon minced onion
¼ cup finely chopped green pepper
Salt, pepper
6 eggs.

Mix the vegetables and salmon in a bowl, sprinkle with seasonings, and mix with the beaten eggs. Shape into small, flat cakes on a griddle and fry until the egg is cooked, and no longer, for the vegetables should remain crisp. Serve immediately with a hot, well seasoned tomato sauce.

West Indian Recipe Is Refreshing and Different.

From there let's progress to something refreshing in the way of breakfast pancakes. Something, you know, like—

WEST INDIAN PANCAKES.

2 cups flour
6 tablespoons sugar
½ teaspoon salt
2 eggs
1½ cups milk
2 tablespoons melted fat
3 bananas.

Sift together the dry ingredients and mix with the beaten eggs, milk, and melted shortening. Pour in medium sized cakes on a hot griddle and on the top of each cake, before flipping, drop a few slices of banana. Brown the cakes on both sides and serve immediately sprinkled with powdered sugar and dotted with jelly.

The Bath Hour as an Aid in Maintaining Beauty

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

YOU know that old and unbeatable piece of advice: "Don't read good books. Read the BEST books!" Why couldn't we paraphrase said advice and adapt it to something peculiarly advantageous to women? "Don't just take a bath. Take a luxurious bath!" Or, "Don't be just clean; be clean and extraordinarily dainty." That's what the up to date bathroom is for now, to turn out a girl so lusciously redolent of scent and sweetness that she just "bowls 'em over" with one intake of the breath.

Taking a bath is just nothing nowadays. Like brushing your teeth or cleaning your nails, it is expected of you, taken for granted.

Women Should Make Ritual of Leisurely Bath Hour.

You're asked now to make a sort of ritual of your tubbing hour. Goodness only knows there are enough lovely bath accessories to add zest to the bath routine. But I am thinking of it from another angle, too. We've become such a hurrying, scurrying race of females more in need of relaxing periods than of anything else. The bath hour will give us just this needed letdown from prodding nerves intent on keeping us all tied up in knots and on the go. If we make the bath an attractive enough rite, it will calm us down.

Most of us hop into the tub, hop out again, dress quickly, or hop into bed, if it is a late hour bath. The sole object of the bath is cleanliness. Good enough so far as it goes, but it doesn't go quite far enough. The quick bath hasn't done a thing to rest a tired body or to relax the day's strain. You may laugh about the bathtub singer. You may kick if he happens to be in your own family. But, believe it, the individual relaxed enough to burst into song in a tub or read a book therein is getting something out of that bath hour that you and I might well envy.

Bathing Relaxation of Importance to Beauty.

True, a lot of us will, of necessity, keep on rushing home at the end of the working day, hopping into tub or under shower and out again to make the dinner date. But we aren't dated every night. We have evenings off. Some of you lucky ones have whole afternoons off, when the bath rest treatment might be indulged in with great beauty benefit. Anyway, that's the way some of our beauties are taking their quieting down treatments these days. And looking fresh as daisies for their "dates."

There is another reason for the bath being adopted as more than just a scouring problem. It is in the general revival of the femme devastating! You see it everywhere. In the women most admired, anyway. They are going feminine with a vengeance, leaving no little lure unturned to get them nominated to high places in the school of real charmers. Just being soaped and shining does not get you places in this new deal for women, but being tubbed and scented and suggestive of blossom sprays and memory lanes down which the spring bloom doth carry one. A little bit of romance, added to the purely utilitarian uses of the tub, is what is urged, just to help along the frame of mind and keep it at 100 per cent feminine par.

Dash of Bath Salts Is Balm to Crushed Vigor.

You don't, like Cleopatra, have to stock up on essence of roses to be sprayed around your tub and on you each time you take a bath. But you might remember, however, that Cleo was a fairly busy girl, from all reports, and she was not one to scorn the bath-time contributions to glamor.

As some one has said: "Showers and quick tubs are pick-me-ups, but it is in the scented warmth of a long, luxurious bath that beauty flourishes."

"It's the psychology of it," as one noted charmer said to me not long ago. "Throwing a few handfuls of bath salts into the tub lifts me out of the workaday world. I feel like a heroine of a novel by the time I'm through with the dusting powder scented with a lovely French perfume."

Bath salts aren't in the luxury class any more, nor eau de cologne and the invigorating pine scents. And oils that soften the water and permeate the room with a rich fragrance. One can run the whole gamut of odors, from the fresh, clear scent of pine, from the faintest lilac, to the most sophisticated blends. Even your starch bath, which makes the water velvety soft, may bring with it its own incorporated scent.

We hear much about the ravishing effect of perfume on the opposite sex, but not enough of its psychological effect on the woman herself. Half of the magic of perfume is what it does to oneself. It stimulates one, makes one think of herself in new terms of desirability.

But, most of all, the leisurely and luxurious bath hour, with all its ultra-feminine trimmings such as bath salts, oils, and dusting powders, eau de cologne and the like, will establish a frame of mind for an exquisite daintiness of person. Which, in turn, will eradicate the faintest suggestion of body odor. Also, it will conspire to make one the soul of meticulousness about dainty underthings.

People talk about the assurance given by knowing that one is well dressed. But it isn't the surface clothing that subscribes this feeling half so well as is the knowledge that one is immaculate from the skin out. Nor does the knowledge that manner, or general style, is above reproach give one quite that same security and poise that is achieved by knowing that in no possible way can one's person offend, which is the assurance of the woman who makes of her bath the sort of ritual I have prescribed.

Woman Expert Researcher in Field of Fish History

MISS GLORIA HOLLISTER of Suffern, N. Y., a member of the Society of Women Geographers, is an assistant to researchers and goes into the ocean with the aid of a 60 pound diving helmet. She has completed 3,000 fish skeletons and has invented a new method of using dye to outline the bone structure of the fish, which is throwing new light on fish history.

Be Willing to See Your Child's Point of View

Talking Things Over with Him Involves No Loss of Parental Dignity.

By Gladys Huntington Bevans.

ARE you willing to sit down and talk things over with your son or your daughter?

I had written this first sentence of today's article when I stopped and thought:

There are things that books for parents about children simply don't cover. They may be excellent and valuable, and in line with the newer but also sound ideas on child training—indeed, many of them are all that. They have their place as reading matter for parents—a vital and important place.

But there is one thing they can't do—they cannot cover one at a time the thousand and one happenings, some little and some big, that are experienced by the mother in her daily living with her child.

They can't take one idea or occurrence in family life and turn it inside out and upside down, then the next day take another, and the next another—so that the busy mother who is interested or in trouble [but who is also limited in time and strength] can get quickly and in usable form the help she needs.

Other Boys Make Mother Think John Isn't So Bad.

What brought this to my mind was the fact that the subject which I began to write about today is only one of a thick, solid pile, several inches high, of notes for articles—so many things are there to be said about children at every age, and about the relationship that exists between mothers and fathers and their children.

But let us get back to the subject which I am sure will hold interest for every mother or father who has encouraged boys and girls to be intelligent about life—or who, having at present only a new or comparatively new baby—intends to do so.

Are you willing to sit down and talk things over with your children? Therein lies your strength. But first, do understand that I'm not advocating the time wasting and energy wasting process that some parents think is modern, but is only misguided—the process of explaining and arguing every foot of the way with a child over the necessary and taken-for-granted physical routines.

Dangerous for Parents to Ape Perfection.

Are you willing to sit down and talk things over with your boy—man to man? Or with your daughter, as one friend to another?

Or do you think this beneath your dignity, "subversive to discipline," as they say, inclined to weaken your power? Do you keep yourself on a pedestal of sorts?

Being willing to sit down and talk things over with your children will not do any of these things you are apprehensive about. If you have made yourself worthy of your children's respect—if you have an innate dignity—you need not fear the superficial appearance of the loss of either, nor feel that you must maintain certain attitudes of superiority.

On general principles it's dangerous to ape perfection or to try to seem flawless in the children's eyes—for two reasons. One is that they're sure to discover that you're not—that you're only human—and that sometimes is a shock to a child.

Aloofness a Handicap in Family Relations.

Another bad result of the pedestal-parent attitude is that it keeps a distance between you and your child. And while you may like the kind of respect and obedience and the type of manners that a child renders to the slightly aloof father or mother, let me assure you that that aloofness is a handicap. Anything that acts as a barrier between you and your child is a handicap. It will automatically shut you away somewhat from the real child.

As your children leave young childhood behind them and verge on the pre-adolescent years it becomes increasingly necessary to treat them as reasoning human beings. Of course, if you're wise and intelligent you've always done this, but necessarily in a lesser degree, because with little children there are so many routines to be learned that one must oil the wheels by a taken-for-granted attitude about most of these processes. Otherwise, procedures like bathing, and dressing, and eating, and elimination would take up too much time and energy. Even in the in-between and early teen years a mother must still take for granted many things and expect unquestioning obedience in regard to certain other things.

She must exercise firmness and explicitness in general, because there are many matters regarding which a child is not fitted to make decisions. But where anything vital to the child is at stake she must show herself ready, even anxious, to get his point of view. Where anything vital to her child is at stake [whether she thinks it vital or not] she must be willing to give weight to his opinions and desires. She must be willing to discuss things with him. If the reasons for a child's parents requiring certain things of him are not obvious to him, it is often wise for a mother or father to go into the matter with him.

When children get to be 9, or 10, or 11, or older they are entitled to real reason for doing a thing which they honestly question. This you may accord your child because you really respect him. Also because your relationship with him is a real one of mutual friendship and confidence.

We have fully written booklets on the adolescent and also the "in-betweens" (children from 6 to 12). A stamped, self-address envelope will bring either to you.

Paris Pattern Frock Clever: Designed for Active Sports

No. 5083—The Paris pattern for this frock is available in sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, and 20.

By Bettina Bedwell.

PARIS. — [Special.] — This dress, pattern No. 5083, is designed from a French model that was created by one of the greatest Paris dressmakers for active sports in hot weather. She is herself a great sportswoman, and she knows how to make smart and practical sports frocks.

The original model of this dress was made in blue and white dotted silk shantung, with the knots at the neckline and waistline in white shantung. It is a charming dress in these colors and materials but you can select many others that will do nicely.

I have designed the dress for the knots to be sewed down, as they were in the original Paris dress, but if you like them better floating it's quite as chic.

The way in which the back of the blouse is buttoned at the top, and left open until the belt is almost reached, is a smart trick of the Parisian creator, and it helps to air-condition the frocks when one goes into action in tennis or other such violent sports.

Some Famous Works of Art Need a Rest

Would you like to know how to frame and hang your pictures to best advantage? Miss Winslow's booklet, "Selecting, Framing, and Hanging Pictures," tells you all about it. It's 3 cents by mail, 2 cents at The Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street, and Tribune Tower lobby.

By Claire Winslow.

PICTURES, well chosen, appropriately framed and correctly hung will bring beauty to any room. Without them your walls are bare and uninteresting—blank spaces that offer nothing but an expanse of paint or wall paper for the eye to rest upon.

Every home has pictures, but sometimes they are banal and trite; other times they are hung in such a poor light or so high that you do not get their full effect. Once upon a time we all liked Joyce Kilmer's "Trees," but it has been sung and played so many thousands of times on the radio that it is worn out, done to death. We are weary of hearing it. The same is true of some pictures. They ought to be taken down and given a long rest in closet or attic.

Whistler painted many exquisite things besides his mother. Leonardo is famed for other canvases besides his "Mona Lisa," and Reynolds probably would hate to be remembered solely for his "Age of Innocence." Why not give these three overworked pictures a holiday and turn to others, less hackneyed and just as interesting?

Hang Pictures on Level with Eye.

You can get beautiful colored prints at the Art institute of paintings in its collections, as you can at the Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York and at other museums all over the country. There are, moreover, excellent imported prints to be had at most reasonable prices in shops here and elsewhere. So there's no cause for a derth of the most beautiful of all wall decorations.

Now, a few do's and don'ts about framing and hanging:

By far the majority of pictures are hung too high. Hang each one so that the center of interest in the scene depicted is on a level with a person standing.

Don't place one small picture over a large davenport, or all by itself on a huge expanse of wall. If you do not have one of appropriate size, arrange several small ones of related subjects in group fashion. They may be placed so that their lower edges are all on a level, or in step fashion.

If possible, conceal the wire and the nail behind the frame. If not, use two cords, one at either side of the frame, rather than one making a distracting V on the wall. And attach them to hooks on the molding at the top of the wall.

Don't let a picture tip forward. If one does so, see that the screws holding the wire are changed to a higher position on the back of the frame.

Wall Paper Should Provide Plain, Simple Background.

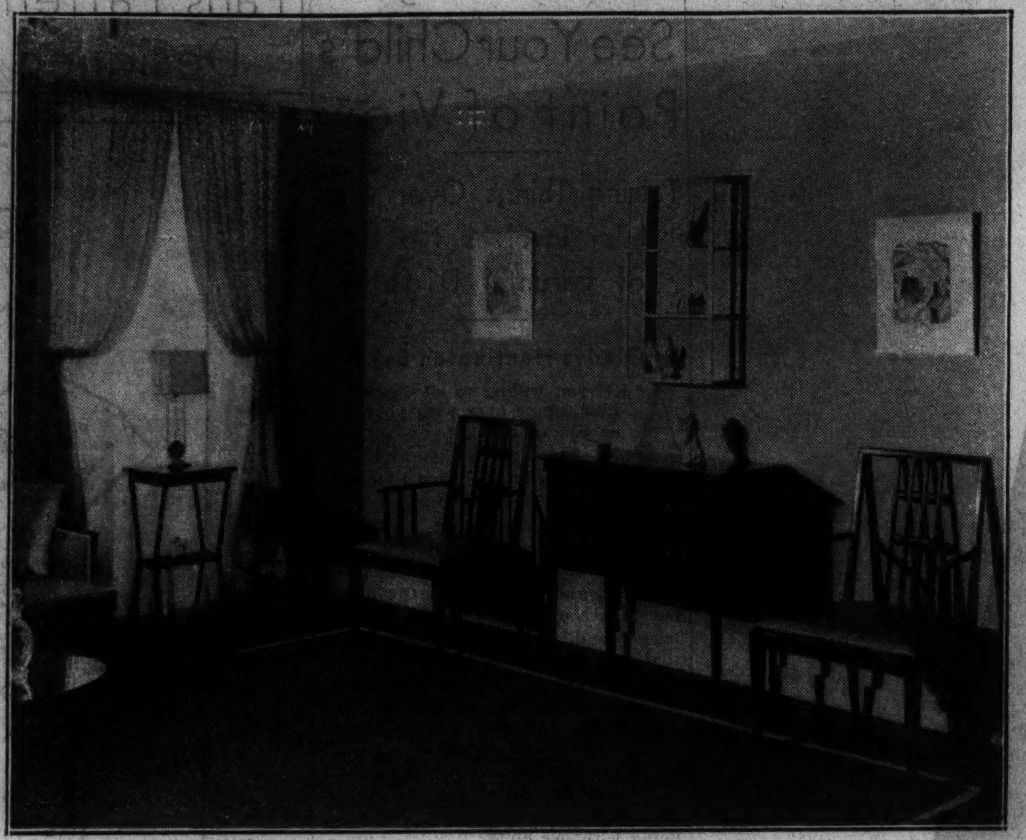
If your walls are already papered in a definite, vivid design you can hang few if any pictures. Plain or simple backgrounds are always advisable. And regard the frame as part of this background. Don't choose one that will stick out like a sore thumb.

You can make a low table or chest seem taller by hanging a rather long narrow picture above it. But keep it down on the wall, fairly close to the piece of furniture, so that the two will form a unit.

A beautiful piece of old brocade, a Chinese embroidered panel, an artistic one of hand blocked or printed linen may take the place of picture or mirror above a couch. Of course, it must blend with your color scheme and be interesting in itself. It may be hung from the molding and weighted, extending to the top of the back of the sofa, or below it. Or you can hang this textile over your mantel, or above a console table, or chest. But avoid those hideous, cheap tapestries in garish colors—all made by machine instead of by hand.

The photograph today shows a most pleasing wall arrangement where balance is achieved by both pictures and furniture. The latter is designed by G. McStay Jackson, made by a Milwaukee firm, and exhibited at the American Furniture Mart. Mr. Jackson also styled the hanging shelves, made by a Wisconsin company.

A BALANCED SCHEME OF DECORE



In this pleasing arrangement of furniture the pictures bear a definite relation to the grouping and help in achieving balance. Note, too, that they are not hung too high—a common failing in many homes—but are on eye level with a person standing. Plain walls in soft colors form the ideal background for pictures. The now popular pastel gray is particularly good.

Attic May Be Remodeled Into Livable Rooms

Garret in Glencoe Home Provides Two Attractive New Bedchambers.

Spring time is paintup time. White is the color of the moment. Send for the booklet by Louise Bargelt on a "Dozen White Finishes for the Wood in Your Home." Two cents at Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn and Tribune Tower; 3 cents by mail. Mrs. Bargelt will be glad to answer questions on home remodeling and repair. Please enclose a stamped, addressed envelope with your query.

By Louise Bargelt.

WE are showing today the view of an attic, an average attic, with space galore which can easily be made valuable at small expense.

We are also showing a glimpse of an attic moderne; that is an attic, recently transformed from just such waste areas, into garret in the newer spirit of our present generation. Two rooms and a bathroom comprise the newly finished rooms. The architect for this modernization in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Miner Williamson, 230 Franklin road, Glencoe, Ill., is Elmer William Marx, 10 North Clark street, Chicago.

When Mr. and Mrs. Williamson bought the home they are now occupying in Glencoe they realized the possibilities for additional usable space the house afforded. First there was the large attic which needed only proper partitioning, insulation, and finish to render it as charming and livable a spot as any in the home.

Boys' Room Given Portholes and Bunks.

The boy's room was treated in genuine masculine style; given portholes for windows, builtin furniture, a builtin bunk with ship's lights and space under the bunk for toys and other youthful accessories. This room was also given white Venetian blinds at its windows which were conventional in type; white blinds which matched the white wall paper—with carmine trim which harmonized with the small carmine toned pattern on the paper. The floor was covered with green linoleum.

The maid's room was given the same wall and floor coverings, in order to increase the appearance of size of the entire suite. The builtin desk and dresser of the maid's room were made from furniture in the home which would have been otherwise discarded—a good use of old furniture, to refinish it and tuck it into the walls!

On the second floor there was an exteremely interesting transformation. Along one side of the house ran a large enclosed porch. Too large a porch for the needs and service which it rendered. So this porch was divided; cut in half to make possible two rooms. One of these rooms was a new bathroom with shower stall. The other one was a handsomely finished sleeping porch, its walls plastered and painted, its floor covered with linoleum.

New Wallpaper and Fixtures Complete Regeneration.

Then too, the already existing bath on the second floor, the only bath which the house owned at the time the Williamsons bought it, was modernized, given new builtin tub and lavatory and closet.

Besides this the walls throughout the house were all repapered, the floors all refinished with a "seal" type of waxed finish, new brass lighting fixtures were installed, and the woodwork were given a new coat of enamel. In the kitchen appeared a new cabinet type sink.

Does modernizing pay? Yes, when you can add two rooms, two new baths, and a sleeping porch de luxe It does pay—and pay well!

So many homes possess possibilities for expansion within themselves. Most houses built more than five or ten years ago have attics and basements. Many have open porches. The homes of tomorrow may not possess such large basements, attics, and porches, a family builds for today will be a better investment if it is planned for possible future expansion. Planned so that it may grow a little as the family grows. Or that, if resold, it can offer to the buyers as this home in Glencoe offered to the Williamsons, opportunity for economical and attractive enlargement.

New Aluminum Tile Attractive in Baths, Kitchens.

A manufacturer of metal tile has now developed an aluminum tile with a baked enamel surface, suitable for bathrooms, kitchens and other rooms may even not possess them at all in many instances. But any home which where tile walls are desired.

This aluminum tile which is light in weight and not expensive, is especially fitted for remodeling work, since it may be cemented directly to the existing wall with an oil cement. In this way there is no need for tearing out a wall or reinforcing it. It is claimed that this tile may be applied over virtually any wall surface which is fairly smooth and even, whether the surface is of wood, cement, plaster, or wall board.

The tiles measure four and one-half inches by four and one-half inches and may be installed complete at fifty cents a square foot. The basic metal is pure aluminum. The tiles come in a variety of colors, including ivory, orchid, Persian brown, dove gray, blue, two shades of green, and ebony black.

Steam May Harm Paint of Kitchen Ceiling.

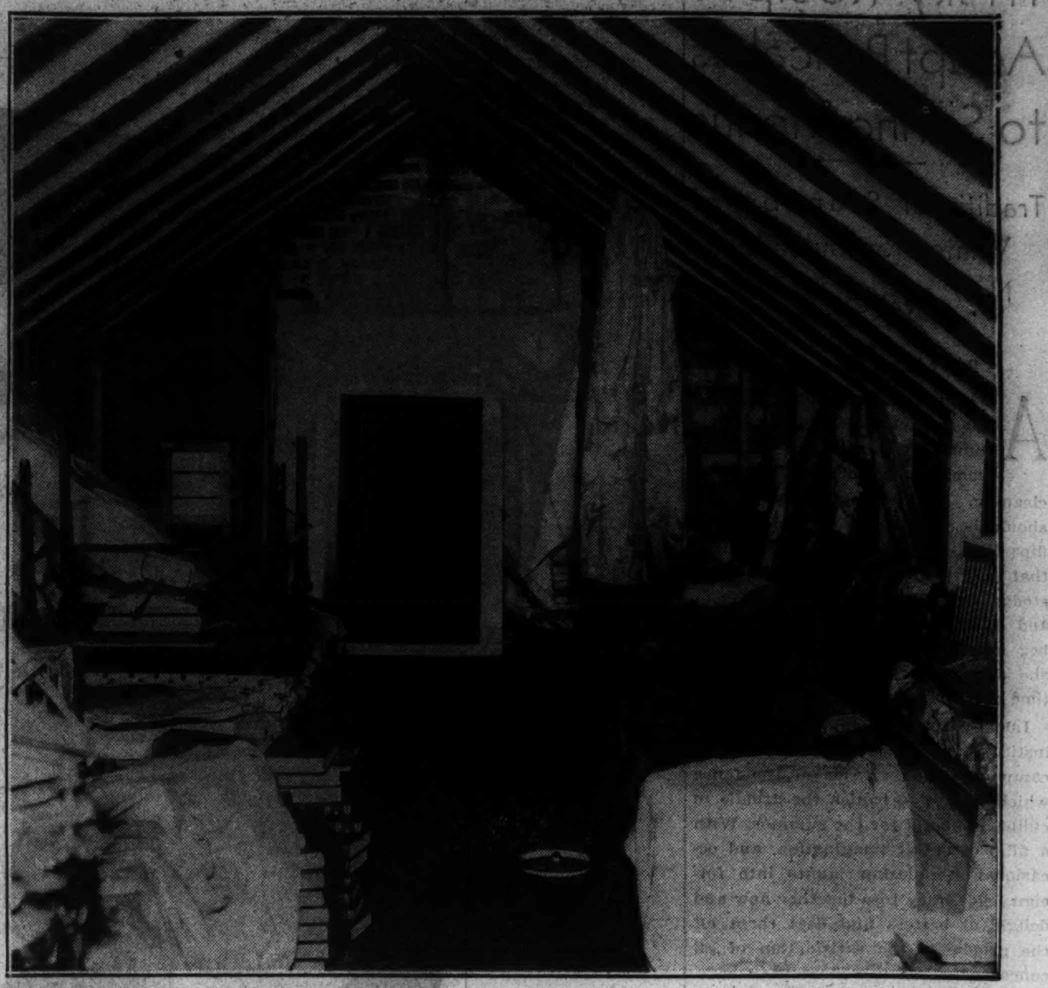
Many people encounter difficulty in painting the ceiling of a kitchen and frequent inquiries come about what to do for paint which refuses to adhere to the ceiling surface.

If the paint is good paint, if the old surface has been properly prepared and the new paint properly applied, and the paint still won't cling well, the trouble is probably due to too great condensation of steam from cooking vessels on the range.

A hood built above the stove would help. So would a ventilating fan through the outer wall, close to the ceiling. These ventilating fans, incidentally, whether of the wall type or the portable window type, are modern units which afford inestimable comfort all seasons of the year.

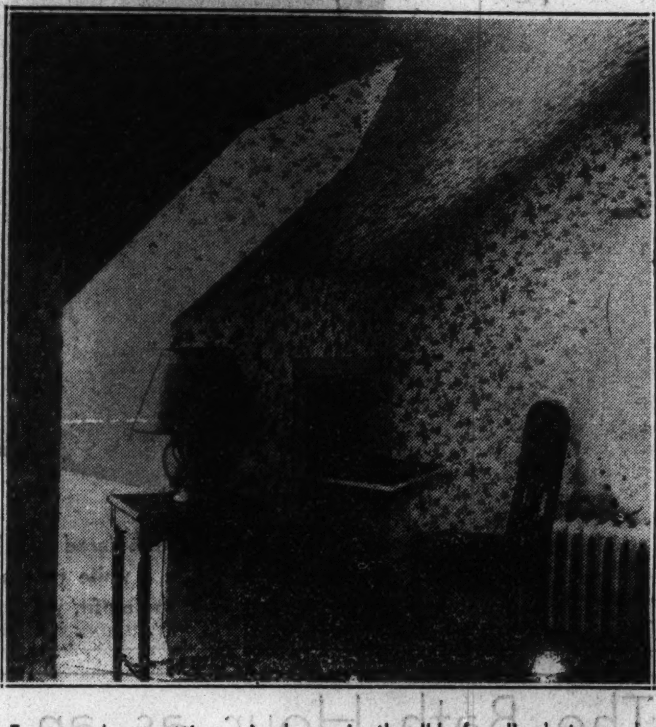
Mrs. Bargelt will speak over W-G-N next Saturday at twelve, noon.

WASTED IN STORAGE SPACE



A typical attic, its waste spaces filled with those cdds and ends which have for generations been considered standard equipment for these upper and under the roof areas. But those were days when disregard of cubic costs prevailed—when space was built and left unused—days which are passing, and passing forever! For areas like these can be made valuable at very small expense.

[TRIBUNE Photo.]



From such an attic as is shown in the "before" photograph, two light, sunny rooms and a tile bath emerged. The room pictured is a maid's room, with built-in desk and dresser and green linoleum and ivory wall paper with carmine pattern. Abundant light and air have been provided for these attic rooms by the installation of three dormers on the front of the house.

Right Colors Bring Beauty to Bedrooms

The Secret of Charming Interiors Lies in Hues as Much as in Furnishings.

If you are furnishing a new bedroom or redecorating an old one, Miss Weigle's booklet, "Beautiful Bedrooms," will be of help to you. It is 3 cents by mail, 2 cents at the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 S. Dearborn St., and Tribune Tower lobby.

By Edith Weigle.

FORMULA for a delightful bedroom for a young girl:

Walls painted white, with a flat, not a glossy finish, and a tiny scalloped border of turquoise blue outlining built-in shelves and doorways. The recessed shelves lined in yellow.

Charming white furniture of conservative modern build, decorated with narrow bands of yellow.

A yellow spread on the bed, its tufting forming large squares and flowers in those squares.

Light Yellow Lining Artistic Background for Books.

Accessories in white, yellow, and turquoise. Over the bed a painting of a young girl in a blue gown. The frame is white with an inner line of blue.

There you have it. It's a simple formula, but one sure to bring joy to the heart of any young person who loves delicate colors and pretty things. And the nice feature about this room is that the furniture is extremely reasonable in price. In fact, the whole ensemble has been kept well within the average budget.

One of our large Chicago stores is showing it in the budget house on the furniture floor. We have a picture of it, today, showing the side of the room in which the bed is placed. Flanking it, you'll notice, are the built-in shelves with cabinet space below. This is a grand idea, for beside the practical consideration is one of beauty. The light yellow lining makes an artistic background against which you may arrange your books and other treasures.

Off Center Treatment Lends Interest to Fireplace.

Now, take a look at the living room in this model home. Here sweeping draperies of rich dark coral contrast with plain walls painted a pastel green, and with white woodwork and dark brown broadloom rug. The furnishings are conservative modern and are all inexpensively priced.

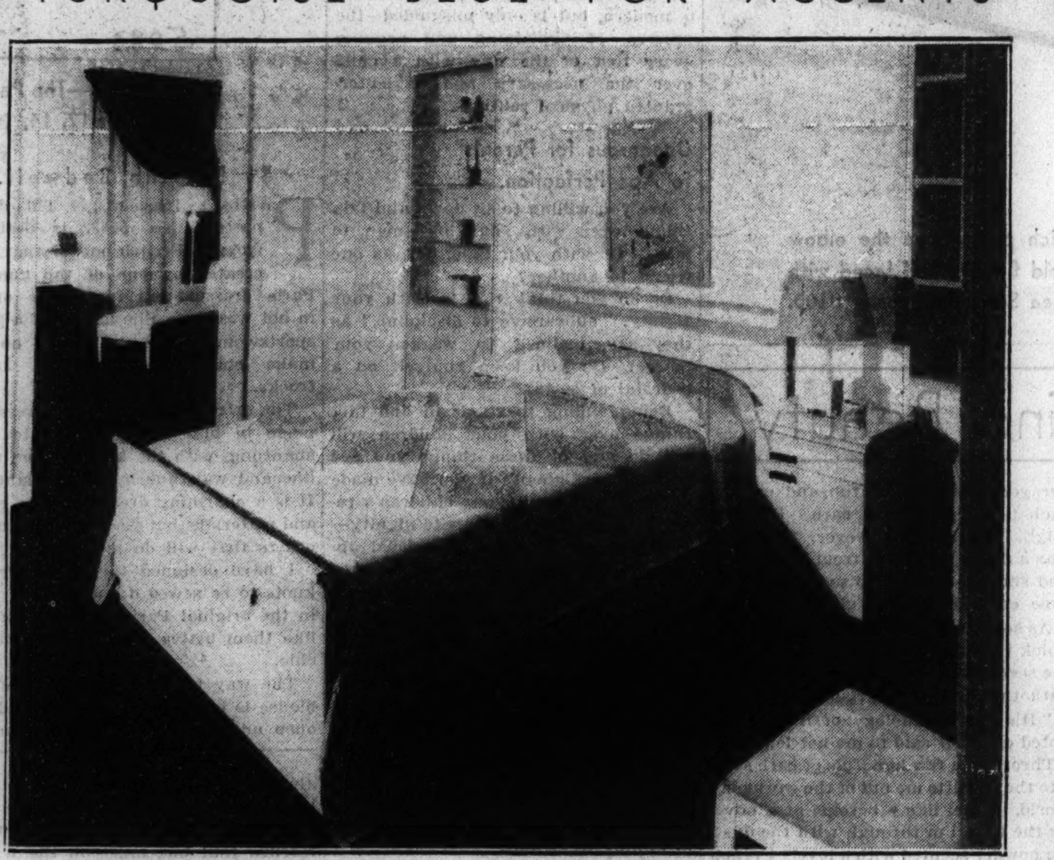
An off center treatment lends interest to the fireplace mantel. The long, narrow mirror, placed at one side, instead of in the middle, is balanced by a cylindrical jar of spiky flowers at the other end. Andirons displaying large chromium balls on black metal cubes repeat the modern note.

Two comfortable lounge chairs face each other across the harth. You'll note that while they are similar in line and proportion, they avoid monotony by having different coverings, one being plain, the other plaid.

A modern, flat topped desk is placed at right angles to the wall in the foreground, and in the right background is a permanent card table group of dark wood combined with white painted finish. The table legs are rounded, presenting no sharp edges for the unwary.

Grease which has settled slightly on the enameled surface of a gas range can be eliminated by soaking and then wiping the affected parts with kerosene. If the deposit has hardened, however, use fine sandpaper—but use this carefully, and only if everything else has failed—as enamel is not improved by dulling of its surface.

TURQUOISE BLUE FOR ACCENTS



A delightful bedroom now being shown in the budget house of a Chicago store goes modern in a conservative way. The furniture is from a fascinating new line, and is white with bands of yellow trimming. Turquoise blue is used for accent in accessories and narrow scalloped border outlining doors and built-in shelves. Over the bed is a picture repeating the colors.

The living room in this budget house is comfortably furnished in livable, low priced pieces. No one can object to this modern furniture, for it is so simple in line and so pleasingly upholstered. The sweeping draperies are of dark coral. Photographed in a Chicago store.

THIS WEEK IN THE GARDEN

Monday, April 29.

It is wise to treat gladiolus corms before planting to rid them of thrips by immersing in a corrosive sublimate solution made by dissolving 1 ounce in 7½ gallons of water. The eggs of thrip will be killed and diseases like dry rot, hard rot, and scale checked. To avoid injury from late frosts keep a light covering ready to protect the tops of regal lilies and other plants that are likely to suffer. Transplant evergreens now. Buy select stock, ready balled and burlaped, to avoid the likelihood of loss.

Tuesday, April 30.

Frost may come at any time until May 20, so care must be exercised not to plant tender things out of doors unless protective material is at hand. Tomato plants are hot weather plants which suffer from too early planting, and it is difficult to protect them. Cabbage will stand considerable cold when once established. Cut back excessive growths of junipers, hemlocks, and arborvitaes now, but avoid cutting back more than the previous season's growth. Trimming back evergreens should be done two or more times during the season to keep them in bounds.

Wednesday, May 1.

All fruit and ornamental trees and shrubs should be planted as soon as possible to avoid the possibility of their becoming checked through a sudden, unexpected period of drouth. Newly planted stock should be mulched with strawy fertilizer or any other material that may be had. See that the stock is watered and the trees tied to prevent swaying in the wind. Use annual vines on trellises that are destitute of healthy plants through winterkilling.

Thursday, May 2.

Make chrysanthemum cuttings, and, when rooted, pot them in small pots, shifting into larger pots when well rooted. Later transplant into the field and keep growing until fall. Save the grass by not permitting people to tramp it down until well established. A successful lawn demands constant attention as to feeding and watering. It takes three or more years to obtain a first class blue grass lawn. Plan to buy recommended liquid weed killer for use on gravel walks.

Friday, May 3.

The elm leaf beetle can be eliminated by spraying with arsenate of lead. Plant birch, magnolia, and beech trees now. Buy specimen trees even though they cost a few cents more. Watch house plants to rid them of any insects. Keep flowering plants well watered or they will soon wilt. Transplant any that may need it. Topdress tub plants before they are placed out of doors.

Saturday, May 4.

Watch the hotbed and coldframe, harden off vegetable plants by giving them all the air possible before planting in the garden. Be sure to plant for a succession. Fresh, fast growing, crisp vegetables are infinitely better than strong, over matured vegetables. Grow head ettuce by transplanting the seedlings a foot or more apart. Sow a few parsley seeds to have choice garnishing material ready. Buy a few kinds of herbs as they will come in handy. A garden of annuals in combination with other plants offers great possibilities.

Prepared in coöperation with the Garfield park conservatory.

THE BUDS

By Eleanor Jewett.

On every branch of every tree
Buds, green-skirted, dance to me.
Frilled their tiny dress and fair,
All are bobbing in the air!
Soon the tender green will grow
Into leaves for winds to blow;
Summer suns shall hotly shine
On trees made beautiful and fine.

And ALL the beauty that we see
Was in those buds which danced to me!

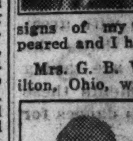
How Thousands Are Ending Kidney Acid

Medical authorities agree that the only way your body can clean out Acids and Poisonous Wastes from your blood is through the function of millions of tiny Kidney tubes or filters. To keep you healthy, they should pour out 3 pints of fluid daily and get rid of 4 pounds of waste matter.

If your Kidneys don't do this, but are functioning poorly, making you suffer from Getting Up Nights, Leg Pains, Backache, Nervousness, Stiffness, Burning, Smarting Acidity, Swollen Feet and Ankles, Neuralgia or Rheumatic Pains, or Loss of Pep and Energy, don't waste a minute. Try that famous prescription called Balmwort Tablets. Formula printed on label.

Balmwort tablets start work in 20 minutes, help flush out Acids and Poisonous Wastes, and soothe and tone raw, irritated tissue. They have helped millions and are guaranteed to fix you up or Money Back on return of empty package. Be sure you get Balmwort Tablets. At all druggists.

Joel Kratofield, 2418 Hamlin Ave., Chicago, Ill., writes: "I am a baker and due to working in the heat and then going in the cold, I have suffered greatly with kidney and bladder trouble, with backache and much pain. Reading about Balmwort I purchased a box and in 2 days I noticed I felt better, and in 4 days all signs of my kidney trouble had disappeared and I have not been troubled since."



Mrs. G. B. Wente, 439 Belle Ave., Hamilton, Ohio, writes: "Sometime ago I suffered greatly with kidney and bladder trouble. It caused my ankles to swell; I had pains in my legs and my sleep was frequently disturbed. I tried Balmwort Tablets and they are surely fine. All the swelling and pain in my legs and ankles is gone and am now able to sleep through the night without being disturbed."

Perfect Grooming Is of Utmost Importance in the Business World.

Advice to girls seeking jobs or trying to hold them: Reflect on how and if you fall down on perfect grooming. The state of hair, hands, faces, and clothes tells tale of your character and habits.
[TRIBUNE Studio Photo.]

IN a talk, the other day, with the head of the personnel department of one of those tremendous organizations by which dozens of women are interviewed in the course of a day, we got into a fairly interesting discussion of grooming. A man heads the department, and women who apply to him for positions are warned that they needn't rely for one instant on the legend that men don't notice things. He's the noticing-est man we ever met!

We wish every girl just out of school, and every woman in search of a position, could have heard him. He emphasized the point that style meant nothing to him, which relieved our mind considerably. We'd hate to think any deserving woman didn't get a job because she wasn't dolled up in the latest and swankiest whisper of fashion. We've known some prize dumbbells who were fashion plates.

Personnel Director Believes Grooming Key to Character.

His attitude was the perfectly sound one that grooming is a clew to character. Provided a girl has all the necessary qualifications for a job, it's practically sewed up as far as he's concerned, if she passes muster on his little tests of habits and character as reflected in her grooming.

He did betray a masculine antipathy toward too fancy shoes. He thinks any efficient woman would figure out for herself that towering heels are out of place in the business office if for no other reason than that they're not comfortable for working. He says flatly that no woman is completely efficient if she can't move around with comfort and dispatch. Rundown heels are another of his pet peeves.

But it was when he proceeded to the aspects of grooming that indicate fastidiousness that he really took a great many of us women for an unenjoyable ride. Faces first: Too much makeup is, he says, an infallible indication of the sort of flamboyant temperament that has no place around an office where impersonality is the keynote. He approves of makeup, approves of the fresh, bright finish it gives to faces when it's natural and skilful, but when it's applied with a heavy hand he writes "n. g." on the applicant's card.

Hair Is Telltale Indicator of Habits.

Hair, he says, is a flawless indicator of habits. When it's all coy and fluttery, with ringlets dangling, he says one can be certain that its possessor doesn't have any sense of the appropriate. And when, in addition, the hair itself isn't resplendent with the sheen born of good care and cleanliness, no one could persuade him that the owner ever would be the sort of secretary who remembers how to spell names correctly or to keep the boss' pencils sharpened.

Then hands, and here he delivered some rather stiff sermons. Red nail polish can be flaunted as far as he's concerned, but only after 6 p. m. To suit him, nails must be manicured, and must not be too long. All he asks of hands is that they be immaculate, and that nails show the signs of good care, such as white tips and smooth cuticles.

The marks of perfect grooming: Well brushed, clean hair; well cared for, clean nails; clothes that are trim, but not necessarily fashionable, and faces that are bright and fresh and naturally made up are invaluable reflectors of character, he feels. He goes on the theory that the woman who cares enough about her own nails will care enough about her boss' business.

It would be a good idea, don't you think, to meditate on these things, whether we want jobs or want to hold those we have?

Budgeting Your Time Before Nuptials Saves Much Trouble

The new booklets on wedding etiquet are now on sale at the Tribune Public Service office, 1 South Dearborn street, and the Tribune Tower lobby. "Color Ideas for Spring and Summer Weddings," 2 cents; by mail, 3 cents. "Small Weddings at Small Cost," 2 cents; by mail, 3 cents.

By Helen Bartlett.

THE virtues of the budget system for brides were extoled in this department last week. A budget is the surest way of stretching the money, allowed for the wedding, to cover all the items of expense. There are many such items.

A budget of the bride's time is quite as important. Besides wanting to break even, if possible, come out on the right side of the financial ribbon, it also is necessary that she arrange her duties, in the two or three months preceding the wedding, in such a systematic order that everything will be accomplished with ease. She can then walk down the aile of the church with a feeling of calm and assurance, knowing that the smallest detail hasn't been forgotten, everything is going smoothly, and just as it was planned.

At least ten weeks before the wedding, the exact date, time, whether it is to take place at church or home, and whether it is to be a large or small affair, should be decided. Until these matters are arranged nothing else can be accomplished. And when they are settled such duties as arranging for the church, engaging the clergyman, completing the plans for the reception may be performed. Then may begin the fun of the selection of the trousseau, including the bride's own personal wardrobe and the household linens, the wedding gown and the going away costume.

Then there is the matter of choosing and inviting the bridal attendants and other members of the wedding party. Style and color of frocks must be agreed upon, as well as flowers for the attendants. The bridegroom should be consulted about flowers, too, since he is responsible for the bride's bouquet and the flowers for her mother and his own mother.

Eight weeks before the wedding is a good time to begin looking for an apartment or a home, and to formulate plans for furnishing it. It is advisable to begin shopping for furniture. The problem of decorating and furnishing the new home is a big one and it should not be done too hastily.

The various lists for invitations to the ceremony and the reception, and the announcements, lists of both the bride and bridegroom's should have been completed by this time [four or five weeks before]. And the order for the engraving should be placed with the stationer, because it does take quite a long time before it can be completed and delivered. The "at home" cards should be ordered at the same time, the visiting cards with the new name, and monogrammed stationery for the "thank you" notes. If any alterations on the house, cleaning, or decorating are to be done, they should be completed two or three weeks in advance of the date of the occasion. Begin addressing the invitations and announcements.

Fifteen days before, at least, the wedding invitations should be mailed. Soon after they are received wedding presents will begin to arrive. They should all be recorded as they arrive, and should be acknowledged as soon as possible.

Before the time grows too short it is well to complete the plans for the decorations for the church, house, and reception. Get the gifts for the bridal attendants and the present for the bridegroom. Consult the caterer and make the final plans for the menu for the reception refreshments. Engage any extra servants needed.

And, finally, the day of the wedding. The only detail that is left and the only duty which remains to be performed is the mailing of the announcements. The best man might be enlisted to do that after the ceremony.

A FRIEND IN NEED

If you are in need, perhaps I can help you. If you have household articles or clothing you no longer use, please let me place them with needy families. Address correspondence to Sally Joy Brown, the Chicago Tribune, Chicago.

By Sally Joy Brown.

A LEARNED man once wrote: "As good almost kill a man as kill a good book." We wouldn't go that far, but we do think it's a shame to allow good books to moulder and waste away on shelves, neglected and unread, when they may be put to good use in the hands of some eager bookworm.

There are, of course, local libraries for those unable to purchase reading matter, but they are inexhaustible, and there are many people who live too far away to enable them to make use of this service, particularly persons on relief.

Mr. T. R. recently wrote me requesting histories of all kinds. He is much interested in the subject, and has secured much of his education through reading. He is unemployed, and books of this type will mean a great deal to him, since neither he nor his wife has money for amusement of any kind.

Miss J. C. writes as follows: "Dear Miss Brown: I should like to make a request for a Catholic Bible which some reader no longer needs. It is the Douay version, and as I have a great deal of time on my hands, I feel I can make good use of it."

If any Armenian reader has books or newspapers in his native language, perhaps he or she would like to pass them on to an Armenian who is a widower and the father of three small boys. He is unemployed and despondent at present, and although he speaks English, is unable to read it.

H. M., a veteran recently discharged from the hospital, is interested in securing geographic magazines, western stories of fiction, or scientific publications. He lives on the north side.

Mrs. S. is the mother of a girl 9 years old and a boy 8. Both enjoy reading children's books. Her husband is unemployed, and she will appreciate receiving juvenile reading matter your children have discarded. The address is on the northwest side of the city.

J. McN. has been a victim of infantile paralysis for the past 13 years, and is anxious to become a writer. He feels that reading is necessary to his desired career, and will appreciate any suitable books. His home is on the south side.

Nursery rimes, fairy tales, and such provide excellent amusement and occupation for sick youngsters, and I know any number of wards and rooms that will be brightened considerably by the adventures of Raggedy Ann, Tom Sawyer, or similar figures of fiction.

2744—Woman's dress. Sizes 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, and 48 in. bust measure. Size 36 requires 3¼ yds. of 36 in. material, with ⅞ yd. of 35 in. contrasting.

Summer Frocks Intrigue with Softened Lines

Scoop!—The spring edition of the Chicago Tribune Book of Clotilde Fashions is on sale. Its pages present the latest modes for spring, designs that forecast early summer styles, comprehensive suggestions for assembling colors and fabrics, and feature articles intriguing to women everywhere. The price is 15 cents; 10 cents when ordered with a pattern. Address Chicago Tribune, P. O. box 537, Grand Central station, NEW YORK CITY; or call at one of the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street or Tribune Tower.

By Clotilde.

PATTERN No. 2844 fashions a lovely summer dress in sheer, printed, silk crêpe. The dress is easy to make, the skirt being circular, cut in three pieces, with a plaited inset at the center front. The waist is quite plain, with a pretty shoulder cape that answers also for short sleeves. Pattern provisions also include directions for long sleeves should one desire them.

The cape ties in a youthful and becoming way, and the dress is one you can wear on many occasions. Plain or striped linen, chiffon printed cotton voile, and dotted handkerchief lawn are other suitable materials.

Skirt One Piece in Back, with Two Gores in Front.

The skirt is cut with a one piece back and two front gores, a seam placed down the center front. You can make French seams, sewing the right side seams by hand, then stitching the wrong side seam on the machine.

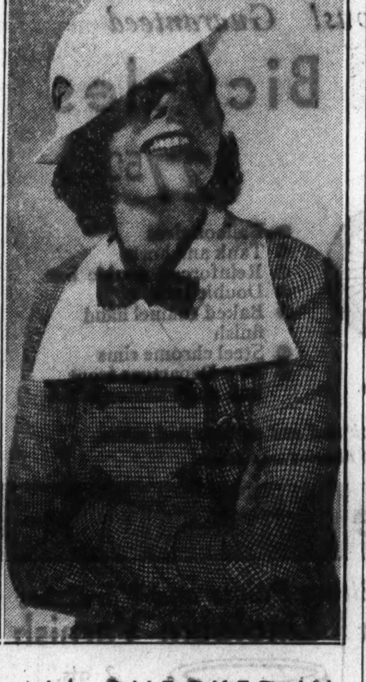
Make the tie for the waist of a contrasting color, using the darkest shade in the print, and baste in place on the dress before basting the cape in place. A rolled hem, or one about ¼ inch wide, can be used to finish the cape edges; then the front edge of the cape is turned under on both sides and basted in position to the waist.

Pattern No. 2744 is for a smart dress for the woman with a large figure, and the design is one creating an illusion of height and slenderness. The cape, which is divided at the front and crossed in surplice fashion, cuts the bodice breadth effectively. The six piece yoke skirt [front and back cut in one with yokes] is attached to the waist under a removable belt. If you want long sleeves you will find a pattern for them included.

Special Technique Makes Skirt Simple to Sew.

When you are ready to make the skirt, clip at rather close intervals the lower edge of the front and back sections where the lines are curved. Then turn under an even seam's width and pin in place over the side pieces, always working down from the top. Then even the seams on the wrong side and overcast in fine shallow stitches. Then stitch from the right side, close to the turned under edges, and ¼ inch inside if you like.

Tub silks, printed or plain, wrinkle resistant printed voiles, printed or plain linens, and printed or plain silk crêpes will make up well.



ALL CHECKED IN

Brown and white checks in a double breasted street suit, made with wide white revers and accented with a small tailored bow. The hat is of white felt with a creased crown.

White Wool May Be Knitter's Medium for Summer Ensemble

By Jean Macdonald.

WHITE suits for summer always have been considered the epitome of good taste whether they be fabric, knitted, or crocheted. The two piece knitted ensemble of white wool illustrated today is one of the newest knitted models for summer. The straight, collarless, three-quarter coat is dashingly fastened on the left side with one button. Drop shoulders have an air of chic difficult to equal. The full sleeves are worked into a deep band at the cuff. A straight band of fine yarn is set on the inside of the front openings and creates an ideal finish. One inch of single crochet around the bottom of the skirt and an inch around the collar and front opening and bottom of the coat are the only variation in the knitted ensemble.

Yarn is an all important point in consideration with this model. The original material was a soft four ply wool combined with an extremely fine silk thread. The effect is unusually striking, but a careful selection of any other good quality yarn may be used quite as attractively.

HOW TO ORDER

If you wish instructions for knitting the white wool two piece suit illustrated today, send 10 cents in stamps or coin to Jean Macdonald, CHICAGO TRIBUNE, Chicago. Be sure to send name and address with your letter.

Be sure to include the following measurements:

Knives, Forks, and Spoons Augment Wooden Service

THE latest items added to the popular wooden tableware are knives, forks, and spoons. And, believe it or not, the knives are keen edged and actually will cut food. For table service there also are large sized serving knives, wide bladed affairs for serving pie and cake. These are made of birch, maple, and black walnut.

A novel article is a wooden bread scoop such as is used by the grocer when he measures out sugar or flour. These particular scoops are longer and wide enough to hold securely a loaf of sliced bread. They are white enameled, with attractively painted figures in delicate shades of blue, pink, or green. They are sold in a Chicago store.

Nights Out for Men? Brickbat to Doris Blake!

By Doris Blake.

YOU certainly stick your hand in a hornet's nest when you advocate an evening off for the husband. Just suggest it once and see what you have stirred up. We did. And we think it only fair, in the name of "Disgusted" and her disgusted sisters, to present her side of the case, including her opinion of us for precipitating any such idea as letting the man off scot free for an evening while she stays home to tend that work of hers that's never done.

"You give me a big pain in the neck," Disgusted sails in. "Why don't you sell big red apples for a living instead of putting ideas in husbands' heads that they should have all the vacations? It's easy for you to talk. But the dose of advice you hand out is eaten up by the multitude and my husband just ate up that stuff about giving the poor man an evening a week or a Sunday off.

"You see, he is a hard working street car man who has only one day off a week. His hours are such that I am tied home day in and day out, getting meals at ungodly hours, 11 o'clock for breakfast, and 3 for lunch, 9 o'clock for supper. In between times I fix meals for two babies. Three meals for them, understand. Their breakfast at 8, lunch at 12, and supper at 6. Each different group needs hot, nourishing meals. Then, in between times, I do all my own work in a five room flat, my own washing, ironing, and extra diaper washings. Ten o'clock at night sees me doing my last supper dishes. Then, when the poor boy's day off comes, he should go out with the boys and spend the dollar or so he has over from bills on beer in some junky saloon.

"Yeah, why don't you suggest that they take their wives and children out on a picnic every Sunday? Why don't they, anyway, without any one suggesting it? Oh, we can come along, if they can get away to get their beer.

"If I want to take in a movie once in a while I can go with his pals' wives or stay home. Must I have him sitting beside me at a show? he asks. He doesn't see why. Five years ago he didn't ask. He couldn't see a show without me.

"Yes, I've tried letting them go out by themselves, and the more you sit by and let them the more they feel it is their just due.

"Well, I can't sit and chat any longer. The dear baby is needing attention, and this is the maid's day off [sez I, laughing], so I'll have to fix the bottle myself. Just believe that this is from an overworked, disgusted female, whose conscientious attention to her job gets just about as much cheer from you advisers as it does from the man who thinks he's got all the rights just because he is a man."

Home Treatment For Keeping Skin Young

MERCOLIZED WAX is the one beauty aid you can afford because this single preparation embodies all the essentials of beauty that your skin needs. It cleanses, softens, bleaches, lubricates and protects. It is so simple to use, too. Just pat it on your skin each night as if it were an ordinary cold cream. That's all. Mercolized Wax seeps into your pores and dissolves grime and dust and all impurities. It absorbs the discolored surface skin in tiny, invisible particles, revealing the beautiful, soft, young skin that lies beneath. It clears away freckles, tan, oiliness, sunburn or any other blemishes. You use such a tiny bit of Mercolized Wax for each application that it proves an inexpensive beauty investment. Beauty cannot be taken for granted. It must be cared for regularly if you want to hold it through the years. Mercolized Wax brings out the hidden beauty of your skin.

POWDERED SAXOLITE dissolved in one-half pint witch hazel quickly reduces wrinkles and other age signs. It is a refreshing, stimulating astringent lotion. Use it daily. At all drug and department stores.

Graphically compared here with the stupendous values of principal items of the nation's wealth is the even more stupendous total of the amounts involved in money-spending measures introduced in the Seventy-fourth congress. Recklessness such as this would put a burden of more than 180 billion dollars on taxpayers, an amount in excess of the value of all real estate in the country as determined by the 1922 wealth census.

Congress Bills Would Squeeze 180 Billion Out of the Taxpayers

Washington, D. C., April 27.—(Special.)—Bills to spend money set an all-time record of more than 180 billions in the first session of the Seventy-fourth congress. In addition to the billions allocated to various purposes, approved by the Roosevelt administration, member after member offered his own scheme for redistribution of wealth through spending. All the money-spending bills introduced into congress during the session thus far follow:

"Life Begins at 8:40" Delights Chicago Playgoers

By Charles Collins.

THERE is reason for rejoicing among playgoers over Chicago's acquisition of "Life Begins at 8:40." This entertainment, which now occupies the capacious Grand Opera house, is everything that a Broadway revue ought to be. It is richly and beautifully dressed; its stage devices are ingenious; its mirth is buoyant and unflagging; its comedians are hearty and ingenious fellows, and its mood is always high spirited. It contains much for the eye to admire, including troupes of sleek chorus beauties, and much to stimulate the sense of humor. Its program is copious and well balanced. Altogether, this show is as good as any of the nationally popular frolics of the great era of revue production a few years back.

Revue technique is probably the most complicated and difficult of all theatrical methods. It consists of a weaving together of the arts of song, dance, comic sketch, spectacle, and variety entertainment in such a way that a certain feeling of unity will be communicated, and a swift, self-sustaining performance will be given.

Technique of Revue Production.

The show must contain the fundamental comic devices and also make adroit use of topical satire. The staging of such a production, with all its parts neatly dovetailed and its frequent changes of costumes and stage settings adroitly time-tabled, is a matter that requires highly specialized skills from a large staf. The financial risks involved, moreover, are staggering. A revue which fails to win playgoers' favor at its première is a terrific menace to the bank account of its impresario.

The backbone of any revue is its series of comic sketches and the deportment of the principal players therein. The scenery may be gorgeous; the chorus girls may be worthy of the Mohammedan paradise; the songs may be inevitable hits; but if the performance is lacking in fresh and vigorous humor the revue cannot hope for the long run that it must enjoy in order to pay off the heavy costs of production.

Comedy in "Life at 8:40."

"Life Begins at 8:40" is strong in its sketches, especially when the vehement and wild-eyed Bert Lahr is the chief burlesquer. Its prowess in arousing laughter is notable. In checking over my program notes I find that these sketches were contributed by six different authors, and were, no doubt, the result of a winnowing of hundreds of manuscripts. A catalog of these items will give some idea of the humorous aspects of the show.

"The Radio Announcer's Bride"—A satire on the egomania of the radio temperament, with Luella Gear and Brian Donlevy as the principals. The couple gets engaged in front of a microphone, broadcasts their wedding, and greets the world from their boudoir the morning after. But the radio announcer does nearly all of the talking, in a vein of "I—I—I," and the meek bride barely gets a word in edgewise now and then.

Bert Lahr in Various Disguises.

"The Samaritan"—An episode in front of a movie theater which is exhibiting a film of Mae West in her most sexy manner. Bert Lahr is a prospective customer, but is torn between duty and desire by the arguments of a picket who declares that the place is unfair to union labor. Finally Lahr, after much comic gurgling, takes over the picket's job. The latter, relieved of his sandwich boards, promptly darts inside the theater for a look at Mae West.

"She Loves Me Not"—A burlesque of the play and the film of the same title, with Lahr as an effeminate Princeton student and Frances Williams as the girl who invades his room.

"The Window Dresser Goes to Bed"—Ray Bolger and Luella Gear in a quaint skit representing the home life of a department store decorator, who arranges his clothes, while disrobing, in his best professional style, and also does the same sort of thing, in an absent-minded way, with his wife's garments. The comedy is mainly in pantomime, and the sketch is a decent burlesque of typical bedroom scene indecency.

Caricatures of Foreign Drama.

"Chin Up"—A burlesque of English emotional drama, in which every character, stiff and stuffy with British conventions of the right thing to do, commits suicide by poison to expiate various sins against the social code. Lahr is exceedingly funny in his mockery of the Mayfair dialect.

"C'Est La Vie"—A burlesque of the French triangle drama, with Lahr, Bolger, and Luella Gear as principals. Two ornate Parisians meet on the river embankment, each contemplating suicide. They discover that they have been betrayed by the same woman, who presently appears. She suggests a "Design for Living" arrangement between the three of them. They apparently agree, but when she seats herself on the edge of the quay, they neatly tip her into the Seine and depart rejoicing. The travesty on the idioms of French speech is cleverly handled.

"New Deal Ladies' Circle"—A fantasy of society life in Washington under the influence of Mrs. Roosevelt, with Miss Gear and Frances Williams as principals. It is passable political satire, but too far-fetched to be a great laughmaker.

"A Day at the Broker's"—The best sketch in the collection and Lahr's highest point as a comedian. He appears as a vaudeville actor who has come into a broker's office with $5,000. The progress of his speculations, from a margin account in silver mine shares to sweepstake tickets and punchboards, is uproariously funny. Every touch in the dialog is true to stock market patter, and Lahr's agonies as he loses his savings are expressed in an ecstasy of fantastic humor.

"THE DEVIL IS A WOMAN"

Staging Revue Is Tricky Work, Says Producer

JOHN MURRAY ANDERSON, who ranks as one of the two greatest directors of musical productions in America [Hazzard Short is the other], is now represented in Chicago by "Life Begins at 8:40." He says that each revue must be built along some entirely new plan.

"Each time I do a revue," says Mr. Anderson, "the evolution of that idea is more difficult. There are, for instance, a hundred good ideas for musicals being hawked around the theatrical offices right this minute. But remember one thing. A good idea is only secondary. Unless a good idea is well executed it isn't a bit better than a bad idea.

"Let me state an example. Four years ago I did a revue in London called 'Fanfare.' I used the newspaper idea, which utilized various news items to denote the variety in our show. 'Fanfare' was a complete failure. Yet two years later Moss Hart and Irving Berlin conceived the same idea, executed it well, and the result was 'As Thousands Cheer.'

"That happens with many musicals. Somewhere in the production, the casting, the direction, or the final writing the original idea gets a little confused."

Some five or six years ago John Murray Anderson went to Hollywood and turned his talent to the talking screen. He explains that with the "ill gotten gains" of this lapse into sin he went to England to live the rest of his life in quiet ease. The quiet ease, however, was interrupted by the production of four spectacles. He returned a while ago with a very hearty respect for the new English theater. Of this he says:

"The English theater has progressed amazingly. Here's a point that may be of interest: In England sophistication is already old fashioned. There is a bunch of young bloods who are already tired of sophistication and the public has adopted their viewpoint. Noel Coward's "Words and Music" was panned by the critics because it was sophisticated. They said something to the effect that 'his biting satire is as old fashioned as his sophisticated theme.' And this same attitude will show itself in America before long, I promise you. Pseudo-smartness is definitly on the way out."

CHORUS BEAUTY IN B'WAY REVUE

Planning Tours

PLANS for the Theater Guild-American Theater society subscription season of 1935-'36 in Chicago, Boston, Philadelphia, Washington, and Pittsburgh were made at a meeting of subscription managers from the various cities held at the Guild theater, New York, last week. Those attended were Thoda Cocroft of Chicago, Rebekah Hobbs of Boston, Mrs. Upton Favourite of Philadelphia, Mrs. Sidney Thomas of Washington, D. C., and Thomas Kenyon of Pittsburgh.

The Theater Guild will furnish three of the plays of the subscription bill of six and the American Theater society will complete the season with three plays. Efforts are now being made to arrange with the managements of New York hits to send them on tour next season in these cities.

June Booking

"LABURNUM GROVE," the comedy by J. B. Priestly which has proven amusing to New York theatergoers, will be an early June booking in Chicago. The company, imported from London by Gilbert Miller, stars Edmund Gwenn, distinguished British comedian, and features Melville Cooper, well known comedian of the stage and screen.

The title is taken from the name of a street, "Laburnum Grove," which is a part of a London suburb. On this street in a modest home occur certain exciting and baffling incidents. The play ran for fourteen months in London.

Eugene O'Neill Is Writing Cycle of 7 Long Dramas

EUGENE O'NEILL has announced that he is engaged in writing a cycle of seven plays. Each is to be a full length drama, related to the others "as an essential link in the chain," and together they will recount the history of five generations of an American family, from 1829 to 1932, in New England, New York, the Pacific coast, and the middle west. Each play will have a title, and there will be an inclusive title for the cycle. They may be produced "one a season, two a season, one a month, one a week, or one a night, so long as the proper sequence is maintained."

O'Neill confesses, however, that he has only completed detailed scenarios for the first two plays and outlines for the other five, and that he may, with good fortune, have the first two ready for the season after next. The program is obviously the most ambitious he has yet undertaken, even more elaborate than his "Mourning Becomes Electra" trilogy, which was presented by the Theater Guild as a single play in 1931.

Mountaineer Play Is Broadway's Only New Contribution

Tells Sordid Tragedy with Crude Vigor

'Jackson White' Exploits New York Primitives in Ramapo Ranges.

By Burns Mantle.

NEW YORK.—[Special.]—According to an old New York custom, Easter week was ushered in with proper solemnity Sunday and a good deal of cocktail drinking Sunday afternoon. There was feasting, but not in the theater.

With the two new plays scheduled holding off until later in the week, the only touch of novelty anyone had to offer playgoers was a little something about the primitives of the Ramapo mountains, called "Jackson White."

There is, according to David Arnold Balch, who wrote this play, a settlement of these Jackson White folks, a good many of them inbreeding defectives, not more than fifty miles from this center of cultural achievement and pretense.

Originally they mixed the blood of early pioneers and departing Indians, and they have continued to exist on a plane of civilization only a thin cut above that of the primitives of the deep south from which "Tobacco Road" springs.

Life One Dilemma After Another for Barks.

The story is of a few days in the lives of the Elijah Bark. And what a few days! Ella Bark is brought home from the state institution, to which, as an unmarried mother of 15, she had been committed three years before.

A villainous hex doctor, promising to shoo the evil spirits out of her, does wrong by Ella a second time. To avenge this wrong, Ella's local fiancé lets loose a sack of rattlesnakes in the hex doctor's room, and doc dies as a result of the snakes' attack.

Finally, Elijah, lusting after his daughter-in-law, is shot dead by his son, which leaves poor old Mother Bark pretty discouraged at the end of the evening.

A crude play, produced and acted with some enthusiasm in the Provincetown playhouse that cradled the early Eugene O'Neill drama. But a play without promise so far as the established theater is concerned.

Otherwise Easter week gossip in theatrical circles has been confined largely to the eagerness of various groups to help the President spend a part of the nation's billions. They would have him endow a national theater, no less. And point with interest, if not with pride, to the money already expended by various civic groups in the east in the interest of art and entertainment.

Neither Play Nor Actress Succeed in "Trip to Pressburg."

The oft-tried "Trip to Pressburg," which has been threatened with Broadway production many times before, was shown in a new version adapted by Arthur Goodrich and called "A Journey by Night" at the Shubert theater with a Viennese actress new to America, Greta Maren, in the leading part. Neither play nor actress greatly complemented each other.

The original "Pressburg" was a drama by Leo Perutz. The Shuberts bought it after a reported success in Germany. It tells of a weak and unhappy young woman's start for the town of Pressburg, where she plans to become an inmate of a bawdy house. Stopping over in Vienna, she meets and unexpectedly charms the brother of her former husband. He is a gay youth who hungers for social contacts. He believes her to be a countess and steals from the bank to entertain her. Following the exposure of her true character, the disillusioned boy topples the lady into the blue Danube and shoots himself through the head. Which, all things considered, was just as well.

The play was routine and dull and lived less than a week.

STARS IN "MARY OF SCOTLAND"

Helen Hayes is depicted here in the title rôle of "Mary of Scotland," the drama by Maxwell Anderson which the Theater Guild will bring to Chicago on Monday night, May 6, for a four weeks' engagement at the Erlanger theater. This play is one of the most notable productions of the year.

Willie Howard

WILLIE HOWARD, former revue star, plans to make his debut in drama in a comedy entitled "The House of Chance," now being written by Fritz Blocki, Chicago theatrical writer. He will stage "The House of Chance" some time next summer.

"The House of Chance" deals with the gambling instinct so prevalent in America.

An Actor's Life

MATT BRIGGS, the chief gambler in "Three Men on a Horse," has played so many different rôles in so many plays that he always requires a day's notice before an interview to recall the high spots of his career. This season he was in three other plays on Broadway, "Kill That Story," "So Many Paths," and "Nowhere Bound." Some of his recent successful parts have been in Twentieth Century," "Wonder Boy," "Brothers," in which Chicago last saw him, with Bert Lytell, and "Broadway."

Briggs played his first professional rôles in "Old Heidelberg," and in "The Merchant of Venice." He later played in one of Augustus Thomas' early pieces, "The Other Girl," and toured with Thomas W. Ross in "The Merry Widow." Then came stock company engagements in Brooklyn, New York, Washington, Detroit, Buffalo, and Chicago.

N. U. Arranges Many Summer Study Courses

Anticipates the Largest Student Enrollment Since Depression Began.

NORTHWESTERN UNIVERSITY expects the largest summer school enrollment in five years. Not since the depression has there been such an interest manifested in summer school attendance on the part of teachers seeking additional college credits and students who wish to complete the college course in less than the usual four years, says Prof. Ernest F. Hahne, director of the summer school.

To meet this anticipated increase in attendance, Prof. Hahne has arranged the most ambitious summer curriculum in the history of the school. Eight departments will offer courses of study. They are liberal arts, graduate, law, music, commerce, journalism, speech, and education. Classes will start June 25 and continue for eight weeks.

Modernized courses designed to deal with the future rather than the past will be the keynote of the summer session, Prof. Hahne said. Courses with particular emphasis upon current problems are being offered.

43 Visiting Professors.

The summer faculty will consist of 266 instructors, 43 of whom will be visiting professors from universities throughout the country. Among the visiting professors are: Frank Albert Fetter, chairman of the economics department of Princeton and formerly president of the American Economic association; Edgar Shannon of Washington and Lee university; E. A. Adair, formerly of Oxford and now professor of history at McGill university, Montreal; Ikuo Oyama, professor of political science, Waseda university, Japan; Ray B. Westerfield, professor of finance at Yale university, and Floyd H. Allport, professor of psychology, Syracuse university.

A number of new courses designed particularly for teachers already in the field and students taking advanced work are to be offered during the summer.

Prof. Kenneth W. Colegrove of the university's political science department will direct a special two weeks' course on international relations. The course will treat of such subjects as international organization, law, and coöperation, the league of nations, international courts, diplomacy, disarmament, and international sanctions.

Two Senators as Lecturers.

Among the special lectures for the course will be Senator Gerald P. Nye of North Dakota, chairman of the senate committee on the investigation of the munitions industry; Senator William H. Dietrich of Illinois; Charles S. Dewey, former assistant secretary of the treasury, and Sidney B. Fay, professor of history, Harvard university.

In the school of speech a symposium in speech reëducation, dealing with articulatory difficulties, such as sound substitutions, slovenly speech, and foreign dialect, will be offered under the direction of Prof. Clarence Simon.

The courses offered by the school of music include those on ear training and the teaching of harmony, choral, orchestral, and band technique. The latter course will be supervised by A. A. Harding, director of the band and orchestra at the University of Illinois.

In addition to its regular course of study the Medill School of Journalism will conduct the second annual national institute for high school journalists. This will open June 24 and continue until July 20.

'UNWELCOME STRANGER'

Modest Author of Hits for Theater Guild

MAXWELL ANDERSON, author of "Mary of Scotland," which the Theater Guild will present at the Erlanger theater for a limited engagement beginning Monday, May 6, with Helen Hayes, Ian Keith, and Pauline Frederick, has never been interviewed, at least to his knowledge. He objects to talking about himself. In a recent statement he said:

"When a man starts peddling personal stuff about himself they should send a squad of strong-arm worms after him, because he is dead."

Anderson was born Dec. 15, 1888, at Atlantic, Pa., the son of a Baptist clergyman. He was graduated from the University of North Dakota in 1911. He became a newspaperman, serving on the editorial staf of the San Francisco Bulletin and later on the San Francisco Chronicle. He moved to the east, where he obtained a position on the New York Globe, from which he went to the New York World.

While he was on the editorial staf of the New York World he met Laurence Stallings, book reviewer on that paper. They collaborated on "What Price Glory," which was produced in September, 1924, and was an instantaneous success. With Mr. Stallings he also wrote "First Flight" and "The Buccaneers." Mr. Anderson's other plays include "White Desert," "Outside Looking In," a play based on the novel by Jim Tully; "Saturday's Children," "Sea Wife," "Gods of the Lightning," "Gypsy," "Elizabeth the Queen," "Night Over Taos," "Both Your Houses," "Mary of Scotland," and "Valley Forge."

Of these plays "Elizabeth the Queen," "Both Your Houses," "Mary of Scotland," and "Valley Forge" were produced by the Theater Guild.

Co-op Drama

THEATER ALLIANCE, a coöperative organization with temporary headquarters at 115 West 44th street, New York, was recently founded by a group of men and women active in various phases of the theater, the purpose of which will be the establishment of a repertory theater in New York City.

Theater alliance plans to open its first season next September and will adhere strictly to the repertory system in presenting five plays. No theater has as yet been chosen, but it will be one sufficiently capacious to accommodate a studio group which, recruited from graduate students of drama workshops all over the country, is to be an important adjunct of the organization.

The plays to be offered by Theater alliance will be directed by Philip Loeb, who is now staging "Parade," the forthcoming Theater Guild revue; Elmer Rice, dramatist; Benno Schneider, director of the Artef theater, and Halsted Welles, director of the drama workshop at Yale. Acting in executive capacities will be Helen Arthur, Barrett H. Clark, George F. Hummel, and others.

Double Jointed Film Name Has Unusual Story

Joseph Spurin-Calleia Tells the Tale of His Hyphenated Title.

THE story of how Joseph Spurin-Calleia came to bear one of the few hyphenated names in the world of actors is a long one, punctuated with parental misgivings. The tale began many years ago, when Joseph left his home on the island of Malta to find fame in dramatic arts.

"No son of mine can be an actor," announced papa Calleia with no small amount of determination. When Joe finally got a job on the stage, as a spear carrier in England, remembering his father's displeasure, he took his mother's maiden name of Spurin.

Meager Success at First Makes Name Choice Seem Wise.

Success didn't come immediately over the footlights. It was a hard grind for Joe, and since he wasn't any too proud of his accomplishments to date, he was glad that it wasn't his father's name to which was allotted such meager praise.

As the years passed, Joe Spurin became a fairly good vaudevillian and singer. Finally he decided to try the dramatic stage and, in his second year in that field, got a part that made him virtually a star. The newspapers began to mention him and, inevitably, father Calleia found out about his success. When he realized that his son was accomplishing something of which he, as his father, might be proud, he invited Joe home to the family rooftree in Malta for Christmas. It was his first letter to his son in over eight years.

Parental objections thus overcome, Joe's father asked his son to use his name henceforth. Joe linked it to the name by which he already was known.

Stellar Roles Bring Name to Public Attention.

At first the name caused him some difficulty, because it was not easy for a lazy public to remember. But when he came to attention in plays like "Broadway," "The Last Mile," and "The Front Page," the name might as well have been as simple as Jones, for all the public was handicapped.

Joe made his greatest hit in the play, "Small Miracle," in which he had the rôle of a condemned prisoner with an astoundingly intriguing personality. His first movie part is patterned after this rôle. As the brains of the Dillinger gang in "Public Hero No. One," Calleia scowls throughout seven reels.

Joe is afraid of being typecast, condemned to carrying a gun for the remainder of his movie career.

Mighty De Mille Armies Fight Battle of Acre All Over Again

Coeur de Lion, Saladin Meet on Movie Lot

Shots of Crusaders' Fight Require One Month of Intensive Film Taking.

By Rosalind Shaffer.

HOLLYWOOD, Cal.—[Special.]—For action, tumult, color thrill, the battle of Acre, which is being refought by two of Cecil De Mille's armies for "The Crusades" on the Paramount studio back lot, could make the ghosts of Richard the Lion Hearted and Saladin salute in approval.

The shots of this four year battle, which De Mille began last week and which will continue nightly until May 9, are of a scope and vigor with which one is at a loss to compare any other single recent film effect unless it might be the battle scenes in "All Quiet on the Western Front."

The armies of the crusading Christian kings, Richard [Henry Wilcoxen] and his English; Philip Augustus [C. Henry Gordon] and his French; Leopold of Austria [Albert Conti], Frederick Barbarossa [Hobart Bosworth] and the Germans, Hugo of Burgundy [Bill Farnum], Svere of Norway [Sven Hugo Borg], the Hungarian monarch [Hans von Twardowski], and Michael of Russia [Paul Satoff] maneuver over the plain to assault the stone battlements of the Saracen city, defended by turbaned and helmeted extras of dark visage and thin beards under Ian Keith [Saladin], in a sequence of film scenes which are to consume one month of shooting.

Sun Arcs Give Night Sky Silvery Luminosity.

De Mille watched, strode, shouted, and gesticulated from a platform twelve feet high and to one side of his battlefield. One hundred and eighty-eight of Hollywood's most powerful sun arcs shot rays from a sixty foot scaffolding which surrounded the set. The battery of lights turned the scene into daytime brightness and threw a skyward reflection that made the heavens assume silver luminosity from the Hollywood hills southward to the knolls of Leimert park.

The director devoted his first three or four nights of shooting to the wide panorama of the assault as a whole. This required a whole regiment of men. Several companies were stationed on the stone towers of the beleaguered Syrian city armed with scimitars, axes, pots of fire, arrows, and swords, and made up as Mohammedan defenders. Harold Lamb, author of the book "Crusades," who is technical director on the picture, had to thread his precarious way from De Mille's platform through the prancing horses of the cavalry to a spot underneath the stone walled city and instruct the Moslem extras in Arab war cries.

Below the walls and toward the onlooker's side of the moat was the grand maneuver ground for the battle.

Christian Hordes Appear at Whistle from De Mille.

At a whistle from De Mille eight cameras spun into electrically synchronized activity and the Christian horse gushed from alley ways leading into the big set. Eight wide hipped brown horses heaved and strained to push a monstrous apparatus of beams and iron supports closer and closer to the walls. This apparatus, weighing thirty-eight tons and over forty feet high, was the boarding tower. It had a suspended drawbridge that could be slammed down onto the ramparts of the town. The movable tower had four floors, all of them filled with crouching figures: Knights Templar in long white capes bearing crosses in red, which they wore over uniforms of mail, each with drawn sword and picked cross bowmen in shoulder mail, helmets, and lether jackets, who kept the air full of arrows directed toward the turbaned groups on the stone battlements.

The only reason no one was hurt by arrows was because, while they had tips more than an inch long, the tips were rubber and because after Mr. De Mille was hit in the right cheek by one arrow everybody became more careful. A leader of the bowmen, incidentally, was Earl Powell, American archery champion, who killed a Florida alligator with an arrow in its native swamp last year. He was recruited by De Mille for one special individual effect in the picture and stayed on to fight through the whole "war."

Ladle Tosses Flaming Oil from Catapult.

While the eight brown horses were giving their last ounce of horsepower to push their engine into place, another team of four horses, two dapple gray Percherons and two powerful blacks, came rearing and jerking vast ropes that tugged another fearful war machine. This was a seventeen ton catapult with an iron ladle for tossing flaming oil onto the roofs in Acre. Forty men sweated and strained with the four horses to rush the catapult into place before too many should be downed by the frenzied defenders. As soon as the catapult and siege tower swung toward the wall, crews of lightly clad fighters pushing light wheeled ladders rushed forward from the singing Christian ranks, which approached with banners fluttering. The ladders were propped in a jiffy against a dozen vulnerable spots on the tower walls and were braced in place by long poles. Saracens dashed stones and flaming fire down upon the men at the ladders.

Some of these men really had their clothes burned and their flesh singed in this realistic encounter. Dummies dropped from the walls made this portion of the battle seem particularly real, although De Mille on his platform frowned and said: "We will have to shoot each individual fight on each tower by itself in order to record it realistically. It will take a month or more to finish all the bits of action necessary to make this battle seem as real on the film as it looks in the panorama here tonight."

Fire Bomb Lights Fetlock of French King's Horse.

Waves of cavalry and foot soldiers moved impetuously forward. A team of horses pulled a sledge laden with stones. Two soldiers ran forward with a bowl of blazing oil. Three others toiled at the slow rollers of the catapult to pull the throwing arm down where the oil could be poured into it. Fire bombs dropped from the walls. One lit on the fetlock of the French king's horse, but the mount and rider were so skilled no one was hurt.

It was noticeable that in the scene as De Mille shot it, Richard's red banner with the golden lion was the closest to the wall at the hot spot of Mohammedan defense. Next billowed a huge white square banner with a red cross, representing the Knights Templar, and a smaller black banner with white maltese cross representing Knights Hospitaler.

The light tan flag with the single headed black eagle of Germany; the blue silken square of the French king, peppered with gold fleur de lis, and the rectangular white flag of Austria, with double headed eagle, surged forward with successive waves of soldiers.

Scene Compensates De Mille for Sometimes "Going Bughouse."

One line of the attackers was especially notable. These were Templars, forty odd, in long white capes and all forty more than six feet two in height. All Hollywood had been combed for these big men. As for the rank and file of the soldiery, it looked to this observer as though they had been picked out for broken noses, blond hair, broad shoulders, and general aggressiveness.

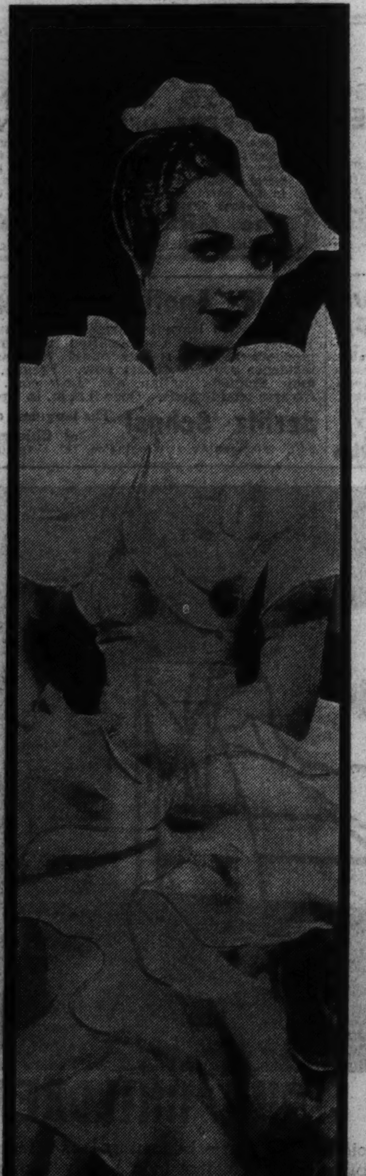
De Mille surveyed the scene with a hint of satisfaction. "Sometimes," he remarked, "a motion picture director gets a moment that compensates for going bughouse." De Mille, in this picture, is wearing in his lapel the little round red ribbon of the order of the Holy Sepulchre which Pope Pius XI. bestowed on him for his other sensational picture, "King of Kings." De Mille could think of no better talisman to rely on with this companion piece eating up more than a million dollars of a movie corporation's money.

In the only bad casualty in "The Crusades" to date, one man, Daniel Ulrich, lost his right leg. A wheel of the thirty-eight ton siege tower ran over him.

IN EMPIRE ROOM POPULAR

Lorraine Santschi and Josephine Buckley, attractive dancing girls, are well known to the patrons of the Empire room in the Palmer house. They have led the ballet there for almost two years. [TRIBUNE Studio Photo.]

APPEARING IN 'EVERGREEN'



The pretty lady in the ruffly organdy dress is the English comedienne, Jessie Matthews, who made such a hit in "The Good Companions," and now is starring in "Evergreen," at the World playhouse.

Hollywood Happenings

Frank McGlynn, best known for numerous stage and movie impersonations of Abraham Lincoln, will be a principal in the pirate film, "Captain Blood," which Warner's is casting.

Adrienne Ames has had the 22 year old Countess of Warwick [née Rose Bingham] as house guest. The countess played an extra for one day in Fox's "Black Sheep." She said she was having "this vacation while the baby is too little to know me; it will be my last for a long time."

Anna Sten broke down to a reporter last week and said she would like to go on the American stage. She said "I could get along without movies." If Sam Goldwyn, her producer, and the man who imported her from Europe and spent a lot of money teaching her English and grooming Anna for her splash in American films finds out about Anna's candor, what would be your guess at the altitude record of the Goldwyn blood pressure?

Will Rogers is doing what a number of his well wishers have been wishing he would do—he is varying his recipe for his film story and is making a clean sweep of the familiar faces who have appeared with him in so many of his pattern homespun drammers within the last few years. His new one is a remake of "In Old Kentucky," but modernized by Sam Hellman and Gladys Lehman, two scenarists whose names are synonymous, one with humorous gagging and the other with suspense and film technique. Only one familiar Will Rogers actor has been held over from the recent stories to appear with him in this one, that being Charles Hellon, who was in "Life Begins at Forty" and "Judge Priest." Dorothy Wilson takes the place that had been played either by Rochelle Hudson or Evelyn Venable in so many Rogers yarns. Russell Hardie replaces Kent Taylor, Alan Dinehart is the brusk and pompous rival instead of George Barbier, and in place of Stepin Fetchit, who talks too unintelligibly for many film fans, there will be Bill Robinson, the old sugar foot, whose comedy antics are almost as delightful as his tap dancing. George Marshall, who is directing Will Rogers in this one, is from University of Chicago.

SOLOIST WILL BE DIRECTOR

William Callahan, for a number of years soprano soloist with the Paulist choristers, will sing his farewell song with them at Orchestra hall Tuesday. He is scheduled to succeed Father O'Malley as director of the choir.

Rock Breaks When Warner Strikes It with Wine Bottle

JACK WARNER recently performed a cristening unique in the history of dedications, so far as is known.

Several months ago some one in the Warner organization decided it would be a clever stunt to have Jack break a bottle of champagne over a rock on the hill overlooking his studio. Forthwith a "prop" rock of plaster, wire, and laths was placed half way up the incline. Jack, his son, and his father, surrounded by cameramen, gathered at the rock. Jack crashed a bottle dramatically over the pseudo boulder—and the rock broke.

Hurriedly, another rock and a glass cutter were produced. Cut deeply, the bottle shattered to the desired smithereens when Jack brought it down. And the rock took it.

Broken Record.

Katharine Cornell has lost the record for the largest receipts for a single performance on tour. With "The Barretts of Wimpole Street" in the Shrine auditorium in Des Moines, Ia., on March 17, 1934, she played to $7,795.70. "Mary of Scotland," in the same theater, recently broke the $8,000 mark.

Bing Crosby and Steeds Move to Agua Caliente

BING CROSBY and his family are moving to a forty acre ranch near San Diego—and Agua Caliente—for the summer. The ranch is a recent purchase of Crosby's. Hollywood wonders if it's only a coincidence that Bing's four horses also are moving—from the Bay Meadows to the Caliente track.

Drama Debate.

The Oxford University union recently debated a motion, "That this house sees no hope in the modern theater." The major contribution was that of a senior member:

"Mr. President, sir, what is wrong with the drama of today is the bad words used in it. I beg you, sir, to help keep the bad words out of it." The motion was defeated, 143 to 67.

Spring Shows in Dance and Dinner Places

Four Jesters Featured at Stevens; Eddie Garr Remains at Chez Paree.

THE Four Jesters, singing humorists, are featured in the new Continental room floor show at the Stevens hotel. They have just returned from a nine months stay in London. They appeared in "Take a Chance" in Chicago last year. Rosalie Wynne, singer; Frieda Sullivan, acrobatic dancer, and Keith Beecher's orchestra are also on the program.

● The spring cabaret show in the Terrace Garden contains Stan Myers and orchestra; the Virginia O'Brien dancing girls featuring Miss O'Brien as toe dancer in the waltz number "Lady Divine"; Vernon Rickard, handsome young singer and master of ceremonies; Marion Proesel, harpist; Gagnon and Broughton, dancers; and Dave Tannen, eccentric dancer and pantomimist.

● Rio and West, musical comedians, are appearing in the Drake's Gold Coast room. Others on the bill are Marjorie Enters and Phillipe Borgia, dance team, and the four McNallie sisters.

● The Old Heidelberg Inn orchestra offers good music every evening. This ensemble is under the direction of Armand Buiseret, violinist. The Old Heidelberg octet continues the singing which was popular at A Century of Progress.

● Eddie Garr, well known impersonator of stars, has been so popular as headliner at the Chez Paree that he has been given a contract for three additional weeks. He has added many new skits to his program. Enric Madriguera, orchestra leader, has recruited Helen Dell, young sister of the late Dorothy Dell, from the Chez Paree chorus and will feature her as vocalist.

● A Maypole dance will bring to a climax the annual Cherry Blossom festival in the Marine dining room of the Edgewater Beach hotel next Saturday night. Students of Gladys Hight will be the dancers. Bill Hogan and his "Hollywood Californians" orchestra will continue until the opening of the Beach walk. On June 15 Ted Fio-Rito will arrive with a troupe of thirty musicians and entertainers.

● Harry's New York cabaret, which started at A Century of Progress, still offers Earl Rickard as maestro of ceremonies. Miss Ginger Wood is the current dancer. Kenneth Harlan, movie actor, closed his engagement last night.

● Bennie Fields is at the "885" club. He has appeared in "The Passing Show," the "Greenwich Village Follies," and "Girl Crazy." Allen Kane's orchestra plays for dancing. . . . Eddie Varzos, violinist, and his gypsy orchestra continue to play at the Trading post. . . . Rick and Snyder are entertainers at the Club Minuet. . . . Alfred Barr, who directs the Continental Gypsies at L'Aiglon restaurant, directed the "Wings of a Century" orchestra at the World's Fair in Chicago. . . . The Three Roberts are at the Paramount club for a short stay.

● Charles Gaylord and his orchestra are playing in the new Pompeian Gardens and Al Bannon and his Versatillions are doing likewise in the Eastman Casino, both cafés being in the Congress hotel.

The Versatillions are a small strings orchestra. Dancing begins in the Eastman room at 4:30 p. m.

$2,000,000 of Film Money Goes to the Playwrights

A NEAT little sum went out of Hollywood to playwrights, their agents, and their producers during 1933-'34 and the current season. An aggregate of $2,000,000 out of films went to these creators. Hollywood, the Motion Picture Herald finds, paid an average of $43,621 for thirty-three outstanding plays. "Dinner at Eight," at $110,000, brought top price.

THE VOICE OF THE MOVIE FAN

Letters published in this department should be written on one side of the paper. If you wish a personal reply, please inclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

English as She Is Spoke Stirs American Displeasure.

Dear Miss Tinée: Please accept thanks for the casts of various pictures which you sent me.

If the picture, "Babes in Toyland," has been withdrawn from circulation due to lack of patronage, what is the "Babes in Toyland" picture with Laurel and Hardy which was shown at neighborhood houses the last week or so?

I wish that Douglass Montgomery would learn to enunciate more clearly. What with his deep voice and the thick tongued way he talks, it is difficult to understand him. Herbert Marshall is another actor who is hard to understand. He seems to hold his teeth together or else his jaws are too tense. It is necessary to strain every nerve to understand him. The English may pride themselves on using better English than we do, but their manner of speaking leaves much to be desired. Yours truly,

KATHRYN M. CONNERTY.

Editor's note: We pass on your comment.

Fan Complains About Faulty Distribution of Pictures.

Dear Miss Tinée: My complaint is not with the pictures or the stars [for if I don't care for a picture and do not like a star I stay away], but what irks me is the manner in which they are distributed or assigned to the various theaters.

Let's call the large downtown theaters the class A houses. Of course, they get the first runs. After showing a week at the class A houses, the picture is put in cold storage for four to six weeks, and then finally emerges in the large outlying theaters [Tivoli, Uptown, etc.] which we shall call the class B. As there are but one or two on each side of the city of this class, pictures again are buried after their week's showing for a couple of weeks or more.

Then the stampede begins. Let's call the balance of the theaters classes C and D. Every theater of the class C type will run the same picture at the same time. Then every class D theater will run it at the same time.

The result is if one has seen the picture at either class A or the class B house, and decides of a certain evening to patronize one of the nearhome movie houses, he will find that every theater within a radius of a mile or two is running the same picture.

Why such idiotic booking? Yours truly,

L. N. H.

Film "Caravan" Receives Plaudits of Ardent Fan.

Dear Movie Critic: A million hurrahs for "Caravan." It was so gloriously alive and full of the dickens. Three cheers for the director of the musical score. Never before has music hit such a high as in gypsy "Caravan." And what music! Music that sparkled and entranced, held one enthralled.

And may I be bold enough to say that I think the movie was "different"? Ask those who saw it.

A GYPSY GAL.

Editor's note: Hurray!

Filmland Now Has Guardian for Dummies

Her Job to Keep Dressmaker's Model Adjusted to Star's Silhouette.

THE roster of strange occupations in Hollywood has grown by one job. A prominent studio has hired a young woman to devote all her time to remodeling the dressmaker's dummies of stars and make them follow the changes in the original figure.

These models, with the exact physical measurements of the actresses they represent, have long been used to fit gowns without the star's being present. But wardrobe departments have found that the actress' figures are far from static. Now Miss Winifred McPhee, the young woman chosen for the job of "dummy supervisor," will see that the models are altered every month, if necessary, to conform precisely to the figures they represent.

That makes five persons instead of four—besides the star herself—who will now worry every time an actress gains or loses any appreciable number of pounds. Formerly changing silhouettes were the concern only of the star's masseuse, her physician, her wardrobe designer, and her cameraman.

Miss McPhee joins a long and honorable company of film workers with strange jobs. One of the best known of the group is John Piccori, who plays the muezzin calling the faithful to prayer from a Mohammedan minaret in every film that requires one. He has no competition. Then there is Roy Kreuger, who trains cats to look at goldfish without trying to catch them. Rod Blair, who knows the manual of arms of virtually every army and navy in the world, is constantly in demand.

Every studio photographic department has one staff member with but one assignment—to photograph unusual cloud effects. These wandering cameramen spend all their time watching the changing skies. Their pictures go into a studio "stock shot" library.

All studios also keep on their pay rolls a certain number of people with special talents—men and women who can scream effectively, for example, or who have exceptionally lovely hands.

By Mae Tinee.

GOOD Morning!

This picture's from the pen of that busy young man, Damon Runyan, whose "Lady for a Day" made him a best seller as a screen author.

The story, which has nothing to do with royalty, is a blend of hokum and melodrama that has enough moments of hilarity, excitement, and suspense to please the average fan—though it may cause the choosy to turn up their noses.

The opening discovers King O'Hara as the last of the line of New York hack drivers. His daughter, the Princess, dances at a New York night club, and is the fondest thing that Vic Toledo, taxicab magnate, is of.

Vic has a racing horse, Hozana, and, through the horse, we may say—meets one Alberta, who also has a pony she plans to enter in a coming race. Vic falls for Alberta.

A taxicab war results in the death of King. The Princess mounts the driver's seat and guides the faithful O'Hara plug, Goldberg, through the streets, earning enough to support herself and a brood of small brothers and sisters. Though she doesn't know it, Vic and his cohorts are the ones who keep her cab rolling. . . .

Then—poor Goldberg gets sick. . . . AND you learn how, unwittingly, the Princess finds herself driving a famous race horse—a horse for which police are in full bay. A horse which Vic is unjustly supposed to have stolen. . . .

Truth and virtue, of course, win out in the long run. . . .

The film is acted with considerable snap and direction wasn't bad. I have a feeling, however, that the original yarn was better than the screened one.

BitsaBOUTem.

HAROLD LLOYD, who has independently produced his own pictures for the past twelve years, has signed a contract with Paramount studios to star in "The Milky Way." After this picture is completed he will again produce his own films. . . . WENDY BARRIE, pretty blonde English actress who rose to prominence in such a short time, has been given the romantic lead opposite HENRY WADSWORTH, juvenile actor, in "The Big Broadcast of 1935." . . . The production of "Anthony Adverse" is scheduled to start early in September. SHERIDAN GIBNEY has written the scenario, which will be screened under the supervision of EDWARD CHODOROV.

WILLIAM POWELL, who has never lost his popularity since he entered pictures many years ago, has organized a one man union all by himself. He plans, from now on, to make only four pictures a year and to work no more than eight hours a day. Mr. Powell believes that an actor can't do justice to more than four pictures a year and that no one should work more than eight hours a day. . . . WILLIE HOWARD of the well known stage team Willie and Eugene Howard has been signed by Paramount studios for a featured rôle in "Rose of the Rancho," which stars GLADYS SWARTHOUT and JOHN BOLES. HERB WILLIAMS, vaudeville comedian, has also been given a part in this production.

DAVID TORRENCE, veteran screen actor, absent from the screen for many months, has been added to the cast of "Black Sheep," featuring EDMUND LOWE and CLAIRE TREVOR. . . . "Mary Jane's Pa," based on the play by Edith Ellis, is the title of the next film starring ALINE MAC MAHON and GUY KIBBEE. . . . WARREN WILLIAM and DOLORES DEL RIO will have the leads in "Not on Your Life." . . . RAOUL WALSH is to direct the Walter Wanger's musical, "Every Night at Eight." The male lead is to be played by GEORGE RAFT, with FRANCES LANGFORD and PATSY KELLY as two of a trio of singing sisters. . . . MARGOT GRAHAME, the English beauty who is to play opposite RICHARD DIX in "Peacemaker," is frantically taking riding lessons so that she will be able to keep up with Mr. Dix when they gallop over the mesa.

64 Stage Years

HARRY DAVENPORT, who acts as the crotchety old Mr. Carver in "Three Men on a Horse," recently took time out to reckon the parts he has played since his first appearance in his father's company at the age of five. He found that in sixty-four years he has played about one hundred and fifty rôles.

As a child of five he began to maintain the histrionic tradition of eight generations of forbears by piping a single line in the 1871 production of "Damon and Pythias": "I want to be a soldier, like Pythias."

His father was E. L. Davenport; his mother, Fanny Vining Davenport. His four children make the tenth generation of the family in the theater.

His career has included such rôles as Fernand in "Monte Cristo," George Harris in "Uncle Tom's Cabin," Angellotti in "La Tosca" [with his sister, the great Fanny Davenport], Svengali in "Trilby," Harry Bronson in "The Belle of New York," Tamise in "Topaze," Carter in "The Perfect Alibi," Dr. Besant in "Coquette," Latimer in "The Dover Road," Dr. Gaunt in "Three Wise Fools" [1919-'20], Mr. Harper in "Lightnin'" [the original Frank Bacon New York production], Herr Barwig in "The Music Master" [1923], and Dr. Remy in "Melo" [1931-'32].

Honors for Cornell.

Katharine Cornell will be given the honorary degree of doctor of letters by the University of Wisconsin at its commencement exercises on June 22. This will be the second time this year that the actress-manager has been honored for her work in the theater by an education institution. The University of Buffalo presented her with its chancellor's medal on Feb. 22.

Showroom to Air Varied Talents of Film Players

A SHOWROOM in which movie players may exhibit their talents and avoid being typecast will be put in operation soon in Hollywood. Its director will be Josephine Dillon, who has found, in her work as dramatic coach, that many actors and actresses, both newcomers and veterans, are limited to certain rôles because they do not have ample opportunity to show directors to how many different types of rôles they are adaptable.

A miniature sound stage, lights, and sets are parts of the equipment of the showroom which is to occupy a large home on Hollywood boulevard. Except that there are to be no cameras or microphones, the atmosphere will be the same as that of a screen test.

According to Miss Dillon's plans, studio directors and their assistants will be invited, before they cast a picture, to see what an actor or actress can do in a variety of rôles, especially in the type of rôle demanded by the film under consideration. In this way a player considered as, for example, a "modern heavy," can exhibit her proficiency in the rôle of a southern society belle of the sixties, a part her directors thought she never would "carry off."

Through facilities of the showroom, directors will be enabled to view talent in surroundings similar to those subsequent to a screen test. An executive will sit in the dark, as he would in a projection room. If the player exhibited is convincing, he or she may be hired by the studio, whereas under conditions without the showroom privileges no such good fortune would be forthcoming.

Agents, too, will use the showroom in presenting new players to producers and directors. The "tests" will be short and in this they will have an advantage over the "little theater." Directors are ever searching for new talent, and much of it can be seen in the dozens of little theaters in Hollywood, but attendance at one of their plays means spending an entire evening.

'Skeets' Gallagher

"SKEETS" GALLAGHER, who acts with Bebe Daniels and Ben Lyon in "Hollywood Holiday," can boast of many successes on the legitimate stage. Long before he became a film star he had scored in Broadway hits.

As a light comedian he won honors in "The Fortune Hunter" and "The City Chap." He supported Ruth Chatterton in "The Magnolia Lady," was chief comic in "Lucky," and in the great musical successes, "Up She Goes" and "Rose Marie," he gave further evidence of his ability.

"Hollywood Holiday" marks his first stage work in the east in four years.

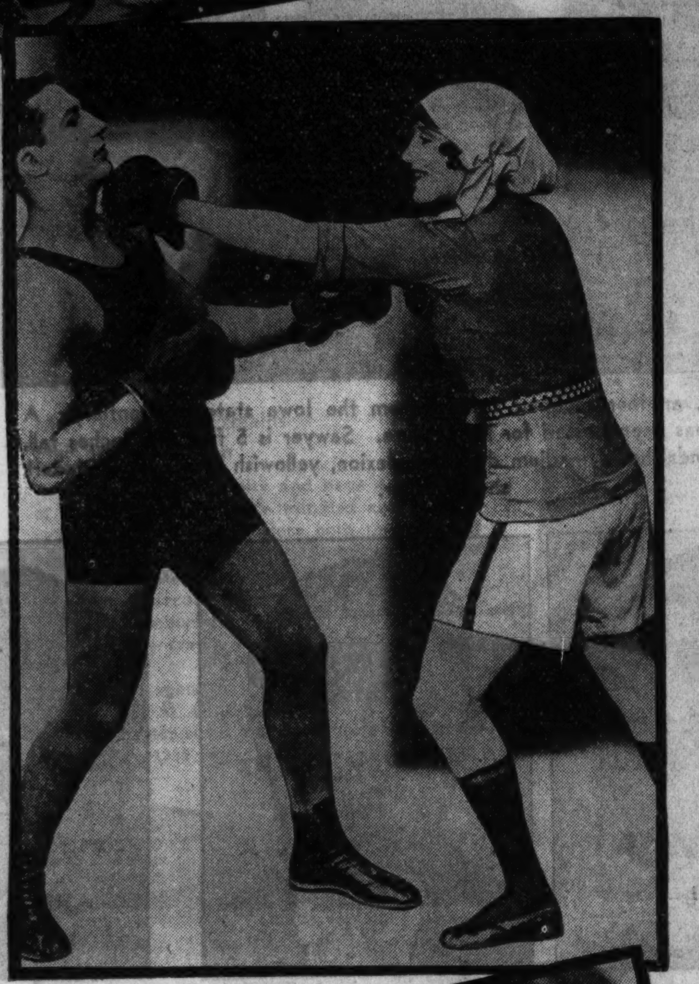
Annette Kellermann, First "New Woman" of the Modern Age

Below: Annette Kellermann as star of an early movie, in which her ability as a swimmer and diver was portrayed in the best manner of the cinema of that day.



At right: Pretending to swap punches (for publicity's sake) with Benny Leonard, pugilist.

Noted Aquatic Star Liberator of Sex

By WHITLEY NOBLE

THE "Diving Venus," the "Form Divine," the "Australian Amphitrite."

Those were just a few of the titles bestowed by admiring thousands upon the famous Annette Kellermann who swept America off its feet a generation ago, thrilling the healthy-minded and shocking the prudes. But that, of course, was in another day. That woman, whose marvelous physique, whose complete naturalness, whose gracefulness in catapulting herself from a diving board, and whose uncanny dexterity in the element bequeathed by nature to the fishes made her one of the most talked-of celebrities, today is best remembered as truly the first "new woman."

It was Annette Kellermann who came up out of the antipodes, figuratively like a child of Neptune emerging from the sea, who actually made over the lives of countless women and girls in America. She set a goal of health for them to strive for. She taught them in her own frank way the value of a superb body plus a clean mind and the utter folly of forever concealing the lower extremities, which in that day seldom were referred to by the "vulgar" term legs. Annette Kellermann of more than twenty years ago is the pattern for feminine America today. She more than any other was the leader who guided our girls and women out of the wilderness of prudery. In doing that she, the really "new" woman, paved the way for their liberation from a hundred and one other enslaving conventions.

Though other movements for the emancipation of her sex were under way when she was at the height of her fame, it was her influence that lasted and is manifest today. Women and girls, in other words, chose to follow Annette Kellermann rather than the mannish female reformers and militant suffragets. Hers was a doctrin of beauty, as compared with severity and ugliness—and it is the nature of the female of the species to adhere so long as the race survives to things and thoughts and actions that are beautiful.

Miss Kellermann's fame naturally has dimmed slightly with the years. But her ideals go marching on. She now is about 47 years old, a figure based upon the age that she gave when she was married in November, 1912, in Danbury, Conn., to James R. Sullivan, manager of the musical comedy company with which she then was on tour.

Only recently this woman so celebrated in another generation returned to her home city of Baltimore after a five years' tour of many foreign countries. She arrived in Baltimore from France, accompanied by her husband. The couple almost immediately departed for New York, and from there they were to go to Hollywood, Cal., on a business mission. On her world tour Miss Kellermann revisited her native land of Australia to make an undersea picture. With the coral formations of the great barrier reef of Australia as a background, she swam in schools of great sharks as the cameramen in submarine glass studios made their shots. When the sharks approached too closely to Miss Kellermann for her safety they were driven off by the harpoons of native fishermen.

Annette One of the First Exponents of Swimming as an Aid to Slenderness, Beauty, and Health

Annette the statuesque, whose skill at swimming and diving was instrumental in making of her a star of the stage and the screen, was one of the first exponents of aquatic activities as a means for women to keep slim and healthy. It was unnecessary, she held, for any woman to be too stout or too slim. She proved the doctrin that she preached. She understood that marvelous results could be accomplished by perseverance, for up until she was six years old her legs had been encased in steel braces. Because she had started to walk at too early an age, her legs were seriously deformed and it was feared that she never would completely recover the use of them. She was taken to a number of different specialists, but without beneficial results. One day her father was told that swimming might help her—an idea in the present day employed largely in various hospitals and sanitariums where children crippled by infantile paralysis are assisted in recovering the use of their limbs by exercising in tanks of water.

The little girl who at a later day was to amaze the world with her swimming took lessons, very quickly learned to swim, and before long was running about the streets of her native city of Sydney, a normal and happy child. It was then that she vowed she would devote her life to helping others afflicted, and even though she went on to achieve fame, she never forgot her vow. By the time Miss Kellermann was 15 years old she had mastered all the strokes of swimming and had won in several competitions. She became the woman champion of New South Wales by swimming a hundred yards in 1 minute 18 seconds.

Miss Kellermann was taken to England by her father in 1906. She entered a contest conducted by an English newspaper which had posted a prize for the person who would swim the English channel. After swimming three-fourths of the way across that dangerous stretch of water in ten and a half hours, she was rescued in an almost exhausted condition. The following winter she appeared in the Hippodrome in London, and the next spring she came to America.

When she landed on these shores she announced that it was her purpose to teach women the art of swimming and diving. She predicted that America would become a nation of swimmers, and the truth of her words is testified to by any modern manual on swimming records. The Australian girl went on to become one of the most notable figures of the American stage. She was starred in vaudeville, stage plays, and motion pictures and was much sought after. Her salary sometimes ran as high as $5,000 a week. Among her successes was that in the rôle of Prince Arthur in Shakespeare's "King John." In the United States she appeared on the Keith and Orpheum circuits and with Shubert shows. And who of the early movie fans has forgotten her in Universal's "Neptune's Daughter," Fox's "A Daughter of the Gods" and "Queen of the Sea," and First National's "What Women Love"?

Women, eager to learn how to perfect their lines and keep in sound health, rushed to Miss Kellermann for advice. The lithe and graceful Annette told them to turn to the outdoors to discover the secret of beauty and health.

"Believe me," she said, "if more American girls got out and did some exercises there wouldn't be so many early marriages, so much divorce, and so many sickly children. You'll do some of these exercises I'm going to show you perhaps three mornings, and then you'll quit."

But she knew that some of them would not quit. It was her way of impressing them with the importance of exercise, especially outdoor exercise.

A typical appearance of Miss Kellermann is described in the following newspaper dispatch from Kansas City, Mo., dated Oct. 18, 1910:

"A thousand women in the Orpheum theater watched Miss Annette Kellermann cut a long slit in her black tights today. . . . Miss Kellermann came upon the stage first wearing a dress of black satin. Then she disrobed down to the skin-tight covering of black silk. 'People have said that I am padded,' she said. She called to her maid to bring her a pair of scissors. 'It's a shame to have to cut this pretty suit, but I guess I'll have to do it.' She raised her right hand and inserted the point of the scissors near the right shoulder. Snip, snip, snip went the shining little scissors. . . . She cut across her right side and down to below her right hip. Then she laid the scissors down and took hold of each side of the cut garment and spread it open. The thousand women cheered. But there was not a man to applaud; even the ushers were girls."

Countless Thousands of Americans Thrilled by Stage Performances of the "Diving Venus"

Miss Kellermann toured the country, thrilling countless thousands with her diving exhibitions. In 1917 she appeared at the Hippodrome in New York, surrounded by what were then considered the most amazing theatrical frills. The setting was a veritable Niagara in cloth, canvas, and electric lights. The stage was crowded with wood nymphs, alligators, crocodiles, frogs, and the like. There were several translucent pools in which mermaids could be seen at play. On a high crag above appeared the wonderful Kellermann, glistening in a suit of silver scales. From a dizzy height she plunged into the pool below, time and time again.

In 1925 Miss Kellermann announced that she was going to retire from the stage to devote her time to aiding helpless children. She established the "Hidden Rancho," in California 14 miles north of Hollywood, where she taught her little charges how to gain control of crippled limbs by exercises and swimming lessons.

Miss Kellermann has toured the world six times, her most recent trip just coming to an end. The lure of the footlights evidently has been too strong for her to resist.

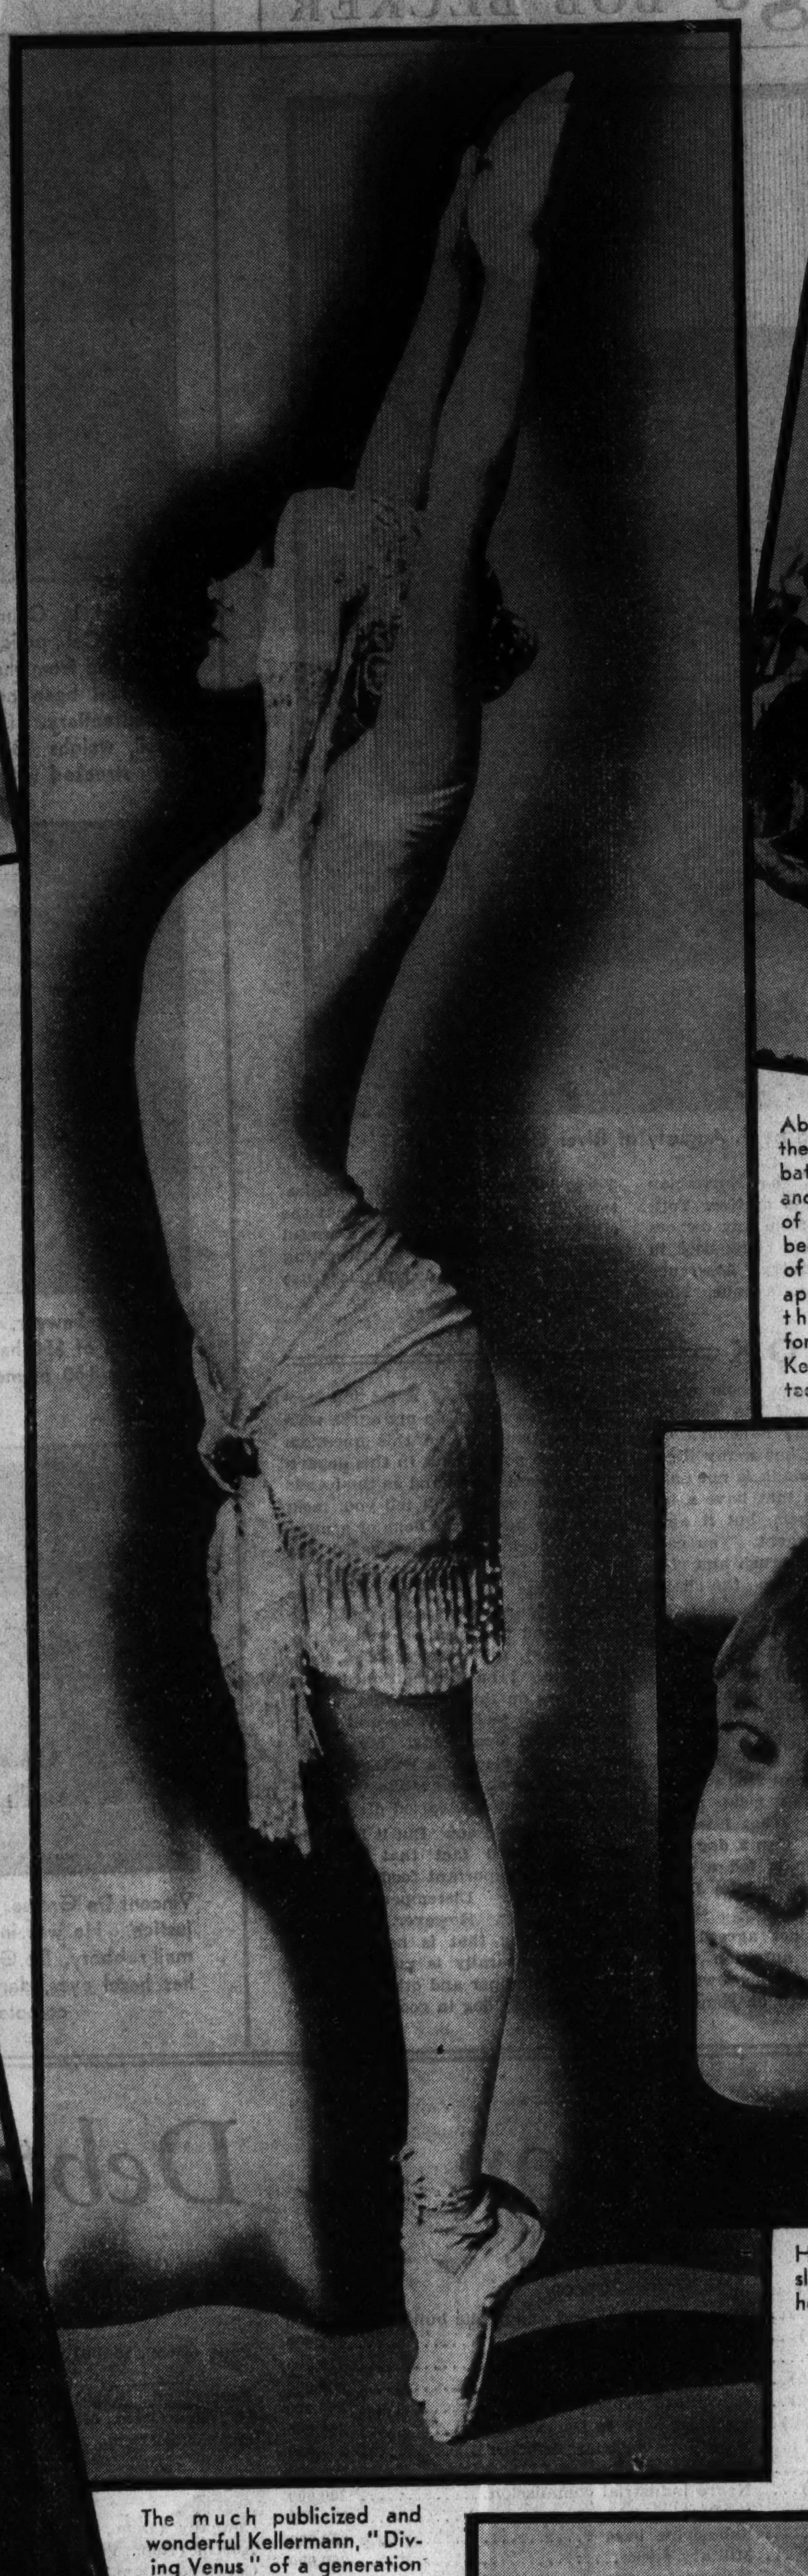
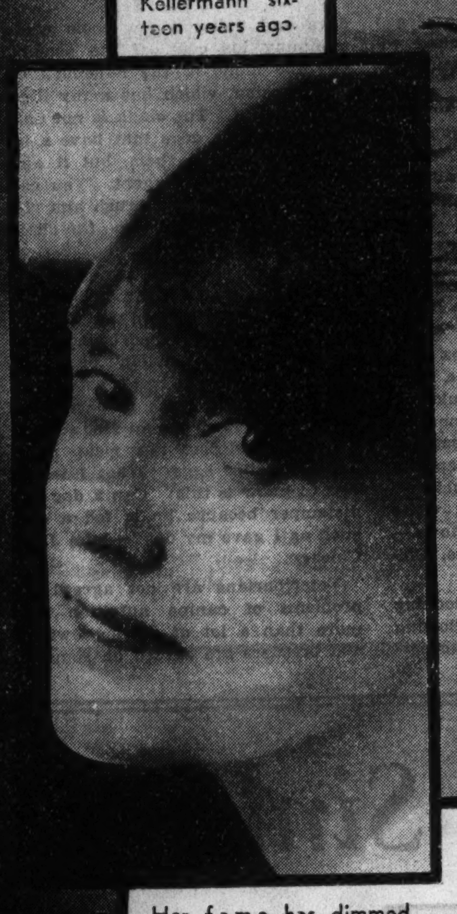
At left: She attracted attention by wearing trousers. Here she is shown wearing overalls on a shopping tour in Los Angeles. This was fifteen years ago.



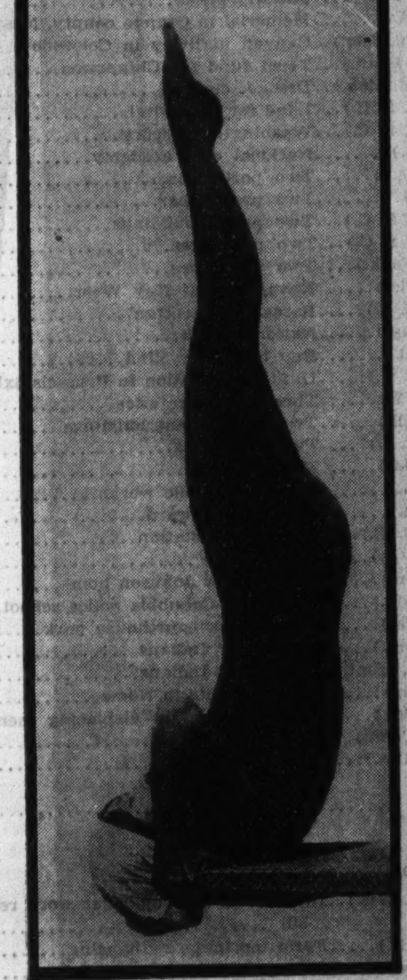
The much publicized and wonderful Kellermann, "Diving Venus" of a generation ago, who today is best remembered as truly the first "new woman."

Above: First of the one-piece bathing suits, and forerunner of the scanty beach garment of today, as it appeared upon the shapely form of Annette Kellermann sixteen years ago.

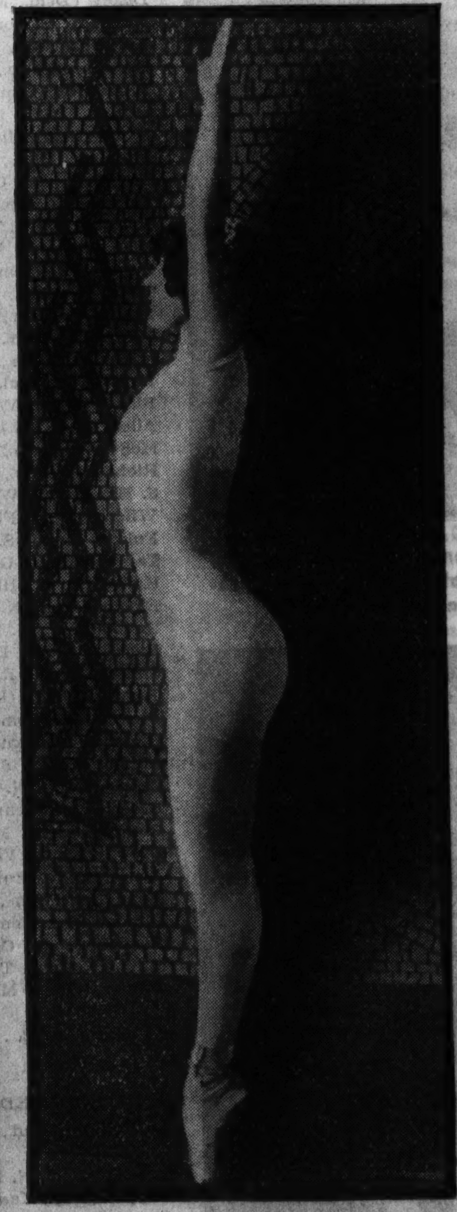


Her fame has dimmed slightly with the years, but her ideals go marching on.

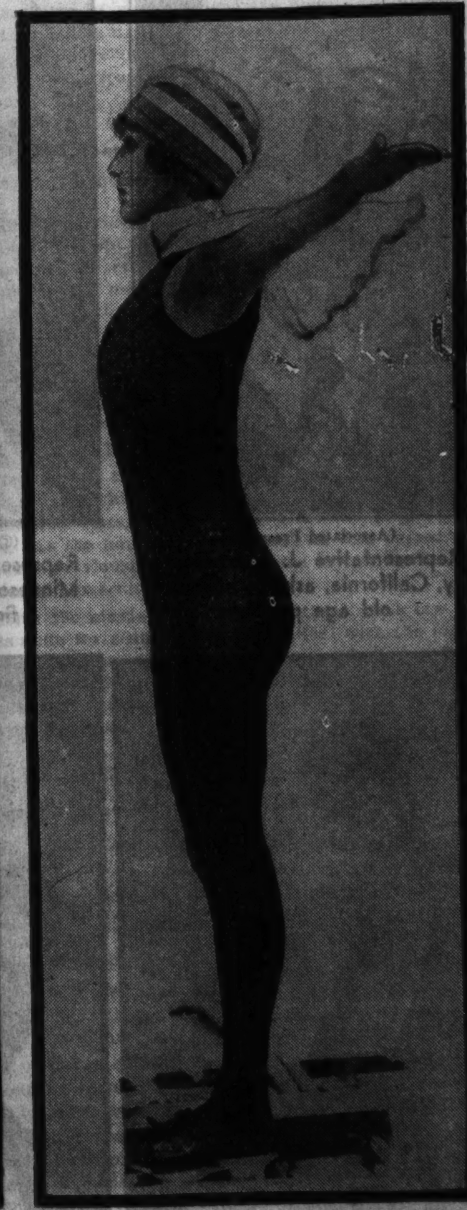
On the beach at Deauville! Not only was Miss Kellermann a leader of women, but she was a great success in the field of entertainment, and as the last named she knew the value as publicity of striking photographs of herself.



Upside down on the end of a diving board! Annette just before a graceful plunge into a pool. Note the daring costume.



It was she more than any other who guided America's women and girls out of a wilderness of prudery. Miss Kellermann at an exercise.



She taught the utter folly of forever concealing the legs. Here she is in her favorite swimming outfit of fifteen or twenty years ago.

Mostly About Dogs

By BOB BECKER

Norwegian Elkhound

A DOG that looks something like a thickset Alsatian, is called a hound and classed among the sporting hounds, yet isn't a hound at all—this is the unique status of the Norwegian elkhound, one of the most practical and sensible breeds of dogs that we have in this country today. Although the so-called elkhound is an old, primitive type of dog that has been used in northern Europe for a long time, he isn't very well known in America.

There was just one of these dogs at the recent Chicago dog show, and it's an even bet that many people who took a casual look at this dog when he was being walked around thought he was an undersized German shepherd. At least, I heard remarks to that effect from many show visitors. This is not surprising, because the elkhound does look something like a stocky specimen of that breed.

Briefly, the Norwegian elkhound is a workmanlike dog that is friendly and intelligent, has a lot of energy yet is not of a nervous type, knows how to hunt because he has been used as a hunting dog in Norway for many, many years, and makes a mighty attractive home dog and companion. He'll weigh around 45 or 50 pounds and has a thick, weather-resisting gray coat with black tips on the outer hairs. A well formed specimen of the breed stands about 20½ inches at the shoulder. With pointed ears, very human looking eyes, and an alert, intelligent expression, the Norwegian elkhound gives you the impression that he is more than just a home dog. That is correct, because this worth-while breed has earned its keep as a hunting dog and a draft animal in northern Europe for hundreds of generations.

You have to take just one look at the elkhound to guess his ancestry. He's a product of the north country, which has given us the Spitz, Samoyede, Keeshund, Pom, and other long-haired dogs, all of which belong to the "northern tribe" of canines. Whereas the Pom has been bred down in size, the Norwegian elkhound has been kept large enough to be practical. Therefore he is a sturdy, compact dog with a keen nose, still capable of hunting deer and other game. The Norwegian Elkhound Association of New York is anxious to hear from any owners of elkhounds that are being used in the field in this country. Lawrence Litchfield Jr., Park avenue, New York, is secretary of the organization. This dog club believes that the elkhound is going to prove a useful sporting dog. It will be interesting to see if American dog fanciers use him in the field.

THE QUESTION BOX

We are interested in obtaining a dog for a birthday present for our daughter, who will soon be four years old. Never having had any previous experience either in purchasing a dog or the rearing of one, we wish to ask your advice as to the type of dog best suited for us, and also where to purchase one. We are especially interested in knowing what kennels are reliable and where dogs may be inoculated against distemper. My preference is either for a Scottie or a wire-haired terrier. Will you please send me reprints of your articles on these two dogs?—Mrs. D. M. L., Yates avenue, Chicago.

If I knew how much room you have for a dog, and whether you like a very active or rather quiet type of dog, I could advise you better about a breed. Both the Scottie and the wire-haired terrier make dandy pets, although they are different in character. The Scottie is a more reserved dog than the wire. The latter is an up-and-coming, high-stepping, peppy breed which is extremely active. I am sending you a list of kennels where you can look at dogs. While you are driving around to make a choice of a puppy you may want to inspect cocker spaniels, Irish terriers, Sealyhams, Boston terriers, and several other breeds which also make dandy home dogs. A veterinarian will advise you on inoculating the dog against distemper. I am sending you a copy of the Tribune leaflet on feeding a dog. Inasmuch as this will be your first dog, I also suggest the purchase of a good book on care of dogs.

In Sunday's Question Box you mentioned something about a book on wire-haired terriers. I would like to know about that book—one that tells about plucking and grooming, as I am attempting to keep my puppy in trim myself. I would also like to know all about that white chalk that they use at the shows.—Rita W., West North avenue, Chicago.

You can keep your terrier looking smart and well groomed by following directions in a book on "barbering" dogs and using a few tools when trimming his coat. I am sending you the name of the handbook on dog dressing, which has many illustrations in it. The chalk is not only used to whiten dogs that have a lot of white hair on them, but it also acts as a cleaning agent. You can chalk a white terrier, brush him vigorously, and out will come the chalk with most of the dirt.

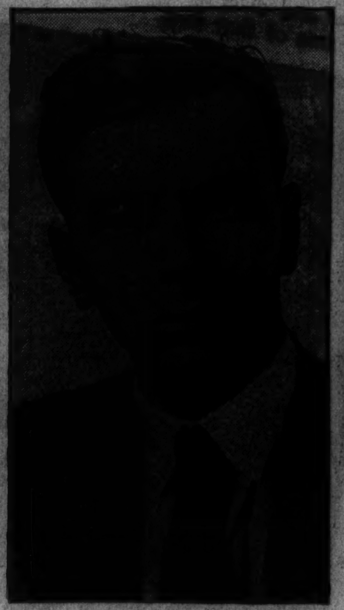
I have just lost my schipperke dog. The veterinarian that treated this dog said that I had been giving my dog foods that couldn't be digested. The schipperke had been getting some raw meat, some prepared dog foods, etc. Now I am advised to feed a dog nothing but raw meat, milk, and soft-boiled eggs. What I would like to know is this: Can a dog get distemper because he is fed a diet such as I gave my dog?—John J. J., Chicago.

Veterinarians are not agreed on problems of canine nutrition any more than a lot of us dog owners and breeders are agreed on some of the minor details of a feeding program. However, I do not agree with your veterinarian on this question. As I have pointed out in this department several times, and as thousands of kennel owners will tell you, most of us who have large dogs or a number of dogs rely on prepared dog foods. I feed my dogs some raw meat, some cooked meat from the table, prepared dog foods (both the canned and the meal, as well as biscuit types), a few vegetables, some eggs, etc. I have conditioned dogs for shows on this varied diet, which involves the feeding of several kinds of prepared dog foods. My Sealyham terrier, Redlands Defiance, that just won his championship, was conditioned on such a varied diet.

A dog needs meat. But it is a generally accepted fact that he also needs other important food elements besides meat. Distemper is not caused by diet. However, an undernourished dog that is not in good condition naturally is more susceptible to distemper and other diseases than a healthy dog in good condition.

Wanted by the Police

Donald L. Courtney, wanted by the Los Angeles, Cal., police on a felony charge. Courtney escaped from the custody of deputy sherifs after he had been convicted and sentenced to the penitentiary. Courtney is 5 feet 10½ inches tall, weighs 187 pounds, has dark brown hair streaked with gray and dark brown eyes.



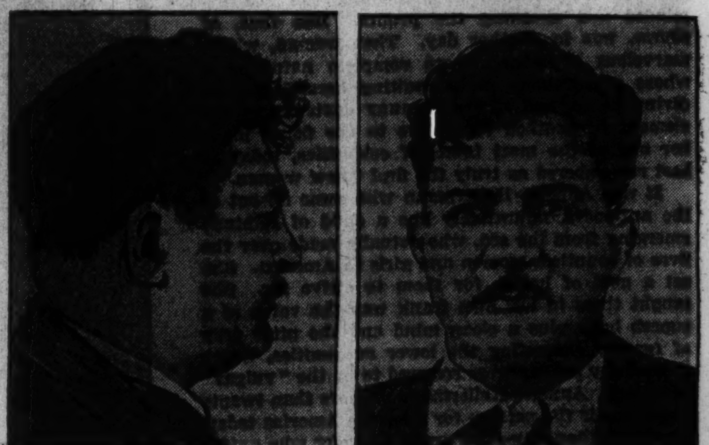
Thomas (Tommy) Touhy, a leader of the notorious Touhy gang, wanted by Chicago police and the federal government. Touhy is suspected of the kidnaping of John Factor.

L. Carl Evans, for whose capture the warden of the Iowa state penitentiary has posted a $50 reward. Evans, a trusty, escaped on April 6 while working outside the prison walls.

George Sawyer, another escaped convict from the Iowa state penitentiary. A reward of $50 has been posted for his capture. Sawyer is 5 feet 9⅞ inches tall, weighs 160 pounds, has a medium dark complexion, yellowish blue eyes, and dark chestnut hair.

Florence Goodrich, wanted by the Detroit police for questioning in connection with a murder case. A reward of $3,000 has been posted for the capture of her husband.

Vincent De Grasse. wanted by the government as a fugitive from justice. He was indicted for possession of securities stolen in a mail robbery. De Grasse is 5 feet 6 inches tall, weighs 149 pounds, has hazel eyes, dark chestnut hair, medium build, and a sallow complexion. He has worked as a cook.



Rocco De Grasse, brother of Vincent, also wanted by the government on a charge of possessing securities stolen in a mail robbery. Rocco is 5 feet 8 inches tall, weighs 200 pounds, has brown eyes, black hair streaked with gray, and a dark, ruddy complexion. He has a scar at the corner of his mouth.

There are more than 6,000 bills in the house and more than 2,000 in the senate, and they still come in at the rate of several dozen a day.

*The grand total of 180 billion (instead of the 193 billion that the house of representatives and the senate figures total) is arrived at by eliminating all duplications; that is to say, a bill in one house is not counted in the 180 billion total if it has a counterpart in the other house. Likewise the totals in each house are obtained by eliminating all but one representative piece of legislation on each subject.

Some "Don'ts" for Pile Sufferers

If you are a sufferer from Piles or some other rectal disorder, read carefully the following list of "don'ts"—prepared by Dr. T. G. McCleary, world known rectal specialist. Don't neglect a well defined rectal ailment and expect it to get well. Don't use an ointment for temporary relief, believing it will produce a permanent cure. Don't wait until your whole system is undermined before you consult a competent rectal specialist. Don't take the grave chance of cancer or some other incurable condition developing before you decide to do what you should do now. Dr. McCleary has prepared a book that describes all rectal conditions and the mild McCleary treatment. It will be sent free to any rectal sufferer.

Use the following address: Dr. T. G. McCleary, 3014 Elms Blvd., Excelsior Springs, Mo. Use a postcard or write a personal letter, describing your case if you so desire.

When Poisons Clog KIDNEYS and Irritate Bladder

JUST DO THIS

Go to your druggist today and get this safe, swift and harmless diuretic and stimulant—ask for Gold Medal Haarlem Oil Capsules and start at once to flush kidneys of waste matter saturated with acids and poisons.

That's the way to bring about healthy kidney activity and stop that bladder irritation which often causes scanty passage with smarting and burning as well as restless nights.

Remember, the kidneys often need flushing as well as the bowels, and some symptoms of kidney weakness are: Getting up once or twice during the night—puffy eyes—cramps in legs—backache and moist palms. But be sure and get GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules—the original and genuine—right from Haarlem in Holland—the price is small (35 cents), the good results will fulfill your expectations.

Many Lawsuits in Story of Mrs. Doubleday

By JOSEPH U. DUGAN

ONE of the most brilliant society weddings of the New York season in 1915 united Rhoda Van Bibber Tanner, daughter of Mrs. James Tanner, and Felix Doubleday, adopted son of Frank N. Doubleday, the book publisher. The newlyweds went to live in Paris. This marriage, which a few years later proved unsuccessful, was the reason for Mrs. Doubleday's first appearance as a plaintif before a tribunal of justice. That was in 1924. She sought and won a divorce in Paris. Since then Mrs. Doubleday has achieved an international reputation as a plaintif in lawsuits involving the charges of breach of promise, slander, and unpaid alimony.

Because of her social position and the sensational charges she brought in court against men of national prominence, Mrs. Doubleday's lawsuits have been widely publicized. One of them was typical of the kind of legal action which many state legislatures, including that of Illinois, have taken steps to banish from the law courts. This was her $1,500,000 breach of promise action against Harold F. McCormick of Chicago. It was reported that the case was settled out of court and that Mrs. Doubleday received a cash settlement in return for a bundle of letters.

Within recent months the lawmaking bodies of Indiana, Illinois, Michigan, New York, Maryland, New Jersey, and several other states either have passed or have taken up consideration of bills prohibiting the filing of breach of promise, alienation of affections, or similar lawsuits, many of which have been given much attention by newspapers.

Slander Suit Against Fleischmann Still Pending

Out of Mrs. Doubleday's breach of promise action against Mr. McCormick grew another of her sensational lawsuits. The defendant in this suit, final disposition of which still is pending, is Maj. Max C. Fleischmann, chairman of the finance committee of Standard Brands, Inc. Mrs. Doubleday demanded $100,000 damages from Fleischmann on the ground that she had been "injured in her good name and reputation" by Fleischmann.

The suit against Harold McCormick, chairman of the executive committee of the International Harvester company, was filed by Mrs. Doubleday's attorneys in the Circuit court of Cook county in Chicago in October,

1933. Mrs. Doubleday set forth in the declaration of this action that "on or about Nov. 7, 1932, in the city of Chicago, the plaintif, who was then unmarried, at the request of the defendant promised to marry the defendant within a reasonable time thereafter."

Mrs. Doubleday went on to say that she had since remained unmarried and that she was then "ready and willing to marry" the defendant, but that McCormick had "neglected and refused" to marry her, as a result of which she had been made to suffer "loss of her reputation and prospects of her marriage," and further she begged to inform the court that the millionaire's refusal had cost her "pain and shame." Mr. McCormick's answer was not made public.

Attorney Explains Reason for Breach of Promise Case

Attorney Henry A. Uterhart of New York, Mrs. Doubleday's counsel, revealed that his client and Mr. McCormick had met in Paris about two years before. They were introduced, he said, by Cyrus H. McCormick, brother of the defendant. Their friendship was renewed, the lawyer said, in June, 1932, while Mrs. Doubleday and her mother were guests at the Cyrus McCormick home. As a result of this "renewed acquaintance," the lawyer said, McCormick became "an assiduous devotee" of Mrs. Doubleday and proposed marriage. It was a "verbal" proposal, but Mrs. Doubleday had in her possession a number of letters which her counsel believed would convince a jury of Mr. McCormick's intention to marry her.

In January following the alleged proposal McCormick was a patient at the Johns Hopkins hospital in Baltimore, and it was about this time, Mrs. Doubleday's lawyers said, that his affections for Mrs. Doubleday began to cool.

Several weeks after the suit was filed Mrs. Doubleday's attorneys admitted that negotiations for a settlement of the case out of court were in progress. On May 18, 1934, it was announced that such a settlement had been reached and that Mrs. Doubleday had consented to authorize her attorneys to have the suit dismissed. Mrs. Doubleday, in return for the cash settlement, returned sixty-eight letters to McCormick.

The slander suit against Mr. Fleischmann was first instituted by Mrs. Doubleday at Santa Barbara, Cal. The divorcée took exception to words she said were addressed to her by Mr. Fleischmann on the golf course of the Valley club at Santa Barbara on Nov. 3, 1933. She averred that she had asked the yeast manufacturer, sportsman, and big-game hunter to retract the offending phrases, but that he had refused.

California Judge Dismisses Slander Suit

The California case was dismissed by the Superior court there on motion of Fleischmann's counsel. She later brought a similar action in New York and attached some $5,000 worth of property owned by Fleischmann in that state. This action was vacated, however, on the ground that Mrs. Doubleday is not a resident of New York. Her attorneys are now appealing the decision.

The New York action, filed by Attorney Uterhart, sets forth that Mr. Fleischmann, "in the presence of divers persons, including one Holden A. Evans, wickedly, recklessly, and maliciously contriving to cause it to be believed that the plaintif was unchaste and had been guilty of the crime of blackmail, did falsely and maliciously utter of and concerning the plaintif the following false and defamatory words."

The complaint then quoted the allegedly slanderous remarks, including references to blackmail and a declaration that "no lady ever brings a suit for breach of promise," but that only such a person as a chorus girl would bring such a suit. Mrs. Doubleday quoted Mr. Fleischmann as asserting that he would take steps to have the Valley club rescind her privileges. Mrs. Doubleday asserted that the alleged statements of Mr. Fleischmann had caused her "great mental suffering, shame, and injuries to her feelings."

In seeking the attachment against Mr. Fleischmann's property in New York Mrs. Doubleday submitted an affidavit setting forth her claims to social eminence in this country and England.

Mrs. Doubleday Explains Her Social Position

"I am of good family and have always been of good repute and have mingled and been received in the highest society both in this country and in England," Mrs. Doubleday deposed. "I was educated at Los Robles school in Pasadena, the Harcourt School for Girls, and the Florentine School for Girls at Florence, Italy. I made my entrance into society in the winter of 1913-'14.

"I have spent part of every winter from 1928 to 1932 at Aiken, S. C., with my mother, having as friends persons of undisputed social status. In 1927 and 1928 I visited England. At the time of my residence abroad I entertained the prince of Wales, who had dined at my house in the summer of 1927, and have entertained other members of the English royal family, including the duke and duchess of York, Princess Beatrice, the duke of Connaught, and Prince and Princess Arthur of Connaught."

Much less publicity has attended the long-drawn-out legal dispute between Mrs. Doubleday and her former husband, Felix Doubleday, on the subject of alimony. This trouble began not long after the divorce when Mrs. Doubleday obtained in London a judgment against her ex-spouse for $6,200 back alimony. She did not collect, however, and soon returned to New York, where in 1932 she obtained another judgment, this time for $9,417, against Doubleday. The court apparently was unimpressed by Doubleday's affidavit asserting that he was without means and insisting that his former wife, on the other hand, was possessed of independent means and thus, inferentially, not in need of alimony.

Last February Mrs. Doubleday instituted another suit to collect back alimony at Colorado Springs, Colo. Recently this case was heard by Judge Arthur Cornforth, who affirmed the $9,417 judgment of the New York court. Attorney H. T. McGarry, representing Doubleday, then sought to file a cross complaint to have the ruling canceled or modified.

Doubleday formerly was a patient in a sanitarium at Colorado Springs. He now resides in Switzerland. His alimony troubles were complicated further recently by the filing of a suit before the New York Supreme court by William A. Durean, assignee of Mrs. Doubleday's alimony claim. Durean seeks to attach Doubleday's income from a trust fund established by his grandmother.

Divorce Agreement Is Basis for Alimony Suit

Mrs. Doubleday bases her claim against Doubleday on an agreement he was alleged to have made at the time of their separation to pay her one-fifth of his income, or the minimum sum of $3,000 a year. In all of his replies to her lawsuits Doubleday has called attention to his former wife's mode of living, attacking her plea that she needed money by asserting that she is financially able to entertain lavishly and to travel.

Shortly after his divorce Doubleday married Elsa Heymans, a Viennese beauty, at Innsbruch, Switzerland. He was later divorced from her also.

Recently in the news was the action of the Illinois state senate, which passed by a vote of 37 to 0 a bill eliminating "heart balm" suits from the laws of the state. As the house of representatives had passed the measure previously, the bill became law with the signature of Governor Horner.

With the single difference that the Illinois law excepts suits for seduction, it is identical with the measure recently passed by the legislature of Indiana. Both laws outlaw the filing or the threatening to file civil suits for alienation of affections, criminal conversation, or a breach of contract to marry.

Passage of Bill Is Widely Acclaimed

Passage of the bill was acclaimed by attorneys and judges who sponsored it. Since it prohibits the naming of a co-respondent or participant in marital misconduct except upon order of the court, it was regarded as abolishing one of the most fruitful sources of secret blackmail actions.

The law also makes illegal and void contracts or acts done for the payment or compromise of any civil action for alienation of affections or breach of promise.

Remaining before the Illinois senate are two other measures having to do with marriage or its dissolution, both bills sponsored by eminent divorce court jurists.

The first would abolish so-called "gin marriages" by requiring couples who intend to wed to purchase licenses three days before the marriages are performed. In the opinion of judges this requirement would reduce to a minimum the prevalent tipsy weddings, performed usually early in the morning, by magistrates who make a business of performing such ceremonies.

The second measure would limit the payment of separate maintenance to two years. If at the end of that period a separated couple failed to effect a reconciliation they would be expected to sue for divorce.

What's New in World of Airplanes and Air Transportation

Twin Motors Mean Safety

By WAYNE THOMIS

RECORDS of safe all-weather flying made during recent years by operators of high-performance multimotored air liners, now virtually standard types on American airways, have taught private plane owners many lessons. The inadequacy of a single engine in an airplane intended for cross-country flying and the definite need for a small twin-motored ship for the owner pilot are two of the most important of these, flying men agree.

A small two-motored airplane would, of course, be designed primarily for the private owner who wished to travel in his own plane instead of on the air lines, or for the air line operator who wanted an economical vehicle for feeder routes to his main line. It should be able to fly on either motor, should be moderately fast with both motors at cruising speed, should carry from four to six passengers, and the landing speed should not exceed 60 miles an hour.

The appeal of such an airplane for the private owner lies in its safety. Modern airplane engines are reliable; indeed, most of the transoceanic flights made during the last decade were made in ships with but one power plant. Airplane engines even today, however, have been known to quit when they are needed most.

A plane with but one motor must be landed immediately when this happens. Unless the pilot is flying with considerable altitude he has little choice in his landing place, since the gliding angle of even the highly streamlined plane of today rarely exceeds 10 to 1. That means a pilot can glide 1,000 feet forward for every 100 feet of altitude he loses.

But when one motor in a twin-motored plane stops in the air the pilot can cruise on to his destination at reduced speed on his remaining engine. Or if he finds a favorable landing place he can come down with power under his control all the way in. The odds are better than 100 to 1 that both engines in a twin-[illegible] plane will not fail at the same moment, mechanicians report.

The department of commerce, the federal agency which determines the safety regulations for all civil flying, recognizes the inherent safety in twin-engine design in its rules. No commercial operator has been allowed for many years to fly passengers in a single engine airplane after sundown. And the department forbids the use of single-engine ships even in day time except on certain especially safe routes.

In the case of military or sport aviation, or planes built to carry only the pilot and cargoes of mail or express, the single-engine design is aerodynamically the most efficient. These types probably will be single-motored planes for many years. Comparison of the private owner's plane with the fighting, sport, or mail plane is like comparing the family automobile with Sir Malcolm Campbell's Bluebird. Operation of these last-named types of airplanes involves an element of risk the ordinary traveler should not incur. As yet the majority of small land planes manufactured in the United States which might appeal to the owner pilot are merely versions of sport planes. Every one is a single-engine type. The Lockheed Vega and Orion, the Seversky, and the Vultee 1A, all are fast, rugged airplanes in this group.

Powered with engines which range from 500 to 700 horsepower, these planes will fly at 200 miles an hour and land at speeds between 60 and 70 miles an hour with from three to ten passengers aboard. A number of these ships are used by both private owners and certain of the air lines. Nevertheless, they are not all-weather airplanes like the Douglas DC2 or the Boeing 247D used on the primary transcontinental air lanes.

Manufacturers of amphibian planes in this country are far behind the land ship builders. Sikorsky Aviation corporation builds the S-38, an eight-passenger two-motored sesquiplane in which the boat body and cabin are combined, with wheels retractile for water landings. This ship was built in 1929 and now is obsolete.

The Douglas factory in Santa Monica, Cal., manufactures a twin-motored amphibian designated the Dolphin. The latest version of this ship has a top speed of 175 miles an hour and it cruises in excess of 140 miles an hour, but even this performance falls short of the land plane designs.

As it was originally built the Seversky was an amphibian plane. Two floats into which the wheels retract for water landings were the original fittings. Thus equipped, the plane had a top speed of 184 miles an hour. The higher speed of the land plane version is accounted for by the absence of drag caused by the floats.

The English, who have been flying two, three, and four motored airplanes over the channel route to Paris since 1922, already have met the need for small twin-engined airplanes for the individual owner. The Monospar company, the Spartan company, Short Bros., Ltd., and the De Haviland Company, Ltd., all are manufacturing small two and three motored ships.

Although the English planes are somewhat safer in operation, they fall far short of the performance records set by the American ships. One of the outstanding reasons for this fact is that they are fitted with engines of small horsepower. Speeds are low and carrying capacity is limited.

The Comet, the De Haviland company's MacRobertson race plane, now is being built for several private owners. With two passengers it will fly at 200 miles an hour. The twin engines are De Haviland built, each rated at 230 British horsepower.

The Monospar and the Short Scion both are fitted with two Pobjoy 90-horsepower radial motors. Both carry from four to six passengers at cruising speeds from 124 to 139 miles an hour. Manufacturers in England say distances on the isle are so small that there is no need for greater speeds.

If the Seversky amphibian was 15 miles an hour faster, and was fitted with two motors instead of the single engine, it would be the ideal private owner's plane.

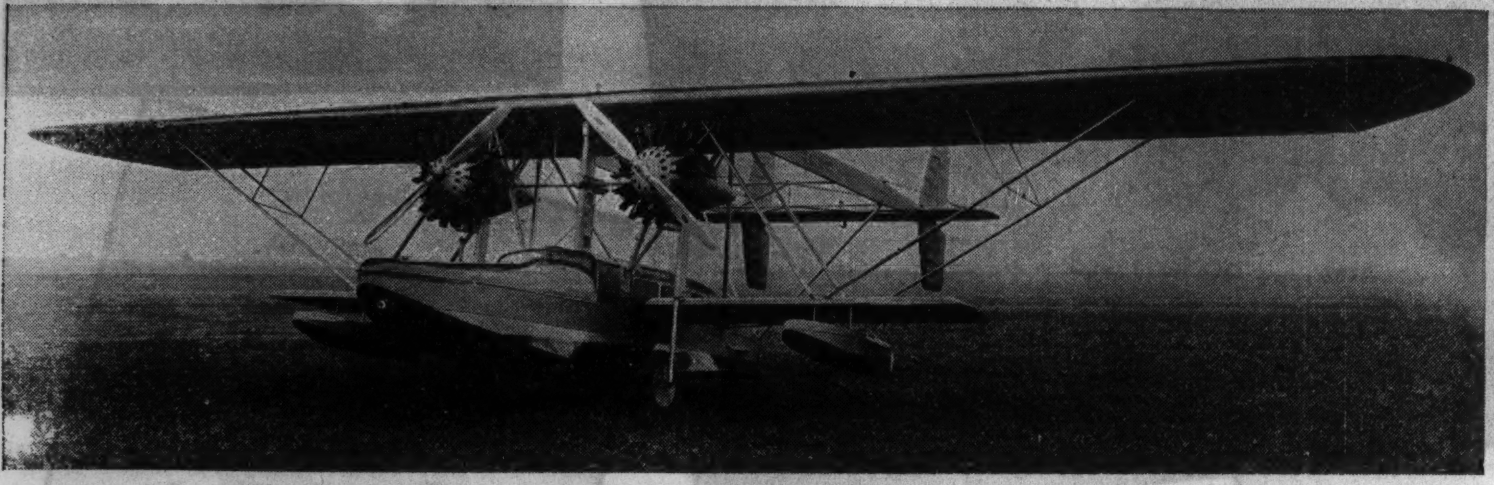
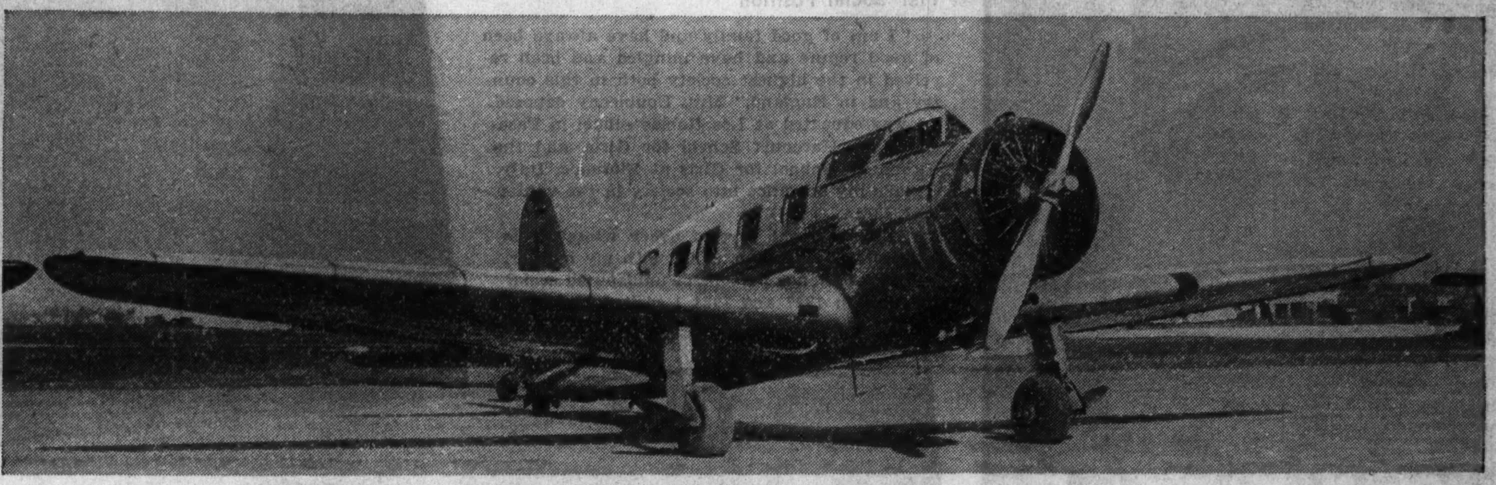
Lockheed Orion, a 200-mile-an-hour airplane used by commercial air line operators and private owners. It is an efficient, modern ship.



One of the best amphibian planes of its time, Sikorsky S-38. It is obsolete today. Compare the uncowled motors, the maze of bracing wires and struts, with the clean lines of the Seversky or Douglas.



Speediest of commercial airplanes, the Vultee 1A. With eight passengers, a pilot, and mail cargo the Vultee has a top speed of 238 miles an hour. A ship of this type holds the transcontinental speed record for commercial air liners.

How Scientist Weighs Infinitesimal Atoms

By DR. THOMAS M. BECK

WHEN a grocer weighs out a pound of sugar he usually does it by means of a balance. When a chemist desires to learn the weight of some material he is analyzing he likewise makes use of a balance, although a far more accurate one. For weighings of unusual delicacy the instrument makers have designed balances that can respond to the weight of objects too small to be seen.

Now, for well over a century scientists have accepted without question the existence of atoms and molecules. The whole of chemical knowledge, as well as a good part of that of physics, is based upon the existence of these particles. It would seem that it might be a good idea to know how much such important things weigh, yet this fact was not determined until nearly a hundred years after the atom had made its debut into the scientific world.

This is hardly surprising when we consider the fact that a microbe could be weighed on the coal yard scales much more easily than a single atom could be detected by even the most sensitive balance ever made by man. Obviously such a method of weighing is quite out of the question, and it was necessary to find some indirect method. A number of such methods have been found during the last thirty years. The method to be described here happens to be not only the first one used, but also the most accurate, as well as the soundest from a theoretical standpoint.

But first of all we must start at the beginning in order to understand the theory back of the method. The chemists of the early nineteenth century adopted the theory that matter consisted of molecules, which in turn were made up of a number of atoms. The atoms of the different elements were different from one another. Knowing from chemical analysis the proportions by weight of the elements of a given compound, the chemists were able, by comparing these figures with those of other compounds, to deduce the relative numbers of the different atoms in a compound, and from this the relative weights of the atoms.

For example, by reasoning a little too lengthy to give in detail here, they found that a hydrochloric acid molecule consisted of one atom each of hydrogen and of chlorine. Since experiment showed that one gram of hydrogen combined with 35.5 grams of chlorine to give 36.5 grams of the acid, it follows that the chlorine atom is 35.5 times as heavy as that of hydrogen.

In this way these early chemists were able to draw up a list of numbers representing the relative weights of the various atoms, which were known appropriately as atomic weights. To illustrate the meaning of this, they knew the atomic weights of oxygen and carbon to be respectively 16 and 12; hence they knew that an oxygen atom was one and a third times as heavy as a carbon atom, although they did not know the actual weight of either. Therefore, once they could find out what one atom weighed, they could soon calculate the weights of them all.

Sometimes it is necessary to know the relative amounts of different atoms entering into a reaction. Accordingly, just as a grocer finds it more convenient to work with dozens rather than single eggs, the chemists fell into the practice of working with bunches of N atoms, where N is an unknown number, defined as the number of oxygen atoms in sixteen grams of oxygen (a little over a half ounce). Obviously, once the value of N is known, the calculation of the weights of the various atoms would be a simple matter.

During the 1840's Faraday found that when a fused or dissolved compound is electrolyzed, or broken down into its elements by means of an electric current, the amount of electricity required to release N atoms is always 96,500 coulombs, or some simple multiple thereof. What this fact implies is that electricity is associated with the atoms in form of small, definite particles of such magnitude that N of them are equal to 96,500 coulombs. According to present-day theory these minute atomic charges are identical with electrons and positrons. The value of this discovery to the problem of weighing atoms lies in the fact that if it were impossible to weigh a single atom directly, perhaps N could be determined by capturing one of these electrified particles and measuring its electric charge.

About 1895 it was found that the newly discovered X-rays had the property, when passed through a gas, of knocking an electron out of some of the gas molecules and thereby leaving a few particles bearing this unit charge floating around in the gas. Since the amount of X-rays used can be controled easily, it is readily apparent that this method is an ideal one for producing these charge particles in low enough concentration so that individual charges can be caught and measured.

The problem of finding a way to do this was solved by R. A. Millikan about twenty-five years ago. The apparatus he used is shown in a highly simplified form in the accompanying Figure 1. A nonvolatile liquid, such as oil, mercury, or glycerin, is introduced into the container at A as a fine spray, by means of an atomizer. After a short time some of the droplets drift through the hole B into the space between the condenser plates, where they are illuminated by means of the arc light C and can be seen by means of a magnifying eyepiece not shown in the diagram.

≈

An object falling in a vacuum continues to fall at a constantly increasing speed, but one falling through air eventually reaches a maximum of velocity because of the fact that air resistance increases with speed. Moreover, the smaller the object the smaller this maximum value, and the sooner it is attained (remember that dust particles fall more slowly than hailstone). Thus the observer, by measuring the speed at which one of the oil droplets is falling, can calculate its weight.

Now, these droplets usually pick up a small charge of static electricity while passing through the air, so that when a potential of several thousand volts is laid across the condenser plates, setting up an electric field in the space between them, the charged droplet changes its speed to a different value.

The air in the immediate neighborhood of the droplet is next momentarily exposed to a beam of X-rays from the tube at D. These rays knock an electron out of an occasional air molecule and thus leave a few electrically charged particles floating around. Every now and then the oil drop picks up either a negatively charged electron or a positively charged gas molecule, and the resulting change in electrical charge causes a corresponding change in the speed at which the drop is moving.

≈

The observer sees the drop making sudden increases or decreases in speed, and these changes are all of the same magnitude, thus indicating that the charges picked up are all numerically the same. Since he can measure the velocity change and the weight of the droplet, he can calculate from a simple physical relationship the force causing the change. From the voltage across the condenser plates he can calculate the strength of the electric field between them. And, knowing the strength of the field and the force it exerts upon a single charged particle, he needs only grade school arithmetic to calculate the amount of electricity in this unit charge.

Millikan's measurements indicated this electronic charge to be about 159 thousand billion billionths of a coulomb. And since N of these charges is equal to 96,500 coulombs, the dividing of the latter figure by the former shows N to be 606 thousand billion billion (that is, 606 followed by twenty-one ciphers). As this many hydrogen atoms weigh one gram, or .036 of an ounce, the weight of a single atom may now be readily calculated, provided that there is enough room on the sheet of paper to hold these figures.

A different method of calculating N, which is a little simpler, although not quite so accurate, is based upon the fact that radium gives off a steady stream of positively charged alpha particles. From the effects of electric and magnetic fields on these particles it has been found that they consist of helium atoms carrying two unit charges. When these particles strike a fluorescent screen each of them gives a distinct microscopic flash of light. By photographing a screen exposed to this radiation we may count the number of particles striking it during a certain period of time. Then, by substituting a negatively charged plate for the fluorescent screen, we may measure its loss of negative electricity (which is the same as its gain of positive) during the same time. By dividing this amount of electricity by the number of particles we can find the charge on a single particle.

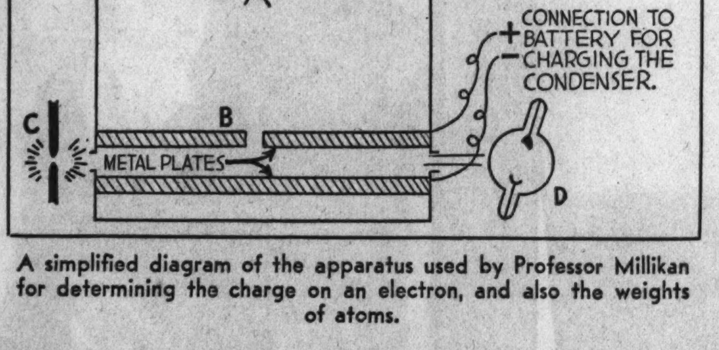
There are still a number of other methods of measuring N, but they are impossible to understand without a fairly good knowledge of higher mathematics. By these methods it has been possible to calculate the weights of atoms from such apparently irrelevant phenomena as the wave lengths of X-rays, the random movements of fine dust particles suspended in water, the radiation of heat from warm objects, or even the blue color of the sky.

It might be well to try to inject a little meaning into the incomprehensible numbers given above. We can get some idea of the incredible smallness of atoms and molecules if we consider the fact that there are more molecules in a cubic inch of air than there are grains in a cubic mile of sand, or that there are more molecules in a drop of water than there are drops of water in Lake Michigan. As another illustration, few will deny that the most expensive thing that the human race ever bought was the World war. Yet if we could only change the molecules in a cubic inch of air into an equal number of dollars we would have enough money to pay for a billion World wars.



A simplified diagram of the apparatus used by Professor Millikan for determining the charge on an electron, and also the weights of atoms.

A wrist watch with the figures made luminescent by radium paint. The light is made up of a large number of flashes resulting from the collision of charged atoms with chemicals in the paint.

Scientific Queries Answered

Address questions of scientific nature to Dr. Thomas M. Beck, Graphic Section, Chicago Tribune. For personal reply inclose stamped, addressed envelope.

1. What is the difference between mass and weight? 2. What is momentum?—K. M., Chicago.

1. The mass of a body is the amount of matter in it. Its weight is the gravitational force exerted upon it. If a piece of iron were ejected out into space beyond the reach of gravitation, its weight would become zero, although its mass would be unchanged.

2. The momentum of a body is defined as the product of its mass and its velocity. The simplest illustration of its difference from kinetic energy is the following: If you apply the brakes to a moving body, the kinetic energy tells you how far it will go before stopping, while the momentum tells how much longer it will run.

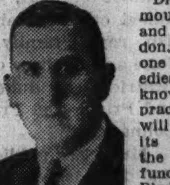
Kidney Acidity Curbed Quickly This Easy Way

Doctors Praise Cystex—Brings Quick Help

Cleans Out Acids and Poisons —Purifies Blood—Brings New Energy in 48 Hours

There are 9 million tiny, delicate tubes or filters in your Kidneys which must work every minute of the night and day cleaning out Acids, Poisons, and Wastes from your blood. If your Kidneys or Bladder do not function right, your body gradually becomes poisoned, you feel old and worn out before your time, and may suffer from any of these energy-killing symptoms: Getting Up Nights, Loss of Vigor, Leg Pains, Nervousness, Lumbago, Swollen Joints, Rheumatic Pains, Dizziness, Dark Circles Under Eyes, Headaches, Frequent Colds, Burning, Smarting, Itching, and Acidity.

But you need not suffer another day from poorly functioning Kidneys or Bladder without the benefits of a Doctor's special prescription called Cystex (pronounced Siss-tex).



Dr. T. J. Rastelli

Dr. T. J. Rastelli, famous Doctor, Surgeon, and Scientist of London, says: "Cystex is one of the finest remedies I have ever known in my medical practice. Any doctor will recommend it for its definite benefits in the treatment of many functional Kidney and Bladder disorders. It is safe and harmless."

Cystex is not an experiment—it is quick and sure in action and has been tested and proved in millions of cases throughout the world. Because it combats and corrects many functional Kidney disorders, Cystex has gained a world-wide reputation as a successful treatment. Dr. T. A. Ellis, graduate of Toronto University, recently wrote: "Cystex's influence in aiding the treatment of sluggish Kidney and Bladder functions cannot be over-estimated. I have here a formula which I have used in my own practice for many years with excellent results. Cystex hastens the passage of over-acid irritants, thereby overcoming a frequent cause of burning, itching, getting up nights and frequent urination."

Dr. T. A. Ellis

Because it is a special prescription for poorly functioning Kidneys, Cystex works fast to tone and soothe sore membranes, and brings a new feeling of energy and vitality in 48 hours.

Dr. C. Z. Rendelle, well-known Physician and Medical Examiner of San Francisco, recently wrote: "Since the Kidneys purify the blood, the poisons collect in these organs and must be promptly flushed from the system; otherwise, they re-enter the blood stream and create a toxic condition. I can truthfully commend the use of Cystex."

Dr. C. Z. Rendelle

Because of its world-wide success, in even the most stubborn cases, the Doctor's prescription called Cystex is offered to sufferers from poorly functioning Kidneys and Bladder under the fair play guarantee to fix you up to your complete satisfaction or your money back on return of empty package. Get Cystex from any druggist and try it under the money-back guarantee. See for yourself how much younger, stronger, and healthier you will feel by using this special prescription. Cystex must fix you up and do the work to your entire satisfaction in 8 days, or cost you nothing under the money-back guarantee. Beware of substitutes and remember that the Kidneys are endangered by drastic, irritating drugs or neglect. Cystex is the only specially-prepared Doctor's prescription guaranteed for Kidney dysfunctions. Tell your druggist you must have Cystex (pronounced Siss-tex). Look for it in the black and red striped package.

Mrs. Roosevelt Speaking!

Variety of Interests Engages Wife of President

By WALTER TROHAN

Washington, D. C.

AN ENTHUSIASM that bubbles like a mountain spring. A gift for inexhaustible talk. Energy as tireless as the tides. A certain indifference to rebuffs such as administered by congressional action. An ability to contradict a word by a deed, withal an ability to disregard the contradiction.

All of these, plus what the whole nation has accepted as undeniable charm, are characteristics of Anna Eleanor Roosevelt, as brought out clearly in her first two years as the lady of the White House. The picture of this woman as it has flickered on the national screen since March, 1933, is one that has left a wide variety of reactions. We see her traveling anywhere and everywhere — the miles she has covered quite as countless as the speeches she has delivered. We see her self-sponsored model town in West Virginia an admitted fizzle and a costly loss, and her proposal to build a $500,000 government-operated furniture factory in the same locality turned down by the house of representatives by an overwhelming vote, without any marked display of submission on her part. That's bubbling enthusiasm. We see her vowing to take no part in politics, and then ignoring, to the satisfaction of many, at least, her apparent indulgence in political activity. That's adroitness.

Her perpetual motion has become one of the wonders of the capital. With long, dynamic strides she has charged through series after series of activities, and yet performed with buoyant grace and charm the social requisites of the White House. So varied and picturesque have been the activities of Mrs. Roosevelt that at times her serious purposes have been obscured. Now, after two years, these are being brought into focus.

When the niece of the late President Theodore Roosevelt and the distant cousin and wife of Franklin Delano Roosevelt took over the keys of the White House all Washington wagged its head knowingly. Sooner or later, said the wiseacres, she would get herself into trouble. They pointed to her love for talking. To date she has talked more than any other President's wife and has not yet spoken out of turn.

So often and at so many different places has Mrs. Roosevelt spoken that her social secretary, Miss Malvina Scheider, threw up her hands when she was asked to tell how many speeches Mrs. Roosevelt had delivered and how many miles she had traveled since March 4, 1933.

"One thing I won't do is meddle in politics," Mrs. Roosevelt said. "But I suspect there are many things not strictly political which can be done to help women, and if you help women you help the men, too."

Just what her understanding of politics is cannot be sharply defined by her actions. She has given the definition that anything strictly political has to do with party politics or with the policies of the administration which are of a controversial nature. Yet in the face of this definition she came out flatly in favor of the United States joining the world court. So much so that it was a common report in Washington that it was she who influenced the President to make the ill-fated attempt to force the measure through the senate. She also has come out for social security and other New Deal controversial measures. She has put herself on record in magazines, newspapers, interviews, speeches, and radio talks. In the last congressional campaign she shattered all White House precedent by taking to the stump in five speeches to elect her old friend, Mrs. Daniel O'Day, as congresswoman-at-large in New York.

She lives her own life. Making soup for needy in a New York relief service restaurant.

Mrs. Roosevelt's greatest opportunity to talk comes once a week when she meets newspaper women.

Her sincerity and frankness are best exemplified in her reaction to the collapse of her favorite social experiment, the $500,000 subsistence homestead project at Reedsville, W. Va. This was launched largely by Mrs. Roosevelt. On Sept. 29, 1933, the federal government paid $46,000 for a stubble farm among rolling hills of northwest West Virginia. The following Nov. 7 twenty-five unemployed miners' families were moved into the community.

Fifty mail order houses were provided for the model community. Then things began to happen. The houses were ripped up and shifted about. It was discovered that rooms were improperly arranged and foundations were cracking and that instead of giving the appearance of being planned the houses looked as if they had been spewed into the valley. No good reason has yet been given by federal authorities for the collapse of Reedsville. When conditions were uncovered officials automatically spouted denials of charges that $500,000 had been wasted; Mrs. Roosevelt boldly admitted the loss.

"The expense at Reedsville was justified because of the fact that it is an experimental project," she said. "Private industries spend a great deal of money each year trying out things. The government has the same privilege."

And Mrs. Roosevelt promptly showed her faith in the project by agreeing to begin a ten-week series of broadcasts, in which she now is engaged. Earnings go to Reedsville.

The $500,000 furniture factory planned by Mrs. Roosevelt was to have been erected also in the region of Reedsville for the purpose of making fixtures for postoffices. When the house by a margin of 165 votes refused to indorse the project its sponsor merely continued on her own serene way, still enthusiastic.

Mrs. Roosevelt's radio earnings are not inconsiderable. Last year's broadcasts netted her $36,000. This went to charity. Her pen earnings are possibly greater. It has been estimated that in the last year she made the equal of her husband's $75,000 salary by writings and talks.

It was a common report that a caller at the White House asking for Mrs. Roosevelt invariably was told to wait a moment while the staf raced about to see whether she were in or on a jaunt. Lately she has curbed her restless feet. There have been no five-minute decisions for long flights or train trips such as promoted a popular magazine to sketch two coal miners in the bowels of the earth above the caption, "For gosh sakes, here comes Mrs. Roosevelt."

As mistress of the White House Mrs. Roosevelt has been active as a hostess. In the last year there were 2,492 luncheon and dinner guests and 974,376 persons received at the White House. In presiding at the White House Mrs. Roosevelt has shattered many precedents, bending the rigid routine to her tempo. While this has shocked more sedate Washingtonians, she has found favor in the eyes of the current generation. Among the innovations was the introduction of wine at state dinners.

Among her more extrinsic activities is the Val-Kill shop near her home at Hyde Park, N. Y., which offers employment to a few families in the community. Here are made copies of American furniture. Mrs. Roosevelt visits the shop frequently.

Through all this Mrs. Roosevelt preserves her femininity. Just at the close of the year she was voted the best-dressed woman in public life by a group of fashion designers. A few weeks earlier she was awarded the Gimbel award of $1,000 as the country's outstanding woman of 1934. The committee of award made it clear that the presentation came not to the wife of the President of the United States but to Anna Eleanor Roosevelt. Mrs. Roosevelt promptly turned the check over to a doctor to send a crippled child to the Warm Springs, Ga., foundation.

In the White House Mrs. Roosevelt practices the philosophy of life she has acquired in twenty-five years as the wife of a public official. This is that every individual must live his own life as it best suits him to live it and make his own decisions. Without this rule she would be uncomfortable, because her daily mail brings much criticism.

French Peasants on Warpath

Farmers' Tax Strike Stirs Nation

Paris.

FRANCE'S peasantry, famous in history for the bloody Jacquerie revolt of the middle fourteenth century, is on the warpath again.

A militant farm movement with seemingly Fascist tendencies, called the Peasant Front, has been forging steadily to the front in the last few months and seems to be welding farmers all over France into a coherent and aggressive organization. The outstanding leader of the movement, a man whom some see as a future real dirt dictator for France, is Viscount d'Halluin. Fearing, perhaps, that his aristocratic name would prevent him from getting the peasant following that he wants, he has chosen to operate under the pseudonym of Henry Dorgeres.

Dorgeres, chief of the Peasant Defense of Eastern France and editor of the newspaper Progres Agricole, operates a small farm near Rouen weekdays and on Sundays becomes a firebrand orator who travels about kindling the countryside.

The spotlight was turned on the Peasant Front by a massmeeting it organized recently at Rouen, which resulted in criminal charges being lodged against Dorgeres and one of the other organizers, Monsieur Mathé.

The government is watching this movement closely and with uneasiness, not only because of its political potentialities but also because of its possible economic consequences. Many alert observers see in the Peasant Front move one of the most serious threats to the franc.

It is reported that the situation of the small landowner is becoming more desperate every day. Judging from the meetings held at Chateau-Thierry, at Rouen, and at Chalons-sur-Marne, where small landowners made known their demands, the government soon will see itself confronted with a formidable rural faction, the leaders of which say they are determined to save the French farmer from his present unenviable situation even if they have to resort to illegal means.

The peasants state that Premier Flandin's wheat law didn't help them any. On the contrary, it brought prices down so that the farmer can't even pay his production costs. Furthermore, the market has been crushed by old stocks of wheat. The condition of the wine market is bad. Indeed, all agricultural prices are low. Farms cannot be sold because there is no market for farm land, the value of which, it is said, has dropped from 50 to 60 per cent as compared with 1914 land prices. Many properties are being left uncultivated or have been totally abandoned.

More than 2,000 peasants recently attended a meeting held at Chateau-Thierry. On the speakers' platform were Dorgeres, Mathé, and Monsieur Pietri, who is general secretary of the Young Agrarians; also Senator Rene Hachette and others. "Give the peasant buying power, and only then will the crisis be solved," was the cry. The 20,000,000 peasants of France must become the arbitrators of the situation, said Mathé. Then Dorgeres, wildly acclaimed, got up and spitefully repeated the harsh words which had got him into trouble at Rouen. An order of the day was drawn up in which the manifestants asked for a "decent reward for their work, the reduction of taxes, lowering of the interest rate, and an immediate moratorium so as to avoid further seizures and foreclosures."

By a "decent reward for their work" the peasants mean higher prices for farm products. This, coupled with the demand for lowered taxes and interest rates on their private debts and a moratorium on foreclosures, exerts a powerful political pressure on parliament in the direction of inflation. Obviously it would be very difficult to satisfy these demands other than by devaluating the franc, which would at once raise prices and lessen the burden of debt under which the peasant labors. The louder the cry for relief from the farmers the greater the pressure on the politicians, and it is possible that France's insurgent peasantry may force an unexpectedly rapid reversal of France's monetary policy.

Before it can do that, however, the Peasant Front must become considerably stronger and even more turbulent than it is at present, even considering the very recent outbreaks of peasants in Normandy, which have been termed the "applejack revolt."

A temporary setback to the militant farm movement was that which occurred on March 31 when Dorgeres, who had filed his candidacy for the seat of deputy of Blois left vacant by the election of former Premier Chautemps to the senate, was defeated by the Radical Socialist candidate.

So recently as April 6 all France was stirred by lawless activities of farmers in the departments of Calvados, Manche, Orne, and Mayenne, the territory making up the famous Normandy cider belt. In eight regions in the territory mobs of peasants tore internal revenue seals off of stills that convert the famous Norman cider into equally famous "Calvados," or applejack. At the village of Le Teilleul the peasants became so riotous that the gendarmes were obliged to arrest their leader, whom they incarcerated in the jail at Avaranches. Main demand of these peasants is that the distilling tax, which falls upon the farmers themselvess, be replaced by a sales tax upon the liquors.

Dorgeres, the man with ambition to become dirt dictator, has no terrors of jail. He once served 27 days in prison for helping a farmer resist eviction.

Russ Plan New Line to East

By JOHN POWELL

Shanghai, China.

JUST as the excitement in far eastern politics created by the soviet decision to double-track the Trans-Siberian railway had begun to subside, the Russians threw another bombshell with the announcement of their intention to parallel the Trans-Siberian with another railway to the Pacific.

Reports regarding the new line, which have been circulated in the far east for obvious political effect, have been conflicting, but according to soviet officials the railway, if and when built, will branch off from the Trans-Siberian somewhere to the west of Lake Baikal and then will extend eastward around the northern end of Lake Baikal to the lower Amur. The distance in a straight line would be about 2,000 miles, but the actual route, due to the mountainous nature of the country, probably would be 500 miles longer. The Russians claim that work already has started at two points, in the vicinity of Lake Baikal and at a new town on the lower Amur known as Komsomolsk.

The town of Komsomolsk, about midway between Khabarovsk and the mouth of the Amur at Nikolaevsk, was established about three years ago and is now said to have some 30,000 people. Recently the town received publicity in Japan due to allegations in military circles that the soviets had established a shipbuilding industry there which was specializing in the assembly of destroyers, submarines, and torpedo boats.

It appeared that a soviet naval officer at Vladivostok had made a speech in which he boasted that when the soviet naval plan had been completed in the far east Russia would have sufficient submarines to control the northern Japan sea.

While most persons think of this area as being part of the inaccessible Arctic, the new town of Komsomolsk actually is almost due west of Vancouver, B. C.

The new railway, which the Russians call the "BAM," or Baikal-Amur line, is projected with two objects in view, the first being strategic, otherwise an auxiliary line to the Pacific coast for use in the event the eastern end of the Trans-Siberian should be lost in a war with Japan. The other reason is economic, as much of the territory is said to abound in minerals, especially gold. In a sense the line will resemble the Canadian National, which parallels the Canadian Pacific through western Canada.

Of special interest from the standpoint of domestic politics within the soviet union is the fact that the new railway will tap the southern area of the so-called Yakutsk republic, a vast territory which spreads fanwise toward the Arctic and occupies most of the valley of the Lena river and its tributaries. The Yakut Indians, close cousins of the American Indians, live in this territory. They number some 300,000 and are increasing. The presence of gold, iron, and coal in the territory has stimulated Moscow's interest, and, according to report, also has stimulated the Yakuts toward a policy of nationalistic development which may not coincide with Kremlin interests. As the situation stands today there are only three routes into the Yakut nation—overland from the northern end of Lake Baikal, or up the Zeya river from Blagoveshchensk-on-the-Amur, or by sea through the Arctic ocean and then up the Lena river. Four or five years ago the soviets established a settlement at the mouth of the Lena which allegedly was populated by political exiles.

One of the districts tapped by the new railway, on the Vitim river, a tributary of the Lena, already is internationally known as the base of Lena goldfields, long a subject of controversy between the soviets and Great Britain. The gold mining town of Bodaibo, headquarters of former British gold mining enterprise, now has a population of about 15,000. In pre-revolutionary days this area, located to the northeast of Lake Baikal, was the chief source of czarist Russian gold. After the revolution the soviets granted the British company a concession to continue the work, but later canceled the concession arbitrarily, thus provoking a long diplomatic dispute with the British which finally was settled in 1934 when Moscow agreed to pay the British claim. In the summer it is possible for river steamers to navigate the Vitim river from Bodaibo to Yakutsk, capital of the Yakutsk republic. In winter communication is by sleds propelled by airplane engines across the ice.

The soviet announcement of the decision to construct the "BAM" railway received much attention in Harbin, metropolis of north Manchuria, where talk of war between Japan and Russia constitutes a daily breakfast diet, due to reports and forecasts in the Harbin newspapers. The same situation prevailed when it was announced that the Russians were double-tracking the Trans-Siberian. But the excitement over this issue has begun to die down with the approaching completion of the job late this summer. The soviets have pushed construction on the most difficult section, through the mountains between Chita and Blagoveshchensk, all through the winter.

According to soviet officials the "BAM" railway will require about ten years to complete. If the Russians are able to do the job and avoid a war with Japan it will lead to the development of another large section of frontier country now covered with forest, the eastern section of which has great potentialities, since the lower Amur district is opposite northern Sakhalin Island, the only far eastern area, aside from the Dutch East Indian islands, which contains developed oil wells.

FOUR WINDS

Joan Vellandy Arrives at Four Winds and Receives a Chilly Reception from Her Sinister Aunt Beth

By Roland Pertwee

THE STORY TO DATE

Beth Vellandy has lived her whole life in Four Winds, gaunt and forbidding old English manor, the Vellandy ancestral home. With the exception of one eight months' excursion, about which she never speaks, Beth has been dominated by her miserly father and, after his death, by her crippled brother, Philip, to whom the father left his whole fortune. Beth secretly loosens the brake of Philip's invalid chair and he hurtles downhill to his death. He leaves the fortune to Beth, with the exception that if a missing brother, Weldon, who ran away to America, is found and has a family, everything goes to his firstborn, who must live with Beth at Four Winds for the duration of Beth's life. Beth is befriended by Mrs. Purbright, a kindly neighbor, and her son, Capt. Rawdon Purbright. Joan Vellandy, eldest child of the missing Weldon, who has died in America, learns of her inheritance through a newspaper advertisment. Joan, almost penniless, has won a walkathon contest in Los Angeles. Without bothering to answer the newspaper ad, she goes to England and walks the hundred miles from Plymouth to Four Winds. Near the house she meets Captain Purbright. They become acquainted and Purbright takes Joan to his home, where she meets his mother.

INSTALMENT IV.

As JOAN watched the house, great plum-colored storm clouds banked up behind it and spread across the heavens like a monstrous bruise. A wind came worrying down the valley, stirring the trees to restless movement, and footsteps coming along the road could be heard.

Joan could not see who was approaching and could not understand why she so greatly desired to be anywhere else than in the pathway of whoever it might be. A minute passed and then a man came into view. Even at a distance she could see that there was something strange about him. He walked with a slow, rolling gait and with his chin on his breast. On one of his shoulders was a canvas kit bag such as sailors use. He wore no coat. A shabby shirt, open at the neck, covered his body, and his legs were in blue dungarees.

At the bridge he stopped and lifted his head. On one side of his face was a purple blotch, a birthmark or the result of an accident. The other side, by comparison, was childishly smooth and fresh. His lower lip drooped, as though he lacked the spirit to stiffen it. His eyes in their deep sockets were dull and rather stupid. For a while he looked at Joan without speaking, then his mouth twisted into a slow grin.

"My word! Pretty hot!" he said, and nodded approval of her bare legs. "Anybody of the name Vellandy 'round here?"

His voice was coarse and treacly. The vowel sounds were grievously wide.

"Vellandy is my name," said Joan.

"Don't talk tripe. Not you. Vellandy of Four Winds."

"Vellandy is my name," she repeated, "and Four Winds is where I'm going to."

He stared angrily and came nearer.

"What for? What for? Don't tell me . . ."

"I'm not going to tell you anything," she said.

A fiery ember sparkled in his eyes and went out. His body drooped and he gave a sort of hopeless laugh.

"I might have known there'd be somebody else. And she so sure there wouldn't be. Caw! I might've known." The ember blazed up again. A savage note came into his voice. "Who the hell are you to deprive a man of his rights? Eh?"

She was sure then that he was mad. She said gently:

"I know nothing about your rights. I'm a stranger. I have never been here before."

"Go up the hill," he said. "A fine welcome is waiting there."

The laugh that accompanied the words had a threat in it.

"Go on up the hill. I can wait. I was bred to wait."

She asked: "Is there any message I should give?"

"Say nothing. I can wait. Bred on waiting."

He hitched up the string of his bundle and went on down the road. When he was out of sight Joan crossed the bridge and started to climb the hill across the fields. Rain began falling.

AFTER her interview with Mr. Scoter, and the announcement of his intention to advertise in the American newspapers for an heir to her brother's estate, Miss Beth went through a period of apprehension that even her stoicism could barely endure. Not until two months had passed, during which no reply to the advertisment had been received, did her anxiety abate. Then very slowly, as week followed week, confidence was born in her. She felt that her fears were without foundation and that she was in truth the last descendant of this line of her family.

Reluctant to accept too speedily the will of fate to cheat her no longer, she planned to allow three months to pass before realizing a desire which had secretly possessed her for nearly forty years. Time had never tarnished the brightness of that desire nor robbed her of the eagerness with which she looked forward to it.

Everything had to be carried out with the greatest secrecy. On no account would she have let anybody know what was going on in her mind. Each move was carefully camouflaged so as to avoid exciting suspicion. To explain why her brother's room was repapered and a bathroom installed she had given out that it was her intention to take lodgers from time to time. Until then there had been no bath at Four Winds, and even after it was put in Miss Beth never used it. It was a symbol of something as yet to be realized. Probably her greatest extravagance was in building a garage, for, being without a car, it was of service to no one. With her own hand she painted a sign to hang on the railings. It bore the words: "VISITORS ACCOMMODATED." This board was responsible for several inquiries, but on each occasion Miss Beth crisply informed the applicants that she had made her arrangements for the season and they could go elsewhere.

Violet, the new maid, was kept constantly on the go, cleaning and polishing, or making conserves of marrow, blackberries, or any other growing things that could be had for practically nothing. She would berate the girl mercilessly if she returned from an evening out without bringing back with her a basket of crabapples, sloes, or elderberries gathered in wood or hedgerow.

Miss Beth made a quantity of sloe gin, which was safely locked in a cupboard out of harm's way.

Her appearance, too, underwent a change. Embellished with a few knots of colored ribbon, her apparel assumed a more cheerful aspect.

Then one day a very strange thing happened. Just three months after Philip Vellandy's funeral Violet was horrified to hear her usually silent mistress singing as she went about her business. Creeping out into the passage, Violet saw her enter what had been the late master's room, and it was there that the song reached its highest pitch. Through a crack in the door Violet beheld Miss Beth in the act of making up the bed. As no visitor was expected or had been announced, Violet was amazed. For one awful moment she feared that Miss Beth must be making the bed for the ghost of her departed brother, and with the courage of desperation she pushed open the door.

She had chosen an unhappy moment, for as she passed the threshold Miss Beth was stooping to press her lips to the pillow, or to some imaginary figure that lay there. The sight was too much for Violet and she screamed.

Miss Beth spun around like a ferret.

"What's the matter with you? What do you want here?"

There was rage in the voice, but no insanity. Courageously Violet recovered herself.

"'Tis only that I thought I heard someone groanin'."

Miss Beth, too, recovered her composure.

"A person can sing in their own house. Fetch a jug of hot water and bring it here at once."

Violet goggled.

"Was you expecting company?"

But not even then was Miss Beth prepared to confide.

"Fetch that water."

As Violet went downstairs the somber hall was lit by a blaze of lightning. The girl's hands flew to her throat, then to her ears. Thunder roared.

JOAN ran, although haste could not prevent her from being soaked to the skin. The driving rain, which turned to hail as she reached the iron fence of the garden, had washed the curl from her hair and flattened it to her head like a boy's. Panting, and with bright-colored cheeks from which water dripped, she reached the porch and beat her knuckles on the door.

"Hullo there! Anybody at home?"

From within came the sound of feet running downstairs and other feet on oilcloth. The sounds were quite distinct. They converged in the hall and a voice said sharply:

"Get back to your kitchen and shut yourself in."

Joan heard the oilcloth feet retreating.

The door was thrown open and a pair of thin arms reached out from the odorous darkness of the hall.

Joan did not accept the invitation of that embrace. Surprise and a natural reluctance to display affection which she did not feel held her where she stood.

The lightning flashed again and she saw Miss Beth, her jewels and petty finery, her high cheekbones, and her grim mouth dazzlingly defined. She even saw tears poised upon the lower lids of a pair of gray and piercing eyes—eyes that were fixed upon her with an expression of devouring love, terrifying in its intensity.

Then Miss Beth spoke:

"You're so beautiful . . . even I never thought . . . beautiful and so young."

There were wonder and rapture in the voice. It shook with delight. It vibrated with amazement.

Again the lightning flashed and in an instant Miss Beth recoiled, her face twisted into an expression of hideous disappointment. And suddenly she cried out:

"No. Not that young! You couldn't be!" Her hand shot out and fastened upon Joan's naked arm with nails that buried into her young flesh. "Who are you?" she raved. "Who . . . who are you?"

"It's all right. I'm your niece, Joan Vellandy."

"You're so beautiful . . . even I never thought . . . beautiful and so young."

A long breath hissed between Miss Beth's shut teeth. The pupils of her eyes mounted behind her upper lids; she swayed and fell in a heap upon the doorstep.

Violet ran from the kitchen. Together the two girls carried the limp woman into the house.

When Miss Beth recovered from her faint she was quite calm. It was the first time in a life of recurrent frustrations that she had ever betrayed a weakness. To Joan she said:

"Leave me alone, please. We will discuss things later."

"If you would rather I didn't stop here, Miss Vellandy——" Joan began, for the nature of her welcome had not been encouraging.

"I would much rather, but since presumably you have the right to be here, my wishes are of no importance."

It was hard to look dignified with water dripping from her clothes and settling in pools wherever she stood, but Joan did her best.

"If that's how you feel, I think I would find it pleasanter to stay with Mrs. Purbright."

Miss Beth jerked her head.

"I must say you have lost no time in staking your claim."

"I haven't an idea what you mean, but I assure you I have no wish to stay where I'm unwelcome."

Into Miss Beth's voice there came a note of subtle cunning.

"Of course, if you don't think you are going to like Four Winds there is no obligation to stay. None whatever. None. And why expect to be welcome? Until ten minutes ago I was ignorant of your existence. You tell me your name is Joan Vellandy, but how do I know you are speaking the truth?"

"Is there any reason why I shouldn't?"

"Plenty, I should think. Two hundred thousand pounds is reason enough."

Joan gasped, as Miss Beth was quick to notice. She had taken for granted that Joan had called on Mr. Scoter before coming to Four Winds. The gasp betrayed the fact that the girl knew little or nothing about her inheritance. Miss Beth could have bitten out her tongue for making so rash an admission.

"I'm sorry my coming has upset you," said Joan, "but it is evident there are things we will have to talk over."

She knew from a motive of which she was ignorant that Miss Vellandy had declared war on her. An obstinate streak in her own nature goaded her to take up the challenge. But for that she would have walked out into the storm.

Miss Beth said:

"So you had better be under no illusions. You will find no human tenderness in this house, no warmth and no welcome."

Joan said:

"Then why did you hold out your arms to me when I stood at the door? And why were there tears in your eyes?"

Miss Beth's body went rigid as ice.

"That is a lie."

In face of so bald a denial it was useless to argue the point. But Joan was not a girl who readily accepted the title of liar. She looked Miss Beth in the eyes.

"The person you were expecting will not come tonight," she said, and went from the room. Standing in the hall, she heard a key turn in the lock. She turned toward where she imagined the kitchen lay.

THE one heart that rejoiced at the coming of Joan to Four Winds beat in the breast of the maid Violet. By nature of a gentle and willing disposition, she had accepted Miss Beth's tyranny without protest. Secretly she hated and feared her mistress and took no pleasure in serving her, but the arrival of this calm-voiced young lady afforded an opportunity for giving services that would be appreciated.

The contents of Joan's haversack, which Violet had fetched, had suffered severely from the rain. Indeed, there was not a dry stitch into which she could change, but here again Violet came to the rescue.

There was nobody else to whom she would have lent her party frock. But Joan was welcome to it. Also she was welcome to a chemise and a very starchy pair of calico knickers which promised to contour their form through any outer material. Joan did not want any stockings, saying that she seldom wore them in the house, which Violet thought was strange and perhaps a little shocking. "Not but what you expect foreigners to have different ways."

They had not heard Miss Beth enter the kitchen. Her voice broke in on them discordantly:

"When you have quite finished keeping Violet from her work I should like to have a word with you."

Miss Beth closed the sitting room door and seated herself on a wooden chair with an erect back. She said:

"I have written a letter to Mr. Scoter informing him of your arrival and of your pretensions to be the daughter of my late brother Weldon. Until I have his reply, or he calls in person, you are at liberty to remain here, and I shall take no steps to contest any claim that you may propose to make. I have been through that bag thing you brought with you and find that you have papers of identity, a letter of credit, and about a hundred pounds in notes."

Joan shrugged her shoulders.

"You are very thorough."

"I have reason to be. You will not find that I shall relinquish a single thing that belongs to me without a struggle. I have here a copy of my brother's will which you may read for yourself. It is cruel, unjust, and malicious, but a very faithful portrait of the man himself. Having read it, you will no doubt feel, as I do, that he is better dead. My brother Weldon married Alice Fraynel in nineteen hundred and ten. Do you claim to be the only child of that union?"

"I am the only child."

"At that time Weldon had been in America for twenty years. Did he ever mention a previous marriage?"

Joan frowned.

"No. My mother was his first wife. I know she was."

"How do you know?"

"He told me."

"Hm! A fat lot of good that would do you in a court of law. Even the gospel tells us that men are liars."

"My father was not a liar. He was the grandest person I ever knew."

"What was he doing during those twenty years?"

Joan hesitated.

"I don't know. For three or four years before he married mother he was doing something in the oil fields. But he never talked about any time before that. Except his life here."

"I see. It never occurred to you that during that time he might have been married and brought a dozen children into the world. Weldon was no hermit. O, dear, no! There were plenty of tales about his goings on at Tiverton."

"If there were, I have no wish to hear them," said Joan hotly.

She led the way upstairs.

As Above, So Below

Look for your birthday or the group in which it appears throughout the following notes—it may be mentioned more than once. Mark it with a pencil wherever you see it, and then heed the counsel given.

By WYNN

WE MIGHT be better off, individually and collectively, if we knew more about the rules of the game we are trying to win. And while we are calling life a game, it might be a novelty to advance the theory that practice makes an improved member of the team, if one practices correctly.

Too many of us have interpreted honesty as not getting caught and justice as beating the other fellow with a trickier lawyer. Right thought and action could be more nearly universal.

And when it comes to the popular concept of "success" we have the blue ribbon, grade A distortion of reality. We see everywhere a dash for possession, usually considering that having creates or indicates the right to hold. Men and women have been taught a great deal about getting wealth, power, and position, but very little about making sure that they deserve these desirable things.

This week is considerably better for those of us who are sincerely aiming at being real and coöperative and honest. If you aren't getting a square deal, try giving one. Watch buying and legal deals; control foolish optimism.

Today and tomorrow: Make friends and attend to money matters. Tuesday and Wednesday: Be wary in emotional affairs; keep out of doubtful secrets. Thursday, Friday, and Saturday: Personal; excellent days for self-development; do it yourself; use your own head and hunch, if it isn't selfish. Next Sunday: Study future financial possibilities and make plans.

Brotherly Love

The ancient masters taught that everything has two poles. The line of one dimension has its positive and its negative ends, yet it is the same line; positive and negative are therefore parts of the same thing. The plane, or surface, of two dimensions has many poles, represented by many lines, but each pole must have its opposite to maintain its own existence as a pole. A positive implies a negative, and vice versa. A three-dimensional sphere has its poles, one electric and the other magnetic. The rule is simple—that nothing exists of itself alone, but has its other self, as it were, in a polarity of attraction. Yet its workings in the world of affairs are anything but simple; it is complexity to the nth power.

It extends beyond things into the realm of relationships and other intangible quantities and qualities, among which is the ordinary family relationship of brothers and sisters, children of the same parents. Astrologically this is a relationship of the third house. Add half the circle of twelve houses, i. e., six houses, and we obtain the opposite, or ninth, house, which is the house of universal brotherhood; which indicates that family brotherhood is the negative pole of the great brotherhood of all mankind. This and next year are putting tremendous accent on the necessity for understanding of these points, particularly in the lives of those born from June 21 to July 21.

Heredity

Pythagoras, one of the wisest men who ever lived, taught that there are no bonds other than those of similarity between men. A common cause unites men more than does the so-called tie of heredity. Wars have been fought with brothers on opposite sides, but not with men of the same views on opposing fronts. Like attracts like.

But the soul that a father and mother attract into a child can be totally dissimilar to the soul they attract to another child under dissimilar conditions at another time.

Witness some of the strangely assorted families on every street. One brother is a popular, successful, serving individual; the other, separated perhaps by but a year, is in most ways the opposite, a black sheep. In nature equality is to be found only in opportunity, not in character.

Like does produce its kind at time of production, but it can change immediately thereafter, and often does. Each of us seeks his true level, above or below his station of birth. Think over these points seriously during the coming two years, particularly if you were born between Nov. 22 and Dec. 21.

BALD HEADED MEN!

Would you gamble the price of 2 bottles of JAPANESE OIL to find out whether your hair roots are not dead but merely dormant? JAPANESE OIL is the antiseptic counter-irritant that has helped thousands who were partially bald—whose hair roots were not dead but dormant. Get 2-60c bottles from your druggist. Give JAPANESE OIL a fair trial. If your hair roots are dead, you aren't out much. But if they are dormant you have an excellent chance to save the hair you still have and grow hair again on the thin and bald spots. STOMACH RECOVERY FOOLED HIS FRIENDS

To the surprise of his friends, L. L. Lee, 1009 Slater St., Valdosta, Georgia, is finally conquering a severe stomach ailment. They note that he now looks fifteen years younger, is free from pain and has gained weight and strength. He can eat and drink anything, he says, and as much as he wants. Thus another letter is added and over 54,000 others have written letters that praise the results of Udga, a stomach specialist's formula. If acid stomach, indigestion, heartburn, gas pains, belching and other symptoms of excess acidity persist, it's a warning that you need more thorough medication than baking soda or common tablets or powders. Get Udga at your drug store. One trial must prove quicker, more lasting relief or your money is refunded.

Below: This wicker hat by Connie Foster of Hollywood is a takeoff on what South Sea islanders wear on their heads (when they wear anything) and a harmonizing accessory with Carole Lombard's linen beach costume.

One of Miss Lombard's play outfits consists of plaited shorts, a halter top that looks like a blouse before and nothing behind, a long coat of linen, and a broad-brimmed leghorn hat.

"Her leaning toward sports clothes is well known among her friends and admirers in Hollywood. Her summer wardrobe contains more shorts, slacks, and pajamas than gowns and dresses." (Miss Lombard finds tailored pajamas ideal for air travel. This costume includes trousers, blouse, and swagger jacket. Belt and buttons are of pigskin. Shoes are of woven lether. A simple beret tops off the costume.

". . . always inclines toward the simple when her personal preference is allowed consideration." (Item of her personal wardrobe is this long linen model, worn over a suit of shorts.)

Carole Lombard Chooses Summer Sports Clothes

By ROSALIND SHAFFER

Hollywood, Cal.

THOUGH frequently referred as "one of the best dressed actresses in Hollywood," Carole Lombard, blonde charmer of the screen, actually maintains no extravagant wardrobe, considering the position she occupies in the movie world.

But she does take clothes seriously, and she works with Travis Banton, the designer, upon every detail of her dress, which always inclines toward the simple when her personal preference is allowed consideration. Her leaning toward sports clothes is well known among her friends and admirers in Hollywood. Her summer wardrobe contains more shorts, slacks, and pajamas than gowns and dresses. Yet she is the perfect model for elaborate creations, such as those she often wears on the screen. A good figure and superb grooming, she believes, are more important than actual beauty.

Few today in this rapidly changing world remember that the celebrated Carole Lombard of the films early in her movie career tossed custard pies for Mack Sennett. Yes, she was one of the bathing beauties of old. And, like many of the beauties who have climbed to fame, she had a background of an exclusive finishing school before she began the serious business of charming.

Carole first burst upon the Hollywood scene at the age of seven, with the family name of Peters. The family had come from Fort Wayne, Ind., where Carole was born Jane Alice Peters on Oct. 6, 1909. Carole was a complete tomboy, had no interest in dolls, and screamed in temper if the boys at school wouldn't let her play in their games. To this day she likes sports, especially tennis, though she is far from the general idea of a female athlete.

Acting was an early love of hers. When the tomboy spirit had to be curbed as the years brought their charms, Carole was sent from time to time to several girls' schools, as well as to a Hollywood public school, and was active in dramatics in every program. One time she played a gray-haired mother in a school drama, with a daughter much older than her own real age. In another opus she was the villain, complete with mustachios, depressedly drooping.

When Carole was in school in Los Angeles she was no light under a bushel by any means. She went out to dinner parties and such, and on one occasion attracted the attention of a Fox executive, who offered her a rôle opposite Eddie Lowe in a melodrama called "Married in Transit." Then came two leads with Buck Jones and one with Tom Mix.

"It didn't take me long to realize that I adored working in the movies," says Carole, "but I honestly didn't believe I was getting anywhere in westerns. All I had to do was simper prettily at the hero and scream with terror while he was battling with the villain."

When Mack Sennett offered her a contract, Carole, hearkening to the voice of wisdom and remembering how many famous graduates that "young ladies' seminary for pie throwing and beach burning" had elevated, grabbed the contract right out of the astonished Mack's hand, and Mack was stuck with her, along with Sally Eilers and Daphne Pollard, for a year and a half. Her first important part was with Pathé in "Show Folks," a picture starring Lina Basquette and Eddie Quillan. Then came a Pathé contract, with several successful leads. Meanwhile an injury in an automobile accident marred her looks so that some considerable plastic surgery was necessary to restore her features. It was after the accident that Carole adopted her present screen name, both because she liked it and because a numerologist had told her she would never succeed with the name of Peters. That extra "e" on the Carole is for the same reason, numerology.

At the same time Carole abolished a lot of the natural curves that had looked great in a bathing suit but weren't so charming for a dramatic actress with ambitions to go places. So it was a completely altered article from the girl whom Sennett had first glorified as to name, figure, and features that became a Paramount star. After a couple of rôles in the new studio she began to get the breaks.

The first of these was meeting Bill Powell, who employed her as his leading lady in two pictures, wooed her with extravagance, charm, and originality, and married her.

The pictures with Powell first gave her the sophisticated lady rôles that have achieved fame for her. She learned a lot about acting from Powell, and there is no doubt the marriage gave her a prestige that helped along the career at that stage. Though the marriage didn't last, they're still admirers of each other. No Lombard party is complete without the presence of Bill Powell.

Incidentally, no one will ever forget the party Carole and Bill gave after a hospital sojourn. All guests were grabbed at the door and clothed as surgeons or nurses. All refreshments were served in those painfully familiar white enamel utensils the natural locale of which is a hospital.

Many people felt that something went awry when Carole didn't get some mention in the yearly academy awards for her work with John Barrymore in "Twentieth Century." It was a high spot dramatically, and Carole did plenty with it.

"Barrymore taught me a great deal," says the frank Carole. "That man is truly a great artist."

The romantic life of Carole Lombard has been largely flavored of late with Robert Riskin, writer for the screen, formerly for the stage. No marriage seems imminent, as Carole takes her career very seriously and fears another divorce. Last year Russ Colombo, who died under such sad circumstances, was the favored swain, and it is thought that if the accidental shooting had not put an end to his career the couple would have married.

Songs of Spring Greet Chicagoland as the Season Wanes

Coming Week a Full One for Music Lovers

John Charles Thomas, Civic Festival, Opera Only Part of Program.

By Edward Moore.

THOSE of us who feel like listening to music this week are going to have our difficulties, not that the field is so limited, but that there will be so much. Here are John Charles Thomas at the Civic Opera house, the annual festival of the Civic Music association at Orchestra hall, and the Fisk singers at the Studebaker this afternoon; the San Carlo Opera company coming back for a spring season at the Auditorium beginning tomorrow night; Noble Cain and his A Cappella choir Monday and Wednesday night, the Paulist choristers directed by the Rev. Eugene O'Malley Tuesday night, the Association of Commerce Glee club under the direction of Arthur Dunham Thursday night, all these at Orchestra hall.

All this and more happening at a time of year when musical events have usually been put away to await another season. For that matter, there are additions to the list more than a week away. Joseph Bentonelli, the Chicago Grand Opera company tenor, will be one of them. He is coming to Orchestra hall a week from today.

Thomas First an Evangelistic Singer.

Mr. Thomas, one of the important singers of the day, is appearing for the benefit of the John B. Murphy hospital's clinic for the sick poor. A highly varied career has been his. He began as an evangelistic singer with his father and mother; he went into light opera while he was still young, singing parts in "Naughty Marietta," "Apple Blossoms," "Maytime," and "Alone at Last." Since then he has been a member of the Chicago, Philadelphia, San Francisco, Los Angeles, and Metropolitan Opera companies, he has made concert tours of the United States, England, France, Germany, Switzerland, and Holland, and has had some more grand opera seasons as guest star in Brussels, Berlin, Vienna, and London. And he is at the top of his voice and artistic form now.

San Carlo Opera Has Several New Principals.

Fortune Gallo is bringing back his San Carlo Opera company with most of the favorites of last fall, with one loss, and with several additions to the list of principals. The loss is Dreda Aves, the contralto, who has left because of the recent death of her mother. Her place will be taken by Elsa Hottinger of Chicago in "Aïda" and "Lohengrin," and by Ina Bourskaya in "Carmen." The additions to the list will be Hizi Koyke, Japanese soprano, and Sidney Rayner, who have not been heard here since 1933; Norma Richter, dramatic soprano and a former member of the Cincinnati and Philadelphia opera companies, and Lucille Meusel, coloratura soprano who sang two seasons with the Chicago company at the Civic Opera house.

In addition there will be such well known artists as Bianca Saroya, Aroldo Lindi, Mostyn Thomas, Stefan Kozakevich, Charlotte Simons, Dimitri Onofrei, and many others. The ballet continues to be headed by Lydia Arlova and Lucien Prideaux. In all, it looks like an interesting and attractive week.

Eight Hundred Children Sing in Civic Music Festival.

The Civic Music association's annual festival is always a joyous occasion. Here are 800 youngsters gathered from the various institutions and playgrounds, supported by the association, and brought together to sing the songs they have learned as small groups during the winter. A special feature of today's program will be a new cantata, "The Ride of John Gilpin," written for the chorus by the director of music, Marx E. Oberndorfer. The Civic orchestra will also play under the direction of Eric DeLamarter.

The Paulist Choristers are giving the thirty-first annual concert under the direction of the Rev. Eugene O'Malley, himself once a singer in the group. It will be a request program consisting of polyphonic numbers, Russian motets, a Bach group, a composition by a Chicago composer, and an Alleluia chorus by Father Finn, the founder of the choir. Billy Callahan, for a number of years the leading soprano soloist, is expected to sing his farewell song. He is preparing to follow Father O'Malley as Father O'Malley followed Father Finn. Robert Corrogan will be a new soprano soloist today.

Chicago A Cappella Choir to Give Two Concerts.

A Chicago A Cappella choir, another notable choral organization whose director is Noble Cain, will give two concerts with differing programs on Monday and Wednesday nights. The first is being sponsored by the Elks lodge of Evanston for the benefit of the crippled children of that city. Attention is called to a special number in the second program, a setting of the 104th Psalm by Gunther Raphael. It will have its American première on this occasion. It is written in twelve parts for double choir, requires twenty-five minutes to sing, and will be presented in German. Bach's "Sing Ye to the Lord" in four movements will also be presented.

The Chicago Association of Commerce Glee club is giving its twenty-third annual spring concert under the direction of Arthur Dunham. Its history dates back to 1912, when a group of Chicago business men under the sponsorship of the Association of Commerce were making a business extension tour through Texas. To while away the time between stops, some amateur singers organized an impromptu glee club and sang in the baggage car. Upon their return the glee club was adopted by the association and professionally organized. It now has a membership of 100, with twenty reserve singers and a long waiting list.

Rudolph Reuter, Chicago pianist, will give a recital next Sunday afternoon under the auspices of the four Chicago chapters of the national society, Phi Beta. The program will be given at the Drake hotel at 3 o'clock.

Mae West Will Be Producer When She Stops Acting

MAE WEST has no intention of deserting the cinema world when her days of stardom are over. When she can no longer be a leading lady before the klieg lights she will become a producer, la West recently announced.

Like the factory owner who began as an office boy, Mae will know the business from the ground up. She has had experience in every stage of picture making during her time in Hollywood. She has written stories and collaborated on dialog. She has assisted in composing songs and had a vote in the choice of her directors and supporting casts. She has been an influence in the selection of costumes. Miss West says she has deliberately participated in all these activities with the idea of ultimately becoming a producer.

"I know as well as anybody else that I'll be all 'washed up' as an actress one of these day," says Mae. "But I like pictures well enough to want to continue in them. Yes, well do I know that other stars have tried to make pictures and failed.

"I will not be a producer-star. When I am through as a star, no one will know it quicker than I. I intend only to finance and supervise the making of pictures with players I'll hire, cast in stories I'll buy, directed by men I'll hire."

Women now making good as directors in Hollywood include Dorothy Arzner, who tops the list because she is the only director with the full responsibilities of her profession; Franchon Royer, who has made a success of inexpensive, independent pictures, and Mrs. Wallace Reid, who occasionally makes a feature film.

No Wedding Bells in Near Future for Jean Harlow

JEAN HARLOW declines to comment on the rumor that she and William Powell, sophisticated and glamorous portrayer of detective rôles, may marry. That the two stars are "interested" in each other is admitted by both. "I'm busy right now," commented the actress recently, "and my thoughts are solely on my work." The final decree of Miss Harlow's divorce from Hal Rosson, movie cameraman, will not be issued for a year.

London "Hamlet."

The Theater Guild has abandoned its negotiations with John Gielgud, London star, and Guthrie McClintic has started on his own account. It is expected that Mr. Gielgud will bring over his company of a dozen players for a ten or twelve weeks' engagement in "Hamlet" and "Richard II." next season.

Players' Homes Doomed if Films Leave Coast

IN the event that the movie industry is forced from California by the legislature's proposed drastic tax measures, screen stars will lose many millions of dollars invested in homes. The investment of the motion picture industry itself, in the southern part of the state, is estimated at $400,000,000. Experts say that the studios themselves could be duplicated, at today's prices, for one-third of their original cost.

But should the industry evacuate, the stars would have to follow their bread and butter, as well as careers, out of the state, and leave their homes to the mercies of auction, to be sold at a fraction of their cost.

There has been a rage of homebuilding among the cinema stars. A great many have built or purchased houses and estates in the film capital, and others have invested large sums of money in country locations outside the city.

Constance Bennett, Claudette Colbert, Dick Powell, Warner Baxter, Frank Morgan, and William Powell are only a few of the stars who recently acquired, or are about to acquire, new homes by construction or purchase.

Genevieve Tobin, Joel McCrea, Winfield Sheehan, and John Cromwell, the director, have bought country establishments. Samuel Goldwyn recently built a pretentious home in Beverly Hills.

Fame Goes but Oldtime Stars Cling to Films

Profession of Acting Is Lifelong; Top Ranking Players Now Do Bits.

FAME may come and fame may go, but stars linger on in the movies for a long, long time. Their names may fade from theater lights, they may sink from first place to fifteenth in the cast, but they continue to do their bit on the lot. Like medicine or law—or bricklaying or plumbing—acting seems to be a lifelong profession.

A recent survey shows that most of the men and women who were top ranking stars a quarter of a century ago still are working for the films. Their names rarely appear, their faces are seen only fleetingly, their salaries are pittances compared to what they once were, but the show goes on. They know they will never stage a comeback, but economic necessity, or boredom, keeps them on the job. William Farnum tries to explain.

"It's the game," he says. "You know you can't last forever. Any film star eventually comes to the point where he's living, professionally speaking, on borrowed time. Personally, I'm happy to have been at the top. I work now because I have to."

Twenty-five years ago Farnum, first ranking sheik of the pre-war decade, was earning $10,000 a week with Fox. His total income for 1934 was less than a week's salary in those halycon days.

List of Yesterday's Stars Contains Many Famous Names.

Farnum smiled recalling the contrast of his affluent yesterday and his modest present. His $10,000 a week agreement with Fox was written in pencil on an office scratch pad. He and Fox signed it. The modern contracts engaging him to appear to speak a line or two of dialog for a modest figure are two page documents in small type, bristling with legal phraseology.

Florence Turner Lost Fortune in Venture in England.

Raymond McKee, who earned $1,500 a week as a star comedian with Mack Sennett, is financially secure. He continues in the films because "what can you do with yourself after a session of picture work? I retired and did a lot of traveling. Then I tried playing at resorts, took up golf, even tried to write a book. Finally I was at the point where I was cutting up paper dolls to keep from going crazy. So I went back to work. You can't quit."

Florence E. Turner, whose name was the first ever to appear on the screen, lost her fortune in attempting to establish studios in England.

"But if I had it to do over again," Miss Turner asserts gayly, "I'd do the same things in the same way. Money doesn't mean anything when it comes in so fast, or goes out so fast. The main thing is the thrill of being here. It's in the blood."

Leading Woman

MARJORIE LYTELL, of "Three Men on a Horse," has spent the better part of her life telling people that she is not related to Bert Lytell; in fact, did not even know him until she came to the Harris in "Three Men on a Horse" and found her namesake playing next door at the Selwyn.

She is best remembered by Chicago audiences for her appearance as the young society girl in "As Husbands Go," which played here several seasons ago. When she was 16 years old she played her first rôle in a Winthrop Ames production. Then came a tour of one-nighters with William Hodge in "Straight Thru the Door." A full-fledged actress by now, she appeared in a succession of plays, including "Best Years" and "White Lie." A season in "stock" in Portland and Houston followed.

Hollywood had its eye on the talented Miss Lytell, and when one company decided that they had found a second Hepburn in her she was rushed out to the Pacific coast. Her first rôle was anything but Hepburnish. She played a young schoolgirl in "Finishing School" with Ginger Rogers. Her next picture was "The Party's Over."

In private life Miss Lytell is Mrs. Philip Faversham. Chicago audiences will remember her husband as the son of the late William Faversham, and the personable young actor who played the juvenile rôle in "Another Language" here.

"Legit" Wakes Up.

A third company of "Three Men on a Horse" will open in Toronto on May 6. A London production will be staged by Gilbert Miller. A Los Angeles company will open late in May. Not since the boom days of the 1920s has the legitimate stage boasted of a hit with three and four companies.

Chicagoans Take a Lively Part in N. Y.'s Social Whirl

Midwest Celebrities Take Tea with Former Mildred Marshall Blair, Now Mrs. Hayward.

By COUSIN EVE.

MANCHESTER-BY-THE-SEA, Mass.—(Special.)—New York is one glorious flower show in spring. Long boxes of pink and blue hydrangeas flaunt and wave across the fronts of flower shops. And palm fronds. Vitrines are magnificently exotic with flights of orchids. Hat shop windows recall the old cliche "mad as a hatter." "Streamlined" hats. Silly little pancake hats. Peaked hats like a coolie en vacance. Who buys them, one wonders.

Many little gocarts piled with purple and white grapes from Argentina.

Gocarts freighted with bluets, bright roses, violets, by the steps of John Pierpont Morgan's house. Makes you think of Paris.

Sad Memories Crowd.

Piously one goes to the Metropolitan museum and looks over the J. P. Morgan collections now installed. Mr. Morgan must have had lots of fun collecting these things. They are of many countries in many forms. Art elaborate and costly, some of it historic. Georgeous tapestries, furniture, church plate, jewels, marbles. But museums are depressing places. Sad indeed. People who have used these lovely objects of the past reach out and pluck your garments. Strange Europeans of the Renaissance.

Chicagoans Are Active in N. Y. Social Whirl

Local Celebrities Gather for Tea with Former Mildred Marshall Blair.

Much happier was I in the sunny American wing, three storied and full of ancestral junk, quaint and beautiful. Room after room, many given by old New York families and furnished according to period.

A wing of the American wing vaunts the stability of the Van Rensselaers; shows their long many windowed living room and its solid comforts. The guard turned away, and I sat in the great lether and oak chair of the old patroon, Stephen Van Rensselaer, and wondered what he would think of things today, from his house up the Hudson. Shelves full of beautiful silver tankards and spoons of the workmanship of Paul Revere. Platters smooth as satin. I had forgotten that Paul Revere was a silversmith and not just a cross country rider. Which of these superb pieces of silver did he lay aside to take the old gray mare out for a ride that night?

Harry Sleeper has given much of the silver and glass of the American wing. Mrs. Russell Sage's bequest was many early day chests and mirrors, clocks, sofas, and tables, with which the principal rooms are furnished.

The old wall papers are queer, highly colored, with quaint battle scenes and figures.

Haywards Are Cliff Dwellers in New York.

One often frequents Chicago circles in New York. Classically beautiful and looking younger than ever is Mrs. John Hayward, formerly Mildred Marshall Blair, wife of Chauncey B. Blair.

Mr. and Mrs. Hayward are cliff dwellers of the upper east side in a high up apartment near Central park. Charming place, full of delightful chinoiseries and well chosen modern art. It was here at a tea given for me that I saw more old Chicago friends, and some distinguished strangers. In the crowd Mrs. Ira Nelson Morris, Mr. and Mrs. Hollister Sturges, William Raymond, Mrs. Rice Linn, and Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Williams, the latter better known here as Etta McCormick of the R. Hall McCormicks. The Williamses are residents of Bedford Hills, with an apartment in town. They were exceedingly elated and on their toes, being all packed up for a trip to Japan as delegates to a Garden club convention.

A great Japanese swell, Prince Iyesato Tokugawa, who had had a good time in this country, conceived the idea of entertaining his American friends in this way. Beauty spots of Japan will be open to the hundred Americans traveling to Tokio; royal entertainments, garden parties, dinners, cherry trees abloom.

Some people there, who had wintered in tropical Rome, said the elements had raged in the Eternal city continuously. Snow, hail, ice!

We lunched and tead over in the new little streets and squares that ramble along the East river. Sutton place, Beekman place, Gracie square. Some of the houses seem to be small, converted tenements, all with bright doors, knockers; picture book houses!

First Wife Follows Marshall Field to River House.

At River house, that celebrated apartment to the north of River club, Marshall Field has settled for the time. And to the great excitement of all, Mrs. Evelyn Marshall Field, his first wife, is moving in. Her new domicile is a modest one of seventeen rooms and seven baths, with an interesting view up and down the river, arched distantly by enormous bridges, many boats threading its swift current. Veiled mistily.

Across the way is Blackwell's Island, a prison place, beautified by jade green roofs and pillared houses that have the dignity of Greek temples. If only you can thinl: so.

In Gracie square at 85th street are Mr. and Mrs. John Senior. Their apartment, newly built, gives them a library, living and dining rooms all facing the river, a mile or so above River club. The Seniors have a rarely beautiful installation and are there for keeps, caring greatly for New York. At 50th street is Miss Helen Clark, formerly of Lake Forest. Her Beekman place apartment is fascinating. The east wall of the living room is all glass; she has a terrace, a balcony, and commands the full south sweep of the river. Her walls are book lined, the color of her draperies pale springlike yellow.

Virginia Pope Becomes Important Fashions Editor.

It is interesting to meet inanimate things like household furnishings in various cities, Chicago, Washington, Boston. They, too, seem in time like old friends, giving you a merry welcome. Miss Virginia Pope, daughter of the late Mrs. Francis Pope of Chicago, has an establishment in East 58th street. From being a mere charming butterfly she has suddenly bloomed i .o an editress of fashions, with the whole world kowtowing. She is just home from Paris and London, where she was sent to inspect the great openings of the dressmakers. Delegations of stylists awaited her at the railroad station. Flowers from Chanel, Worth. Hard work to go to openings, day after day. But after all, c'est la vie! Miss Pope is a brilliant linguist, speaking seventeen varieties of Italian patois.

It wouldn't have been the Hollister Sturgeses if they hadn't been giving a party, and a big one. Their parties are the milling kind, where you come in and find lots of smiling faces, and some one whispers in your ear that the person you are about to meet is—somebody wonderful—you never hear who. The Sturges studio is on East 40th street, near Lexington avenue; two American basement houses rolled into one, with a huge room for parties. This day Mrs. Harrison Eustis was about to speak on "The Seeing Eye," her dogs-for-the-blind-mission at Morristown, and the room was filled with little chairs, as well as people.

The hostess, one of the prettiest women, was looking perfectly charming. And Hollister Sturges had taken a few hours off from relief work, in which he is a volunteer worker, to be his usual genial hostself, the "Holly" of all his friends.

Mrs. Eustis, a society woman of Philadelphia, left a widow, is still young and pretty.

She spoke extremely well and illustrated her facts with moving pictures, interesting ones with police dogs doing their three years' training for blind companionship. Included were pictures of blind men getting accustomed to walking with the dog who is to be their companion always—through life.

Marvelous is the protection of the creature, taught to foresee danger and avoid trouble of any kind for his helpless master. I was thrilled by Mrs. Harrison Eustis and her dogs. On leaving a bit early I ran into two dog specimens downstairs, huge wolflike creatures, their coats nearly black. Friendly, yet alarming. They ran up later as exhibits of the Seeing Eye mission work, with much tail wagging.

Among the celebrities at this party, the financial adviser to Persia, Morgan Shuster, recently returned.

Eskridge Paints the Gibraltar of the Pacific.

I dined one night with Mr. and Mrs. Sturges and others at the Park Lane. The party was interesting. A certain group was launching a woman's orchestra of eighty-five members, all of them professionals unemployed. They were all dining, too.

Helen Jepson, a Metropolitan diva, young, blonde, and radiant, said a few words, and there was a long string of composers, society women, and musicians who did as much. We, alas! were on our way elsewhere. New York has got to be like London, with too many engagements every night.

Robert Lee Eskridge's tea in the old Henry H. Rogers house, west 53d street, was another Chicago concourse. All of the Eskridge paintings done in Hawaii were shown, brilliant and daring. I especially liked a high pink rock, Diamond Head, our Gibraltar of the Pacific, set in oceans of tropical foliage.

Bob Eskridge is doing a book, to be lavishly illustrated by himself, on murals of the fifteenth century in Hawaii. Gathered round a cheerful log fire, among others Mrs. William P. Martin of Lake Forest, Commendatore Cortesi, Mr. and Mrs. Allen Haines, Mrs. James Wilder of Honolulu, widow of the famous bon vivant "Jimmy." Mr. and Mrs. Hollister Sturges, Mrs. Carol Krum, Mrs. S. R. Guggenheim, Peggy Hambleton, Mrs. Ira Morris, Mrs. Livingston Fairbanks, a score more.

New Yorkers Flock to Country for Week-Ends.

People flocked to the country from New York this spring. Indeed, they say that the habit of week ending from Friday to Monday is just about the finishing touch to social life in the old town. Everybody is just leaving for the country or just getting back, and therefore unable to consider doing this or that.

I was fortunate in being one in a caravan of smart motors headed for Manchester-by-the-Sea. We snapped through a lot of pretty suburbs, Rye, Portchester, Greenwich, onto the Boston post road, a historic thoroughfare, now a broad, smooth avenue. Fur coated, we zipped through New Haven, admiring the old churches and new units of Yale, crossed Hartford, up and over the lower reaches of the Berkshires in light snow. We raced, a procession of fast cars, into quiet old Manchester when it was dark. A rather cosmopolitan party with maids, chauffeurs, and servants to open a great house on the sea. There being no hotel in the conservative town, city people are dependent upon the hospitality of the villagers. So we were billeted into small, cozy houses, used to the odd ways of city people for generations, I fancy.

A brilliant sun the first day. Sea sapphire blue, smell of the sea weed, gulls screeching, a nip in the salt air. Saw several Chicago owned houses set in beautiful estates, of which the ninety-six acres owned by Ira Nelson Morris are loveliest of all. The house, built long ago by the late Senator Emerson McMillan, lies high on terraced rocks, with 3,000 yards of ocean front. The rocky promontory which names it Eagle's Head protects a beautiful white beach called Singing Sands. Here, in the season at the bath club, summer residents swim and laze in a scene of beauty not unlike a small private bay of Naples.

Morris Estate Full of Colorful Antiques.

The Morris estate is heavily wooded. High up on a rocky knoll is the famous Norwegian cottage built by Mrs. Morris. I went there one morning, when the countryside was calling, and it was extremely gay. Heat was supplied by porcelain stoves of great antiquity and a curious, square corner fireplace which projected into the room, and where the burning logs stood on end. Several tiny bedrooms had beds built into the wall. A high carved balcony; many carved ancient chests and armoires. An organ, a rude oaken dining table, and benches of great antiquity. Light from a huge circular iron ring holding candles. Fur rugs. Much beautiful old iron work. Delightful, storybook place. Lively little Pekes running about, glad to see company after the long winter. One of the guests, apparently a Bostonian, turns out to be the future earl of Lindsay.

We lunched with the Carroll Hills, a handsome, attractive young couple. Mrs. Hills made her debut in Chicago as Consuelo Bates at the time of young Florence Crane's debut.

Mrs. Hills, tall and piquant, has started a new fad in dogs. She is raising long haired dachshunds—the funniest, nicest little bowwows. Mostly they have the streamlined shape and russet coat, quite curly. The walls of the kennels are literally hung with prize winning ribbons, and the cages are full of little furry bundles of many sizes and colors. Seems there is a terrific demand for these hybrid specimens of dog. Not that it is by any means a new breed, for they date back a hundred and fifty years to England where the cross was a dachshund and a Sussex terrier. I noticed many charmingly carved wood panels in the pine living room of the farm house. They were torn from the wreck of Castle Hill, when Richard T. Crane's beautiful Italian house was destroyed to make room for Castle Hill, the imposing brick Georgian house with which David Adler replaced it. I drove over to Castle Hill one bleak, gray day, but that is another story.

SPRING BRIDE IN EVANSTON

Mrs. Elbridge Keith is the former Miss Virginia Patton. Her marriage took place on Saturday afternoon, April 20, in the chapel of the First Presbyterian church of Evanston. She is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter I. Patton of Evanston, and her husband is a son of Mrs. C. Alling Keith of Kenilworth. Mr. Keith and his bride will reside in Evanston.

Opera Premiere Tomorrow Night Society Magnet

Prominent Chicagoans Are to Attend Performance Sponsored for Charity.

By Judith Cass.

An opera première will be the attraction that will draw society almost en masse to the beloved old Auditorium theater tomorrow night. It is the première of the San Carlo Opera company and it is being sponsored by the Church Mission of Help, an organization of Episcopal women gathered together for the care of girls between the ages of 16 and 25 who need help in mental, moral, social, or spiritual problems.

Some of the city's most prominent women are interested in the organization, and so have been most active in promoting the benefit. The opera to be given is a favorite, "Madame Butterfly," and since the attractive little Japanese prima donna, Mme. Hizi Koyke, is to sing the leading part, it has not been difficult to persuade husbands, who ordinarily do not like opera, to agree to go tomorrow night. Mme. Ina Bourskaya is to sing the rôle of Suzuki and Dimitri Onofrei is to be Lieut. Pinkerton.

Horseshoe Circle Promises to Be Glamorous as Usual.

The horseshoe of boxes will present as gala an appearance tomorrow night as it used to in the days when Chicago's own grand opera company had a season each winter. Among those who will have dinner parties, followed by box parties at the opera, are Mr. and Mrs. Laurance H. Armour, Mr. and Mrs. Sewell Avery, Mr. and Mrs. Orville J. Taylor, the John D. Allens, the Frank Hixons, Mrs. Chauncey Keep, Mrs. Kersey Coates Reed, the Angus Hibbards, the Ward Seaburys, Col. and Mrs. Albert A. Sprague, the James R. Offields, the Robert J. Grafs, Mr. and Mrs. George A. Ranney, Mr. and Mrs. Edward K. Welles, and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Welles.

Mrs. Edward J. Kelly, wife of Chicago's mayor, is honorary chairman of the city-wide group of women that has promoted the appearance of John Charles Thomas, baritone, in recital here in the Chicago Civic Opera house this afternoon, for it is a benefit for the John B. Murphy hospital, which is directed by the Sisters of Mercy. Mrs. A. Louis Flynn is president of the hospital's women's auxiliary and active head of the recital committee. The Metropolitan baritone, who sang here in opera several times last winter, is a favorite in Chicago, and since this is his only 1935 appearance in recital, he is sure to have a large audience today.

Civic Music Association in Annual Festival This Afternoon.

Another musical event this afternoon of interest to socialites is the annual festival of the Civic Music Association of Chicago, to be held at 3:30 o'clock at Orchestra hall. The program at this 22d annual festival will be given by the Combined Civic Music Children's Choruses and the Civic Orchestra of Chicago. Among those who have taken boxes are the Misses Colvin, the Bohemians of Chicago, the Winnetka Woman's club, Mrs. Americus F. Callahan, Mrs. Martin A. Ryerson, Mr. and Mrs. Marx E. Oberndorfer [he is conductor of the choruses], Mrs. William S. Hay, the John H. Hardins, Mrs. Frederic W. Upham, Mrs. John Paul Welling, Mrs. Charles B. Goodspeed, Mrs. William A. Wieboldt, Mrs. Henry B. Zangwoll, and the William O. Goodmans.

The Arts club will be the place to which many of those who attend one of these concerts will go late this afternoon, for the annual exhibition by the professional members of the club is being opened with a tea from 4:30 until 7:30 o'clock. This always is one of the best attended affairs of the club season, and even though each nonprofessional member can bring only one guest, exhibitors have the privilege of inviting more, so the attractive galleries and lounge of the club are certain to be crowded for today's party. Mrs. Charles B. Goodspeed is president of the club.

Association of Arts and Industries to Give Tea.

Tuesday afternoon, from 4 to 6, the Association of Arts and Industries is giving a tea in its new offices at 700 North Michigan avenue. At the tea table will be Mrs. William Nelson Pelouze, wife of the president of the association; Mrs. James Ward Thorne, Mrs. Sewell Avery, and Mrs. Walter Dill Scott. Mingled with conversation about the decorations and furnishings of the new offices, which reflect so well the object of the organization which for years has sponsored the best in modern design in relation to industry, will be talk of the benefit the association is having on May 22 at the Drake.

The Lester Armours, the Edward A. Cudahys, senior and junior; Mrs. Edward F. Carry, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph M. Cudahy, Edward I. Cudahy, Mr. and Mrs. Walter J. Cummings, Col. and Mrs. Sprague, the Stuyvesant Peabodys, the Vaughan C. Spaldings, Mrs. Daniel E. McCarthy, and Mayor and Mrs. Kelly are among the boxholders for the 31st annual concert of the Paulist Choristers of Chicago. The concert will be given Tuesday night in Orchestra hall. Proceeds will be given to the summer camp of the Choristers at Land o' Lakes, Wis.

A Chicago boy will go to beautiful old Williams college at Williamstown, Mass., next year as a result of a benefit the Chicago Williams club is giving Friday night. It has taken over that night's performance aboard the Showboat Dixiana, and because some of the city's Williams graduates have energetic young wives, the benefit will be a large and jolly one, with many dinners preceding the performance. Mrs. Robert M. Hoffman Jr., Mrs. Willard Boyden, Mrs. Edward A. Fargo Jr., and Mrs. Charles R. Lindsay III. are some of the young women in charge of the affair.

TO BE BRIDE IN JUNE

Miss Helen English, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William R. English of Winnetka, will be a June bride. She and Walter Nason Stuckslager of Grand Rapids, Minn., have set Saturday, June 22, as the date for their marriage. The wedding will take place in Winnetka.

Plum Blossoms Fill Slopes of Worcestershire

Creamy White Petals Give Promise of a Bumper Harvest of the Fruit.

By Ann Whittingham.

LONDON

You ought to see the gentle slopes of Worcestershire these days, mile upon mile of plum orchards with soft, creamy white blossoms just beginning to cover the ground. Most unusually, Worcestershire promises to have a bumper harvest of plums and damsons for the third year in succession. In the cider districts the apple trees are just beginning to show pink. They will be lovely presently but not so ethereal and unreal as the miles of billowy whiteness of the plum orchards.

Walt Whitman Collection to Be Sold at Sotheby's.

An important collection of letters, manuscripts, and books by or relating to Walt Whitman is to be sold at Sotheby's on May 13.

This collection was formed by Whitman's intimate friend, biographer, and literary executor, the late Dr. Richard Bucke of London, Ont.

Among the letters is a remarkable series of twenty-nine written by Whitman to his young friend, Harry Stafford, and six long and intimate letters written by him to his friend, Tom Sawyer, a young soldier in the war of the rebellion.

Whitman always claimed that his recognition as a poet came first from England, and only slowly from the United States, and certainly he still is read in England, if one may judge from the number of copies of his collected poems which are found on the most casual inspection of English bookshelves. And I can testify to the curious experience of discovering, much to my amazement, that the most sensitive, appreciative, and thoughtful study of the great Camden poet has been written by an Englishman cursed with an Oxford education and the name of Basil de Selincourt.

Village of Winterslow Takes Water Problem Seriously.

There is at least one village in England which refuses to wait in apathy for "the government" to do something about the water shortage. That village is Winterslow, about seven miles from Salisbury. Finding itself reduced to dependence upon rain water stored in barrels, and two wells each 300 feet deep, from whch each family was allowed one bucket a day, 185 people in Winterslow, all the inhabitants except ten, formed a little water company with shares of $1.25 each and installed a little pumping plant and system of pipes at a cost of $15,000, so that every house within an area of about four miles by five now has a supply of pure spring water.

The duchess of Hamilton, who was born in the village, opened the new plant this week. The papers are quite impressed with the communal initiative displayed, as well they might be, since they display, almost every week, pictures illustrating the plight of similar villages where the wells have given out and water has to be drawn and carted expensively, and not too safely, from distant streams.

Spring Brings Club Elections Into Limelight

Chicago Woman's Group Has Mrs. R. N. Webster as Its New President.

By Ruth DeYoung.

AT the annual meeting of the Chicago Woman's club yesterday morning Mrs. Ralph W. Webster, long active in the club ranks, was elevated to the presidency to succeed Mrs. Ozora S. Davis.

MRS. RALPH W. WEBSTER. [Koehne Photo.]

The meeting, called to order at 10 o'clock in the clubhouse, 72 East 11th street, was attended by more than 500 members. Others elected to the executive committee were Mrs. Otis H. Maclay, second vice president; Mrs. William G. Forrest, third vice president, and Mrs. Willett H. Cornwell, corresponding secretary.

Mrs. John T. Mason continues as first vice president; Mrs. John F. McKeon, recording secretary, and Mrs. Wilfred L. Childs, treasurer.

Mrs. William F. Farrell Is Elected to Board of Directors.

Mrs. William Franklin Farrell, outgoing president of the Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs, was elected to the board of directors as chairman of the home and public welfare department. Other new directors are Mrs. Ambrose V. Powell, Mrs. Henry Hoyt Hilton, Mrs. Frederick W. Hill, Mrs. B. I. Greenebaum, Mrs. Wilbur F. Blackford, Mrs. Orion K. Thomson, Mrs. Roland T. Goode, and Mrs. William Bethke.

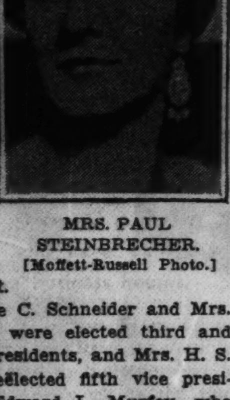
Continuing on the board are Mrs. William F. Friedman, Mrs. John M. Coburn, Mrs. Walter F. Heineman, Mrs. Frederick B. Dickinson, Mrs. James S. Moore, Mrs. Lewis H. Dodd, Mrs. Edwin H. Bell, and Mrs. Clayton D. Eulette.

In following Mrs. Davis as president Mrs. Webster has a goal to achieve. During her term of office Mrs. Davis has carried the club forward with the broad vision that has characterized her own life, together with a charm of manner.

Mrs. Webster Successful Leader of Many Departments.

In no sense, however, are the club activities new to Mrs. Webster, for she has successfully directed most of the leading departments during recent years. The last two years she has served as third vice president and as chairman of the house and cancer research committees. In 1929 and 1930 she was first vice president and chairman of finance. Previous to this she was state chairman of the department of international relations of the Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs.

As the result of the recent elections of the Woman's City club Mrs. Mark P. Mears is entering her third term as president. Mrs. Paul Steinbrecher's notable work the last year as the club's chairman of membership and as third vice president was rewarded by her elevation to the post of first vice president.



MRS. PAUL STEINBRECHER. [Moffett-Russell Photo.]

Mrs. George C. Schneider and Mrs. A. E. Joslyn were elected third and fourth vice presidents, and Mrs. H. S. Paine was reëlected fifth vice president. Mrs. Edward L. Murfey, who has held some office on the board ever since she took the first minutes a quarter of a century ago, was selected as treasurer. The new assistant treasurer is Mrs. A. E. Brooks. Mrs. A. W. Evans was reëlected recording secretary and Mrs. James W. Errant was chosen corresponding secretary.

Guests Numbering 2,000 to Attend Benefit Party.

More than 2,000 guests, numbering some of the most noted Catholic leaders in Chicago, will attend the annual benefit card party sponsored by the Council of Catholic Women at 8 o'clock Friday evening in the Red Lacquer room of the Palmer house.

Proceeds from the affair will go to carry forward the council's social, religious, and educational work among needy Catholic girls. One of the major projects is the support of the club for homeless girls at 2501 West Monroe street.

The Rev. James C. Curry is executive director of the council. The Most Rev. Bernard J. Sheil, senior auxiliary bishop and director general of the council, will attend the party as a special guest.

Anne Polster, president of the International Junior league of the Marks Nathan Jewish Orphan home, will be hostess at the spring frolic the league is to have this evening at the Standard club. All of the proceeds will go directly to the orphan home. Miss Mary Morris and Miss Nettie Goldberg are the co-chairmen.

MISS ANNE POLSTER.

Lake View Musical Society to Have Luncheon and Concert.

A concert will follow the annual luncheon of the Lake View Musical society at 1 o'clock tomorrow in the Crystal ballroom of the Blackstone hotel. The concert has been arranged by Grace Seiberling.

Mrs. Cora Willis Ware will serve the society as president during the coming year, with Mrs. Herman L. Kretschmer and Miss Grace Beyerlein, vice presidents; Miss Marion Knoblauch, recording secretary; Mrs. M. B. Kennedy, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Carl Perry Hubbard, assistant corresponding secretary; Mrs. Maude M. Gansbergen, treasurer; Mrs. Ferdinand A. Bunte, assistant treasurer, and Mrs. F. J. Biederman, auditor.

The First Daughters of America are giving a luncheon at 12:30 tomorrow in the Narcissus room at Marshall Field's for Mrs. J. Marc Fowler and Mrs. Fred W. Waterman, both actively identified with the club world. Mrs. C. F. Fitzgerald is president of the First Daughters.

Brownson circle is to have its 18th annual spring luncheon and bridge party at 12:30 tomorrow at the Edgewater Beach hotel. Special guests will be Mrs. William F. Farrell, state federation president; Mrs. Herbert V. Weed, Tenth district federation president, and the presidents of neighboring clubs. Mrs. J. W. Hogan will be the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Edward W. Agnew, social chairman.

Musical and Fashion Revue to Aid Wesley Hospital

Mrs. George P. Ellis of Evanston is general chairman of the musical and fashion revue which the auxiliary of the Wesley Memorial hospital is to have Friday evening at the South Shore Country club. The latest in masculine as well as feminine attire will be on parade. Catherine McCutcheon Baker will give a musical program, accompanied by Millicent Chapman Cooke.

Mothers' Aid Luncheon Event of Baby Week

Lecture and Performances by Noted Singers Are on Program of May 8.

AS a fitting accent to baby week, which begins today to continue through next Sunday, the Mothers' Aid of the Chicago Lying-In hospital and dispensary has issued invitations for its annual mothers' day luncheon, May 8, at the Standard club.

A part of the program will be given by Miss Herma Clark of THE TRIBUNE staf, who will give an illustrated lecture on "Mothers in the White House." Mario Fiorella, tenor, formerly with the Metropolitan Opera company, will sing.

Mme. Schumann-Heink Will Give "My Mother Fund" Plea.

Another feature, the "My Mother Fund" plea, will be given by Mme. Ernestine Schumann-Heink, an inspiring mother who has thrilled thousands of hearts. The "My Mother Fund," founded and copyrighted by the Mothers' Aid 20 years ago, is "in honor of our mothers, living and departed, whom we bless for the good that is imparted to us and whose love and sacrifice have built the structure of our worldly success and spiritual development."

Money given to this fund helps give expert care and future health to needy mothers and assures safe delivery and life itself for many babies.

Now that the Chicago Lying-In hospital is affiliated with the University of Chicago, to the benefit and satisfaction of both, it continues on a wider plane the fine work started by Dr. Joseph B. DeLee at the beginning of this century. His pioneer ideal of training expert doctors and nurses in the field of obstetrics has become an accepted code, for all medical science has been convinced that the future health of the race, as well as the present welfare of this generation, depends on adequate and often special maternal care.

Diary of Infant's First Seven Years Unique Venture.

In one respect, in particular, this is an exciting year for the Mothers' Aid. Seven years ago Dr. DeLee told members that he wished the market provided some scientific diary in which mothers might keep a record of their babies' growth and development.

Backed by an appropriation from the Mothers' Aid board Mrs. Hermien D. Nusbaum, one of the members, volunteered to compile such a record book. "Our Baby's First Seven Years" was the result of this effort.

When the book was sold each mother was told that she might return her copy at the end of seven years to be a part of a study at the hospital. Approximately 5,000 books comprise the first edition now ready to be recalled. Four subsequent editions totaling 55,000 books have been sold from coast to coast, and even in foreign countries. A new sixth edition brings the book up to date in every respect.

Mrs. Harry Kempner is president of the Mothers' Aid, with Mrs. Charles King Corsant as honorary president. Vice presidents are Mrs. Irving L. Stern, Mrs. Emil Reinhold, and Mrs. Joseph F. Grossman. Mrs. Melvin Katz is the recording secretary; Mrs. Heliodor Schiller, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Merril Israel, financial secretary, and Mrs. Meyer Kestnbaum, treasurer.

AT A BENEFIT PARTY

Miss Isabel Gordon is one of the young women who dined and danced until a late hour last night at the annual benefit dinner-dance for Madonna center at the Palmer house. She is the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank M. Gordon of Lake Shore drive. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

Fae Blanke Gordon Aid Dinner-Dance

Mrs. Louis Lipstone is general chairman of the dinner dance to be given by the Fae Blanke Gordon Aid this evening in the Gold Coast room of the Drake hotel. An unusual array of talent, including stars from the radio, screen and vaudeville stage will appear. Mrs. Mitchell C. Robin is president of the Aid.

MRS. LOUIS LIPSTONE.

At the annual spring luncheon of the Catholic Woman's league next Saturday at the Palmer house Mrs. Richard M. Hallinan will retire as the league's capable president. Mrs. Hallinan and her board have had two especially full years, due to the league's open house in the Fine Arts building each season of A Century of Progress. Mrs. Joseph F. Elward is general chairman of the luncheon, with Mrs. Bruno F. Bona as treasurer.

Articles Made By Blind Are to Go On Sale Tuesday

An opportunity for service in the cause of blindness awaits the public this week for the Blind Service association, with Mrs. Gottfried D. Bernstein as its founder president, is to have a sale of the articles made by the blind all day Tuesday in Room 313 of the Medical and Dental Arts building, 185 North Wabash avenue.

MRS. GOTTFRIED BERNSTEIN.

Any bride-to-be or housewife will enjoy visiting the sale, for the merchandise will be of good quality, crisp and fresh, and moderately priced. It will include books, men's and ladies' hose, ties, brooms, brushes, mops, rugs, towels, baskets, bed linens, aprons, crocheted and tatted work, stuffed animals for children, homemade candies and jellies, and many novelties.

Two State street department stores are coöperating with the Blind Service association in this work, by placing on sale articles made by the blind. Dr. A. S. Weiner is chairman of Tuesday's sale, assisted by Mrs. Benjamin Welcher.

ART NOTES

The All-Illinois Society of the Fine Arts announces its Second Spring salon at the Stevens from May 18 to June 30. The jury will meet the first of May. Art Institute's Spring Exhibits Widely Varied

Furniture, Fans, Mezzotints, Landscapes Displayed in Smaller Shows

By Eleanor Jewett.

THE Art institute is offering Chicago a number of interesting exhibitions this spring. Chief, of course, among them are the International Water Color show in the east wing galleries and the International Exhibition of Etching and Engraving in the print rooms. Smaller exhibits are peasant furniture from Bavaria and Sweden; fans of many nations [both of these to be found in the Terrace addition]; a survey of landscape painting from the 13th to the 19th century, by means of reproductions, in the Children's museum; mezzotints by David Lucas in the print galleries; and water colors and pastel drawings of his murals designed for the Los Angeles public library by Dean Cornwell, in Blackstone hall.

The exhibition of water colors has many different angles. One can read into it a hundred significant factors. There are superlatively good paintings to be found, and abominably poor ones. There are ridiculous pictures and there are those which must be taken seriously. A most amusing composition is supplied by Rene D'Harnoncourt in "Art Lecture." The "Nude" by Gerrit V. Sinclair, a droll chit, was obviously not designed for the ridicule it inspires. For the most part the moderns supply the instruments for laughter.

Grunewald and Bacon Alone Afford High Pleasure.

On the serious side the water color show offers "St. Malo, Low Tide" by Louis Chervin, "Red Rocks, Ross-Shire" by W. Russell Flint, "Bridge in Winter" by Karl Zerbe, "The Village of Villetaneuse" by Maurice Utrillo, "Woman in Black Cape" by Lucien Simon, "Fog" by Walter DuBois Richards, "Mud Heads, Provincetown" by LaForce Bailey, "The Blizzard" by John Whorf, "After a Race—Jefferson Park" by Randall Davey, "Thawing Ice in Public Garden" by A. Lassell Ripley, and a number of other intriguing paintings fascinating in context, color, and technique.

One can virtually disregard the prize award and get much pleasure from the Isaac Grunewald water colors [an entire gallery is hung with the work of this Swedish artist] and the Peggy Bacon caricatures. The Indian room is thoroughly delightful, overlooking there the few samples of the white man's disposition to dissipate.

Cornwell's Designs Capture Beauty and Romance.

Dean Cornwell's designs in Blackstone hall are effectual reminders that we have a number of American painters who still believe in the importance of drawing, unity, harmony, color, beauty, romance, and the rest of the traditions which modernism deplores. There is a suggestion of Brangwyn about the Cornwell compositions. They are large, fluent, and romantic. They unroll page upon page of serious character study. Monks, soldiers, ladies, children, beggars, birds, dogs, ships, treasure—a hundred details make up the entrancing whole. Fortunately there is no borrowed Mexican anatomy to annoy one; Dean Cornwell's figures possess normal bodies and flexible, jointed limbs. Their faces are human and alert.

The exhibit is not large but every inch of it is worth study. It is as different from the Thomas Benton technique as could well be imagined, and that much more beautiful. It has the enduring quality of grace; not being exactly of today it is for all time.

News of Interest to Lovers of Art.

The department of education of the museum announces a new series of lectures for this spring. Gallery talks on the current exhibits are given Monday mornings at 11 o'clock by Miss Helen Parker. Monday evenings at 6:15 Miss Parker gives gallery talks on the painting collections. A discussion of modern architecture in the United States, seven lectures illustrated with slides, by H. Stewart Leonard, is offered Friday mornings at 11. This is an entirely new course and most illuminating.

The Annual Swedish-American exhibition of paintings and sculpture has created much favorable criticism. The exhibition is held in the Swedish club, 1258 North La Salle street. The jury was made up of Rudolph Ingerle, Edgar S. Cameron, and Laura van Pappelendam.

A stunning group of flower arrangements in oil by Joseph Lane is the new exhibit in the Marshall Field gallery. It opened last Monday and will continue another week. Mr. Lane was an interior decorator before he went over to painting and his work has a decorative value of perhaps more marked significance because of his early training. The paintings are large, rich, colorful, effective, and most original. His use of greens and reds is magnificent. The paintings are well worth seeing.

The Easter exhibit in the Century gallery, Diana Court, held certain things of interest. Illuminated manuscripts by Edward Gentile were rather lovely and the abstractions in high key by Helene Warder Beggs had a certain charm. They reminded one of broken Easter eggs, the shells falling in intricate pattern of gay, soft color. The hammered metals of Todros Geller gave backbone to the exhibition.

The All-Illinois is sponsoring at present the stunning portrait exhibition by John Doctoroff in the Lord Nelson room, Drake hotel, and the water colors [flower studies] by Raymond F. Elms in the south corridor gallery, third floor, Stevens hotel.

The magnificent sculpture, lovely in line and feeling, skilful in modeling, of Edgardo Simone is creating great enthusiasm among those who are enjoying his exhibition in the Marshall Field galleries. The second unusual and brilliant show in these galleries is of Chinese bronzes, antiques from the Field museum.

John David Brcin, sculptor, has published a little brochure illustrated with photographs of his works. Marques Reitzel has supplied the foreword. It is interesting as showing the ability of one of our most gifted sculptors and interesting in the scope of the work undertaken by Mr. Brcin's chisel. His talent is diversified and his craftsmanship equal to any self imposed task. Portraits, ideal conceptions, monumental figures, and bas reliefs are faithfully recorded in this little sketch.

Gotham Social Leaders Exhibit Their Knitting

Crocheting and Needlework of Elite Also Displayed for Charity Sake.

By Nancy Randolph.

NEW YORK There's a whole contingent of society women who'd rather stick to their knitting than do most anything else. And to prove it, they're showing the things they've knitted, crocheted, and stitched at the Second Annual Exhibition of Needlework of Today, which will be held the week of May 6, at the Vernay galleries on East 54th street. As usual this fascinating exhibit is a charity event, with the proceeds being divided between the adopt-a-family committee and Lighthouse No. 1 of the New York Association for the Blind.

There were 770 exhibits last year, and the politically minded Mrs. William Warner Hoppin, majordomo of the whole show, is expecting a greater number this year.

Mrs. Teddy Roosevelt, it appears, is the handiest lady with the needle. She took first prize in 1934 with an exquisite petit point miniature screen of wild birds. She's been working all year on a new sampler which will be ready for the 1935 exhibit.

The sampler will be a history of the Teddy Roosevelt family, showing scenes at the White House when the great T. R. and his large family occupied it; at Sagamore Hill, the far famed Roosevelt residence in Oyster Bay, L. I., which is still occupied by the late President's widow; and a scene at Pittsburg, where the Roosevelt boys received their military training.

Mrs. Budd Embroiders Picture of Astor's Yacht.

Mrs. Kenneth Budd will again show her embroidered picture of the Vincent Astor yacht, Nourmahal, which she has done in white silk against a sky blue background.

Mrs. John DeWitt Peltz is entering a rug and the furniture contents of a doll's house in needlework, all miniature reproductions of furnishings originally owned by her grandfather, Edward R. Bell. The doll's house itself, still one of Mrs. Peltz's treasured possessions, was copied from the house her grandpa occupied at 29 West 29th street, in the days when 29th street was uptown.

Other exhibitors will be Mrs. John W. Davis, Mrs. Oliver Gould Jennings, Mrs. Darragh Park, Mrs. Benjamin Brewster Jennings, and Mrs. Henry W. Goddard.

Rockefeller's Granddaughter Becomes Secretary-Nurse.

New York has been greatly interested in the determination of Mary Adeline Prentice, granddaughter of John D. and potential heiress to a good slice of the Rockefeller fortune, to have a career as expressed in her gesture of taking a modest position as combination nurse and secretary to one of society's noted physicians.

Mary's new job didn't have parental approval at first, but now it appears the quiet, publicity-shy Mr. and Mrs. E. Parmalee Prentice are letting their only daughter have her head, even to the extent of permitting her to keep a small bachelor apartment of her own.

I have a hunch that Uncle John [John D. Rockefeller Jr.], is proud of his favorite niece. As a matter of fact, it was Aunt Abby herself [Mrs. John D. Jr.] who sent over a dozen or so of the most valuable antiques in the Rockefeller mansion in West 54th street to help furnish Mary's modest apartment.

Faith Rockefeller Athletic Instructor at Girls' School.

The Rockefeller heiress is well equipped for her present job. After her graduation from Vassar college she took a special course in nursing. Judging from the reports that have trickled into this office, she's enjoying her work immensely.

Like the other members of the Rockefeller family, Mary doesn't care two figs for society. Success in her career is more important to Mary than anything else in the world right now.

Faith Rockefeller, daughter of Mrs. Percy Rockefeller, is the only other feminine member of the clan who has worked for a living, I believe. She is athletic instructor in a Connecticut girls' school, but teaching sports is more of a hobby with Faith than anything else.

Mary's mother is the former Alta Rockefeller.

Lady Hector MacNeal Suffers Relapse.

The illness of Lady Hector MacNeal has taken a turn for the worse. The former Edith Gould Wainwright has been languishing in a New York hospital ever since she arrived from Bermuda last February, ostensibly to reclaim her 8 year old runaway son, Carroll Livingston Wainwright Jr., who fled his mother's Bermuda mansion to spend Thanksgiving with his dad in New York. It is likely to be many weeks before Lady MacNeal is able to leave her sickbed. Meanwhile, the tousled haired youngster who calmly stowed away aboard a New York bound steamship from the British province, is still out on Long Island with his father's relatives.

For the time being, the sumptuous MacNeal residence in Bermuda will remain deserted with the Lady MacNeal sick abed and Sir Hector making frantic trips between his shipping quarters in Canada and his wife's bedside here; Carroll Jr., with his paternal uncles; another brother, Stuyvesant, in an American school, and the boys' 9 year old sister left behind in Bermuda with a governess.

Mrs. Hugh Auchincloss to Restore New England Town Hall.

From Fairfield, Conn., comes word that Mrs. Hugh Auchincloss has bestowed upon this old New England town a gift which may cost her $30,000. She announced she would foot the entire bill for remodeling the village's quaint town hall into a semblance of its old time colonial self.

In the past it has been Mrs. Auchincloss' maiden sister, Miss Annie Burr Jennings, who has been the chief benefactor of this lovely community.

The up and doing Miss Annie has been the benevolent despot of Fairfield for years.

BETROTHAL ANNOUNCED

When Chicago Was Young

The Elegant Eighties

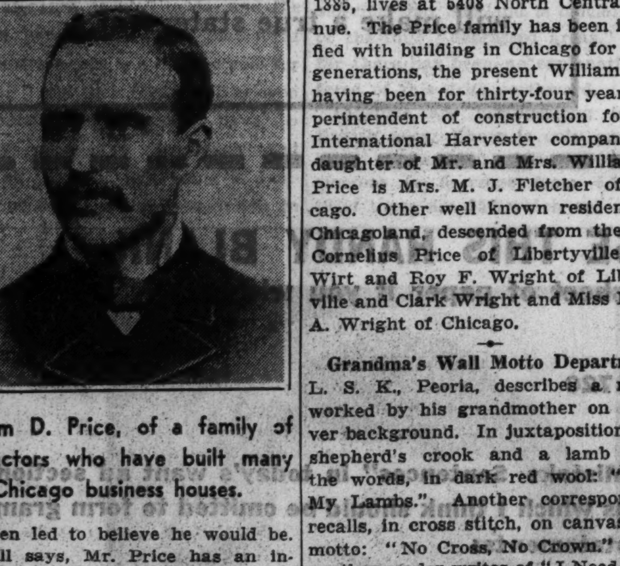
By Herma Clark

Letters from Martha Freeman Esmond to her friend Julia Boyd of New York.

Chicago, October 25, 1885.

DEAR JULIA: You remember I wrote you that we are planning to give Martha and Sandy a house. Tonight I want to write that the lot is bought, so that it seems as if our dream is about to be realized. It is on Dearborn avenue, near Chicago avenue, a nice residence district. Now we are thinking of the house itself. We have spent the evening with Sandy and Martha looking over books of plans. It is a fascinating occupation. One we saw seemed to take Martha's fancy particularly. Martha has been reading Ruskin and has worked herself up to a fine pitch of enthusiasm about building a really artistic structure. She thinks a modified Queen Anne cottage will answer all the requirements. The one she likes best—in the plan book—has a nice entrance hall, with parlor on one side and library on the other. Back of the library is the dining room, connecting with the kitchen by a butler's pantry. Upstairs are four bedrooms with a nice bathroom. The third floor has two rooms for maids. Built of brick as, of course, we wish to have it, it will cost about $8,000. The lot was $6,000, so the cost is not prohibitive, though we couldn't pay much more comfortably.

The only condition Will has made about the house is that a young contractor in whom he has much confidence shall build it. This young man . . . his name is William Price . . . came to the MacLeod apartment this evening to talk the matter over, and Sandy was as pleased with him as he had been led to believe he would be. As Will says, Mr. Price has an inheritance of skill in building, and he ought to do the work better than most men. His grandfather before him, he told us tonight, was a builder. His name was Cornelius Price and he came from Watkins, N. Y., in a covered wagon, in the thirties, but, being much disappointed in Chicago, then a mud hole, he went farther north and settled at Libertyville, at that time called Independence Grove, where he built a log house on the banks of the Des Plaines river. He reared a family of six boys and three girls here, and taught his trade to the sons. Every spring, in those early days, Cornelius Price used to take two or three of the older sons across the state to Galena, returning in the fall with several thousand dollars, earned by his contracting work in that prosperous river town, then much larger than Chicago. They carried the coins they received for their work in a grain sack, which they tossed carelessly into the stage coach . . . a pretty casual way of transporting so much wealth.



William D. Price, of a family of contractors who have built many Chicago business houses.

And then the Price boys grew older and became builders on their own account. The father of our young contractor, whose name was William too, and Cornelius, his brother, organized the firm of C. & W. Price and did a great deal of building in early Chicago. One of their buildings, of which they were extremely proud, was the old Tremont house. William Price of this firm was a friend of Stephen A. Douglas, and received in 1856 the appointment as postmaster of Chicago.

But I have wandered from Martha's house. I have been wishing she could have electricity, but that is too expensive, when one must have a dynamo in the basement. Large downtown buildings are using it, but it is not practical for residences, at least for those with limited means. Will thinks the time will come when there will be central power houses for generating electricity [if I put that right] and then it will come into general use. For my part, having been born in an era of candles and kerosene lamps, I am well content with gas. I shall write you more details about the new house, our chief topic of conversation now. Lovingly,

MARTHA FREEMAN ESMOND.

FOOTNOTES.

William D. Price, selected by Will as builder of young Martha's house in 1885, lives at 5408 North Central avenue. The Price family has been identified with building in Chicago for three generations, the present William Price having been for thirty-four years superintendent of construction for the International Harvester company. A daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William D. Price is Mrs. M. J. Fletcher of Chicago. Other well known residents of Chicagoland, descended from the first Cornelius Price of Libertyville, are Wirt and Roy F. Wright of Libertyville and Clark Wright and Miss Helen A. Wright of Chicago.

Grandma's Wall Motto Department: L. S. K., Peoria, describes a motto worked by his grandmother on a silver background. In juxtaposition to a shepherd's crook and a lamb were the words, in dark red wool: "Feed My Lambs." Another correspondent recalls, in cross stitch, on canvas, the motto: "No Cross, No Crown." Still another reader writes of "I Need Thee Every Hour," worked by a group of girls and sent anonymously to a popular bachelor of the village.

Mrs. Frank G. Logan sends us a book on epitaphs, published in Chicago in 1877 and presented to her by the compiler, John R. Kippax of Oak Park. From it we cull these four lines, said to be from a baby's tombstone in a Burlington [Ia.] cemetery:

Beneath this stone our baby lays:
He neither cries nor hollers;
He lived just one and twenty days
And cost us forty dollars.

Wedding Simplicity Disappoints Newport—Bethrothal Unites Two Famous American Families

Only about forty persons attended the wedding yesterday of Marion Wilson and her handsome army officer, Lieut. William A. M. Morin at Shady Lawn, the Newport summer villa of Marion's mother, Mrs. Richard T. Wilson.

The simplicity of Marion's nuptials was a source of gloom to a great many Newport colonists who hoped to be on the invitation list of the Wilsons on so important an occasion.

But alas and lackaday, the guest roster was confined to a chosen few friends and the relatives of both families, including such august personages as Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt and Mrs. M. Orme Wilson, the former Caroline Astor. [Mrs. Wilson is the only surviving child of the Mrs. William Astor who cracked the whip over the 400 during the mauve decade].

Marion's lifelong friend, the youthful Countess Alexanderine Beroldingen of Austria and Newport, was her only attendant. And Lieut. Russell B. Semple, fellow army officer of the bridegroom, was his best man.

The couple are on their way to Nassau for a leisurely honeymoon.

It's interesting that an engagement uniting two families as closely identified with American life as the Whitneys and the Drexels should have taken place in England. We refer to the recent betrothal in London of Whitney W. Straight and Lady Daphne Finch-Hatton.

Whitney's mother, Mrs. Leonard K. Elmhirst, is the former Dorothy Payne Whitney, sister of the late Harry Payne Whitney and the late Payne Whitney. Her son numbers among his famous American cousins none other than Cornelius Vanderbilt [Sonny] Whitney and John Hay [Jock] Whitney.

Lady Daphne is the daughter of the Earl and Countess of Winchelsea. Her mater is the former Margaretta Armstrong Drexel, daughter of the late "Dandy" Tony Drexel of Philadelphia.

WHAT'S WRONG WITH THIS STATEMENT?

"THE DECLARATION OF INDEPENDENCE WAS SIGNED ON THE BATTLEFIELD AT WATERLOO BY THE VICTORIOUS ENGLISH WHO CONQUERED A LARGE NUMBER OF AMERICAN PATRIOTS"

How Few Words Can You Cross Out to Leave a Correct Statement?

WHAT TO DO:

Note the sentence at the left. As it now stands, this sentence contains a number of foolish inaccuracies which make the sentence as a whole untrue.

By crossing out certain words you can get the following true sentence:

"THE DECLARATION OF INDEPENDENCE WAS SIGNED [redacted] BY [redacted] A LARGE NUMBER OF AMERICAN PATRIOTS"

In today's want ad section there are 9 such "Mistake Sentences." To find the first "Mistake Sentence" look under "Boats, Yachts, etc." The first will tell you where to find the second. The second will tell you where to find a third, and so on.

NOTE: Read the rules below. Note that the object of the game is to form a grammatical sentence containing no false statements, using as many words from the original sentence as possible. Do NOT change the position of any words. Do NOT add any words. Just omit the ones you don't want so that the words which remain will make a true statement.

THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE WILL PAY $100.00 IN CASH PRIZES FOR THE BEST SOLUTIONS TO TODAY'S "MISTAKE SENTENCES" GAME!

CAN you tell the difference between a true statement and a false one? Do you like word games and puzzles which make you use your head? Do you like "intelligence tests" and "question and answer" games which make you think?

Here's a chance to test your wits! Today the Chicago Tribune presents another "Mistake Sentences" game. You will find it interesting, instructive, and loads of fun. You can have a good time playing it, and at the same time you can try for the $100.00 in cash prizes which the Tribune will pay for the best solutions.

There is no hard work to do—no letters to write—nothing to buy. Just play the game and send in an entry. Read the rules and start playing the game now!

THE RULES:

WHAT TO DO: Printed in today's want ad section of the Tribune are nine (9) "Mistake Sentences." Each "Mistake Sentence" contains a number of foolish inaccuracies which make the sentence, as a whole, obviously false. By crossing out a certain number of words from each "Mistake Sentence" you can form a grammatical sentence containing no false statements. You are invited to find and solve as many "Mistake Sentences" as you can and to try for the $100.00 in cash prizes which the Tribune will pay. NOTE: Do NOT add any words. Do NOT change the position of any words. Just omit the fewest number of words possible to form a grammatical sentence containing no false statements. To find the first "Mistake Sentence" look under Boats, Yachts, Etc.

PRIZES: For the best solutions to today's "Mistake Sentences" game submitted in accordance with these rules, the Chicago Tribune will pay $100.00 in cash prizes: First prize, $25.00; second prize, $15.00; third prize, $10.00; next three prizes, $5.00 each; next ten prizes, $2.00 each; next fifteen prizes, $1.00 each.

WHO CAN ENTER: This offer is open to all—men and women, boys and girls, except employes of the Chicago Tribune and their families. You pay nothing. Just prove your skill.

WHERE TO SEND ENTRIES: Entries should be mailed to "Mistake Sentences 'B,'" Chicago Tribune, Post Office Box 1720, Chicago, Ill. All entries in today's game must be received in the Tribune office before 6 p. m. on Thursday, May 2, 1935. No entries will be returned. Only one entry to today's game may be submitted by any one contestant.

JUDGING: The Chicago Tribune will appoint a committee of judges to consider all entries. Awards will be made to the persons who send in the best entries. Each entry must consist of the sentences printed today. Judgment will be based upon the skill displayed in solving the sentences submitted and neatness. No special consideration will be given to elaborate entries. Entrants agree to accept all decisions of the committee as final. The Tribune cannot engage in correspondence on this subject. In case of ties, duplicate awards will be made to tying contestants.

YOU PAY NOTHING: You need not purchase the Chicago Tribune to compete. The Tribune may be examined at the Tribune offices, or public libraries free of charge. You may use the handy blank supplied here or you may copy the sentences on a separate sheet of paper.

Britain Enjoys Home Rule Movements

LONDON

This more or less united kingdom continues to take great amusement in the movements aiming at "home rule" for Scotland and "home rule"

The latest development has been a "secret" conference in Edinburgh between representatives of the two Nationalist groups. The press made only a half-hearted effort to find out what the conference decided to do, and the London newspapers argue that what the country needs is a "home rule for England" and then things will be even all around. That Scotsmen have descended upon the Sassenach and seized all the good jobs going in London is of course a firm conviction in England and a favorite after-dinner jest.

But curiously enough the census of 1931 shows that Englishmen have been swarming into Scotland in greater numbers than anybody has realized. There actually are more Englishmen living in Scotland than there are Scotsmen living in England. This appears to be a comparatively recent development, but it seems curious considering that Scotland is officially one of the four "depressed areas." Thus far there has been no explanation offered of this drift northward.

Cinemas are disappearing in the British isles. There is only one "silent" cinema, but of the 4,637 talky cinemas (a decrease from 5,193 in 1930) there are 356 which are closed.

DOMESTIC TRAVEL

THE TRIBUNE TRAVELERS' GUIDE

FOREIGN TRAVEL

Chicagoans on Short Trips to the Old World

Springtime Brings Feverish Rush to See the Sights and Get Home Again.

EACH season of the year inspires a definitly different type of travel.

In winter the wanderer almost invariably selects a cruise—to the Mediterranean, or the Caribbean, or Bermuda, or clear around the world. In contemplating a summer trip one is most likely, figures show, to select a grand tour of the continent, visiting many cities and many countries. Where relaxation and carefree ship life are the vogue on winter cruises, vigor and an ambition to go places and see things are the keynotes of summer travel.

In April and May a still more feverish type of travel manifests itself. The brisk jaunt abroad steps forth as a travel favorite. A number of Chicagoans leaving last week for Europe said they planned to make stops in Paris or London and be back again in short order.

On an Interlude of Travel.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Uhlmann, who sailed yesterday on the Italian liner Rex, have plans for one of these gay interludes of travel. They will debark at Villefranche for a brief stay on the French Riviera, then visit Paris and London before sailing May 29 on the maiden voyage of the new French superliner Normandie.

Also sailing on the Rex were the Rt. Rev. Msgr. F. F. Connor, pastor of Holy Angels church at Aurora, and Mrs. Jeanette Gauer and her daughter Margaret of Chicago. The Gauers intend to make an extensive tour of Italy, Germany, France, and England, remaining abroad until late in August.

With a short vacation in Paris as their objective, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Leach sailed on the Cunard-White Star liner Georgic. Prof. Arthur A. Compton of the physiology department of the University of Chicago was on the same boat, while on another Cunarder, the Aquitania, Mrs. Maude M. Watt and S. S. Newman were among those looking forward to sojourns in Paris.

In England at Jubilee Time.

Springtime in England is luring John D. Hench to London, where he will visit his aunt, Mrs. Dundas Heenan, a former Chicago girl. He will leave May 2 on the City of Norfolk of the Baltimore Mail line.

Sailing on the Canadian Pacific's Empress of Australia from New York for a jubilee tour of England were Mr. and Mrs. Rodney S. Mason, Miss Goldina Fisher, Miss Jane Uhry, Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Freeman, Miss Kirsten M. Sorenson, Miss Edith Johnson, Mrs. Helene Palmer, Miss Gladys Yarwood, Edward Thomas Prosser, Edward Thomas Prosser Jr., C. P. Ferring, D. F. Lang, and Howard Lapham.

Among the Chicagoans bound for Bermuda on the Furness Bermuda liners were Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Houston, Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Douglas, Mr. and Mrs. Winfield Foster, Mrs. Maude Stambaugh and Miss Mary Stambaugh.

Michigan to Have Outdoor Displays at Sports Show

MICHIGAN and other nearby resort states are arranging elaborate outdoor displays for the national boat and sports show at Navy pier May 5 to 12.

The displays will feature stuffed native animals in natural habitats. Shipments of fresh fish from Michigan will arrive at the pier daily and the upper peninsula area will send samples of giant Michigan potatoes, which will be baked and served to visitors.

DETOURS

By Frederic Babcock.

IF YOU live in Chicagoland and are looking for a place to go this summer, and are still somewhat in doubt as to whys and wherefores, it might pay you to give ear to the fact that a day or two's train ride will take you to any one of these:

Yellowstone, America's greatest museum of nature in weird mood and grandeur . . . blue grottoes . . . mud slinging cauldrons . . . Old Faithful leading a whole orchestra of playing geysers . . . boiling paint pots . . . hot springs congealing in cascades of color . . . the Grand canyon of the Yellowstone.

The Colorado Rockies . . . Long's peak on horse and afoot . . . Pike's peak by cog road and motor highway . . . saddle trails winding among granite walls and silvery aspen . . . golfing nearly two miles in the air . . . Grand lake, Berthoud pass, and Fall River pass.

Glacier park, one of the last frontiers . . . where rugged trails lure the hardier visitors away from the luxury of alpine hotels to camps alongside hidden lakes and glaciers.

Zion, Bryce canyon, and the Grand canyon of the Colorado . . . almost unbelievable magnificence . . . with Great Salt lake and the Mormon shrines a port of call on the way.

The Black hills and the Bad Lands . . . where Roosevelt the First wrangled cattle, and rode and hunted . . . . where Calvin Coolidge cast for mountain trout in the depths of mirror lakes.

The dude ranch countries of Wyoming, Colorado, Montana, Arizona, and New Mexico.

The gulf port resorts and the wilderness of the Ozarks.

The 10,000 lakes that make a sportsman's paradise of Wisconsin, Michigan, and Minnesota.

● All these are so close to Chicago that they must have been created especially for two weeks' vacations.

If you have three weeks or longer at your disposal, take heed of these:

Old Mexico . . . pyramids of the sun and the moon . . . ruins of forgotten civilizations . . . the Buried City, 3,000 years old . . . the lazy charm of the countryside . . . the gayety of the capital city, high and cool in the mountains. . . . [It can be done in sixteen days, with ten days beyond the border, if you're in a hurry.]

California, the land of sun kissed oranges and son kissed maidens . . . Spanish missions ages old . . . splendid beaches . . . Yosemite valley and its giant trees . . . Hollywood and its night life and studios . . . San Diego and its California Pacific International exposition.

In three weeks you can circle the whole west . . . southwest through San Antonio or Tucson or Albuquerque, a dip into Old Mexico, up the Pacific coast past Crater lake and Mount Rainier, through Portland and Seattle to Victoria and Vancouver, and back through either the American or the Canadian Rockies.

Or you can sail from Seattle for Alaska, one of the finest of all summer lands . . . where grizzlies roam and flowers bloom at the edge of titanic glaciers . . . where the sun shines late in the night on the everlasting snow of Mount McKinley, the highest peak in North America.

● All of which may be of some help in solving the annual problem.

But perhaps, after reading about the dust storms out west, you have one doubt remaining. You can forget it. The moment you leave Chicago you're sealed up in air conditioned coach or sleeper and locked fast against the heat and dust of the prairies until you reach the cool, clear air of the Rockies, the Sierras, the Pacific, or the north woods.

Hold Travel Fair in Department Store

SIX days of travel thrills will begin tomorrow, when six steamship companies coöperate in a "travel fair" on the first floor of Marshall Field & Co.' retail store. Movies of shipboard life and fascinating lands, fashion shows of travel clothes, and the latest travel news are to be starred in almost continuous showings. Each day the services of a particular line will be featured in this manner: Monday, Cunard-White Star lines; Tuesday, French line; Wednesday, United States and Panama Pacific lines; Thursday, United Fruit lines; Friday, Italian lines; Saturday, Hamburg American-North German Lloyd line.

Holland America Line Will Build 30,000 Ton Ship

NEW YORK.—W. H. De Monchy, the Holland-America line's managing director, has announced the building of a new liner of more than 30,000 tonnage. The ship is scheduled for sailings in the 1937 tourist season.

"Not only for the sake of keeping abreast with the developments in the shipping world, which requires the latest in ocean going vessels," said Mr. De Monchy, "but because of our belief that business actually warants an addition to our fleet, we have decided to build a new liner. It will become the flagship of the line, since it will surpass the S. S. Statendam in size, appointment, and speed."

The new ship will be the first one to be built for the Holland-America line in Holland. It will accommodate 400 first class passengers, 600 tourist class, and 400 third class.

The Holland-America company is one of the few major lines operating without government subsidy.

"This is really an exceptional condition," said Mr. De Monchy, "considering that so many industries at the present require government subsidies to keep alive. For the building of our flagship we did not require subsidy. All we did was negotiate a government loan, which will be repaid like any other business loan. In view of the improving economic situation I am confident that the building at this time is fully justified and will bear out our predictions for the future."

Puts Denmark "On Map."

COPENHAGEN.—(AP)—The Danes say that Ruth Bryan Owen, as minister from the United States, has put Denmark on the map, because 48 per cent more American tourists came here within her first year's stay than visited the country in the year preceding her appointment.

VAGABOND'S DIARY

VIENNA, home of Johann Strauss for 45 years. . . . "The Blue Danube" waltz. . . . Home of Franz Schubert for 39 years. . . . the city he set to music. . . . Gluck, Schumann, Wagner, Haydn, Beethoven, Mozart, Brahms—all loved and lived in Vienna. . . . The masters have gone, but the city still sings. . . . There is "gemutlichkeit" in Vienna. . . . The Ringstrasse, and the Café Imperial, with its fairy tale frescoes. . . . The "Magic Flute" frescoes on the ceiling of the Opera house. . . . Trysting city of musicians, artists, medical students, roamers from the Balkans. . . . The Spanish Riding academy, the only hippodrome of its kind. . . . A civic history back to the days of Marcus Aurelius, who died here. . . . Framed by the green music of the Wiener Wald. . . . Capital of the Austrian Federated republic. . . . On the north bank of the oft extolled Danube. . . . The old city built up since the fortifications removed in 1857. . . . Now glorified with monumental edifices, grand residences, parks and gardens. . . . Nearly 700,000 tourists visit the city every year. . . . Steamers on the Danube carry half that number. . . . Half the trade of Austria credited to Wien. . . . To it and from it men have brought and derived the joy life since the Romans called it Vindobona. . . . Bismarck called it the German capital of the Slavic empire.

● Bregenz, capital of Vorarlberg, in Austria. . . . Looking west from the eastern shores of Lake Constance. . . . To the south, the valley of the Rhine. . . . To the east, the mountains. . . . Tourists landing from Switzerland via St. Margarethen, or from Germany via Lindau. . . . Eighty miles from Innsbruck. . . . Since the days when the Romans called it Brigantium, men have come here for the views of lake and mountain. . . . Promenades on the shore. . . . Summer concerts, boating, yachting, center for mountain tours.

● Darmstadt, capital of the German free state of Hesse. . . . Between the Rhine and the Main in a beautiful woodland country. . . . An old city, with ducal palace and parks. . . . A new city, with spacious boulevardes. . . . A history which goes back to the 8th century. . . . Birthplace of Liebig, the chemist; Dillenius, the botanist, and Gervinus, the historian. . . . Here is the house of Abt Vogler, whom Browning immortalized. . . . Meyerbeer, the composer, lived in it in 1810. . . . The library is notable, with 600,000 volumes and 4,000 manuscripts. . . . East of the city rises the Mathildenhoehe, and, a little beyond the Rosenhoehe. . . . A lovely city of homes for a German holiday.

● Assmannshausen, German village on the east bank of the Rhine. . . . A long and glorious reputation for its wine production. . . . Steamers from nearby Rudesheim and Bingen. . . . Across the river is Rheinstein. . . . Navigation of the Binger Loch, the rapid, rocky channel of the Rhine above this point, was dangerous for centuries. . . . From the days of the Romans till 1832 the passage was always being cleared. . . . Above Binger Loch the ruins of two towered castle of Ehrenfels. . . . Thirteenth century residence of the archbishop of Mains. . . . In midstream is the small island of the Mauseturm, the mouse tower associated with Bishop Hatto. . . . Though the legend is only a legend, tourists flock here every year.

New Park and TVA Combine to Get Tourists

Americans Flock to Tennessee to See Where Money Is Being Spent.

By Hal Foust.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

KNOXVILLE, Tenn.—This city is enjoying the forerunner of an unprecedented tourist season. The railroad passenger business is on the up, automobiles with license plates from northern states are becoming common on the streets, and the chamber of commerce and other information agencies are flooded with inquiries from prospective visitors.

There are two attractions that will give this community the full benefit of the nation's increasing travel. They are the new Great Smoky Mountains National park and the Tennessee Valley authority's development in the largest social and economic experiment ever undertaken by a government outside of soviet Russia.

The $34,000,000 Norris dam, under construction twenty-three miles north of here, was visited by 140,000 persons during the last six months of 1934, even though it is just beginning to approach its ultimate shape. As the Republicans are opening their attacks in the press against this $300,000,000 brain trust scheme, more tourists are arriving to see where their tax money is being spent.

Propaganda for the Tourists.

The tourists are accommodated as well as pink American authors are accommodated in visiting the soviet union. Printed propaganda is passed out at information offices and alert young guides are on duty at observation points overlooking the dam work.

This construction job is a spectacle regardless of whether the visitor agrees with the political theory that the government should furnish ice cubes for the mountaineers' moonshine stills. Between 1,400 and 1,500 men are engaged in four shifts of five and one-half hours each.

Stretching from hilltop to hilltop across the Clinch river are two cables, each 2,100 feet long and three inches in diameter. They are supported by towers that move on rails. On each of the cables is a bucket that holds six cubic yards. These buckets dump concrete into the rising block of masonry that is to be 253 feet high and 1,800 feet long at the top.

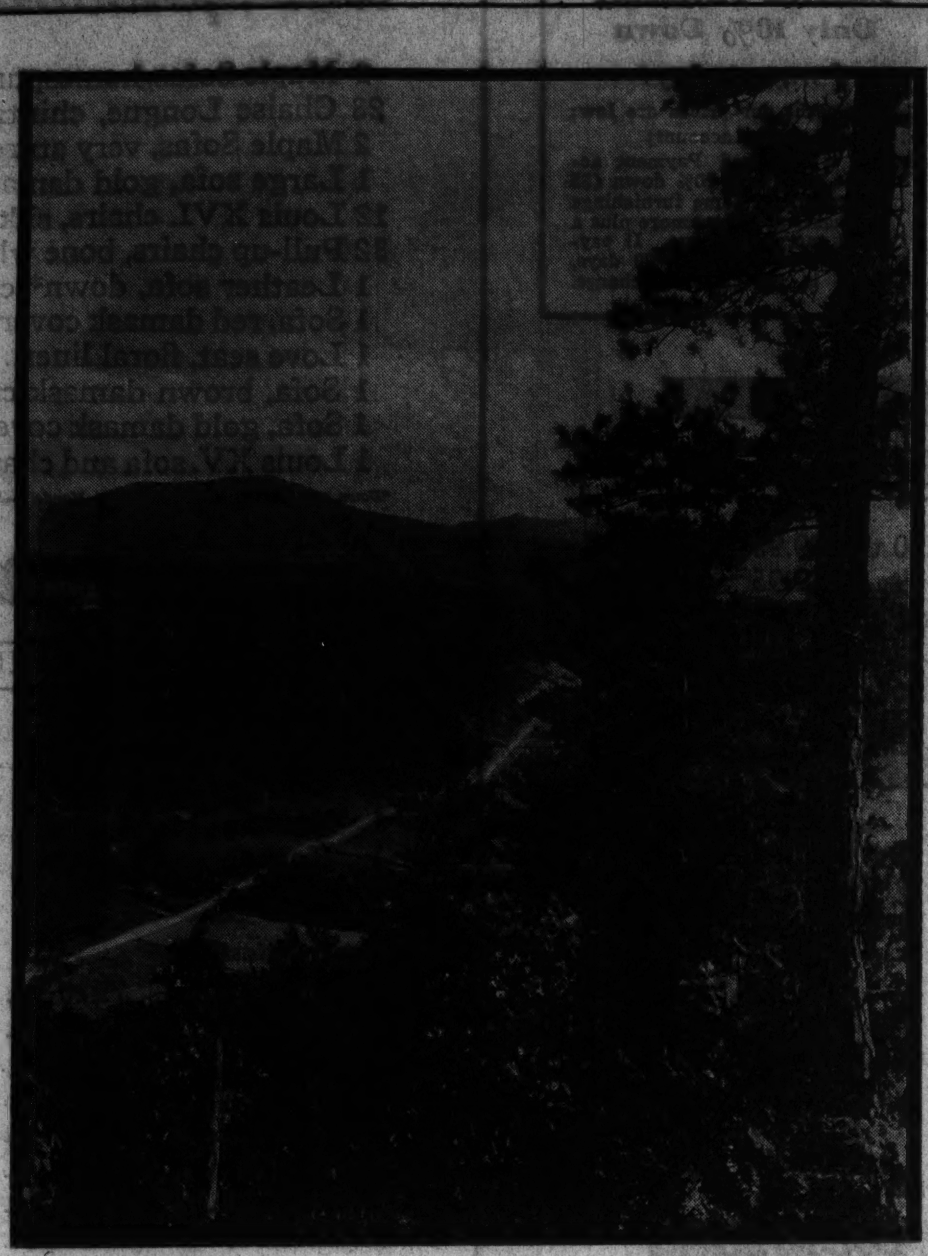
Above the dam, 52,000 acres are being cleared for the formation of an artificial lake up the valleys of the Clinch and its tributaries, Powell river, Cedar creek, Big creek, and Cove creek. Forests are being cleared, the brush burned, and the trunks wired to stumps or rocks so that they won't float into the dam. Three thousand residents, their houses, barns, churches, schools, and even their graveyards, are being moved to make way for the storage of water for electric power.

Model Village in the New Social Order.

The construction camp is more than just a camp. The town of Norris, as designed by the TVA, built and operated with government money, is a model village in the prospective new social order conceived by the professoriate. In addition to barracks, three hundred low cost bungalows nestle in the wooded hills. Each house has complete electrical equipment to lighten the work of housewives and to consume more electricity.

The antitheses of this evidence of a social revolution are the forested hills of the Great Smoky National park, 394,000 acres of rugged scenery luxuriant in flowers, song birds, and a wide variety of large trees, some of them virgin.

In the park, with 420,000 visitors in 1934 and more expected this year, are fourteen peaks with altitudes higher than 6,000 feet above sea level. They rise from low valleys, so that their magnitude is almost as impressive as the Rockies. The difference between the altitude of the lowest and the highest point in the park is 5,800 feet.



THE WOODED HILLS OF TENNESSEE

Scene near Knoxville, Tenn. Spectacles such as this—along with the Tennessee Valley authority's huge development work—are attracting large crowds to that section this spring.

270 Minnesotans Depart for New Homes in Alaska

THE Federal Emergency Relief administration last week began moving 200 families of farmers from unproductive areas in Minnesota, Wisconsin, and northern Michigan to Alaska, there to colonize them in the Matanuska valley, along the line of the government owned Alaska railroad.

The first contingent, consisting of sixty-six Minnesota families and totaling 270 persons, left St. Paul Friday and will arrive in San Francisco tomorrow. There the settlers will embark upon a war department transport scheduled to sail May 1 for Seward, at which point they will entrain for their new homes.

The movements in this country are handled by rail, with H. W. Siddall, chairman of the Trans-Continental Passenger association, acting for the western roads.

The settlers from Wisconsin and northern Michigan will move to Seattle later, embarking about May 15 on the same transport.

All Expense Trip to Derby Planned

GOING to the Kentucky Derby? Here is one way of doing it:

A large number of Chicagoans will leave Friday night for Louisville on a special train over the Monon route, arriving Saturday morning. After seeing the Derby from box seats, the party will leave that evening for French Lick Springs. The special will be parked for occupancy near the hotel and golf course and will leave for Chicago Sunday night, arriving the following morning.

It is an all-expense affair. The charge covers train and Pullman fare, box seat, all meals and incidentals, even including tips.

TIPS TO TOURISTS

What's your travel problem? Address queries regarding where to go, how to get there, costs, and accommodations, to the Travelers' Guide, Chicago Tribune, inclosing stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Did Thomas Moore, the Irish poet, really visit Bermuda?—N. E.

Yes—and his admiration for Hester Louisa Tucker supplies the background to the islands' great romance. She was the outstanding beauty of St. George's. Moore wrote "Believe Me, if All Those Endearing Young Charms" about her during his stay in Bermuda. Later, while in England, upon hearing of her death, he wrote the beautiful ballad, "Oft in the Stilly Night."

May the fortifications of Gibraltar be visited by passengers on the cruises to the Mediterranean?—B. L. F.

Yes. Such arrangements often are made. Of interest are the wild monkeys that infest the "rock."

Is the Lake of Fire in Nassau of volcanic origin?—R. S.

No. Phosphorescent properties in the water cause the lake to seem on fire. The darker the night the more brilliant the flame.

Kentucky Derby Climax of Week's Louisville Fetes

THIS is Festival week in Louisville.

Tomorrow night is Carnival night, with street dancing and a historical pageant; Tuesday is Louisville day, with a state-wide beauty contest and the first annual Kentucky Derby bowling tournament; Wednesday is homecoming day; Thursday night there will be a Derby festival ball at Casa Madrid; Friday night will see three championship wrestling matches at the Jefferson county armory, and Saturday, Kentucky Derby day, will bring the sixty-first running of the turf classic at Churchill Downs.

As usual, there will be numerous special trains from Chicago for the week-end in Louisville and French Lick Springs.

Germany
• Perched high on brooding crags, the castles of the robber barons send thoughts whirling back to medieval times. Equally interesting are the terraced vineyards along the Rhine, and storied Cologne, Heidelberg, Nuremberg, Dresden, Leipsig, and other towns rich in traditions of art, music, and religion. • If you have never seen Germany, let the Tribune Travel and Resort Bureau help you plan one vacation which will thrill you to the utmost. This department of the Tribune Public Service Office can supply you with travel literature and with up-to-the-minute information about railroad, plane, bus, and steamship schedules, cost of transportation and accommodations en route for trips and tours everywhere. Services are free. Call in person, write, or telephone.

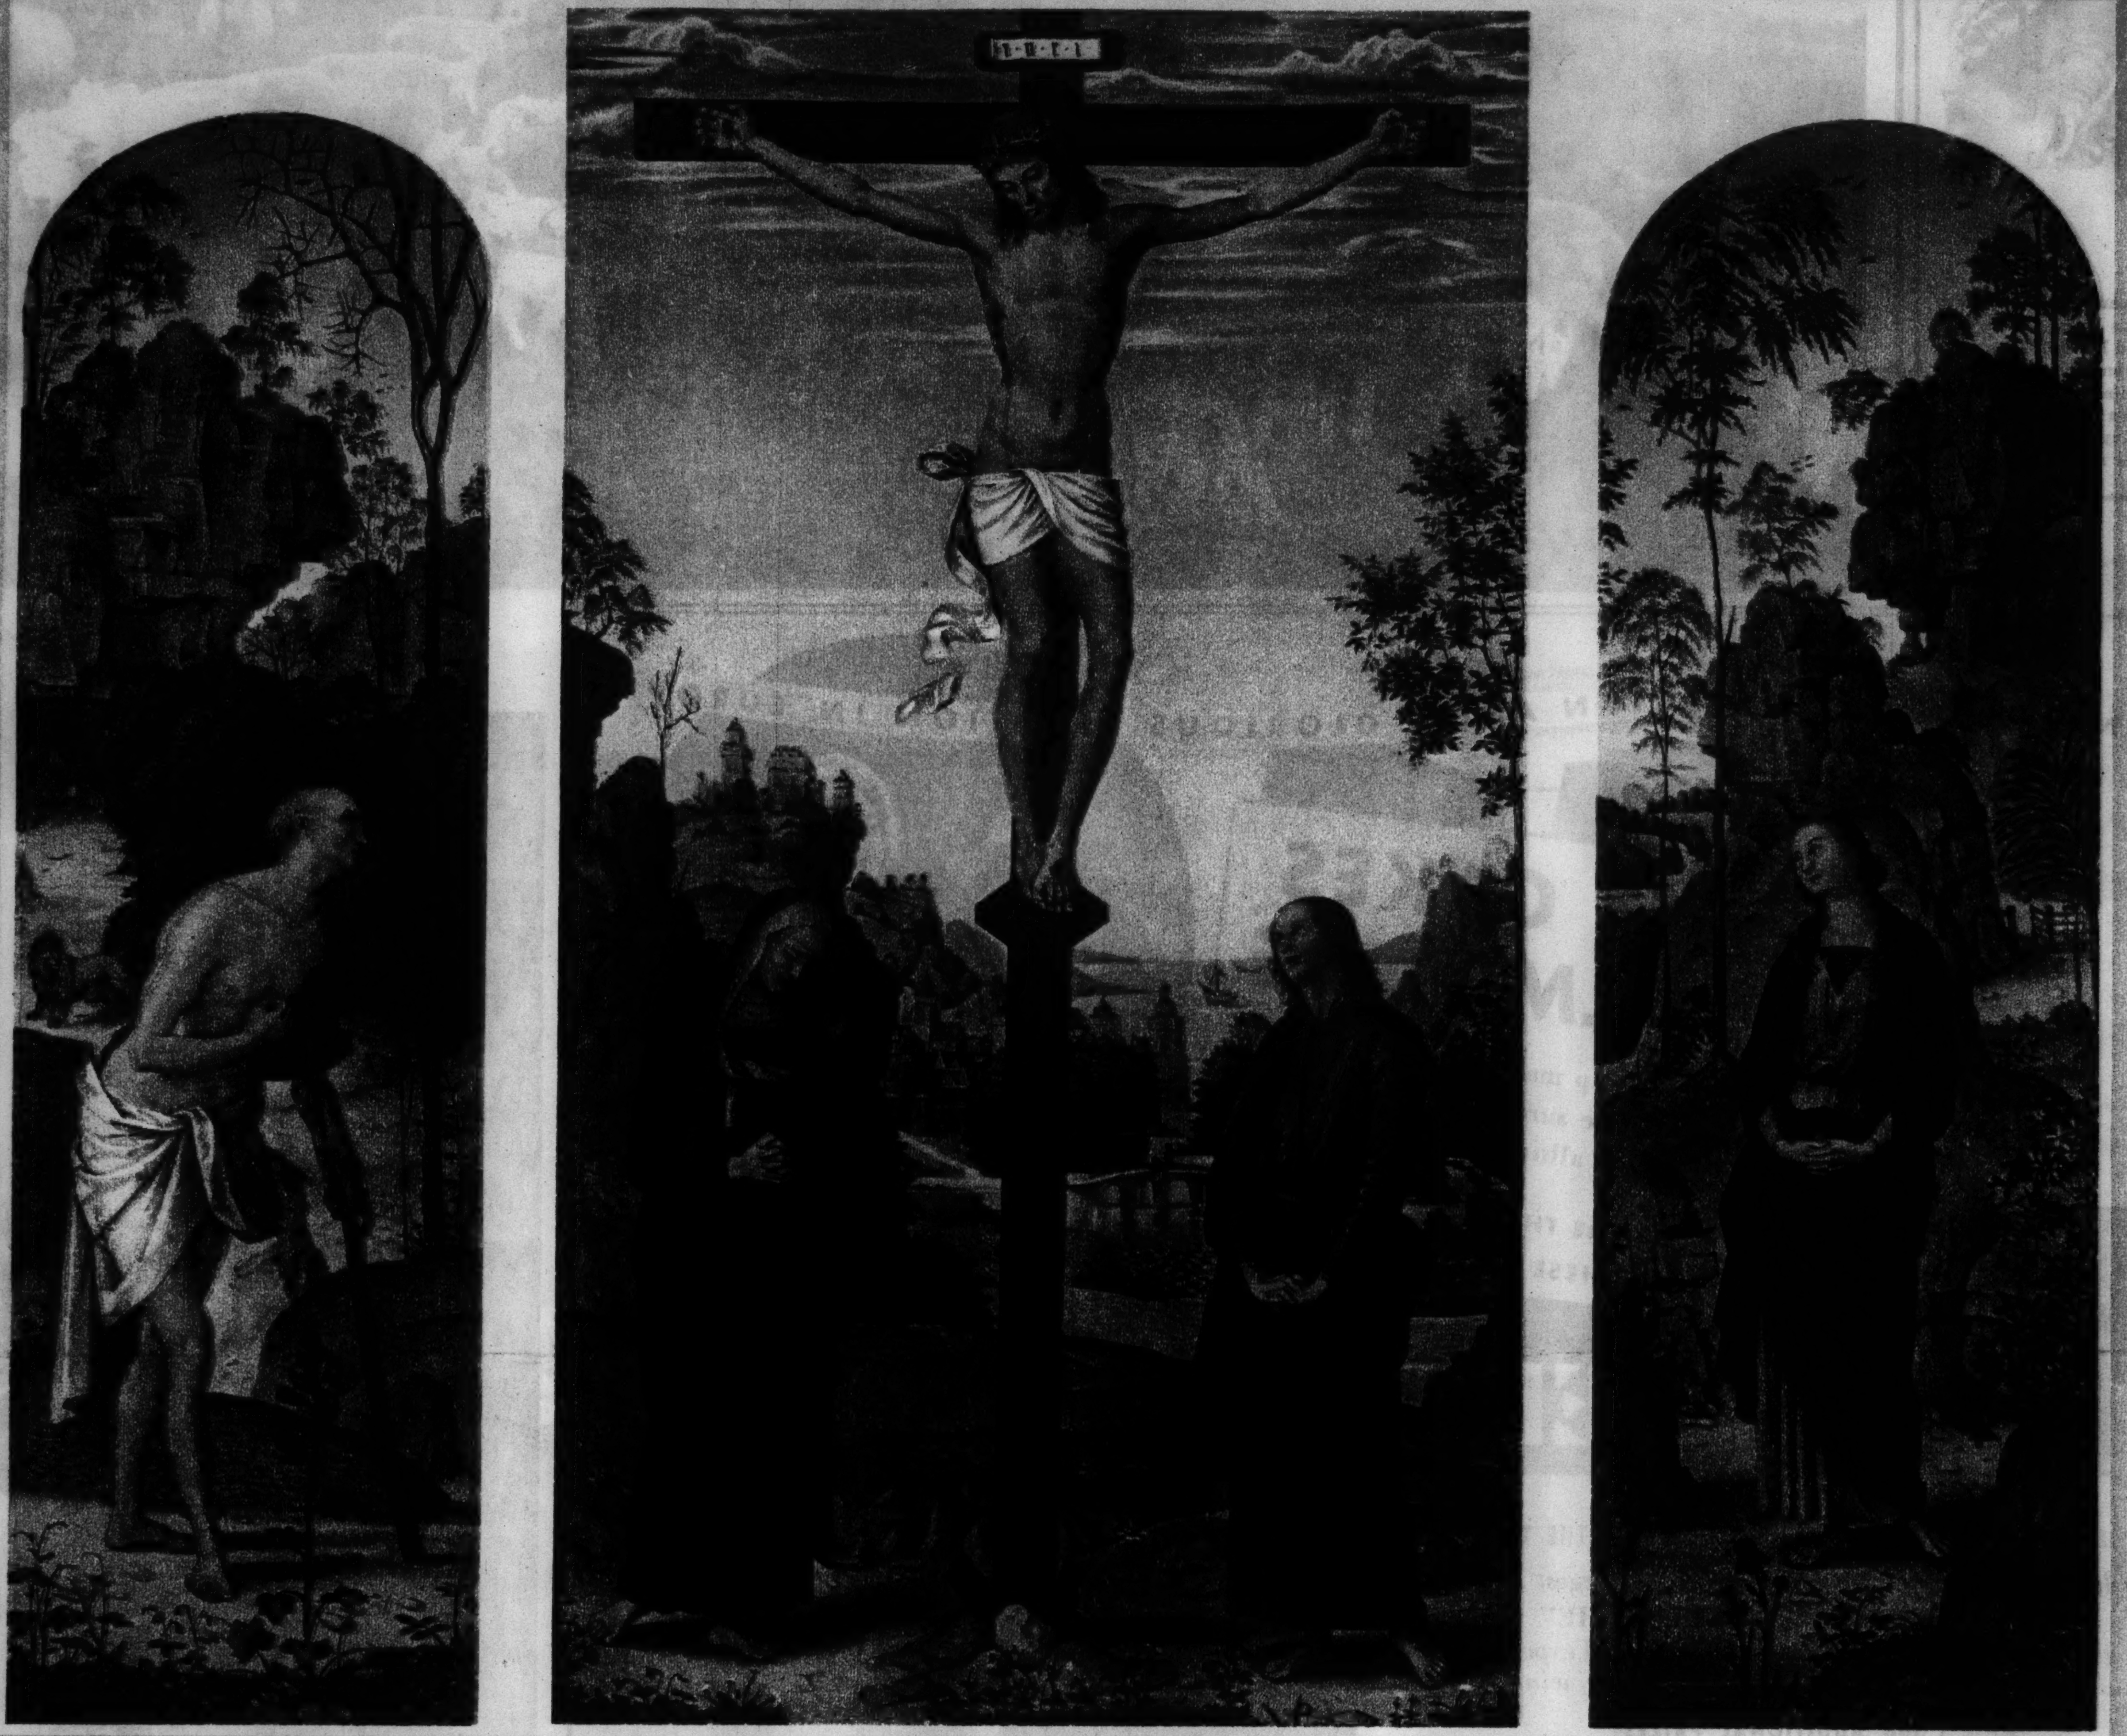
Chicago Sunday Tribune. THE WORLD'S GREATEST NEWSPAPER

April 28, 1935



REPRODUCED FROM A PRINT BY COURTESY OF M. KNOEDLER & CO.

Above: "The Crucifixion with St. John, the Magdalen and St. Jerome," a triptych by Perugino. This work was presented in 1496 to a church of the Dominicans in San Gemignano. During the Napoleonic invasion it was sold, passing eventually to Prince Galitzin and from him to the Hermitage galleries. For this painting Andrew W. Mellon paid $201,250

The paintings reproduced here are two of five masterpieces acquired by Andrew W. Mellon from the Hermitage galleries, Leningrad. For those five paintings, which together constitute one of the great art treasures of the world, Mr. Mellon paid $3,247,-695. The former secretary of the treasury has under consideration a plan to give these works of art, together with other masterpieces, to the nation.

At left: "Adoration of the Magi," by Botticelli. The Florentine painted this masterpiece in Rome about 1481. The painting was bought in France for the Hermitage from the engraver, Peralli. Mr. Mellon acquired this treasure for $862,500

REPRODUCED FROM A PRINT BY COURTESY OF RUDOLPH LESCH FINE ARTS, INC., NEW YORK CITY

34 glorious days in 7 European countries . . . All expenses paid and $300 "pocket money" for every winner.

AND 1,000 ADDITIONAL PRIZES!

AT LAST! A contest in which you just can't lose! A contest so simple that you may easily win a trip that will be the most thrilling experience of your life! And you are certain to win the most precious prize of all—the glamour and allure of a soft, smooth, youthful skin!

HERE'S ALL YOU DO!

Just write us a short, simple letter, accompanied by the black bands from three cakes of Palmolive Soap (or reasonably accurate copies) . . . That's all you need do to enter this contest.

Get your three cakes of Palmolive today. Try it . . . and see how this marvelous beauty soap will give your skin the thrilling loveliness that every man adores!

Every night and morning use this simple 2-minute beauty treatment . . . massage Palmolive's rich, velvety lather into your skin. See how gently, but deeply, it cleanses your pores . . . Then rinse with warm water, followed by cold. Watch your skin grow lovelier, more radiant, day by day! Even before the third cake is gone . . . see what a marvelous improvement Palmolive has made in your skin!

OLIVE OIL . . . ITS BEAUTY SECRET

Why does Palmolive do such wonders for your skin? Because Palmolive, unlike other soaps, is made from precious cosmetic oils . . . a scientific blend of soothing olive and palm oils . . . used by lovely women since Cleopatra's time to keep skin exquisitely soft and smooth!

That is why Beauty Experts the world over say: "Use Palmolive for daily complexion care." And that is why millions of women the world over use and prefer Palmolive Soap!

HERE ARE THE DETAILS OF THIS THRILLING CONTEST!

A contest so simple—so easy! All you do is tell us in your own words "Why I use and prefer Palmolive Soap." You don't need to be clever. Just write as you would to a friend. (Contest rules explain how easy it is.)

There are 20 first prizes . . . 20 chances to win, entirely at our expense, a glorious 34-day tour of seven European countries. (Or, if you prefer, $1,000 in cash . . . about half what such a tour would ordinarily cost you.) Hotels, meals, transportation, and scheduled entertainment . . . all paid for . . . and $300 "pocket money" for every winner. Railroad fare to and from New York also paid.

WINNERS SAIL ON GREAT NEW FRENCH LINE SHIP

Winners of the 20 first prizes will sail on the new "Normandie", pride of the French Line, and the world's largest ship. Leaves New York July 31st, returns September 2nd.

European Tour includes Paris, Rome, London . . . Venice, Geneva, Vienna . . . Brussels, Amsterdam, The Hague . . . Five wonderful weeks in the most fascinating cities of the Old World! First class accommodations aboard ship and throughout the tour.

A representative of Colgate-Palmolive-Peet Co. (makers of Palmolive Soap) will accompany the winners throughout the entire tour.

What a glorious vacation! And you have every chance to win it! So write that letter today!

1,000 ADDITIONAL PRIZES

In addition to the 20 first prizes, there are 1,000 others . . . For women, Beauty Boxes containing creams, powder, lipstick, and of course Palmolive Soap! For men, Palmolive Shaving Kits.

A LETTER AS SIMPLE AS THIS CAN WIN!

"I prefer Palmolive because of all the olive oil that goes into the making of every cake. I am sure it is just for that reason that my skin is so much softer and smoother than before I used Palmolive.

"No other soap cleanses my skin so thoroughly, or keeps my complexion so clear and free from blemishes. Palmolive is so wonderful, that I'm not surprised to hear it is the world's largest-selling beauty soap."

CONTEST RULES

(Clip and save for reference.)

1. Anyone is eligible to enter the contest (with the exception of employees of Colgate-Palmolive-Peet Co., their advertising agency, and their families).
2. Write a letter of 100 words, or less, telling "Why I use and prefer Palmolive Soap." Print your full name and address, and the name of the dealer from whom you bought your Palmolive Soap.
3. All letters will be judged on their clearness, sincerity and interest. Literary ability is of no value. Just write as if you were writing to a friend. Simple, easy-to-write letters will win the prizes! (You may submit as many letters as you wish.)
4. Each letter you submit must be accompanied by the black bands from three cakes of Palmolive Soap (or reasonably accurate copies). Mail to Colgate-Palmolive-Peet Co., Dept. N-9, Jersey City, New Jersey.
5. Contest closes June 15, 1935. All letters must be in the mail before midnight of that date. Winners will be notified on July 2.
6. The Judges will be: Mr. Emil Rohde, Pres., Nat'l Hairdressers and Cosmetologists Association; Mrs. Winifred Fayant, Pres., American Cosmeticians Association; and Miss Elizabeth Woodward, Associate Editor of Ladies' Home Journal. Judges' decisions must be accepted as final. In the event of ties, duplicate prizes will be awarded.
7. All entries submitted become the property of Colgate-Palmolive-Peet Co.

"A surprise among Face Powders . . . Tangee really ends that Powdery Look"

REPORTS THIS ATTRACTIVE YOUNG SOCIETY GIRL

Miss Frances Penington Cookman, who made her debut in New York and at the Philadelphia Assembly in 1932. Miss Cookman is very active in the fashion field.

● That's the first thing women notice about the New Tangee Face Powder. It does end that powdery look. As you apply it Tangee Powder blends with your own skin tints, absolutely ending that mask-like effect. That's because it now contains the same magic color-principle as the famous Tangee Lipstick. Tangee Face Powder gives your skin a soft underglow, a luminous youthful freshness. Costs only 55c and $1.10 Shades: Rachel, Light Rachel, Flesh.

WASHED DISHES EVERY DAY FOR FIVE YEARS . . . YET HER

Hands are Lovely as Ever!

Mrs. Irving Potter, 104 Gates Avenue, Montclair, N. J.

Made in Hollow Beads

THE ONLY SOAP CREATED SPECIALLY FOR DISHWASHING

. . . to keep hands lovely

. . . Why Super Suds kept Mrs. Potter's hands smooth and soft through 5000 dishwashings . . . Why other soaps could not.

HOW needless for you to let dishwashing rob your hands of youth and beauty! For Mrs. Potter and millions of other women have proved how beautifully smooth and white Super Suds keeps hands—in spite of daily dishwashing!

For Super Suds is a new form of soap created specially for dishwashing! Made in tiny hollow beads, it dissolves instantly, completely! Unlike the average slow-dissolving soap, it leaves no undissolved particles that irritate tender skin and give hands that red, ugly, "dishwashing" look.

And because Super Suds dissolves so quickly, so completely, it makes dishwashing far quicker and easier. It leaves no gummy, undissolved particles to smear or mar your dishes. Just a quick rinse and they come sparkling clean in a jiffy—even without wiping!

Ask for the money-saving Double-Size Super Suds that holds more than twice as much as the ten-cent package. How grateful your hands will be!

fredericks 50% COOLER Permanent Waves

Romance Knows No Weather!

ANN SOTHERN, Columbia Pictures

BE as charming and as alluring on a damp, foggy day as under the beaming sunshine.

That's the remarkable thing about a Frederics Vita Tonic or Vitron Permanent Wave . . . it doesn't go limp in humid weather. You can swim, golf, or play tennis without a care about your hair. A Frederics Permanent always stays softly, smoothly, and daintily groomed. Little curls all in place, whether low on the neck, or piled high in the new halo wave. Every wave deep and lustrous . . . manageable under all circumstances . . . the whole summer through.

And now, there's the new . . .

50% COOLER FREDERICS PERMANENT WAVE

The wonderful, improved controlled-heat process that removes discomfort from permanent waving. Your hair is actually waved with one-half the heat formerly required, yet your permanent is lovelier, more lasting. Even hair that has been dyed or bleached, white and gray hair, and limp and lifeless can be successfully waved by this marvelous new process.

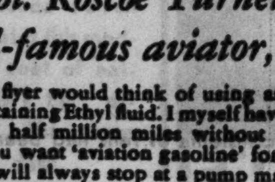
"You paid good money for that car...

ALWAYS LOOK! Only pumps which are identified by the Ethyl trademark on the globe or body dispense gasoline with Ethyl fluid.

WHY DON'T YOU CHANGE TO ETHYL?"

"Oh, boy, what a difference Ethyl makes!"



Col. Roscoe Turner, world-famous aviator, says:

"No careful flyer would think of using anything but gasoline containing Ethyl fluid. I myself have used Ethyl for nearly a half million miles without any engine failure. If you want 'aviation gasoline' for your automobile, you will always stop at a pump marked Ethyl. It means longer life to your motor, too."

"TIMES ARE CHANGING, Sir! People are buying new automobiles—at more than double the rate of a year ago. And they are turning to premium gasoline containing Ethyl fluid—particularly owners of smaller cars—to get all the advantages of the new higher-compressioned engines. When you pay good money for a car, isn't it pretty sound sense to get all the pleasure and performance out of your investment? So may I fill your tank with Ethyl? ..... O. K., Sir!"

4 FACTS you should know about gasoline

1. Modern high compression cars need premium gasoline containing Ethyl fluid to develop full performance. Older cars, too, run best with Ethyl as carbon and mileage accumulate.

2. Sufficient Ethyl fluid (containing tetraethyl lead) is used to produce the highest anti-knock rating by the official test methods of the oil and automotive industries.

3. The all-round premium quality is protected through double inspection at the refinery and at the pump. Specifications are adjusted to fit the different seasonal conditions.

4. Approximately 95% of all premium gasoline sold in the United States and Canada now contains Ethyl fluid.

To get all the power and pleasure from your car investment—NEXT TIME GET ETHYL!

THERE'S something about the very name of Paris that sets you dreaming. To a man it's apt to mean memories of Napoleon . . . a picture of silky thoroughbreds racing at Longchamps . . . golf or tennis at St. Cloud . . . a table at the Café de la Paix.

To a woman, Paris means the very center of her world . . . an inexhaustible source of new ideas in fashion, in art, in decoration . . . a city of entrancing shops . . . of world-famous museums . . . of restaurants where the smartest people of both hemispheres come to pay homage to the capital of gaiety.

Make this year the year when your dreams come true. And travel French Line, because French Line vessels (modern, fast, averaging less than six years in service) are France itself. When you cross with us, you have at least twelve extra days abroad.

You'll like the airy, spacious cabins . . . the gleaming white tiled baths . . . the spotless decks, with great open spaces for sport and sun-bathing . . . the inimitable food, French and American (a bottle of good table wine is served you at every meal, with our compliments) . . . the efficient, English-speaking stewards . . . the assurance of safety embodied in the age-old tradition of Breton and Norman seamen.

Let your Travel Agent show you how inexpensive a trip to Europe can be. He will make all arrangements for you, and give you a price in dollars before you start. His services cost you nothing. Ask for the Booklet. French Line, Jas. F. Nolan, General Agent, 306 N. Michigan Blvd.
